Mr. W. T. Levering of Baltimore, Md, filed a claim for the use of the prefix "Dundee" for his Chesapeake Bay dogs; the same was published in the April Gazette, and a protest has been filed by Mr. H. T. Drake, of St. Paul, Minn., against allowing said prefix. This correspondence will be read, and your action at this meeting is requested. At the Westminster Kennel Club Show, a special prize of $50 was offered for the best setter with a field trial record, which was awarded to Mr. L. Gardner's English setter dog Roger. The award was protested by Mr. Max Wenzel, he claiming that his Irish setter dog Tim was eligible to compete. This protest was allowed, and the prize was awarded to Tim. Mr. Gardner appealed from this decision to his club, under date of Feb. 18, '90, and deposited $10, as required by the rules. The case is now before you to decide. It is suggested that this club should adopt a list of "recognized field trials," a win at any one of which shall be considered and accepted as a field trial record. The Buffalo Kennel Club has served this club with a notice of the suspension by it, of Mr. Edwin H. Morris, under Rule XXV for the following reason: Said Morris entered four dogs at said Buffalo Kennel Club Show, sending his check for $12 to cover entry fees, said check was protested, and returned with $1.40 charges. The amount has never been made good by Morris. The suspension has been confirmed, pending your action by President Belmont Jr. and notice to that effect has been sent to Morris' address.

(Signed) A. P. VREDENBURGH, Secretary.

Adopted.

Mr. Wise: I move we go into this matter of credentials of delegates.

Motion seconded and carried.

The Secretary stated that credentials were presented by Mr. Lohman, of the St. Bernard Kennel Club; by Mr. Watson, of the Southern California Kennel Club, and Mr. Pesball, of the Maryland Kennel Club.

The credentials presented by Mr. Watson to represent the Southern California Kennel Club were then read, and Mr. Wise moved that Mr. Watson be accepted as representative of the Southern California Kennel Club, provided his credentials were amended so as to conform with the rules.

Mr. Watson: For the present I will withdraw the credentials of the Southern California Kennel Club, and represent the Spaniel Club.

On motion, Mr. Lohman's credentials being regular, were accepted.

The credentials of C. J. Peshall to represent the Maryland Kennel Club were read.

Mr. Leslie:—I move those credentials be accepted.

Mr. Anthony:—I rise to a point of order that the club having appointed Mr. Malcom for the year 1890, had no right in the absence of the resignation of Mr. Malcom, to send another delegate.

Mr. Leslie:—Mr. Peshall responded to the roll-call for the Maryland Kennel Club, and he was recognized.

The President:—He was not recognized. He chose to occupy the floor in spite of my refusal to recognize him.

Mr. Wise:—This is a question of power with me. On the 5th of April, 1890, this Maryland Kennel Club met, and it elected a delegate and duly authorized him for 12 months to represent it as a delegate, and his name is H. Malcom, and he stands here as the duly authorized representative of that club for 12 months. Of course, if there is a resignation there is a vacancy, but it is the principle of law that a delegate has no power to delegate his authority.

The President:—I desire to state for the information of the meeting, that that was the ground on which I ruled. When I first saw the certificate, if such it can be called—I had not heard of it before—I saw that Mr. Peshall had no authority to represent any club here. I did not have an opportunity of stating so when I ruled, because Mr. Peshall did not wish to take my ruling, and to silence his interruption, I was obliged to go on with another motion in order that the meeting might proceed. I think it is very indelicate that Mr Peshall should remain in the room during this discussion, so long as the Chair has ruled that he is not a member or delegate It is clear that the certificate that he presents is not a valid one in any sense. It states clearly that it is but a substitution, and the constitution does not recognize the possibility of a substitution. If nothing had been said about Mr. Malcom in the certificate, I certainly should have been obliged to recognize Mr. Peshall, no matter whether the regular delegate previously appointed had resigned or not. In this case he is not sent here as a delegate but as a substitute. It is so distinctly stated in the so called certificate.

Mr. Watson:—I very much regret that this discussion has come up in this shape. I think we all know what this means. This is personal animosity to Mr. Peshall.

Mr. Anthony:—In order to cut short all discussion I withdraw my point of order, and I now move that as Mr. Peshall is not a "persona gratia" to the members of this club for a reason you all know, he be not accepted as a delegate to the American Kennel Club.

Mr. Watson—I object with regard to myself to any such motion being put to the meeting.

Motion seconded.

The president (resigning the chair to Mr. Terry)—Concerning Mr. Watson's statement that this action is the result of personal animosity. I think perhaps I am the one to reply to that, as my feelings on the subject would probably be interpreted as personal. They are not at all. I readily believe that the party is not worthy of my personal feeling on the subject. Mr. Peshall has written all sorts of letters and articles in the papers against the American Kennel Club. What his motives were is for you to decide. It was in the main an attack upon the financial conduct of the club, and after an investigation of the books was made, and after the financial condition of the club, as reported by your officers was endorsed by a committee appointed to investigate and report, he did not accept that, and accused the club of so manipulating its accounts as to make it appear that it was in a better financial condition than it really was, and accused me of having come to the assistance of the club with money, which the accounts show I did not, although I offered to do so in the event of its becoming necessary. The statement, made by the American Kennel Club through its officers, that such assistance had not been given, was not believed, and every effort was made on the part of Mr Pesball to have the public, and the dog men in particular, believe the financial statement of the American Kennel Club was a false one, and that the accounts were open to the accusation of mismansgement. I consider on this ground that no one taking that position should be received here as a delegate, because it is saying practically "I don't believe in your club." That is one ground. There is another ground, and that is that it was published in all the papers that a suit was going to be brought against the American Kennel Club to take it into court in order to prove these false entries, as it was claimed. That was published everywhere. Some of the delegates being frightened went so far as to write and ask all sorts of details, etc., until it became such a nuisance that we consulted counsel on the subject, and were advised that even delegates had no right to inspect the books, and I had occasion to write a letter to the delegate of the Massachusetts Club saying that the books could not remain open to inspection longer after the committee had passed upon their accuracy. We are willing to do anything and answer any question that anybody may reasonably ask, but this incessant pecking became not only tiresome but insulting. For instance, if I as your President should make a statement here that I did not give any money to the club I should expect to be believed, and if I am not to be believed I am not fit to be your President. Those statements were made. That suit referred to was never brought, was never intended to be brought, and never could be brought under any process of law. The parties intending to engage in it would have been shown up in a ridiculous light. On the two grounds I have stated I maintain say that Mr. Peshall is not fit to represent any club, nor fit to sit in this room after the accusation he has made, excepting as a private individual. The statement that there is personal animosity here is all nonsense, but if we have any respect for ourselves as an organization we should not receive anybody in it who speaks and writes against it in such a manner.

Mr. Peshall—I ask to be heard:

The Chairman—I cannot recognize you.

Mr. Leslie—I move the delegate grant to Mr. Peshall the privilege of being heard.

Mr. Logan—I have never met the gentleman, nor do I know anything about him, but I believe we have by-laws and a constitution to govern us at these meetings, and I don't think we should depart from them now.

Mr. Anthony's motion that Mr. Peshall be not recognized or admitted as a delegate on the ground that he is not a persona gratia (under Art. XII. Sec. 2) to the majority of the delegates was then put and carried by the following vote:

Ayes, 9—Am. Pet Dog Club, Associate Delegates (2 votes), Mascoutah Kennel Club, Pointer Club of America, Virginia Field Sports Ass'n, Westminster Kennel Club, St. Bernard Club of America.

Nays, 3—Am. Beagle Club, Am. Spaniel Club, Massachusetts Club.

The Treasurer's quarterly report was read as follows:

May 21, 1890.

GENTLEMEN:—I beg to submit to following report:

Receipts from all sources from Jan. 1st to date	$5,317.32
Expense for same period	3,317.16
Balance on hand	$2,041.16

The following clubs have as yet not paid their annual dues for the following year:

Chattaboochee Valley Exposition Company.
Connecticut State Kennel Club.
Elmira Poultry and Pet Stock Association.
German Mastiff or Great Dane Club.
Hartford Kennel Club.
Syracuse Kennel Club.

By resolution at the last meeting these clubs were given thirty days in which to pay their year's dues, under the penalty of being dropped from the roll of membership. They were duly notified of this resolution and have failed to respond. Exception is made in the case of the German Mastiff or Great Dane Club, which by an oversight I neglected to include in my report at the last meeting and consequently did not communicate with. (Signed) A. P. VREDENBURGH, Treasurer.

Adopted.

The minutes of the last meeting of the Advisory Committee was read, and motion made to accept them.

Mr. Watson moved that section 6 and 7 be stricken from the minutes of the meeting of the Advisory Committee held April 7, 1890.

Motion seconded and lost.

The motion to accept was then put and carried.

Mr. Watson—I give notice that I will make a motion at the next meeting which will give the Advisory Committee the power of suspension which they have not at present.

The following clubs, candidates for membership in the American Kennel Club, were elected, their applications being in proper form: Youngstown Kennel Club of Youngstown, Ohio; the Louisiana Poultry and Pet Stock Association of New Orleans, La.; Northern Illinois Poultry and Pet Stock Association of Rockford, Ill.; Wilmington Agricultural and Industrial Association of Wilmington, Del.; the Chesapeake Bay Dog Club of Baltimore, Md.; the National Greyhound Club of New York, and the California Kennel Club of San Francisco, Cal.

The question of recognizing the wins of the Southern California Kennel Club of Los Angeles, Cal., was then brought up, and Mr. Anthony moved that as the rules and the Secretary's letter did not reach the club until two days after their show of 1889, and as they complied as near as possible with those rules, that those wins be recognized by the American Kennel Club.

Motion seconded and carried.

The requests of the American English Beagle Club and the Cincinnati Sportsman's Club to have their names changed upon the records to "The American Beagle Club," and "The Cincinnati Kennel Club" were on motion granted, and the Secretary instructed to make the changes desired.

On motion, Mr. W. T. Levering, of Baltimore, was granted the prefix "Dundeo" for his Chesapeake Bay dogs, against which a protest had been filed by Mr. H. T. Drake, of St. Paul, Minn.

Concerning the special prize of $50, awarded by the Westminster Kennel Club to Mr. L. Gardner's English setter dog Roger, which was protested by Mr. Max Wenzel on the ground that his Irish setter dog Tim was eligible to compete, and which protest was allowed, and the prize awarded to Tim, from which decision Mr. Gardner appealed, Mr. Watson offered the following resolution:

Resolved, that it is the opinion of this committee that the term "Field Trial Record" applies only to public trials for competition open to all, and that the appeal by Mr. L. Gardner in the case of the special prize for the best setter with a field trial record be sustained, and the prize awarded to his English setter dog Roger.

Resolution seconded and carried.

In regard to the suspension of Mr. Edwin H. Morris, under Rule XXV, of which notice was received by the American Kennel Club, the Secretary stated that Morris had deposited with the club $14, which covered entry fees and protest fees on protested check. That he had wired the Buffalo Kennel Club to withdraw the suspension, and he had left extra money to pay wire charges on return. He further stated that under the rules there was one of two things to be done; either the suspension had to be removed, or Mr. Morris would have to be disqualified.

On motion of Mr. Watson, the suspension was removed.

The Secretary—At our last meeting a resolution was adopted giving clubs in arrears 30 days to settle their accounts, otherwise they would be dropped from the roll. I have sent notices to that effect to the following clubs: Chattahoochee Valley Exposition Company, Connecticut State Kennel Club, Elmira Poultry and Pet Stock Association, Hartford Kennel Club and Syracuse Kennel Club. The German Mastiff or Great Dane Club I overlooked, so I do not think that club comes under the resolution.

On motion of Mr. Watson, the clubs named were dropped from the roll.

On request of Mr. Leslie the Secretary read the charges brought by Mr. Leslie against the New England Kennel Club.

Mr. Leslie—I think this is a serious breach of the rules, and something should be done to punish them for such a breach. I move that the New England Club be suspended for the term of one year for non compliance with the rules in not publishing the rules of the Bench Show.

The Secretary—I think that would be very unjust. This is the first year that we have attempted to furnish the rules for the different clubs. After the rules were amended I got them up with all the latest amendments. I had electrotype plates made of them the proper size for catalogues and premium lists, but I did not include the list of recognized shows for the reason that they are changing all the time. In sending these plates to the Boston Club, Mr. Moore very naturally supposed they were included, and did not know of their absence until after the premium lists were printed. To penalize the Boston Club for an error of that kind I think would be a great mistake.

Mr. Leslie's motion seconded.

Mr. Anthony—I move to lay it in the table.

Motion seconded and carried.

Mr. Leslie—I would like an explanation from the Secretary why one delegate should be refused to investigate the report of the Treasurer or the books, and another delegate in a few weeks afterwards be permitted to do so. I should like to know if there is any distinction, whether one man is favored over another.

The Secretary—If you will be kind enough to state the particulars I will answer you.

Mr. Leslie—I made inquiries about the Treasurer's report, etc., and I was refused permission to investigate it. Mr. Watson, a few weeks afterwards, comes from the Forest and Stream and he investigated the Treasurer's report, and the books were thrown open to him.

The Secretary stated that considerable correspondence had passed between them in which he stated in substance he had invited Mr. Leslie to call at the office at any time and the books were at his disposal, and that he was ready to answer any question he asked. That in reply he had received an insulting letter from Mr Leslie. He then wrote to Mr. Leslie that he asked the President of the club about the matter, and that he had received positive instructions from him to positively decline to make any further statement of the finances other than the published ones which were duly examined and audited by the committee appointed by the American Kennel Club for that purpose. That he should strictly carry out the instructions of the President.

The Secretary (continuing): Mr. Watson had written me about the same kind of a letter as Mr Leslie's first letter, asking for certain amounts in my accounts. I wrote Mr. Watson to the same effect as I did to Mr. Leslie, that I had no time to do it. I was very busy at the time. I invited Mr. Watson to come here at the office and look at the books. Mr. Watson sent another letter in which he wrote three or four questions, which I answered, and again invited him to come here and look at the books. He sent me word he would come in the first time he was in town. Mr. Watson did come in after I had written to Mr. Leslie. Mr. Watson had been in the meantime elected a member of the Stud Book Committee. He had a perfect right to those books just as I had or any other officer. Mr. Watson will bear me out in what I say, that he responded to my invitation and looked at the books.

The Secretary called attention to a communication in reference to a special prize offered by the St. Bernard Kennel Club for the best smooth coated St. Bernard dog. An entry was made by Mr. T. B. Lee. It came out subsequently that Mr. Lee did not own the dog entered by him, which was awarded the prize, but that the dog belonged to his wife Therefore the dog was disqualified. The question now is what is to be done with the cups which were offered as the prize.

Mr. Anthony moved that there being no reserve number and that the Judge not having been requested to re-judge the class, the American Kennel Club consider the cups the property of the St. Bernard Club of America.

Motion seconded and carried.

A communication was read from the Gordon Setter Club asking that the percentage of blood be raised from 62½ to 87½ per cent.

On motion the matter was referred to the Stud Book Committee

Adjourned.

Occidental Coursing Club.

A coursing meeting of the club was held on May 30th at Newark Park, two stakes being on the card, an all-aged for eight dogs at $5 each, winner $25, runner up $15, and a puppy stake for six puppies at $5 each, winner $20, runner up $10. The day was well suited, but the ground was too villainously hard to make anything like good coursing possible. Stock had been pastured in it during the early spring, and the foot-marks left by the cattle formed innumerable little pits with sharp hard-baked edges which ripped away the nails whenever a dog chanced to step into one. Hares were rather scarce, and some delay was caused by the fact. The attendance was small, not more than fifty persons being present, but those who were there were the jolly sort, and made the day pass in a lively fashion. The officers of the day were S. O. Gregory, T. J. O'Keeffe and H. E. Deane; slip steward, J. F. Carroll; flag steward, H. Boyd; judge, J. R. Dickson; slipper, Jas. Wren.

Most of the courses were very short, and close work was practically impossible, because of the character of the ground. As to several of the courses, there seemed to be room for a difference of opinion after the judgments were rendered, but as was remarked by an old courser, the judge has the best chance to see, and is most likely to be right. A detailed report of the meeting would not, under the circumstances, be of especial value, and as space is limited, a summary must suffice.

UNCLASSIFIED.

Al Farrow, whelped November 20, 1889; owner Chas. Studarus, Routiers Station.

Consolation Dead.

Mr. Luke W. White writes: "Consolation has just died. He was without exception the best dog I ever handled. I never expect to get a better, and if I get as good again I will be lucky. I have one bitch by him living, presented to me by Col. O'Dell some time ago."

[The gamest field trial race we have ever seen was run at High Point in '86 by Consolation. The dog was sick, some dysenteric trouble ailing him, and it was plainly to be seen that every movement caused acute pain, while the frequent stops necessitated by the peculiar character of his disease strongly militated against his chances in the race, but despite adversities the game little fellow ran a brilliant nervy race, with excellent pace, judgment, level-headedness and obedience. A grander dog than Consolation is rarely seen, and his owner, Colonel C. H. O'Dell will feel the loss keenly.—Ken. Ed.]

Whelps.

Capt. Geo. C. Rieter, U. S. S. Ranger, English setter Faunie (Alaska—Countess) whelped, May 16th 1890, four, two dogs, to C. A. Louds, Romeo.

Visits.

Mr. C. A. Chewning's English setter, Lily to C. A. Louds Romeo, on May 14th 1890.

Mr. B. Doherty had his fine greyhound, California Boy by Ben Ali—Daisy, poisoned on May 15th. The dog was a good hound, and the loss is a great one.

We regret to learn that Mr. C. A. Loud has been very ill since reaching his new home at Oceanside, San Diego County. He is now convalescent and we hope will soon be quite well. His illness makes it impossible for him to handle his fine English setter, Rural Nellie. A. K. S.B., 13,944, and he desires to place her in the hands of some one who would value such a dog.

It was a pleasure to receive a call last week from Dr. A. C. Heffenger of the U. S. Navy, who came bearing an introductory note from that prince of co-laborers in the journalistic field, Dr. N. Rowe of the American Field. Dr Heffenger is Vice President of the Brunswick Fur Club of Maine, and is an enthusiast about fox hounds and fox hunting. He is also a keen angler, and all around sportsman whose accession to the guild in these parts is reason for elation. We commend him to all readers to whom he may become known.

Mr. C. J. Peshall has prepared the papers and will present them some day this week to the United States Circuit Court asking for a mandamus compelling Mr. Vredenburgh, the Secretary, to submit the papers and books of the American Kennel Club to Mr. Peshall for his examination, and to answer any questions touching the same. Mr. Peshall bases his action on the ground that the American Kennel Club is a voluntary association, and every member of it is a partner. Another suit is to be commenced asking for an accounting, dissolution and winding up of the partnership, in other words to terminate the existence of the American Kennel Club.—American Field.

[Is there not danger that Judge Peshall will become a nuisance, and forfeit that general esteem which he has gained during the ten years last passed? As we understand the matter, the Judge is moving to gratify petty personal spite, rather than to correct real errors. Go slow, Judge Peshall, the "sun'had risen upon the earth before Lot entered into Zoar."—Ken. Ed.]

It has been found that when an elongated projectile is fired from a smooth-bore, the head of the bullet is gradually lifted until it is thrown completely over, after which the flight is very uncertain. A judiciously rifled barrel overcomes this defect. It has long been a disputed point as to whether the longer axis of a bullet preserves its original direction or whether the point droops and follows the trajectory curve. It is now believed by the best authorities that the latter obtains, as otherwise projectiles fixed at a high angle would strike nearly lengthways, which has not been observed. An attempt has even been made by constructing a model bullet, mounted on a gyroscope facing a powerful fan, to demonstrate the effect of the air resistance upon a bullet. "As soon as the revolving projectile is put in position, the fan is set in rapid motion: the current of air first causes the point of the bullet to lift slightly, then it moves to the right or left (according to the direction of the spin), and eventually it makes a strong dip down toward the ground." While this is probably true with regard to the motions of a bullet discharged from a rifle barrel, it can hardly be regarded as proved, as the conditions are not the same.

THE GUN.

The Gun Club.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—The annual picnic match of the Gun Club was held on Friday of last week in Ross Valley, not far from San Rafael. The day was simply splendid, just breezy enough to give an impetus to the flight of the best all round lot of birds it has been my good fortune to look and shoot at for many a day.

The company was delightful, just the kind you generally have met at the Gun Club meeting, and a few ladies were also present. It was a pleasant sight to see old timers like Mr. Thos. Ewing and Mr. C. D. Laing, who made their first appearance in almost two years, and neither of them have forgotten how "to do it." A bountiful and well spread luncheon was set out by the club, and, briefly speaking, it was, as a whole, one of the "red letter" days in the existence of the Gun Club.

The Gun Club is about to issue a challenge to the Alameda Sportsmen's Club at an early day, and as soon as the preliminaries can be arranged. Ten men will probably contest on each side, for a trophy or dinner.

The birds used were very good, and the scores indicate excellent form on the part of the participants. All of the shooting was under American Association Rules, and the scores were:

Chick vs. Brewer.

On Sunday last at Haight Street base ball grounds, a very interesting match was shot between Capt J. L. Brewer, who has been traveling about the world, shooting, professionally, and Mr. Martinez Chick of San Diego. The match was made by Mr. Geo. Carroll, of this city, who backed Mr. Chick, and Mr. Lawrence, who backed Mr. Brewer. By agreement the men were to shoot three matches, 100 birds to the man in each match, for $250 a side each event; London Gun Club rules

The first match resulted in favor of Mr. Chick, who scored 95 of his 100 birds against 92 killed by Capt. Brewer. The birds were only ordinary, the most of them being rather slow, with now and then a lightning driver. Gate money was charged, and but very few attended. After the ball game the grounds were cleared, except of those who purchased tickets for the shoot, and perhaps 300 men were present.

Mr. Ed. Fay acted as referee, and not having either a knowledge of the London Gun Club rules or a copy of them, he was in doubt as to many points during the progress of the match. He reversed his decisions, and allowed one of the contestants to do pretty much as he pleased. In style, accuracy with the first barrel, and general pleasantness of manner throughout the match, Mr. Chick had all the best of it; the birds were about equally hard for both. Mr. Chick shot 3¼ drams of Schultze's powder, 1¼ ounces chilled 7's from each barrel, using a 12-bore under eight pounds. Capt. Brewer shot 4 drams of Schultze, and 1¼ ounces of 6's in each barrel, also using a twelve. The score was:

SECOND MATCH.

On Wednesday the second match of the series was shot, Mr. Chick again winning by a score of 95 to 89. The birds were better, and all of them had their tails clipped. Capt. Brewer got a few birds harder than any of Mr. Chicks, but the latter fairly out-shot his noted competitor at all points. Not more than a hundred spectators were present. The scores were:

A team match has been made between Messrs. C. B. Smith and C. J. Haas on one side, and Crittenden Robinson and Ed. Fay on the other, for $200 a side; at 100 birds per man, American Association rules; match to be shot within thirty days, probably on June 27th, each side to find birds for the other. Capt. Eddy holds a forfeit for the match, and there is every probability that it will be shot.

Hunting in Modoc.

FORT BIDWELL, Modoc Co., Cal., May 29, 1890.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—What our mutual friend may have said to you concerning the game of this section I know not, but inter from the tone of your letter that life in Modoc was pictured in very rosy tints. Eight years have wrought many changes in this country, and when I remember that he came here in 1880 and left in 1882, and also recall the immense flocks of geese, ducks, sage hens, etc. that we hunted together, I can but believe that he has confined himself to facts. When we took our memorable hunt at Old Camp Warner across the line in Oregon, we got thirteen deer in three days, and no day did I see less than eighteen or twenty in a five mile tramp. But at that time the Indians, who in 1878 committed depredations on Wilson and Alexanders range, where the Old Camp is located, were religiously excluded from that section, and deer had flocked there and multiplied in astonishing numbers, but within two years of that time the Indians were allowed the freedom of the range and they made short work of the deer. There are yet many left, but not one can be found now where ten were then.

Large bands of antelope still roam over the plains of that section, and on the mountains a few big horns are to be found, and I am told an occasional ibex, though this last I have never seen. The Old Camp is fifty miles north-east of Bidwell.

Concerning trout fishing would say that the streams which flow into this (Surprise) valley contain very few trout and these were planted there by the State. This is accounted for by the fact that the lakes in the valley are all very shallow and every few years go dry. To the west of us just across the mountains is the big Goose Lake well filled with trout, and all streams running into it as well as the Pitt River which rises near the lake, afford good sport for the angler.

In the little Chewaucan Valley about 30 miles north of Lakeview is to be found magnificent trout fishing. A letter just received from Hon. John F. Swift, U. S. Minister to Tokio with whom writer had pleasure of a fishing trip to that region in 1885, expressed the belief that the best trout fishing in the world is to be found there.

It is certainly grand sport as is the salmon fishing on the Sprague River west of there. Near Bidwell there are but few sharp tails. They are more numerous in the Goose Lake Valley, where they afforded me good sport in the fall of '88. With a good dog a man could have made good bags.

The strychnine fiend don't allow us to keep a dog in this country many months.

I have heard of some bands of mule deer being seen this spring. Whether this fearful winter has killed many or not we can only surmise, but when from 50 to 90 per cent. of cattle that were left on the range perish it looks dubious for deer.

There are no elk in this section. Immense numbers of swan, geese and ducks called on us as they went north this spring. The swan came in large numbers just after the thaw, Feb. 1st, and the boys had a picnic with them bringing in dozens upon dozens.

Before the writer was sufficiently recovered from the grip to risk exposure to etherial mildness they had become educated and were much too far advanced for him. I hope, however, to have my lamp trimmed and burning by the time they come this way next fall.

Many Canada geese nest in this section and rear their young here; especially is this true of the beautiful Goose Lake Valley. This valley is appropriately named, for when the native flocks of honkers are joined by their cousins from the north accompanied by the snow geese, hundreds of acres of stubble are literally covered with them.

Ask Col. D. S. Gordon, now stopping at the Grand or Palace Hotel, what he knows about goose shooting in Modoc County. He has been there, and can give you some points.

Yes, we have snipe, also curlew and avocets, and a few years ago thousands of quail, but these latter have been nearly or quite exterminated by the last three winters. Deep snow, when accompanied by 24° below zero, has distanced the breech loader in wiping out this boss bird.

Dusky grouse are numerous in the timber. Doves are very plenty, and in August afford splendid sport.

Pelicans and sand-hill cranes are often met here, and the lynx, cougar and grizzly occasionally surrender to the sagacious hunter.

This is an isolated post, perhaps the most so of any in the United States, it being 160 miles from the nearest railroad station (Liegau, the terminus of the Nevada and California R. R., running out from Reno), but if anyone wants a taste of frontier life, and can rough it, if he will spend the month of October or November in this vicinity, my word for it, smashing clay saucers will ever after be deemed tame sport by that individual. As I do not keep a hotel, I have no pecuniary interest in the visits of sportsmen.

A. C. LOWELL.

The property holders along Dry Creek, from Oak Knoll, Napa County, to the Sonoma line, have unanimously agreed to stop all fishing, hunting or trespassing of any kind. Notices to that effect will be posted all along the creeks.

Together with a package of glorious cherries Mr. Henry A. Bassford sent from his Vacaville ranch this note: "I just finished packing cherries to-day, had a very good crop. Have had about 75 boys, girls and Chinamen working for the last month. I see quite a good many doves around the last few days. I will have a little spare time now for awhile and I think I will give Mr. Smith a brush for the medal."

Mr. W. E. Perry, who will be pleasantly remembered as one of Colonel Dimick's experts has associated himself with the sterling old gun house of Wm. R Schaefer & Son in Boston where we hope his attractive personality and his great knowledge of guns and sportsmen's wants may meet a deserved reward.

At Bakersfield on Sunday of last week Messrs. I. L. Miller and C. N. Reed marshalled the trap shots of that game little city into teams and scored at blue rock targets, Captain Millers team breaking 93 and Captain Reed's 87. The best individual score was made by Mr. Henry Borgwardt, the next by Charles Gay and the third by Charley Day. Mr. Ed. Lechner broke 18 out of 21; a very fine performance indeed. Where were Mr. Houghton, Mr. Seymour, Mr. Leonard, Mr. T. L. Briggs and all the other cracks?

The regular monthly shoot of the Blue Rock Club will take place Saturday, June 7th, at Oakland Race Track. Take 1 P. M. Berkeley train.

The London Shooting Times comments upon the recent Traver fraud as follows:

"This novel kind of fraud had better be borne in mind, as clay pigeon matches are pretty frequent on this side of the herring pond. But that such a bare faced imposition could have, at all, succeeded, baffles us. Had we been shooting and heard the shot strike, we would, of course have wanted to know why the birds did not break, of course.

ROD.

The Fish Commission.

The regular meeting hour for the June meeting was 1:30 P. M. on Tuesday last, but as Commissioner Harvey found it impossible to be present at that hour, the Board convened at 8:30 A. M. and transacted the usual routine business. The monthly report of Chief of Patrol Callundan was presented as follows:

The Honorable The Board of Fish Commissioners:—GENTLEMEN:—The report of the Chief of Patrol and such Deputies as have made their proceedings known to him is submitted herewith. The lack of necessity for watching the trout streams has made it possible to devote more attention to the markets and to the fisheries along the Bay shores. If the views of your Honorable Board are rightly understood it is the desire to preserve the young of fish by such constant and close oversight as will prevent their capture rather than to make an occasional conviction with accompanying fine after the fisherman has worked devastation for a time. It is believed that comparatively few small fish are now being destroyed, the daily patrol of the markets prevents their being offered for sale and the occasional trips of the Deputies to the fishing stations when unexpected makes it hardly worth while for the fishermen to dry the fish for export. Since the passage of the ordinance in San Francisco prohibiting the selling or offering for sale of striped bass less than eight lbs. in weight, your Deputies have been especially vigilant in relation to bass and can report that no small fish of the species have been marketed, although many have been placed on the slabs weighing from twelve to twenty-two and a half lbs.

The traffic in deer skins from which the evidence of sex has been removed seems to be about broken up, the skins consigned by L Lobree to the Sawyer Tanning Co. some weeks ago still remain under seizure subject to the order of your Honorable Board where it is recommended that they remain until such time as someone attempts to force ownership of them, when a successful prosecution can be initiated. Deputy Thurstead has the matter specially in charge and may be relied upon to perform his duty with the utmost faithfulness. Deputy Innes has devoted his time largely to market inspection and to watching the fish wharves at which the cargoes from the fishing stations are landed. The fishermen report generally poor success, light catches and consequent hardship and inability to pay their licenses promptly although Deputy and License Collector Curley is gradually reaching them all.

Deputies have been sent to various points about the country adjacent to San Francisco in answer to complaints that explosives are being used in the streams. In no case has anyone been detected in the act of using such explosives but it is believed that the trips made by the Deputies have exerted a salutary influence in the way of preventing future like outrages. The Sonoma River at Glen Ellen and near that town was one of the spots visited, Russian River another, the Los Gatos a third and the San Lorenzo a fourth. About the middle of the month a Deputy visited Ukiah and traversed a portion of the Russian River near that City where in former seasons Indian fish traps by hundreds have been set; it is a source of gratification to report that the efforts of your Honorable Commission have entirely put a stop to the Indian way of fishing in that stream and it is hoped that with the increase in the food supply which is destroyed by the poisons used by the Indians in fishing, Russian River will soon become what it formerly was, one of the greatest trout streams of this or any other State. Several inquiries have come about the intention of your Honorable Board as to establishing small hatcheries at various points near suitable public waters, such inquiries are referred for the action of the Board.

On May 3rd and 4th a run was made down the Sacramento River without finding any fishermen violating the law.

The 8th and 9th were spent at Monterey examining the Chinese and Italian fishing stations there. A large number of boats were found though but few of them were in active use most of the fishermen preferring to wait until a little later when greater returns for their work are insured The Constables and the Justice of the Peace at Monterey promised to interest themselves actively in the enforcing of the law and to sustain your Commission whenever opportunity offers.

May 15th was passed in Martinez settling the cases of the Chinese arrested some months since for illegal fishing. Of the nine cases pending, four paid fines of $85 each and four of $50 each, one of the defendants having died shortly after leaving jail on bail. The total amount $540 was subdivided of which one-third has been paid to the State Board of Fish Commissioners as provided by law.

Some weeeks since in Monterey County three Italians were arrested and fined for fishing with too small meshes and the whole amount of the fines, $150 was paid into the County treasury. When the fact became known steps were immediately taken to secure to this Board the portion of the fines to which the State was entitled. A formal claim was made upon the Board of Supervisors at Monterey County for the amount due, which claim will be acted upon at the next meeting. Complaints have come to hand that deer were being killed in Marin County and investigation justifies belief in the rumors, the persons whose names have come to hand have all been notified not to continue their illegal hunting. Deer hunting at present is done with hounds which find the weakened does and young fawns an easy prey. Hunting them is an outrage from any standpoint and prosecutions will be vigorously pushed all against all as to whom evidence of guilt can be secured. Respectfully submitted,

F. P. CALLUNDAN, Chief of Patrol.

Fish Commissioner Geo. Mills of Nevada has distributed 1,000,000 trout already this season and has nearly as many more which will be placed in various streams during June. He is proving the best officer that the state has ever had, being alert, enthusiastic and practical.

Grim's Gossip.

Electioneer continues to improve.

John Green is moving Melrose 2:26½ in a quiet manner, but the Sultan gelding is improving every day.

At the Bay District Track everything is booming and there are always more or less horsemen present to witness the "work outs."

W. E. Wilson, of Cynthiana, Ky., has promised James Goldsmith a new sulky when Simmocolon trots in 2:20. Jimmy will get that sulky sure.

More horsemen will visit Los Angeles in August than ever before. They are going to have a bang up meeting and all visitors can rely upon being hospitably entertained.

The Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association contemplates opening a stallion representative stake to close January 1, 1891, guaranteeing it to be worth not less than $15,000.

At Glenbrook Park, there are quite a number of horses in training, and as the programme is better than ever before, it is confidently predicted that all former fairs will be surpassed in brilliancy.

J. H. White, president of the Breeders' Association, has been in town during the week, and reports his string as doing well. Ten or a dozen of the best ones have been removed to the Petaluma track.

Wm. Hogoboom is located at the Walla Walla track where he has a fine stable of horses. Billy has been long enough at the business to warrant the belief that he can give satisfaction to those that employ him.

The sale of the J. M. Donohoe horses in this city on Wednesday last by Killip & Co., was productive of good prices. The principal sale was a Guy Wilkes filly which fell to the bid of F. H. Burke, owner of Eros.

And now comes the news that a mare belonging to Wm. Barnes of Elmwood, Mo., has given birth to triplets. Strange to say, all three of the foals are doing well and it is deemed extremely probable that they will survive.

At a meeting of the Willows Agricultural Association it was determined to hold the annual fair of 1890, from Aug. 12 to 16th inclusive. Last year a highly successful meeting was held and a better one is anticipated for this yeor

Programmes and entry blanks for the Sixth District Agricultural Association Meeting to be held at Los Angeles in August, can be obtained at this office. The directors have made a move in the right direction by offering liberal purses.

We have had many calls for the Haggin catalogues of yearling thoroughbreds; but only having one, could not comply with the repeated requests. It is just possible that many possible purchasers have been kept away owing to the neglect.

The question now arises what track will offer the best advantages to the Breeders Association for the fall meeting. Sacramento, Napa, Santa Rosa and Petaluma are all talked of, but there is no telling at present where the honor will fall.

Mr. A. T. Hatch has been asked to name a price on Guide 2:28½ by Director, dam Imogene by Norwood. The gentleman, however, positively refuses to sell his promising young stallion and the colt will remain at the Hatch breeding establishment.

At Terre Haute last Wednesday Budd Doble drove Houri 2:17, and Lady Bullion 2:18¼, in double harness a half mile in 1:08¾—the first quarter in 34¾, and the second in 34. Doble said he thought by Friday or Saturday he could drive the team a half in 1:07.

The trotting meeting at Terre Haute has had the unqualified endorsement of the public as thousands upon thousands were present each day. Snnol, Palo Alto and Axtell have been the great source of attraction, the California filly being pronounced by all an ideal trotter.

Messrs. Miller & Sibley have sold to Schmulback & Park, Wheeling, W. Va., the yearling colt Gold Coast by Electioneer, dam Edith Carr by Clark Chief and the yearling colt Golden Slope by Electioneer, dam Addie, the dam of Woodnut 2:16¼. The price for the pair was $12,000.

Mr. Fred W. Loeber, one of the Directors of the P. C. T. H. B A., has been confined to his bed for a week or two, but is once more able to be around. He reports the young Alconas as being equal to anything in the land, but his first love compels him to state that there are several Whippletons that will enter the list this year.

Many times lately I have heard the remark, "things will be quiet here this year as Marvin and Hickock have gone East". From present appearances it is susceptable of belief that the present Season will surpass all former years in surprises and sensational performers, there being many a "good thing" stowed away on various of the breeding farms of the State

The Southern California Handicap promises to be as popular with the horsemen of California as the Toboggan Slide Handicap was with the Eastern horseowners. The Directors of the Sixth District Agricultural Association made no mistake in giving a thousand dollar purse for a (¾)mile race. The best spinners in the state will be sent to Los Angeles to have a try for the money.

It would seem as if the California horses are coming rapidly to the front this year, as I see by our Eastern exchanges that a great deal of money has been placed on Salvator for the Suburban. The colt is a good one, the distance suits him well, and if Mr. Haggin is fortunate enough to have his colors pass under the wire first, his many California friends will feel highly elated thereat.

Very nearly all of the Eastern "Hoss" journals have had accounts of the wonderful performances of Blue Belle on the continent, but not one of them have stated that Blue Belle is identical with Mila C., 2:26½, a mare that is in bad odor at present, owing to sharp practices played with her by unscrupulous owners. Her American record of 2:26½ was made at Chicago, Ill., October 25, 1873. She is now one of the most noted trotting horses in Europe, and it is to be hoped that she is in better hands than formerly.

Mr. Valensin has almost recovered from his late illness and is able to be around once more. He has been requested to act as the California representative for the Pacing Association that is now being completed in the East, and while he cannot possibly attend a meeting of delegates which will take place shortly, still it is altogether likely that he will retain the position of committeeman from this State.

DeLong's Ethan Allen, son of Ethan Allen, was killed the other day at the farm of his owner, Mr. Henry J. DeLong of Shorebam, Vt. The old horse had become so infirm that it was thought to be the part of mercy to put an end to his sufferings. He was foaled June 26th, 1858, and was the last of the sons of the famous Ethen Allen. Holabird's Ethan died last summer in Shelburn, Vt.

Mr. S. C. Ferguson, clerk at the Palo Alto Stock Farm, has gotten up a book to enable horse owners to keep a correct and accurate account of the horses which they may have entered in stake races. The book is very complete in its way and will be of great assistance to all owners throughout the country. I understand that Mr. Ferguson has copyrighted the work and will be glad to receive orders for them from any one who may desire to purchase.

We have had a very pleasant call this week from Dr. Aby the superintendent of the Guenoc Stock Farm. He reports that in two weeks at least, work will have commenced on the new race track which is about to be completed at that farm. No expense will be spared to make it one of the most complete and attractive in the State, and it is to be hoped that in the near future, many youngsters may emanate from Guenoc, to do justice to that noted place.

W. H. Wilson of Cynthiana Ky., proprietor of Abdallah Park has added another choice mare to his collection in purchasing of Mrs. A. P. Dills, Hopkinsville Ky. The mare Colon (dam of Simmocolon, 5 years old, rec. 2:23¼) by Strathmore No. 408; 2nd dam Coral, (dam of Coralloid, 3 years old, rec. 2:29½) by Clark Chief 89; 3d dam (dam of Caliban rec. 2:34, sire of C. F. Clay 2.18, Coaster 2:26¼, and Cylone 2:23½ he the sire of Dr. Sparks 2 year old rec. 2:25½, and Gillette 2:25), by C. M. Clay Jr. 22. This mare is in foal to Simmons 2:28.

To-day (Saturday) the Australian steamer will in all probability arrive with a large consignment of thoroughbred mares which have been purchased by Mr. Merry in the antipodes for Mr. L. J, Rose; a list of them has already been printed in our columns and on their arrival a personal inspection will be made so that we may be able to give our readers next week a full account of what they look like. From the breeding, the mares are everything that could be desired and if their individuality is one-half as good, Mr. Rose will have secured many fine brood animals for his establishment.

White Hat Dan McCarthy has left Chicago with his string of California trotters and is now located at Fleetwood Park, New York. Already he has had quite a number of them out for inspection, showing up fast quarters and halves, and Dan always has an enthusiastic crowd around him when he commences to talk of the merits of the horses from the Pacific Slope. W. W. Meudenhall of Livermore is acting as manager for Dan, and between the two, no doubt they will make many profitable sales.

On Wednesday afternoon there was probably no happier man in San Francisco than Mr. Valensin of Pleasanton. As stated in the gossip column a few weeks ago. Simmcoolon has been sent back East to the stables of Jas. Goldsmith of Dundee Park, New Jersey; on Wednesday afternoon Mr Valensin received a telegram from Goldsmith stating that Simmocolon had won a race in three straight heats and received a record of 2:23¼. There were originally ten entries for the purse but whether they all started or not it will be impossible to tell until the Eastern papers arrive with an account of the race.

A letter from Secretary Sproul of the Chico Association informs me that the Directors have decided to hold their fair from August 26th to 30th inclusive. Five days' racing will be given in which there will be many trotting, pacing and running events. $6,000 will be hung up in purses, and there will be for trotters a three-minute 2:40; 2:35; 2:30 and 2:27, and four-year-old classes, for pacers, a class for untried horses, and a 2:25 purse; in the running events there will be a mile dash, three quarters and repeat, half mile and repeat and a mile and repeat; this is a good programme and should warrant a large attendance.

The following clipping from the columns of a Cheshire (England) newspaper will give an idea of the big crowds which turn out to the races in that country: "No fewer than 60,000 passengers arrived at the Chester General Railway station on the Cup day, which is stated to be by far the largest number ever recorded on any similar occasion. They were conveyed in 52 special and 228 ordinary trains. The Cheshire Lines Railway Company brought 12,000 passengers into the city, bringing up the total to 72,000 passengers on both systems, and it requires very little stretch of the imagination to compute that double that number, or close upon 150,000 people, were in attendance at the races on the Cup day."

In a letter which I received this week from Terre Haute, the bad news comes that Alfred. S. was kicked by another horse one day last week, and Hickok has had to let up on him. The letter was sent too soon after the injury for my informant to be able positively to say what the effect of the injury would be. It is to be hoped that Alfred S is not permanently disabled, for his present mark would have been reduced this year barring accident. Arol, in the Marvin string, of which mention has already been made in reference to her injuries, will probably be saved but will never be able to race again. This is too bad, for Arol gave promise of much speed, and her record of 2.25 is no where near what she could have done.

I am sorry to have to announce the death of Fontana which occurred at Mr. W. S. Hobart's Breeding Farm early in the week. Fontana was a brown mare, foaled in 1879 by Almont 33, dam Fanny Williams by Alexander's Abdallah 15; 2nd dam by Denmark; 3rd dam by Robert Bruce. Fontana was bred by Gen. W. T. Withers of Lexington, Kentucky, who sold her some years ago to the late Silas Skinner; all of her produce have been remarkably speedy, notably Flora Belle by Alcona 730. Flora Belle made a record at Napa last year of 2:25, and was shortly afterwards sold to Mr. Corbitt of the San Mateo Stock Farm. At the late sale of brood mares owned by Mrs. Silas Skinner, Fontana was sold to Mr. Hobart for $4,400; she was in foal to Direotor which makes the loss still greater; the cause of death is said to be colic.

My correspondent at Santa Barbara sends me word that Carrie B. has foaled a bay filly with left hind foot marked white and small star in forehead by Alcazar. Carrie B. is by A. W. Richmond; her foal is entered in the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN Futurity Stake; the filly is a most handsome one, active, large and intelligent.

At the track Geo. Sherman's two-year-old by Accident, dam by Newry is doing excellent work, although exercised but a dozen times he ran a quarter last week in twenty-four and a half seconds; quite a number of gentlemen were present and held watches on the colt while the feat was being performed; a sport remarked after the run "that colt can eat his oats out of a silver bowl and drink out of a golden bucket now." I am glad that George has a good one. Fergusson has the youngster in training.

For sometime it has been a mooted question as to which of the two mares, Minnie Lee or Queen of the West had the most speed, so a match race for $250 a side was made between T. J. Powers and Jno. D. Spreckles, the respective owners of the mares. The race took place on Wednesday afternoon at the Bay District Track, there being a large attendance of prominent horsemen. The judges for the occasion were Messrs. Matthews, Perry and Gonzalez while the timers were Messrs. Farrell, Dickey and Griffin. Jimmy Dustin handled Mr. Spreckle's Minnie Lee, while Jno. Green held the ribbons over Queen of the West. The match was won in three straight heats Minnie Lee winning in 2:32½ 2:29¾ and 2:31¼. Queen of the West proved herself a good mare but is yet a little rank, however, if she keeps on improving. the day is not far distant when her owner will be able to say that he has a mare in the 2:30 list.

The race for the Jockey Club prize (the French Derby) was run Sunday, June 1st, at Chantilly, and was won by Baron Rothschild's chestnut colt Heaume, by Hermit, out of Bella. P. Aumont's chestnut colt Mirabeau, by Saxifrage, out of Marionnette, was second, and Baron A. DeShickler's bay colt Fitz-Roya, by Atlantic, out of Perplexite, third. The last betting was 5 to 4 against Heaume, 4 to 1 against Mirabesu and 6 to 1 against Fitz Roya. The other starters and the odds laid against them were: Pour Point, 20 to 1; Chalet, 14 to 1; Le Glorieux, 25 to 1; Reville, 50 to 1; Cadi, 100 to 1. Twelve horses were entered. The absentees were Alicante and LeNord. The field made an excellent start. Chalet and Reville took the start, closely followed by Heaume and Fitz-Roya. At the rise Heaume forged ahead, followed by Mirabeau, Fitz-Roya and Pour Point in the order named. In the home stretch there was a lively struggle, Heaume winning by one length, with Mirabeau half a length in front of Fitz-Roya.

The dam of Darebin is dead. She was found dead in one of the Bundoora Park paddocks a few days ago, and upon examination it was discovered that she had been shot, three or four leaden pellets having passed through the skin into the intestines. Mr. Gardiner thinks the death of the mare was caused through some boys accidentally shooting her while they were after parrots. Lurline was undoubtedly one of the best mares that ever trod the Australian turf. She was bred by Mr. S. Nosworthy in New Zealand in 1869, and was by the imported horse Traducer, from the imported mare Mermaid, by King Tom. In New Zealand she proved the champion mare of her day, and amongst other races she won the Canterbury Cup and Canterbury Plate twice. In 1874 she became the property of Mr. H. Redwood and another, and with her relative Calnmny she was brought to Victoria, and ran at the V. R. C. Spring Meeting, but being altogether out of sorts, she did not cut a very respectful figure. Shortly afterwards she was purchased by Mr. Samuel Gardiner for 700 guineas, Mr. W. E. Dakin having her placed in his hands, and in her new owner's colours, she carried 8st 11lb, and won the Australian Cup. In the Sydney Cup, with 9st up, she ran a good third to Imperial, 7st 9lb. At the same meeting she beat Llama, Kingsborough and Redwood in the All-Aged Stakes, and on the following day she defeated The Diver, Melbourne and Goldsborough in the A. J. C. Plate. In May of the same year she journeyed to South Australia, and with 9st 11lb on her back, won the Adelaide Cup very easily, and on the third day of the meeting won the Queen's Plate. Mr. Gardiner put her to the stud in 1876, and The Peer was selected as her mate, the produce being a chestnut colt, who was subsequently named Motea, but he did not shine as a racehorse. In the following year she produced Darebin to the same sire, and he proved himself one of the best horses in Australia.

Norwich (Eng.) Mercury, May 10: "Mr. William Flanders' brown four-year-old Hackney stallion Star of Mepal (1920) was bought on Tuesday for £2,000 by Mr. H. L. Bloodgood of Bloodgood stock farm, New Marlboro Mass., and is to be shipped from London on 22d inst, with several other Hackney—stallions and mares—which Mr, Bloodgood has bought in the Eastern district. Star of Mepel was the reserve to Mr. H. Moore's Rufus for the second Elsenham challenge cup at the great London show in March last, and was deemed the most likely candidate for champion honors at next show. His breeding, as fully set forth in the Hackney Society's report of the show just issued, shows that he traces back to the very best Hackney blood in Norfolk and Yorkshire. His dam, Sunbeam, (337), is full sister of Mr. Flanders' Reality—champion of 1885' 1887 and 1888. His sire, Star o the North (1185), which has lately been exported to America was first-prize winner in the two-year-old class of the 1885 Hackney Horse Society's Show. Much regret will be felt that these horses, and Star of Mepal especially, should have been lost to the country. There were offers of £1,500 for the Star of Mepal, but these were refused. We congratulate Mr. Flanders on his good fortune in breeding so valuable a horse, and the Americans on having won such a prize. A few months ago an American was desirous of buying Mr. C. E. Cook's Cadet at £1,500 and Mr. Henry Moore is reported to have refused an offer of £2,500 for the champion horse Rufus. There can hardly be better evidence required of the rise in the value of good Hackneys. Those who are keenly watching the signs of the times say that the American demand is going to be large and sharp. Such a purchase as this of Star of Mepal, will add considerably to the curiosity of the American mind as to the worth and origin of the Hackney horse. That there is yet a great deal of ignorance in America in regard to this variety of trotting horse is evident from a foot-note to an article on "Road Horses" in the Atlantic Monthly for April. The writer, who would appear to be an authority on trotting horse, informs his readers that the Norfolk trotter is almost, if not wholely extinct (!); and he further demonstrates how very little knowledge he has by a speculation as to the breeding of Jary's Bellfounder on which he asserts that little or nothing is known—as though the Hackney Stud Book had no existence.

The State Fair.

The Secretary of the State Board of Agriculture has sent us a note stating that the Executive Committee have decided to make a number of changes in the programme from the way in which it has been already advertised. They have substituted for the free-for-all trotters a purse of $1,500 for the 2:20 class, and have also changed the 2:25 pacing race to a purse of $800 for the 2:30 class, and the purse for the free-for-all pacers has been increased to $1,000. In the course of a few days, in all probability by next week, the entire programme in its amended form will be advertised in the Breeder and Sportsman, so that the horsemen of the State may know exactly what the programme will be at Sacramento this year.

The Story of John Nelson.

Some weeks ago we promised the readers of the Breeder and Sportsman that we were on the trail of the persons who owned John Nelson at the time of his death. It will be remembered that Wallace in his Year Books states that John Nelson 187 died in 1871; where he could possibly have gotten his information is hard to tell, for there are hundreds and probably thousands in this State to-day who know that the old horse was alive many years after that. Only a few months ago Mr. L. U. Shippee of Stockton sent back a large number of mares to be registered, and among them were several for which the sire's parentage was claimed as John Nelson; the Wallace Publishing Co. at once returned the registration certificates and stated that it was impossible for Mr. Shippee to have any mares by John Nelson born after 1872 as they had positive information in the office that John Nelson had died in 1871.

Mr. Henry Gore of Reno was the first person to send to this office any data by which the true time of the horse's death could be found out, his letter was as follows:

Editor Breeder and Sportsman:—Being an old subscriber of your paper and reading it regularly every week I find that there is a controversy on hand relative to the time of the death of John Nelson. In 1877 I lived in Colusa and had as a neighbor a man by the name of Nathan Price, he went down to San Francisco and bought from Jas. Eoff, the horse John Nelson who was at that time on a ranch owned by Messrs. Miller & Lux. Price told me when he got him he was running out with a band of mares and looked very bad; Price brought him to Colusa, as near as I can remember, about the first week in March of that same year; Price did not keep the horse but about three weeks and then sold him to T. B. Cooper who now lives in Adin, Modoc County, but at that time lived in Colusa. My impression is that the horse only lived a few months after Cooper bought him and he died on Cooper's ranch about one and a half miles from the Town of Colusa.

Yours respectfully, Henry Gore.

A letter was at once sent to Mr. Cooper who is a well known horseman, he being at present the owner of Juanito, the sire of Almont Patchen 2:15. It could hardly be expected that without books to refer to, that one can remember the exact date of things that happened over a decade ago. The answer to our letter to Mr. Cooper is as follows:

Editor Breeder and Sportsman:—Your favor of the 26th inst duly received and contents noted.

In reply will say that I purchased the horse John Nelson 187 from a man by the name of Price sometime during the spring of 1877. I at present know nothing about the man Price, where he is or whether dead or alive. I do not remember the exact date of the purchase of John Nelson or the exact date of his death but know that he died in the fall of 1878. Yours respectfully,

T. B. Cooper.

These letters are at the office of the Breeder and Sportsman and can be seen by any and all who are interested in the John Nelson stock, and it is to be hoped that in Wallace's future publications that he will correct the error which he has printed for so many years, and give the exact year of the death of John Nelson and not claim, as at present, the year 1871.

Speed! Speed! Speed!

The marvelous results attained by the trotting fraternity in 1889, has led many to suppose that it would be impossible to surpass them this season. However, from the present outlook we feel every confidence that 1890 will prove as sensational a year as was that of the one preceding it. Already from all quarters of the country come reports of fast quarters, halves and miles, each new report surpassing its predecessor in sensation. California will be well represented not only on our own circuit but also in the East and there is no breeder in this State but what feels that California will as usual head the list with sensational performers during the coming racing season. The runners are also doing well to uphold the glory of our State, Geraldine having acquitted herself with glory in the Toboggan Slide Handicap, for although beaten by half a length she was not disgraced, as the three-quarters of a mile was compassed in the remarkably fast time of 1:10¼; the difference in weight carried between herself and Fides, who proved the victor, was enough to account for her defeat. The Santa Anita stable, the Hearst stable and the Haggin stable will be heard from before long. Already two or three victories have been secured by them and their representative horses will soon be in fettle to assert themselves as the superiors of all comers

Philosopher.

In the advertisement to be found in another column it will be seen that Geo. E. Guerne, of Santa Rosa, offers for sale the exquisitely bred stallion Philosopher. This representative of the Wilkes family was brought to California some two years ago by Mr. J. W. Knox, and has since that remained in the neighborhood of Santa Rosa, where he stood during the present season receiving many high class mares. Philosopher should prove a valuable horse for any of the many breeders throughout this State. He is only four years old, his sire being Pilot Wilkes 2987, 1st dam Bella by George Wilkes 519, 2nd dam by Bell Morgan 61; Philosopher's sire, Pilot Wilkes is by George Wilkes, dam Grace by Pilot Jr. 12. With the contention that at present exists between the believers in the Wilkes family and the many who are partial to the Electioneers, it can be readily imagined that there will be many of the former who will try to secure possession of this finely bred young horse.

A Pacing Purse.

The Breeders' Association offers this week a purse of $1000 for pacers eligible to the 2:20 class; the race to be mile beats best three in five and to take place at their meeting this fall. Entrance to the purse is made on the installment plan, the conditions being $100 entrance, payable $20 on June 10th, $20 on July 1st, $20 on August 1st and $40 ten days preceding the first advertised day of the meeting. Horses need not be named until the final payment. There are a large number of the side wheel brigade in California at present, eligible to and qualified to pace for this handsome purse and as the breeders are all now taking an active interest in the organization, we can believe that the entries will be large. It should be understood by those who own horses eligible for this purse that the nominator must be a member of the Association, this is readily accomplished by sending to the Secretary, whose address will be found in the advertisement, the membership fee.

Billiards.

The long expected billiard match between champion Jacob Schaefer and Professor McCleery of this city took place on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week and it must be confessed that the result was a source of surprise to the friends of the Pacific Coast champion. Schafer fairly outdone himself, and after getting the balls together on the first evening McCleery was never allowed another shot. The extraordinary run, 3,000 points, is a record, as that amount has never been made before in a public match. The second contest took place between "Napoleon" Ives and McCleery which also resulted in the defeat of the California representative. The two Eastern players have stamped themselves masters of the game and the exhibitions were witnessed by many who take an active interest in this beautiful pastime. We understand that there are two or three matches on the tapis which will be brought to a conclusion sometime during the coming week.

Hurstbourne Stud Farm.

We have received from N. T. Harris, proprietor of the Hurstbourne Farm the most handsome catalogue that has ever been sent to this office. As is well known the principal stallion is George Kinney who stamped himself as one of the best race horses of his day. The book contains a full and complete list of all of Kinney's performances and a very favorably mention is also made of his full brother John Happy, now standing in Mr. Haggins stud at Rancho del Paso. There is also enumerated a list of thirty seven brood mares, than which there is no better in the country, all of the principal brood lines represented in the English and American stud books can be found permeating the veins of the mares catalogued in the Hursthourne book. The proprietor, Mr. Harris, is known as one of the most progressive brooders in the country; in addition to Kinney he has Neptune, son of imp. Mortemer, dam imp. Highland Lassie by Blair Athol; the third of the stallions is Saracen, son of imp. Lemington, dam imp. Lurline by Gemmi di Vergy, It cannot be wondered at that such royal brooding produces royal results, and the Hurstbourne yearlings always command a ready sale in the market.

The Sonoma and Marin Futurity Stake.

There is every reason to believe that the Futurity Stake lately opened by the Sonoma and Marin Agricultural Society will have a generous support from those who are in the district comprising Sonoma, Marin, Napa, Lake, Mendocino, Solano, Yolo, Colusa and Contra Costa. There is no section of the State where so many highly bred horses are raised as in the counties enumerated, and as Petaluma is one of the favorite places on the circuit for horsemen to attend, we can believe that all breeders living in the district will heartily support this new stake. Entrance does not close until July 1st, but we are informed that already quite a number of entries have been made which is an assurance that the Futurity will be a pronounced success. The payments are easy and as follows: $5 on July 1, 1890, $5 on January 2, 1891, $5 on July 1, 1891, $10 January 2, 1892, $10 on July 1, 1892, $15 on January 2, 1893, the last and final payment being $25 on July 1, 1893, in which year the trot will take place. We fully expect to receive an extremely large list of entries for this valuable stake from Secretary Maclay when it closes.

The Oaklands are retrograding.

Young Carsey is quito a success.

Zeigler's Senators are playing great ball.

Fielder Lawton would like to play again.

Snyder has caught sixteen games for Seattle.

The Frisco's are sadly deficient in team playing.

Dave Creamer is very anxious to go to Portland.

Short stop Howe has been released from Tacoma.

Pitcher Young is the champion "wafter" of the League.

John Thompson is now playing second with the Reports.

Jack Donohue is going to practice, just to keep his hand in.

Jack Ryan did not go to Portland with Daddy Hayes last week.

The Oaklands in their black jersey uniforms look like a troop of high-kickers.

The Portlands have four pitchers. They are Borchers, Barry, Munday aod Parrott.

Sweeny, Shea. Stevens and Speer, are considered the four safest hitters in the Frisco's.

In the Spokane—Portland game last Sunday, McCue fined catcher McCarthy $45 for back talk.

Mike Fishers umpiring has been far from satisfactory to either the Sacramento or visiting teams.

Speer is a great favorite with all the patrons of the game and the ladies say "he's just too sweet for anything."

Hal Wheeler, the Boston boy, John Thompson and Jim Cusick are not yet signed by any of the professional teams.

Billy Farrell has proved himself a valuable man for the Senators and Sacramentans are not slow in appreciating his usefullness.

In the Pacific North-West League, games are played on Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday of each week. Tuesday is Ladies' Day at Portland.

Vincent Daily is hitting in great shape for Cleveland, and his right field work compares favorably with that of any ther player in the National League.

It is said that Von der Ahe has his eye on Power, of the Baltimore Club, and Virtue, of the Detroits. He wants a good man to play first base for the Browns.—Sporting Life.

Billy Cooney came down from Portland last Saturday in response to a telegram from his parents apprising him of the death of his brother. He rejoined his team at Seattle yesterday,

The Michigan League umpire McGinty, has not been a glittering success so far, and the only reason why he is not at the bottom of the sea is because Michigan League crowds are merciful life.

From the style in which Van Haltren is covering ground in centre field, it is pretty generally believed in Brooklyn, that Johnny Ward captured the king-pin of the Chicago Club.—Exchange.

McCabe who captains the Tacomas and Shorty Howe (who was recently released from that team) both played last season with the New York Metropolitans of which team pitcher Carsey was also a member.

The Frisco's have developed a great batting streak, and have hammered ont all opposing pitchers lively and heavily. Keep up your good lick with the willow, boys, and you'll have a pennant of your own next season.

Dwyer, who resigned from the Portlands when Harris succeeded him in the management is rated a first class basemen and hard hitter, and it is the opinion of many that he can double discount Perrier in the first base position.

Kilroy, as a pitcher may be counted a good one. He has some very fine curves including a nice drop and plenty of speed. With a more thorough knowledge of his opposing batsman he will be a big find for the Stocktons.

Denver is anxious to have "Dad" Clarke in her team notwithstanding that she has already four good batteries. Clarke finished the latter part of last season here for the Frisco's and pitched most wonderful ball. His present salary is said to be $2,500.

Portlands pitcher Tom Parrott is said to resemble a circus freak more than a ball player. He is as lank as a reed and stands fully six feet four inches in his stocking feet. He possesses excellent speed and curves, but no judgment being easily rattled at any stage of the game.

The only Kelly always has an answer for every one, but there is one lovely spot about him, and that is where he never lies. When Kelly said after muffing a foul fly, "It is the first one I missed in five years," you can take Mike's word for it that he knew what he was talking about.—Ex.

Reports from Portland say that "Ginger" McCarthy will be at the receiving end most of the games when Borchers pitches. Both McCarthy and Levy have been given a trial in catching the big "chief," and Paul has handled him cleaner and more effectnally than Dave. Levy will undoubtedly be "paired off with Parrott and Munday.

All the teams have augmented their pitching departments with the exception of Finn. and the new material has shown up to very favorable advantage. It now behooves the versatile ball manager, street contractor and ward politician to keep his weather eye open for twirling talent, for it is hardly possible for him to run the season out successfully with only two pitchers.

Jim Mullee has been released from the Tacoma team. One evening Jim had been seeking hilarity by imbibing numerons "big steams," and in the course of making the rounds, he ran afoul of Manager Lucas. The strong armed pitcher felt too gay to pay the respect generally due from a player to his superior, and in consequence was informed the following morning that his services to the team were no longer desired.

The Sporting News claims that the following notice of a game was handed in their office by the manager of the Scoopers.—"De scoopers and de Shindigs plaid a gaim er baul Esterday. Billy Spud de dandy twurler fur descoopers hit da baul on de nose and nocked it in de tater pach fur a homer. 'Shorty' Brigs stoul nin basses, an Chuly Galleger cotcher fur de Shindigs only had six passed banls. ples dont furget ter mentan dot dandy hum run of Billy Spuds."

The Stocktons are in need of another catcher, and it is reported that the management intend giving Matt Stanley a chance. Stanley would be the "right man in the right place", and with a little practice and encouragement, would prove his value to them. He is unquestionably a very clever back-stop, being active and earnest, and receiving a ball firmly and properly. Having caught Borchers, Mullee, and Purcell successfully, he has no terror of a speedy pitcher. With good coaching and a month's practice, Stanley would make a most creditable showing.

The writer interviewed Joe Noonan (Purcell) the other day. In reply to a question whether he would play again or not Joe said "I would like to play very much and will if I can make satisfactory arrangements. I never felt better than when playing ball and I already feel the want of the exercise, having reduced twenty pounds or more since I quit playing. I would much prefer to be with Finn's team and think I would be as successful this year as I was when with the Pioneers. The other day I practiced for several hours over at St. Marys College and I was surprised to see that I retained my old speed command and drops. I like the general make up of the Friscos and it is quite probable that I will be with that team before many weeks.

The meeting of the Directors of the League has been prolific of good results as far as the coaching question is concerned. There is a noticeable lack of Captain O'Neills "beautiful language" on the lines now, which is most agreeable to all the lady and gentlemen patrons of the games. O'Neill certainly overstepped the mark on many occasions and some of his allusions were very coarse, improper and unwarranted. His bad example was being rapidly emulated by Hill and if these offensive methods were permitted a free fight would not be at all surprising at any time on the diamond. We are pleased with the action of the Directors in the matter and trust that the new rules governing the coachers will be strictly enforced.

Frank Bancroft is a plain-spoken manager, who never minces words, but calls things by their right names, at all times and places. Once, when he had charge of the Worcester team, a recruit from a minor league was sent to him for trial. The youngster came highly recommended, and was put in the ont-field in a championship game. He only had three chances, and made three glaring errors. Bancroft looked glum and out of sorts at the close of the game. The recruit seemed to appreciate the fact that he was the cause of the manager's bad humor, and, stepping up to him, said: "Mr. Bancroft, I was a little off this afternoon."

"Yes," said Bancroft, "and you'll be a darn sight farther off to-morrow afternoon;" with which he handed the recruit a railroad ticket to his home, several hundred miles away."—Palmer's Stories.

The Sacramentos are now in great playing form and if they keep up their present gait they may be counted snre winners. The different departments of their team is now well supplied with strong and efficient material and there is no good reason why the pennant should not fly this year from the Senatorial City. Harper and Farrell are both winning pitchers and Bowman is as clever a back stop as any on the Coast. McHale though young and somewhat inexperienced is active and ambitions and makes an able assistant for Bowman. Their infield is undoubtedly the fiuest in the League and the outfield an exceptionally strong one. The team is a heavy hitting one and will come close to Frisco in this respect. Goodenough. Godar, Stapleton, Reitz, Roberts, Daly, Bowman, and Farrell are all excellent stickers, and it is an admitted fact that as a team they are the best baserunners in the League. Their general team work is also superior to that of the other clubs, there being a dash and vivacity about them which neither the Stocktons, Oaklands nor Friscos seem to possess.

SAN FRANCISCO vs. OAKLAND.

FRIDAY, MAY 30TH, AT OAKLAND.

The game was not a brilliant one in any respect, if we except the clever work of Carsey in the points for Oaklsnd, and Ebright's and Stickney's sharp fielding. Some fifteen hundred Oaklanders watched the exhibition, and loudly applaudod each and every play made by the Colonels. The Friscos were wretchedly weak at the hat, and their fielding was very imperfect. Young Carsey was in excellent form, being steady and effective.

Lookahough pitched good ball till the sixth inning, when he became very wild, the Oaklanders making seven runs in this inning. The score:

SAN FRANCISCO vs. OAKLAND.

FRIDAY, MAY 30th, AT HAIGHT ST.

The game in the afternoon was almost a repetition of the morning's game at Emery. Cobb seemed intent on out doing the efforts of his more youthful associate Carsey, and came very close to realizing his fondest hopes. The hits scored off him was few and far between while Yonng was wild snd pounded merrily throughont the gsme. The fielding of both tesms wss uneveu and little interest was manifested after the sixth inning. McDonsld and Lohmsn for Oakland and Sweeney for Frisco led the hitting. The score:

STOCKTON vs. SACRAMENTO.

FRIDAY, MAY 30th AT STOCKTON.

Kilroy made his initial bow to a Stockton andience in this game and acqnitted himself admirably, the Senators being able to do hut little with his delivery.

Vogt was injured and DePangher was snbstitnted who caught a good game. Fudger was somewhat "off" his errors allowing the Sacramentos their only run. Farrell pitched for the Senators and did well considering that it was his first appearance against the Stocktons. The fielding of the Sacramentos was clean snd almost perfect, McHale making their ouly error.

Cabill and Fudger were particnlarly strong at the hat. Donahue was ill and Flynn nmpired.

SACRAMENTO vs STOCKTON.

FRIDAY, MAY 30TH AT SACRAMENTO.

A large audience welcomed the appesrance of both teams in the afternoon, and the home team greatly pleased the andience by winning a close and exciting game. Harper was effective as was also Perrott except in the fifth inning when the Senators bunched on him drivingin two runs The fielding of both teams wss geuerally clever, and the batting of the Stockton's, though not timely, was strong. Wilson's twelve chances at third were hard ones, and his two errors were pardonable ones. Farrell was in left field for Sacramento, Roberts being on the sick list. The score

SAN FRANCISCO vs. STOCKTON.

SATURDAY, MAY 31ST, AT HAIGHT STREET.

It was a great game lsst Saturday thst wss witnessed by some three thousnnd people at the Hsight Street grounds. The hitting was sharp and lively, and the fielding was on the whole brilliant. Andy Smith, who played a few games for Sacramento, went behind the hat for Stockton, and although he did not receive Hapeman's delivery perfectly, he was a powerful factor in keeping the Friscos from stealing bases. Lookabaugh was hit mildly for the first few innings, but in the fifth, sixth and seventh, the Gas City boys opened up on him in a lively manner. Selna, Levy, Cahill snd Sweeney's hitting were festures, as was the fielding of Buchan, Fogarty, Sweeney and Wilson. The score:

SACRAMENTO vs. OAKLAND.

Saturday, May 31st, at Sacramento.

Farrell, who was discarded by the dude Colonel from Oakland some time ago, was in the box in this game against the aggregation of Atherian fire-eaters, and he was more than "in it." Three little hits by snch a team of wonderful hitters as his Colonelship claims to have is not a very gratifying showing. But Farrell didn't do all the playing himself; eight other Senators contributed their share to the Oaklands defeat. Stapleton and Reitz did some very clever playing, the former having twenty accepted chances and Reitz took excellent care of nine. Carsey pitched another good game and his support was excellent, Stickney, McDonald and Lohman doing particularly nice work. The score:

SAN FRANCISCO vs. STOCKTON.

SUNDAY, JUNE 1ST, AT HAIGHT STREET.

The Friscos score another victory in this game against the Stocktons. The "Indian battery," Kdroy and Vogt, were in the points for Stockton, and both men played well, but the Friscos hit Kilroy hard in the sixth inning, snd these timely hits, with two errors, and Ebright being hit by a pitched ball, were productive of five runs. The Stocktons did not hit as fortunately, slthough they bunched four pretty singles in the fourth, netting two runs. The fielding was almost perfect on both sides, some very brilliant plays being msde. Speer handled Young's delivery magnificently, and Hsnley's and Fudger's play was exceedingly clever. The score:

SACRAMENTO vs. OAKLAND.

SUNDAY, JUNE 1ST, AT SACRAMENTO.

Sacrsmento took another gsme from Oakland in presence of the largest crowd of the season. The gsme was close and exciting tsking eleven innings to complete it. Meegsn was hit lively especially toward the close of the game but his pitching was not entirely the cause of Oakland's defeat. They couldn't field a little bit, O'Neill's work at short being particularly rocky. Stickney and McDonald also kept him company in the error making. In direct contrast was the brillisnt work of the Senators who went after every thing in sight. Bowman csught a wonderfully strong gsme and their infield plsyed in their nsual brilliant style. Fisher's umpiring was far from satisfactory. The score:

The Amateurs.

Games Played by the California Amateur League and the Pacific Coast Amateur Association.

There is not much change in the rank ot the teams for this week, altbough tbe percentages have changed perceptibly. The Santa Rosas still have a firm hold on first place, and the Will and Finks have droppsd a little. Tbe Reports have pulled up considerably, making things lively for the "Young Giants". Vallejos and tbe Allens played a draw game last Friday, and there is but little change in their percentages. The Burlingtons still ornament the "bottom of the heap."

WILL & FINK'S vs REPORTS.

SUNDAY, JUNE 1ST AT HAIGHT ST.

The game was nicely played for four innings after which Howell became wild, and aided by two hits and several bases on balls, the Reports took a decided advantage. The Fincks hit better, but their hits were badly scattered and amounted to little in tbeir run getting. The game was not devoid of some pretty playing, and in this respect Tillson, Leveque, Billings, Thompson and Green excelled. The score

BURLINGTONS vs. VALLEJOS.

SUNDAY, JUNE 1ST, AT VALLEJO.

The "Railroaders" won their second game of the season by defeating the "Marines" at Vallejo. Baltz's arm was sore, and the Burlingtons hit him so hard that he retired to left field, Bogle taking his place. The change pitcher fared but little better, the Burlingtons being intent on making a batting record, and in this respect Forster captured the honors, his hitting being simply terrific. The Burlingtons had a new battery who did well. Broderick and Dunn both put up a magnificent game at third, the first named accepting seven out of eight difficult chances.

The fielding in general was of a very ragged order, every player in the Vallejo team having a chance, making from one to tbree errors. The score:

SANTA ROSA vs E. T. ALLENS.

SUNDAY, JUNE 1st AT SANTA ROSA.

The game was most exciting at the close of the sixth inning, when the Sonoma boys tried the "Sports" who had secured a nice lead of five runs. McDonald who had pitched a clever game up to the sixth, tben became reckless, and the result was several bases on balls whicb permitted the Santa Rosa to win easily.

Callen was very steady, striking out nine men. Pace, Stanley and Reilly hit hard, and the catching of Stanley and Pace and fielding of Gimmel, Reilly and Creamer were noteworthy features. Cates umpiring was very satisfactory. Tbe score

UNIVERSITY'S vs. RELIANCE.

Saturday, May 31st, at Emeryville.

The Universities had the best of this game from the time "play ball" was called till the finish. The College boys started in and batted Blethen all over the lot. In the third inning Knight went in and did much better than his predecessor, striking out seven men in the succeeding five innings The Universitys completely out batted and outfielded the Reliance team and scored an easy victory. Cornwall pitched a very clever game and was accorded perfect support by catcher Allen. The remainder of the team fielded prettily, batted timely and ran the bases well. The game was a very boisterous one Van Court finding occasion to fine Elder, Rosborough, Clement, Davis and Latham. The following is the score:

STANDING OF THE CLUBS.

Both the leaders Spokane and Tacoma have droppsd considerably during the week ending June 2nd, while the Seattles and Portlands have shown a marked advancement. With the new material and guided by Harris' clever management Portland will undoubtedly fulfill his prediction that the team representing the "web foot" metropolis will be "the people" before the Fourth of July. The following is the record:

Spokane	20	12	8	.600
Tacoma	17	9	8	.529
Seattle	19	9	10	.473
Portland	18	7	11	.388

PORTLAND vs SPOKANE.

SUNDAY, JUNE 1ST, AT PORTLAND.

"Chief" Borchers pitched a great game, and Portland won the most exciting contest of the season by the close score of 7 to 6. The weather was threatening, but notwithstanding, fully two thousand people assembled on the grounds and cheered the Portlands on to victory.

Klopf was hit hard but good support kept the Portlands from scoring often. In the eight inning, however, they hit safely six times, including a double and the Spokanes, making a series of errors, allowed Portland to score four runs which gave them the game. McCarty caught Borchers cleverly, and Levy took Cooneys place in right field. The score

Amateur Short Hits.

The Santa Rosas are still in advance.

The Reports are looming up in great shape.

Gimmel has only made one error thus far this season.

Balchelder, of the Stars, will also pitch for the Murphy-Grants.

Last Sunday umpire Cate fined Jack Cook $5 for disputing a decision.

Gene Broderick played a wonderful game for the "Marines" last Sunday.

D. R. McNeill has prohibited the amateurs from practicing at Central Park.

Arthur Pope is enjoying a week's summer vacation in the Santa Cruz mountains.

Dick Belcher is playing a good fielding game for Tacoma, but is weak at the bat.

McKenzie, formerly with the Franklins, caught a good game for the Burlingtons Sunday.

Howell was more unsteady last Sunday than in any game he pitched before this season.

Shortstop Shindler has been released from the Burlingtons, and Coughlin now fills his place.

The Vallejo's are not giving pitcher Baltz much encouragement, their fielding being very poor.

The Reports have been experimenting with pitchers, having had Sullivan, Cartwright, Burns and Walcott on their list.

Manager Byrnes, of the Visalia Club, bought the release of catcher Sanders from Merced for the large sum of $6.25.—Exchange.

The Santa Rosas have discovered a new phenom in Tufts. Tufts pitched a good game against the S. B. Nolans on Decoration Day.

Forster had a great batting record last Sunday. Six times at bat and five hits, three of them being doubles, is the record for the season.

In the Pacific Amateur League, the E. and O. E.'s rank first with the Reliance University and Anglo Nevada team following in the order named.

Tommy Delmas is a joo-dandy at third. He is covering a big territory, stops everything right or left hand, and shoots the ball over to first in Bill Stickney fashion.

The Young Giants were out of form Sunday, and did not play their usual game. Brace up, boys; we want the professional and amateur pennant in 'Frisco this year.

Agnew, of the Anglo Nevadas, is said to be a "corker," and if he could be induced to play with the California Amateurs, what a find he would be for the team securing his services.

The race between Warren's "Young Giants" and the Santa Rosas promises to be a hard one Both teams are confident, and as they are also putting up gilt-edged balls the result of their first meeting is looked forward to with great interest.

The Visalia's uniforms are very unique and comfortable if they are not in the regulation style. They consist of white duck blouses worn outside the pants which are baggy and reach to the ankles. A wide leaf canvas hat completes the uniform.

Manager Ashman, of the Reports, has secured an excellent man in John Thompson. Thompson can go behind the bat and catch with any of them, and can play any infield position to perfection. He is also a hard hitter, and must be counted a decided acquisition to that team.

We can't understand why such available players as Merve Thompson, Ed Hammer, Jack Toomey, Burt Parker, Southpaw Nolan, Frank Loughran, Jim Cusick and Eddie Grimes are overlooked and a lot of error making "skates" and "waftore" are kept in the teams simply because at one time that were alleged good ball players by some sand lot critic.

The Allens have not been playing the game they are capable of and need a good sound lecture on the benefits resulting from team work and sacrifice hitting. Individually the Allens are as strong as any club in the League, both as regards hitting and fielding, but when playing there is a continuous kicking among the players and the consequence is, that every member of the team gets rattled and goes to pieces. As most of the players are gentlemen of leisure it would be an excellent idea for them to indulge in rigorous batting practice daily and the result would be that when hits are needed they present weak batters of the team would be equal to the emergency.

Manager Gage says that the Burlingtons are still in the race and thinks that henceforth his team will do some clever playing. He is highly pleased with young Walcott whom he says is a pitcher from the ground up. The catching department will be strenghthened and probably big Andy Smith or Burt Parker will be seen at the receiving end. Both are fine catchers and would also add great strength to the team on account of their hitting abilities. The weak spots in the in and out field will also be remedied and strong batters and fielders substituted. All together the team work is expected to be greatly improved on and Gage says the Burlingtons will be far from the tail end when the season closes.

Manager Keller has made some extensive changes in his team, and next Sunday three new players will be seen wearing the Allen uniform. Young Johnson, formerly of the S. B. Nolans, will do the pitching, and McDonald will play on the bench for this game. Stanley will catch. Tom Buckley will play first, Evatt second, Reilly short and Lewis third. Billy Kelly, another clever "two year old" who is said to be a corking second base man, will probably play right, and Gelshaker and McCarthy will be in center and left. Creamer, Murdock and Tribou have been released. Keller says the team has lost enough games already for the season and from this on intends to have a winning nine.

The writer interviewed Pitcher Rohan last Sunday in reference to his alleged throwing of the Santa Rosa-Vallejo game of May 4th. Rohan was highly indignant that his honesty should be assailed, and said that there is no foundation whatever for the charge. Why, he said, the Vallejo's were way off in fielding, and the six runs in the first inning secured by the Santa Rosas, were all gained on little infield hits which the fielders either fumbled or over-threw. I certainly could not be held accountable for the errors of the remainder of the team. Both Wilds and myself lost money on the game, and besides were I so inclined, a paltry one hundred dollars would not be an incentive for me to do anything that would ruin my reputation for honesty. I am in the wood and coal business in Oakland, and doing well, and do not play ball for money, but simply for the pastime it affords. Nothing would please me better than to have the most searching investigation made, and I am willing to deposit two hundred dollars in the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN office, which anyone can have, if they prove that I conspired to sell or throw that game.

Peruvian Bitters are made of the purest ingredients and compounded as carefully as any prescription.

Peruvian Bark, one of its principal ingredients, was introduced into Spain by the Countess, wife of Count CINCHON, Spanish Viceroy to Peru in 1630, who was cured of a fever by its use, since which time, no better remedy for Malaria and for Restoring the Natural Tone of the Stomach has been discovered.

On the Atlantic Coast they are used in the principal Hotels, Clubs and Restaurants, and sold by all Grocers and Druggists. We have sold them for the past three years WITHOUT ANY ADVERTISING and sales have constantly increased UPON MERIT ALONE, and we unqualifiedly recommend them to our friends and customers.

Pleasanton Notes.

A telegrsm was sent to the office of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN on last Friday evening containing the information tbat on the following day many of the fast trotters now at Pleasanton Stock Farm would he worked out. A visit was accordingly paid the next day to the home of Director, and everytbing was fonnd in a state of activity.

Mr. Salisbury haa fully determined to start back East on or about the 10th of this month; it ia extremely probable that the horses to be sent East will go hy way of Jackson, Grand Rapids and Saginaw, as that will enable Andy McDowell to drive each of the horses a race or two prior to the Detroit meeting. We were requested as a particnlar favor not to tell the time that was made by the several performers, yet would very much like, as a matter of information, to let our readers know how fast we saw a few of the good ones go, still in deference to the wishes of the proprietor, that part of the information gained will not be given, anffice it to say that Direct is fsster to-day than he ever was in his life, and there is every reason to bélieve that before the end of the present sesson, Margaret S. will have a record lower by several seconds than she has now.

Another of the speedy ones whioh will be hesrd from later on is Katie S., by Director, dsm Alpha Medium by Happy Medium; this ia a very fast mare, and it will be no trouble for her to beat "twenty." The wiiter thought it was a grand sigbt to see Stamboul when he made his record of 2:12¼ make his last qusrter in 32½ seconds, and we do not think that we are betraying confidence in stating that we saw an animal worked out a full mile at a very high rate of apeed, the last qnarter of which was negotiated in faster time than Stamboul made his laat quarter in his memorable trial. This will naturally put borsemen guessing as to which of the Salisbury contingent is the fastest, but the proprietor of the Pleasanton Stock Farm has so many good onea this year, that many surprises msy be expected from that quartsr.

After the Detroit meeting, Mr. Salisbury will in all likelihood ship his horses to Buffalo, and bas already entries in tbe 2:18 and 2:20 olasses for trotters, and likewise has made an entry in the pacing race there.

On Tuesday of this week E. Lafferty, trainer and drivsr for Mr. Hugh Kirkendall of Montana, left Pleasanton, where he hss been wintering his horses, for Helens, where they will take part in the Montana circuit. Those he took with him were Erect, a two-year-old brother to Direct; Miss J. I. C., two years old, by Director, dam by Wilson's Blue Bull; Homestske by Gibraltar, dsm Kate by Old Volunteer; Lady Maxim, 2:26½, by Maxim, dam Lady Gravea hy Smuggler; Maud J. by Western Lad, dam by Golddust; Dolly by Mambrino Diamond, dam by Live Oak, and also a gelding by Harvester. As moat of these sre in good racing condition at present, it is only fair to aasume that they will earn their oats in the Montana circuit.

Dagworth's Letter.

At the preaent writing the meeting at Westchester is attracting considerable attention in the horse world and wonderfnl psrformances are crowding one another with a rapidity tbat is truly astounding. It certainly looks as if Geraldine should have captured the Toboggan Slide Handicap. McCarthy made a serious blunder in not brsaking away with tbe leaders. I hardly think that Mr. Belmont would agree to match Fides against Geraldine under the aame conditions as tbese horse met in the Toboggan.

I beard a pool room frequenter remark the other day that Russell is a greater two-year-old than El Rio Rey was. I replied that it wss rather early in the year to expresa such an opinion. His answer was that El Rio Rey never met auch high class two years as Russell has. It is remarkable how quickly the general public forget a brilliant performer. It was certainly a great performance for a two-year-old to run half a mile in 46¾ aeconds, hnt it should not be forgotten that wben El Rio Rey struck Westchester last season that he was called upon to pack a small sized house. If my memory is not at fault, Cayuga waa oonaidered the invincible two-year-old in the Eaat about this time last year, but before the end of the season there were a number who ahowed their heels to the Iroquois colt. Therefore I think it rather premature to dub Ruasell a greater two-year-old than El Rio Rey. The aeason is quite young and a number of gilt edged two year olds have not yet faced the starter,

Esperanza ran third in the Debutante Stakes, five-eighths of a mile, which waa won in tbe record time of 59 seconds. A race between the California fillies, Fairy and Esperanza, would be worth going a long way to see. It would be no easy matter to pick the winner.

The Eastern turfites will find out before another moon that Racine is a worthy substitute for El Rio Rey if the reports now in circulation about Mr. Wintera' colt are straight. It is to be hoped, bowever, that El Rio Rey will be himself again when he next comes to the post.

By the way, wbat a pity it is that Racine is not entered in the American Derby and some of the other big three year old events. Racine could win that Derby to a certainty. Tbe failure to enter many of the big stakes has robbed California of at least two hnndred thousand dollars in tbe past two years. What was to prevent El Rio Rey from winning the Junior Championship and the Futurity in 1889? There will be a gnaahing of teeth along the line becanae Racine has not entered in some of the big money events, before we are all three months older.

The Los Angeles Derby gives promise of being hotly contested. The event will be decided on tbe opening day of the grand circuit at Los Angeles on Angnst 4th, and several horses are now in training for the Derby in different parts of the State. I think that it was a very judicious move on the part of the Directors of the Sixth District Agricultural Association to have twelve running racss on the programme. It was also wise on their part to give more money thsn heretofore. The Southern California Handicap for a purse of $1,000 promises to estch a big entry. The distance is to the liking of the majority of horse owners, and many of California's crack sprinters will, no doubt, meet in this ¾ mile race. The directors are negotating with the railroad people and expect to get a liberal rate for the transportation of horses and the men connscted with the stables. It is the intention of the association to offer every inducement for horseowners to visit Los Angeles in August.

The knights of the sulky shonld hear in mind that nominations for the 2:30 class for a purse of $1,500, must be made on or hsfore next Monday week, June 16th. The conditions of the event are most liberal. The readers of this letter, who reside in the Sixth Congressional district, should also remember that nominations for the district trotting stakes for 1890 and 1891 also close on June 16th. It might not be out of place to remark that horsea owned in Fresno, San Luis Obispo, Tulare, Kern, Santa Barbara, Ventura, Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Orange and San Diego counties, are eligible to entry. This is a big district, and a creditable list of entries should be obtained. Southern California is, and has been, the bome of many well bred sires who will, no doubt, be well represented in the colt stakes. The progeny of several recent importations are not old enough to trot thia year, but the owners of colts ahould not fail to enter them before next Monday week in the stakes of 1891.

E Dupuy is the latest addition to the ranks of the breeders of Southern California. He hss purchased a farm near Los Angelss, and will breed trotters.

Mr. Rudisil, another gentleman interested in raising trotters, haa purchased Orphan Girl. He will start the mare in the slow classes at the coming meeting. The same gentleman bas hred four marea to Atto Rex. DAGWORTH.

Rysdyk's Hambletonian

The following we clip from The Horse Breeder, and feel that it will be of much interest to our readers, ss it is from the pen of an eminent writer, and one who fully knows wbat he ia writing.

In answer to an inquiry of mine, the famous New York auctioneer, Peter C. Kellogg recently sent me the following highly interesting letter. I have his permission to make it public. Hannibal.

"On Nov. 18, 1873, when the horse was twenty-four years old, I made a very carefnl measurement of Hambletonian. I was assisted by Mr. Guy Miller. In measuring hia height at the withers, I was astonished to find that he was only fifteen hands and one fourth inch, whereas measured at the highest point behind he was fifteen hand 2¼ inches.

It muat not be inferred, however, that because Hambletonian measured so low at the withers he was an under-aized horse. He was very peculiarly formed. The tops of his ahoulder blades were so far apart that bis withers rather sank between than mounted above them. The withers were very low and thick. It must be remembered, too, that apart from his natural formation, which wonld make him measure 'low for his size,' two other mattera had possibly contributed to reduce his normal measurement. He was very old and had covered excessively.

"Whether by reason of covering or for whatever cause, his fore legs were much wider apart at the briskst than when he was in his prime. Possibly with this widening of the fore legs bis chest had settled somewhat between them, and consequently the structure above had aettled with it, causing him to measure less at the withers.

"Again, some years previous he had been attacked with an inflammation which settled in his front feet causing snch agony that his owner believed be wonld die. An expert named Dunbar, of somewhat sensational repute in those days, asked Mr. Ryadyke to let him operate on the horae's feet, assuring him that he conld relieve the pain and save the borae, but it would ruin his feet for anything but moderate use.

"At the last moment Mr. Rysdyke consented. Dunbar was as good as his word, and in 15 minutes the horse was walking on the grass free of pain, hut the feet were so cut away as to cause the crnst to open and the aole to loae its arch, settling on the ground like a pomaced foot. I alwaya thonght that he lost something in height of foot at that time which he never recovered. Originally he had a splendid foot, but after the operation tbe whole sole of the foot pressed on the ground,

"Hambletonien was not an nnder-sized horse. Except hia low withera he waa fully a 15.2 horse, of great length, and bis other measurementa was proportioned to a horse 15 2 or over. He waa in high flesh when this messurement was taken; in fact, until he shrunk from age, be alwaya carried full stud condition without reaching the atage of obesity. In that condition be must have weighed 1,100 pounds.

"At the time of his meaaurement, Hambletonian was atill full of animation and vim. His groom, who had been "taking a horn," shouted at him, and he flew around his box like a wild horse. He ahowed no signs of age except that his back was awayed, and there was a slight enlargement of tbe glands at the throat.

"In his walk, Hambletonian was the most elastic borse I ever saw, and there was oily litheness to every movement that deprived him of any approach to the stolid appearance which his photographa show. He was tbe peraonification of action, supplenesa and power, and his excesa of these qualities imparted to him a grace of movement auch as I have never seen equaled in any other borae. Truly he was tbe king. "PETER C. KELLOGG."

THE CENTURY RUN.

53 Wheelmen Ride to Hollister.

The great century run of the California Division L. A. W. took place on Sunday laat, and from every point of view was a glorious success. The atart was to take place from the corner of 21st and Mission street at 5 o'clock in the morning. At the appointed hour sixty wheelmen were at the rendezvous and each and every man seemed anxious for the fray. It was twenty minutes past five when the hugle announced the atart, and the men shot away at a very rapid pace. Breakfast was partaken of at Milbrae, the wheelmen reaching there at 6.45 A. M. San Joae was reached at 12, and the tired riders enjoyed a fine lunch which had been specially prepared for them. With the exception of a few wheelmen who grew tired or whose wheels broke down, the company reached their destination, Hollister, at 7 P. M., thus covering the entire distance, 100 miles, in thirteen and one-half hours, averaging 10¾ miles per hour riding time. Fifty-three wheelmen reached Hollister. The roads were not in good condition and unfavorable for record breaking. The world's record for the League Century run including time, number of starters, etc, were broken. The men from the Bay City wheelmen furnished and made a world record for their club.

The wheelmen took supper at Hollister and after resting a short time started on to view the town. A special train, which waa paid for by the L A W, left there at 9 P. M, and on it the fatigned knights of the wheel returned, reaching San Francisco next morning at 1 o'clock. The run was a decided success, and will be the means of booming cycling during the present year.

VETERINARY.

Conducted by W. Henry Jones, M. R. C. V. S.

Subscribers to this paper can have advice through this column in all cases of sick or injured horses or cattle by sending an explicit description of the case. Applicants will send their name and address that they may be identified. Questions requiring answers by mail should be accompanied by two dollars, and addressed to W. Henry Jones, M. R. C. V. S., Olympic Stables, Sutter Street, San Francisco.

M. G. W:

I have a bay colt four years old, that has been lame for some time in one of his hind legs People say that he has got a hone spavin forming. If so can you advise me what is the best thing to be done. He has been broken now, two years and has shown signs of lameness for about twelve months

Answer.—If you take my advise, I would have your colt examined by a qualified veterinary surgeon, and abide by his decision. In the event of you not being able to do so, I will advise you to blister the hock with biniodide of mercury 2 drams, vaseline one ounce. Be careful to tie up the colt by the head for about four days, and also the tail. At the expiration of four days, dress the hock with olive oil and give a little exercise. Keep on low diet and give a small dose of carthartic medicine. Write again in two weeks, stating if there is any improvement.

Laminitis or "Founder in Horses."

[By Dr. W. Henry Jones, M. R. C. V. S.]

Many enquiries relative to this disease have recently been made through the medium of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN. I deem it advisable, under the circumstances, to give our readers a short article on the causes of the disease, and also the treatment. The disease may arise from a variety of causes, among them being the common cause, namely, overdriving, and then allowing the animal to stand in a draught, and in all probability giving the horse a large quantity of cold water.

Another prevalent cause is when the animal is in a heated condition, giving, or allowing to be given, a large quantity of food, such as barley, wheat, and other highly nitrogenous material.

I have frequently seen horses in England which have broken loose at night, and when found in the morning, suffering the most intense agony, and quite unable to stand. Recently a case came under my notice, where a valuable horse was driven into town, a distance of about three miles, his shoes removed, and then driven back, but unfortunately for the owner, the driver sent him along fast in the park, and the result was that laminitis supervened, and the probability is that the horse is permanently injured.

It frequently happens that an owner may have the misfortune to have a horse "foundered," and the services of a veterinary surgeon cannot be obtained, it becomes a question as what is best to be done. In all cases I would advise the removal of the shoes, and if possible, get the soles pared down; put the feet in hot water or poultices, and continue the treatment for several days. Administer a strong cathartic, say six to seven drams of aloes, combined with about one dram of ginger, the latter to avoid griping. Keep the horse on a soft, low diet, such as bran mashes and linseed. The horse must be kept perfectly quiet, and on no account should exercise be given. It has been recommended by some veterinary surgeons that heavy bar shoes be put on, and the patient exercised constantly, but this theory is not borne out by such high authorities as Dr. George Fleming, Professors Williams and Pritchard, who are entirely opposed to that course of treatment, and from my own personal experience of over fifteen years, I have found it a failure.

After the treatment I have recommended, if there is no bulging of the sole or any serous effusion round the coronary region, I would suggest that the animal be turned out to pasture for three or four months, the pasture to be soft and marshy if available.

The disease may manifest itself again in the event of a fast drive, and I would advise any owner who has the misfortune to possess a horse that has been foundered, to sell or trade the animal away to the best advantage.

One of the common results of laminitis is to see the horse traveling on his heels, and I have frequently seen cases where disintegration of the fibres of the tendons had taken place, and the poor, unfortunate beast going with the fetlock on the ground.

In all such cases the animal should be destroyed at once, but I regret to state that I saw a case of this sort, within six weeks, in this city, the animal being driven by a Chinaman.

Trot and Run.

BY HORACE M DARLING, M. D.

"I am of the opinion that the mechanical structure most desirable in the trotter is also the most desirable in the runner and vice versa.

"There does not appear to me to be any logical reason for supposing that a horse's heart, lungs, arteries, veins, perform their functions any differently when he trots than when he runs."

It is true that the muscles, arteries, veins, nerves, bones and vital organs are similar in all horses, and by the dissection of them and learning the structure, we can possibly say they have identical parts and wholes, yet we will find the same parts differently developed in individuals.

This fact is so well known to anatomists that in the dissecting room a skilled anatomist can, with almost an exactitude, tell the trade, art (and I was nearly saying the profession; if I had, it would be not far erroneous) that the cadaver in life pursued.

Man and woman, although to the laity apparently different in construction, are identical in parts. This seems to my non-professional readers false, still the very parts of the female that distinguish her from the male are possessed by him; and the parts of the male that distinguish him from the female are possessed by her. The only difference is their development and function. Yet by all the human processes known, male cannot be developed into female, nor the female into the male, although each can be approximated somewhat, changed in appearance and function to the other—the hairy woman, the nursing man, the hermaphrodite and other observed conformations.

The trotter and the runner and the pacer are also identical of parts, differing in individual development and function, as the subsequent needs and uses of the animal require A runner cannot trot any more than a trotter can run (understand me, I am speaking of pure, fast gaits). To an anatomist and physiologist, the function and the development of the trotting muscle from an original running muscle is as impossible during the life of one animal, as it is impossible to develop the mammæ of the man into the breasts of the woman. It can be and has been done, but the results is not commensurate with the effort ordinarily. The natural function and development of the female mamma is consistent, continuous, beautiful, symmetrical and useful; the development of the male's is laborious, intermittent, requiring continued exercise, and once in a life time useful, interrupt the excitant and the function and the organ relapse into innocuous desuetude. The experiment, like developing the trotter from the runner, may be interesting and instructive, but few anatomists and physiologists would advocate leaving the mother's breast and developing the father's because it may be or has been done a few times when necessity compelled. Nor would they advise that such changed function and advanced development were more prolific and beneficial than the harmony of function and the symmetry of development—the utile results of procreative forces of nature. Palo Alto may trot, and the slave may have furnished milk from his own breast for his baby master; still experience, science or utility would hesitatingly imitate such isolated samples of experiment or necessity, unless other and better methods were unknown or unavailable, and if adopting them, they would not ignore the fact that nolens volens, the milk gland and milk tube, gave the milk, and the trotting organs made the trot, and the running machine made the run, wherever found, whether from natural or artificial causes.

The scientific law—the law of conformity to type—teaches that there is one kind of life of man, another life of beasts, another of fishes, and another of birds, each distinct, each forming its own finished being, but always in conformity to a specific type It is as Hammond says: "The potter who segments the worm, the potter who forms the horse, and the potter who molds the man." Not the same potter, but each individual potter molds his matter in exact conformity to his pre-existent type, and to no other and in no combination—the same to-day, to-morrow and forever. He molds the muscle, the artery, the nerve, in accordance with the predetermined type, and the result is conformity—trot with trot, run with run, leap with leap, cry with cry, et al.

The second generation by judicious breeding—pottering—may approximate the average or the unity of characteristics and parts of the parents, but it is not a combination or division; each potter molds his own, the most potent crowding out the weaker and usurping the place. The scientist does not say, "changed" but "dominant." Our dissecting rooms and the experience and observation of medical men in every day practice of their profession furnish proofs—a simple instance, the right arm, hand and fingers compared with the left; the heredity of the syphilitic, the consumptive, or the scrofulous; and yet I recall not an instance where the inherent function and action of a muscle, or nerve, or artery, ect., has been converted into something other than its natural function, or natural expression of action. We often find complexity ingrafted to simplicity, development and growth of material and function by the ingrafting of similar but more potent. The movements of walking, throwing, running, jumping, lifting, trotting, pulling, kicking, pacing, stricking, vaulting, rolling and other action are simple and easily distinguishable by an anatomist and physiologist. I think you would receive a unanimous response from them that each of these movements are intrinsically and exhaustingly differentiated from another of them; if walking, how pleasantly the child rests by a skip, hop and jump; if lifting, to rest by a pull; if running, to rest by a short gallop; if trotting, to rest by a jump or two, etc. This rest tells us naturally and forcibly that these muscles, arteries, nerves, etc, act in their own way—possess their own function and are rested by self quietude and by another act in motion. It is the mere unmerously accepted idea that each motion, each part has its own special nerve fiber. While one is at work the other is at rest, when the motion is changed the fiber is changed.

Every part and parcel of the animal body rests in varying intervals, long or short, or ordinary imperceptibly. The heart, arteries and nerves, by all my lay readers, are supposed to be restless; to them a period of rest for the heart means death; its stopping ends life; yet these organs absolutely rest a long time during the twenty-four hours, and this rest is as essential to their well being and to the continuance of health, and for our own preserve, as rest to the eye, to the brain, to the stomach, to the limbs, etc, is required by our sensibilities to fatigue and by our sensations of comfort. Place your finger on the radical pulse, or lay your ear to the chest of your friend (not the lady's, of course), and you hear the heart beat, beat, beating—lub, dub and repeat; each stroke is work, each silence is rest, thus the heart works alternately and rests alternately in the same manner that the eye, the liver, the brain, the stomach and the muscles do, differing by the intervals. Arteries, nerves and every organ, and the conduits, have periods of rest likewise; work is performed by all under their respective stimulus, pabulum, vital force, blood, food, etc.

Remark: This fact is important and confronts the primary basis of development, of performance, and of endurance; each organ, nerve, muscle, etc., must be worked and rested after its own kind and not inconsistent to its structure or function; if you work or rest the heart, the great cardisc muscle, as you do the hip, the great gluteal muscle; if you work and rest the arterial system as you do the portal system; if you rest the extensor muscles as you do the flexor muscles; or the arterial system as you do the nervous system; or, to exemplify more minutely, if you work and rest the jumping muscles as you do the running muscles—were were any of these instances possible under the present structure of the horse—you would produce death or deterioration of function or subatance.

The bearing of all these militates positively against the position that "there does not appear any logical reason for supposing that a horse's lungs, arteries, veins and nerves perform their functions any differently when he trots than when he runs."

Now turn to the movements of the runner and the trotter; the runner rests his muscles, his nerves, his arteries, his heart, and all his body on the jump; his rest is altogether and at once; his work is the propulsion of his body all together and at once; his rest is the time he is passing over and on, and at the moment of contact with the track; it may be short, and it matters not how short, it is the natural way of rest and recuperation during the supreme efforts, for his muscles, heart, nerves, etc.; rest them some other way and something fails—speed or endurance or life.

The trotter, on the other hand, propels his body by the action of first one side, then the other—half at rest, half at work; alternately the muscles of one side work and rest with the other side, and it is the natural inherent way. Of course the alternate action may not be entire and perfect, but the distinction from the jump is; change his rest any other way and, provided the extreme effort continues, something fails—speed or endurance or life. In both these instances the same action must continue, running or trotting; of course this is impossible, for if the rest is in another way, the action will not be identical, but something else; still it enforces the idea that the trotter cannot run by the same action, the same function, or the same instrumentalities with which he trots, and likewise the runner cannot trot with the same action, or function, or instrumentalities with which he runs.

If the foregoing reasoning from anatomy, physiology and science is correct and applicable, the horse's heart, lungs, nerves, arteries, veins perform their functions entirely different when he trots than when he runs.

'Tis true the heart beats and rests when the horse trots and when he runs: the arteries carry the blood and the veins return it; the lungs receive it, either forced by muscular action from all parts of the body as once, or half and half from one side, then the other; the nerves excite contraction and expansion of muscles; the vital force plays its part, but all is done under different impulses and with different concomitants dependent upon the objects desired—one the trotting, the other the running, and the other pacing.—Wallace's Monthly.

I use Simmons Liver Regulator for my stock, horses and mules; it is the best medicine I know of. In cases of colic in stock it will save them if given in time. Recommend it. —R. V. Cox, Haddock's Sta., M. & A. R. R.

CALEDONIAN GAMES.

Gathering of the Clans at Shell Mound Park.

Peter McIntyre Defeats Little in the Short Race.

About six thousand persons attended the 24th grand gathering and games of the San Francisco Caledonian Club which were held at Shell Mound Park, Berkeley, on Saturday last, May 31st. The track on which the running events were decided was in fair condition and measured ten laps to the mile. The most exciting event of the day was the short race for members of the club. Two of the best runners in America were among the contestants, Peter McIntyre and J. C. Little. It was almost an assured fact that Little would win, as lately he has made some very extraordinary time in private trials. There were a good many present, however, who were willing to back "old reliable" Peter and their expectations were fully realized for he won by about two feet. The performances on the whole were up to the average. The following is a list of the games with the names of the winners and the value of the prizes: (club members only)

Race for boys (under 13 years) handicap—1st prize $3. 2nd prize $2, 3rd prize $1. Won by J Purdie, J Davidson 2nd, Willie Finn 3d,

Although there were fifty events on the programme, everything went on smoothly, and not one of the contestants had cause to complain owing to the excellent management. Owing to the new rules adapted by the P C A A A, there were no amateur races on the programme.

The prizes will be distributed at the annual ball which will be held in the Mechanic's Pavillion on the evening of June 27th. The following rules govern the games:

Each game will be announced by a bugle call, and competators must enter their names with the Secretary without delay. The last name entered will open the competition. No entries will be received after the game has commenced.

Only two prizes awarded if no more than three competitors enter in any event. None but Caledonians, in good standing in their respective clubs, allowed to compete.

Competators in the handicap races will be allowed one yard for each year under or above the standard.

Handicap, 10 feet for each year for boys between the ages of 12 and 18 yrs.

VICTORIOUS OLYMPIANS.

They Easily Win the Much-Coveted Pennant.

GRAND OPENING OF THE NEW OLYMPIC GROUNDS.

A Large Audience and Fine Sport—John Purcell and James Jarvis Lowers Some of the Coast Records.

The new out-door grounds of the Olympic Club were formally thrown open to the public on Friday, May 30th (Decoration Day) and an unusually large crowd of people were present on the occasion. The grounds were opened with the annual championship games of the Pacific Coast Amateur Athletic Association, which this year were held under the auspices of the Olympic Athletic Club. The games were announced to take place at 1 P. M. sharp, and long before that hour the park and Cliff House train brought hundreds of people to the scene of the great contest for supremacy. Owing to some misunderstanding, however, the sports did not begin until nearly two o'clock. At half past one o'clock the flag, which hung at half mast over the grand stand, was hoisted, and the gentleman who hoisted it announced that the new out-door grounds of the Olympic Athletic Club were now formally opened.

A loud cheer went up from the audience when the flag was hoisted and immediately afterwards the officials began to take their positions and the contestants were ordered to get ready. It was 1 45 when the first race was started. It is unnecessary to describe the new grounds as full description of the track, dressing rooms, etc. have appeared in these columns already. The reporters stand is situated in one of the most unsheltered parts of the ground directly opposite the grand stand. It occupies a position where the men of the press cannot fail to catch the full force of the ocean breeze, which on the opening day was rather too strong to be appreciated. The day reminded one of the "raw and gusty day" when Caesar and Cassius plunged into the troubled Tiber, The wind was alarmingly strong and rendered fast time impossible. Had the weather been favorable many coast records might have been broken. The reporters were obliged to strap themselves down to the benches in order to avoid being blown out to sea. Their reporting sheets were cast on the wind and carried away out of sight and many of them were tempted to give up in despair. It seemed as if Boreas had some special wrong to avenge, so furious was he in his efforts to move the entire grounds farther cityward· The loose cinders on the track were blown in all directions and men had to be placed at each set of hurdles to stop them from being blown away. The management of the games were perfect and the audience had no complaints to make, except towards the close of the programme when things began to lag. The programme was rather too long, owing to the introduction of some special non-championship events for members of the Olympic Club only These races might have been left out on the occasion of a championship meeting.

Thanks to Captain George W. Jordan, the Olympic boys showed up in grand form and each man as he stepped within the enclosure had a look of confidence stamped on his face. The Berkeley students looked determined rather than confident while the few representatives from the Alpine Club walked around with an air of indifference. Little and Gafney of the latter club did not compete and their absence probably lost some points to their club. When the games began at the lowest calculation there were 3,000 people on the grounds, the grand stand being fairly packed. It was perhaps one of the most unenthusiastic audiences that ever assembled at an athletic meeting. It was fashionable, but cold; in fact painfully so, and except when the College boys sent up their war hoop of "Ha! ha! Cal if-or-nia. U C. U C. Ziz, boom; bah!" and the Olympians used their fish horns announcing victory on either side not a sound could be heard save the howling of the wind through the fences. Each time Scheffelstein made his appearance a huz of admiration went through the audience and when S. V. Cassady on his way back to the dressing room passed in front of the grand stand the ladies bowed and smiled and waved their tiny handkerchiefs at that promising young sprinter. A Field captain is everything to a club and some of the other clubs should follow the examples of the Olympic Club in selecting an active and energetic man for that position. Captain Jordan deserves praise for the great interest which he took in every member of his team. The official announcer, J. F. Larkin also deserves a word of praise for the brave manner in which he stuck to his post by the black board in the face of a cyclone. The Marshal's were not called upon to perform any extra duty for the reason that the enclosure is an angle so that outsiders cannot enter without permission. Several handsome flags floated over the Grand Stand and all around the grounds, and a handsome flower bed with the letters O. A. C. in the middle appeared on the slope opposite the Grand Stand.

THE FIRST EVENT.

The first event was the one hundred yards run. There were four heats. V E Schifferstein, O A C, won the first heat easily by 6 yards in 10 3-5 seconds. F G O'Kane, O A C, was second and J C Ainsworth, U C 3d by 2 yards. The second heat was won by S V Cassidy, O A C, by 1½ yards in 10 4 5 seconds. R Gallagher, U C was second, De Winter, U C, third. This was a close and exciting race and the winner proved himself to be a strong finisher. Heat No. 3 was won by J D Harris, G C A C by 6yds in 10 4-5secs; E Mayo, U C, 2nd, F W McNear, U C, 3rd. The fourth heat was very tame. J O'Kane and J Kortick, both of the O A C, simply cantered over the course. They arranged to run a dead heat which they did. No time given.

JARVIS BREAKS THE RECORD.

The next event was the one mile walk. There were five starters. Jarvis, the ex-English champion, at once cut out the pace and astonished the audience with his wonderful style. He is a small man in comparison with Coffin and Cook but nevertheless he can take a long stride. Jarvis walked as unconcerned as if he was walking alone, and never once turned his head to look at the men who were struggling behind him. He walked a good steady gait and proved that he is one of the fastest as well as squarest heel and toe artists in America to-day. He made the mile in 7:08 breaking the coast record of 7:10½ held by C. B Hill. Had the wind been less severe Jarvis might have done five seconds better. Coffin walked good but rather loose. He finished second in 7:21. Cook, of the Alpine Club, took third place and promises to do better in the future. He has a fine square gait but needs experience. He walked under 8 minutes. Landmann, O A C, gave up and the U C man Foulkes got fourth place. Foulkes, who is a novice, should improve with practice as he has a fine style The following is the time which Jarvis made: 1 lap, 1:01; 2 laps, 2:10; half mile, 3:19; 4 laps, 4:34· 5 laps, 5:52; 1 mile, 7min 8secs,

MORE SPRINTING.

100 yard run, second trials—1st heat, Schifferstein, O A C, 1st by 4yds; Gallagher, U C, 2nd; Cassidy, O A C, 3rd. Time, 10 2-5 secs. Second heat, Mays, U C, 1st; Harris, G C A C, 2nd; F O'Kane, O A C, 3rd Time, 10 3 5secs.

120 yard hurdle—John Purcell, O A C, 1st by 2ft; H C Moffitt, U C, 2nd; W Wright, U C, 3d. Time, 18 3-5secs. This was an exciting race and Moffit's friends were sadly disappointed at his defeat. Had he been in good condition he would most unquestionably have won.

SCHIFFERSTEIN WINS.

The final heat of the one hundred yard run was next decided. The champion Victor E Schifferstein of the O A C, had no trouble in winning, his time being 10 2-5secs; Mays, U C 2nd: Gallagher, U C, third.

A half mile run for Olympic novices was next called. H M Collins led all the way and won handily by 15yds in 2min 17¾secs; E M Francis, 2nd; W H Toomey, 3d.

John Purcell, O A C, put the 16 lb shot 37ft and won that event; L E Hunt, U C, was 2nd with 36 ft; A G Roberts put the ball 32ft 9in and got third place.

A FAST QUARTER.

Only five men toed the scratch for the quarter mile run although there were twelve entered.

Winslow, of the O A C, the favorite, was unable to start, owing to illness, and it was thought that the race would lay between Garrison of the Alpine and Henderson of the O A C. A surprise was in store, however, for the spectators, and the Olympic fraternity were astonished when Steve Casady went to the front and won a grand race by several feet in the fast time of 52 4-5 seconds. Garrison was pocketed early in the race, and so lost all chance of winning. F W McNear, U C, was second, and A S Henderson, O A C, third. Casady ran in great style, and promises to turn out an American champion. He is a very strong runner.

JARVIS AGAIN TO THE FRONT.

Only four out of six entries appeared at the starting post when the three-mile walk was called. The men all looked fresh after their previous race. At the crack of the gun Jarvis again took the lead, and before the first half mile was finished, his opponents were hopelessly in the rear. In this race he walked even better than he did in the one mile race, and his style was so easy that a person could look at him walk all day and not tire of the task. Jarvis would certainly make the pace hot for Lange or Nicholl, and the O A C should send him in company with Schifferstein to Washington, D. C., to compete in the American championship meeting, he would bring credit upon his club. Coffin and Cook walked side by side, and at any stage of the race the two men were never more than a yard apart. Coffin was a little too confident, and narrowly escaped defeat at the hands of the Alpine man, whom he beat for second place by only six inches. Cook should beat Coffin next year at this distance. Coffin's time was 25 min. 31½ secs. Foulkes, of the U. C., should have retired on the first mile, as he was sadly in the rear. He finished the entire distance and amused the spectators with an exhibition of fair, but very slow walking. Jarvis made the three-miles as follows: ½ mile, 3m 33s; 1 mile, 7 min. 26 secs; 1½ miles, 11:26; 2 miles, 15:28 3-5; 2½ miles, 19:33, and 3 miles in 23 min. 31 1-5 secs.

PURCELL BREAKS THE POLE VAULT RECORD.

Purcell, O A C, vaulted 9ft 4½in with the pole, and broke the previous Pacific Coast record of 9ft 3½in, held by J. Sexsmith. A. Kelter, O A C, vaulted 9 feet, and took second prize. L. Titus, U C, was third, with 8 feet 9 inches.

220-yard run—1st heat: Schifferstein, O A C, 1st. Time, 23 1-5 secs. Mays, U C, 2d; S V Casady, O A C, 3d. The second heat was not run, as the men agreed to consolidate the two heats.

SUTTON WINS THE HALF.

Scott, of the O A C, the present record holder of the half-mile run, was unable to fight for his club when that race was announced. He lost his mother in-law the day previous, and was compelled to remain a silent spectator. His record was not beaten, however, and he breathes freely once more. Sutton, of the U C, won the race in 2min 7 2 5 secs. Henderson, O A C, 2d; E Coke Hill, U C, 3d. Moody, of the Alpine Club, cut out the pace, but at the end of the second lap was content with a back place.

A RECORD FOR THE ALPINE CLUB

S J McKinnon, of the Alpine Club, threw the 16-lb hammer 95ft 4in., and broke his own (coast) record of 94ft 5in. Morrow, U C, was second, with a throw of 90ft 5in. A G Roberts, U C, made a record of 87ft 8in and obtained third place.

100-yard novice run for members of the O A C. There were supposed to be two heats, but as some of the entries failed to show up, one heat decided the event. C A Jellineak and J. Korteck ran a dead beat, with P. M Wand 3d. Time, 11 1-5 seconds. In the run off Korteck won easily by 6 yards in 11 1-5 secs.

220-yard hurdle race—1st heat. H C Moffit, U C, 1st; J M Whelan, O A C, 2d. E. Mays, U C, 3d. Time, 30 4-5 secs. This was an excellent race between the first and second man, the U C representative winning by only one foot.

A LILIPUT RACE.

The most amusing race of the whole day was the juvenile run of one lap. Some of the contestants were not more than two feet high, and did not appear to weigh over twenty pounds. After the pistol was fired, one could imagine that a troop of frightened Liliputs were running away from Gulliver. The winners of first and second place were the smallest kids of the lot, and considering their sizes and ages, ran remarkably well. The scratch man, or rather child, made the lap in 46 seconds.

HILL BEATS COOLEY.

The one mile run was an exciting contest. Hill, of the University, and Cooley, of the O A C, had a hard battle, and the former won in 4min 51 2-5 secs. Casady, of the A A A C, earned a good third. The other men were nowhere.

MOFFIT HOLDS HIS OWN.

Young Moffit won the final heat of the 220-yard hurdle, with Casady, O A C, a close second. Time, 29 1-5 seconds Whelan, O A C, slipped shortly after the start, and so lost all chance of winning first or second place. He was a good third. ½-540-yard run, special for O A C members. J Korteck, 1st. Time, 54 2-5 secs. He had an allowance of 12 yards. F G O'Kane, 10 yds, 2d; P M Wand, 15 yds, 3d.

A LONG RUN.

Ten men essayed to run five miles but at the end of 1½ miles only half of that number were left. Espinosa of the O. A. C cut out the pace in the race and up to the end of the second mile was leading by about 30 yards with Cooley, Cassidy and Vollmer running in the order named. At 3½ miles Cooley was leading Espinosa by two yards with Hill of the U C 3d, and Cassidy A A A C 4th. Vollmer was over a lap behind. Hill gave up before finishing his third mile. At 4½ miles Cassidy led Cooley by a couple of yards. Espinosa was one lap behind. On the last lap Cooley put on a great spurt and seemed to run away from Cassidy whom he beat home by 40 yards in 29 min. 34 1-5 secs. Cassidy ran a game race and deserves credit for his grit and perseverance. Espinosa was 1½ laps behind at the finish. He got 3d place.

Running high jump. This contest resulted in a dead heat between Schefferstin, O A C and Whitney, V C, each man clearing 5ft. 5in. They agreed to toss for first place and the Olympic man came out ahead. Moffit of the U C did not jump up to his old form and could do only 5ft. 4in. thus taking only 3 d place.

The tug of war proved highly exciting, the U C team winning in three straight pulls. They were again challenged by the Captain of the O A C team and another struggle is sure to take place.

The running broad jump wound up the days sport. Schifferstein cannot be beaten at this game and he won with a jump of 22ft 3in. McNear U C was second with 20ft. 7¾in. and Moffit 3d, with 19ft. 10½ in. Purcell was tired and did not make any effort to win.

The championship flag was won by the Olympic Athletic Club with a score of 78 points. The University Athletic Club made 55 points and the Alpine Amateur Athletic Club 11. The Garden City Athletic Club failed to score a single point.

Three Cheers

Will make the season of 1890 at Sacramento.

PEDIGREE.

THREE CHEERS
- Imp. Hurrah
  - Newminster
    - Touchstone, by Camel
    - Beeswing, by Dr. Syntax
  - Jovial
    - Bay Middleton, by Sultan
    - Sister to Grey Momus, by Comus
- Young Fashion
  - imp. Monarch
    - imp. Priam, by Emilius
    - imp. Delphine, by Whisker
  - Fashion
    - imp. Trustee, by Catton
    - Bonnets o' Blue, by Sir Charles

Hurrah was imported by John Reher, of Lancaster, Ohio, a locality where there were but few breeders of thoroughbreds. Under these disadvantages he sired a long list of winners. His sire Newminster, won the St. Ledger 1851, and his dam, Jovial by Bay Middleton, winner of the Derby 1836. Newminister by Touchstone, winner St. Ledger 1834. Dam Beeswing, winner of 54 races out of 64 starts, by Dr. Syntax, winner of the Doncaster Cup, 1837—40—41—42, the only horse that ever accomplished that feat.

On the side of the dam Three Cheers is equally well related. Young Fashion was the dam of Surpriee, Scotland (the only horse that ever beat Asteroid a heat), Liverpool. Columbia, and Bonnie Kate, the dam of Little Buttercup, and the flying Bonnie Lizzie. His grandem, Fashion was the greatest race mare of her day and beat Boston in that historical match at four mile heats, which is recorded as one of the greateet events in the annals of the turf.

Horsemen who are qualified to judge, pronounce Three Cheers to be the finest type of the Newminster line in America.

LOCATION.

THREE CHEERS will be located at the Arcade Training Stable, Rancho del Paso. This place has been selected for the reason that first class pasturage has been secured there for the exclusive use of these mares, and the other facilities to be obtained there for the care of mares (especially mares in foal) are better than can be found elsewhere in the locality.

TERMS.

$60 for the season with the usual return privileges. Pasturage $5 per month. Mares cared for as owners may desire at bottom rates for grain and hay. All bills payable before the mare is removed.

Mares shipped care of WM. IRVINE, Pacific Stables, Sacramento, will be properly cared for and sent to the ranch without delay,

Three Cheers will be in charge of one of the most experienced and competent stud grooms in the State, who will exercise every care, but no reponsibility assumed for accidents or escapes.

For further particulars apply to Louis Crissler, at the rance; Wm. Irvine, Pacific Stables, Second St., Sacramento; or to the owner,

E. S. CULVER,
313 Bush St., San Francisco.

MEMO is, as can be seen at a glance, one of the best bred young stallions in service, having three crosses of Rysdyk's Hambletonian and one of Harry Clay, the sire of Green Mountain Maid (dam of Electioneer, etc.), while Long Island Black Hawk and Flaxtail also contribute to his blood. Sidney (Memo's sire) is universally known as the best young sire in the world, a producer of extreme speed at an early age.

PERFORMANCES.

MEMO trotted in public in his two year-old form, obtaining a record of 2:49, though he was close to Grandee in a race on the Bay District Track, the second heat of which was made in 2:31 1-2, the first in 2:32. He exhibited phenomenal speed when three years old, and had it not been for a slight strain of his fore fetlock, there is little quest on that he would have shown in public very close to the best record. On the Oakland track he was timed a mile in 2:20 1-2, and frequently trotted quarters in from 32 1-2 to 34 seconds.

As a four-year-old Memo only started once - at Sacramento - when, although out of condition, he showed great speed, and improving as he went on, gre t hopes were entertained of his going well down in the 'teens at the P. C, T. H. B. A. meeting, but after showing several very fast miles his leg filled and he was laid up for the season. He is sixteen hands high, and of powerful build throughout. His color is a glossy black, with both fore-feet white. His disposition is all that could be desired, and his action superb. He is a sure foal getter, only one mare being reported in foal during his last season.

TERMS, $100, with usual return privileges, for a limited number of mares. Season to close JUNE 15th, when he will be prepared for track purposes. Pasturage $5 per month. Have leased the cricket ground adjoining the track for pasturage, where there is fine feed. Reasonable charges if fed hay and grain. Best of care taken of mares in any manner owners may desire, but positively no responsibility assumed for accidents or escapes. For further particulars address

The Trotting Stallion

Silver Bow

Will make the season of 1890 at the Oakland Race Track.

PEDIGREE.

SILVER BOW 11708, two-year-old record 2:37, is by Robert McGregor 647, 2:17¼ (sire of Bonnie McGregor, 2:13½, Karl McGregor, 2:21½, Mac D., 2:30, McGregor Boy, 2:29¾, Mark Time, 2:30, Roxie McGregor, 2:20¾) by Major Edsall 241, 2:29, by Alexander's Abdallah 15—sire of Goldsmith Maid, 2:11—by Hambletonian 10—sire of Dexter, 2:17¼.

Robert McGregor's dam was Nancy Whitman by American Star 14, by Stockholm's American Star.

SILVER BOW'S first dam is Sadie by Hambletonian 10, sire of Geo. Wilkes, 2:22—sire of Guy Wilkes, 2:15¼—also Electioneer, sire of Sunol, three-year-old record, 2:10½, and Palo Alto, 2:12¼; second dam Lady Wynne by Wm. Welch 311; third dam Elenora Margrave by imp. Margrave.

DESCRIPTION.

SILVER BOW is a handsome bay, no white; 15-2½ hands high; weighs 1075 pounds; of fine form, with the best of legs and a clean-cut, intelligent head. Is remarkably level-headed, seldom making a break; wears seven-ounce shoes in front. His record, 2:37, is no mark of his speed; he can beat 30 easy, and with his gilt-edge breeding, he is just what he ought to be, a trotter sired by a trotter whose dam was herself a trotter and his grandam the dam of two trotters. His dam Sadie being by Hambletonian 10, shows him to be bred from the cream of the trotting blood.

TERMS: $100 for the season. Mares not proving in foal returnable for the season of 1891 free of charge. Good pasturage and first-class care taken of mares for $5 per month. No responsibilities assumed for escapes or accidents. For further particulars, address

Limited to 15 approved mares.

Season to end June 1st, 1890.

P. J. WILLIAMS,

Care Race Track, Oakland, Cal.

Pleasanton Stock Farm Co.'s Stallions.

DIRECTOR, 2:17.

Director's book is open for 15 good mares more than already booked for the season of 1890, at $300 each.

This is the cheapest service fee ever charged for a stallion, taking into consideration his BREEDING and RACE RECORD and the RACE RECORDS OF HIS COLTS.

Season to commence February 15th and close August 1st.

CORRECTOR, Five Years Old.

Sire Director 2:17, dam Brainey, she by Echo. Echo sired by Rysdyk's Hambletonian and of Fanny Feller, by Magnolia, he by Seely's American Star. Brainey's dam Lady Dudley, she by Tom Dudley by Blacknose, a son of Medoc, he by American Eclipse. Lady Dudley's dam by Bertrand, Jr., a son of Bertrand.

CORRECTOR is a rich seal brown 15¾ hands high, and is the fastest young stallion in the world under the same conditions, never having been off the farm where raised and never been shod or driven for speed before last Christmas, and can trot quarters now in 35 seconds, a 2:20 gait.

He will be allowed to serve ten good mares, at $100 each for the season, which closes June 1st.

DECORATOR, Four Years Old.

Sire Director 2:17, dam Chess, sired by Cardinal 2.37, trial 2:28, he by Gen. Gifford's Morgan, dam of Cardinal, sire of Joe Gales of Ohio, he by Marlborough out of the Duchess of Marlborough by Southern Eclipse; second dam old Duchess of Marlborough by Sir Archy; third dam by imp Diomed. Decorator's second dam a Morgan and Messenger mare.

Decorator is a light bay 16 hands high, and with but little handling for speed has shown eighths in 17½ seconds, a 2:20 gait.

He will be allowed to serve ten good mares at $50 each for the season, which closes June 1st.

Mares not proving with foal may be returned next season free of charge of service fees to the same stallion, if he is still in our possession; however, the company reserves the right to return the fee instead of giving service.

Pasturage $4 per month; hay and grain extra. Accidents and escapes at owner's risk.

Service fees due at time of service, and must be paid, together with pasturage, etc., before mares are taken away, or a good approved note given, payable August 1st, 1890, at which date all bills must be settled.

Has Green Feed the Year Round, and feeds Hay in connection with the green feed, which a horse must have if he is to thrive. Every animal is given

A Dry, Warm Place to Sleep,

No matter how stormy the weather. All Stock under cover when it rains.

VISITORS WELCOME ANY DAY EXCEPT SUNDAY.

How to Get Stock to the Souther Farm.

The Souther Farm is one and a half miles northeast of San Leandro and eight miles southeast of Oakland. The stables are about one mile east of the county road, which runs between Oakland and San Leandro. The place to turn off is at Stanley Road, where a large signboard of the farm is placed. Guide boards will be found at every cross road. In any ordinary weather the roads are very good, and they are fairly good after the unusually heavy rainfall of the past winter.

All stock sent from San Francisco may be brought over by Garcia's Express, No. 3 Market street, San Francisco. They also have an order box outside of Hawley Bros.' Hardware house on the corner of Market and Beale streets. The express leaves San Francisco on the Creek route boat, which starts at 1:30, but all orders should be in the order box at Market and Beale streets by 10 o'clock, or at the office, No. 3 Market street, by 11 o'clock at the latest. In the case of very young or very valuable horses, the Souther Farm will send reliable men to lead or drive over any stock that will not lead behind a wagon. A small charge will be made in such cases, to cover the extra expense incurred.

Horses are very easily taken from Oakland to the farm, and where it is inconvenient for owners to bring them or send them, the farm will send after anything that is to come. On horses that stay three months or over there is no charge for getting or delivering. Where a horse stays a short time the actual time and expense only is charged to him.

Horses can be shipped by rail from almost all parts of the State to San Leandro. Always notify the Farm several days before shipping anything, and then men will be on hand to receive stock on arrival. The railroad station is but two miles from the Souther Farm, and the agent invariably gives immediate notice of the arrival of any stock consigned to the above farm, but when word is sent to the farm in good season by letter or telegram, the animals sent are saved waiting a couple of hours in the car.

Passenger trains leave San Francisco (from the broad gauge ferry) and First and Broadway, Oakland, at frequent intervals during the day. There are several trains from San Jose to San Leandro on both the broad and narrow gauge railroads; the broad gauge, by way of Niles, is much more convenient for getting to the farm. There are trains each day from Sacramento, Stockton and Livermore to San Leandro. In ordinary weather it is a short and pleasant drive from Oakland to the Souther Farm or from San Francisco to the Farm by way of the Creek route ferry boat. Always notify the Souther Farm just when you will arrive at San Leandro, and some one will meet you at the station. If you do not recognize the farm conveyance ask the stage driver, who will point it out.

Write to the above address for references, circulars and price lists. Terms reasonable.

SAN MATEO STOCK FARM

HOME OF GUY WILKES,

Record, 2:15 1-4.

Guy Wilkes' Book is full for 1890 and 1891, and positively no more mares will be received.

Sable Wilkes, three-year-old record 2:18, will be allowed to serve 25 mares in addition to those already engaged at $250 the season of 1890. SABLE Wilkes, 15½ hands, black horse, by Guy Wilkes, first dam Sable by The Moor; second dam Gretchen by Mambrino Pilot; third dam Kitty Kirkman by Canada Chief; fourth dam by Fanning's Tobe; fifth dam by imp. Leviathan.

Leo Wilkes, brown horse, four years, 16 hands, full brother to Sable Wilkes, will be allowed to serve 30 mares at $100 the season

Mares not proving with foal may be returned the following season free of service fee. Parties engaging the services of any of the above horses must send a deposit of 10 per cent. of service money with engagement. Pasturage $6 per month, and when the condition of the animal requires it, hay or grain, or both, are fed, the charge will be $12 50 per month. Good care will be taken of all mares sent to the Farm, but no liability will be assumed for accidents or escapes.

All bills are due at time of service, but must be paid by August 1st of each year. No stock will be allowed to leave the place until all bills are paid.

Alcona 730.

Sire of

FLORA BELLE - - - Record 2:24
CLAY DUKE - - - - - " 2:31¼

ALCONA will be a great sire, but four of his colts have ever been trained, and all have shown full miles better than 2:3-, and two of them as good as 2:20. Two of his first sons each sired a colt as a two-year-old, and last season one as a four-year-old trotted a full mile in 2:23¼, and the other, a three-year-old, a mile in 2:31. With opportunities, Alcona is destined to be one of Almont's best sons Almont, for his opportunities, is beyond doubt the most prepotent sire of his age. He has 36 representatives in the 2:30 list; 49 sons and 22 daughters that have already produced 2:30 performers. Almont died five years ago at 20 years old. If he lived he would be but 25 years old.

PEDIGREE.

ALCONA sired by the great Almont (sire of Westmont 2:13¾, Fanny Witherspoon 2:16¾, Piedmont 2:17¾, and 33 others with records better than 2:30, and grandsire of Belle Hamlin 2:12¾, etc.); by Alexander's Abdallah (sire of Goldsmith Maid 2:14), he by Ryedyk's Hambletonian. Alcona's dam, Queen Mary, by Mambrino Chief (sire of Lady Thorne 2 18 1-4, and 5 others in the 2:30 list, and sire of the dams of Director 2:17, Piedmont 2:17½, Onward 2:25 1-4, Red Wilkes Almont, Belmont and many other noted sires).

DESCRIPTION.

Alcona is a beautiful chestnut 16 3-1-2 hands high, and weighs 1300 lbs. His colts possess speed, style, finish and beauty, and if they don't trot they command the highest prices for carriage horses.

$40 for the season. Usual return privilege.

Season of Alcona and Grandissimo ends July 1st, 1890.

Grandissimo,

Full Brother to GRANDEE, 3-year old record 2:23 1-2.

Sired by La Grande (son of Almont, and out of Jessie Pepper by Mambrino Chief; Jessie Pepper is the dam of Ione 2:17 1-2, Alpha 2:23 1-2, Sterling Wilkes 2:31¾, and others) dam Norma, by Arthurton (sire of Arab 2.15, Joe Arthurton 2 21 1-2, etc.)

Grandam Nourmahal, (full sister to A. W. Richmond, sire of Arrow 2:13¾, Romero 2:19, and sire of Columbine, dam of Anteeo 2:16¾, and Antevolo 2:19¼ at four years old).

DESCRIPTION.

Grandissimo is four years old, will make a sixteen hand horse; he is a rich mahogany bay in color and perfect in style and action. $50 for the season. Usual return privileges.

"Grandissimo" with limited training last fall as a three-year-old, trotted quarters in 35 seconds and miles in 2:40.

I feel confident that he will trot fast this season, and will be a great sire as his colts this season are all grand youngsters.

The best of pasturage $4 per month. Mares taken care of in any manner that owners may desire, but no responsibility assumed for escapes or accidents.

For further particulars send for circular or call at stables, one mile south of St. Helena.

DEXTER PRINCE.

This Royally-bred Stallion will make the Season of 1890 at the LIVE OAKS Breeding Farm, 2 miles from Lodi, San Joaquin County, Cal.

DESCRIPTION.

DEXTER PRINCE is a blood bay, 16 hands high, weighs over 1 100 pounds; has great power and substance, and the highest finish. When two years old, at Palo Alto, he was timed quarters by Gov. Stanford in 32½ seconds, and he was driven eights by Mr. Marvin at a faster rate of speed than that. He is a sure foal-getter, and invariably sires foals of good size, of fine form and finish, and the highest rate of speed.

PEDIGREE.

By KENTUCKY PRINCE, the sire of Guy, 2:10¾, Spofford, 2:18¾, Company, 2:19¾, Bayonne Prince, 2:21 1-4, Fred Folger, 2:20¼, and a score more in the 2:30 list.

First dam LADY DEXTER, full sister of the great est of trotters, Dexter, and the greatest of sires, Dictator, the sire of Director, 2:17, Phallae, 2:13¾, in a fourth heat, and Jay-Eye-See, 2:10.

Second dam Clara, the dam of Dexter, 2:17 1-4, Dictator, Astoria 2:29 1-4, and Almah, 2:28¾. Clara was by American Star, that has 34 daughters that have produced 2:30 or better trotters.

Third dam the McKinstry mare, the dam of Shark, 2 27¾. HAMBLETONIAN, the grandsire of DEXTER PRINCE, has 40 trotters in the 2:30 list, 44 daughters that have produced 2:30 trotters, and more than 10 sons that have sired 2 30 trotters.

CLARK CHIEF, the grandsire on the sire's side, was the sire of performing and producing sons and daughters

DEXTER PRINCE has faster blood lines, on both sides, than any other stallion in the world—Guy 2:10¾, and Jay-Eye-See, 2:10.

KENTUCKY PRINCE is one of the best bred and speediest stallions in the world. David Bonner, in the presence of Governor Stanford, timed him when he trotted a 2:10 gait. His is by Clark Chief, one of The great broodmare sires; his first dam is Kentucky Queen by Morgan Eagle, son of Hale's Green Mountain Morgan, 2nd dam by Blythe's Whip, 3rd dam by Martin's Brummier, 4th dam by Quicksilver 880, on through the strongest thoroughbred blood.

TERMS.

$100 for the season, with usual return privileges. Payable before mares are removed. Good pasture, and the best care furnished, but no responsibility assumed for accidents.

DESCRIPTION.

EROS is a rich seal brown stallion, bred by Hon. Leland Stanford at Palo Alto, and is the nearest living likeness of his celebrated sire, Electioneer. Stands 15.2 hands high, and weighs 1050 pounds

In breeding to Eros, the owners of mares will strictly follow the great rule of breeding, viz., breed to a stallion by a producer and out of a sure producer of great speed. Eros is by the stallion that has produced more 2:30 trotters that any living horse, and is also the sire of more 2:20 performers than any horse living or dead.

EROS is out of the dam of Sally Benton, four years old, record 2:17¾, Sport 2:22¾, and Eros 2:29¼ in the sixth heat, against a field of nine horses. He is from a family that is endowed with great natural speed, trot fast at an early age, train on, throw trotters from all classes of mares, are of good substance, bone, style and action, and breed solid colors.

TERMS.

$100 for the season, with the privilege of return next season should mares not be in foal and horse and mare still remain in the same hands.

Good pasturage can be obtained at $5 per month, but no responsibility for accidents or escapee. There are a large number of box stalls, and animals can be kept up and fed on hay and grain at reasonable rates if required. Mares already in foal can be sent to the ranch for foaling, and will receive all the attention bestowed upon our own mares. Mares left with Mr. Peter Pomyea, Broadway Street Stable, Oakland, or with Mr. F. H. Burke, 401 Montgomery Street, San Francisco, will be forwarded to the ranch free of charge.   - Sire of Sir Guy..... 2:28¾
  - Beautiful Bells is the dam of Hinda Rose, 2:19¾ as a 3-year-old, Palo Alto Belle, 2:22½, Chimes, St. Bell, 2:21½, Bell Boy (3 years) 2:19¾.
  - Sultan, 2:24 (sire of Stamboul 2:12¾) has 19 in 2:30 list.
- Vashti..... — Dam of Don Tomas, who got a record of 2:20 in 1889.
  - Mambrino Patchen 58 — Sire of 14 in 2:30 list / Sire of the dam of Guy Wilkes, 2:15¼; also sire of 20 stallions and 18 mares with get in 2:30 list.
  - Kate Taber — By Mambrino Messenger, he by Mambrino Paymaster.

Foaled 1876. Black. Sixteen hands high. Bred by L. J. Rose

A horse of highest form and quality; of great excellence in every point; a type of his celebrated family; of marked individuality, spirit and endurance; never properly trained or raced, but shows the possession of great speed; perfectly manageable in the stable and on the road and track.

As he is sired by The Moor 870, a son of CLAY PILOT, out of Vashti by MAMBRINO PATCHEN, he is a most valuable cross for mares of other families. THE MOOR sired Beautiful Belle and the dams of Sable Wilkes and Margaret 2:28 (dam of Regal Wilkes, 2-year-old record 2:20½).

MAMBRINO PATCHEN is regarded as the unsurpassed sire of broodmares, having, among many others, sired the dam of Guy Wilkes and of Wm. L (the sire of Axtell), and a son of his sired the dam of Axtell. The public sales this year have demonstrated with renewed emphasis the value of The Moor and Mambrino Patchen strains of blood. For combining particularly with the Hambletonians it may be called "the ready money cross."

GRAND MOOR will make the season of 1890 for a time at the Oakland Race Track and afterwards at my Ranch, fifteen miles from Oakland. Mares can be delivered at the race track to the groom in charge. Pasture at $5 per month. For other food, if requested, an additional charge will be made.

TERMS, $150 for the season, with privileges of return if the horse does not change hands.

Every care exercised, but no liability for escapes or accidents.

Sunny Side Breeding Farm.

Admiral 488.

Foaled 1867—Sired by Volunteer 55, Son of Ryedyk's Hambletonian 10.

First dam Lady Pierson by Cassius M. Clay (Neavss') 20; second dam by Diamond; third dam a running mare said to be thoroughbred. He is fitted in an eminent degree to produce colts that will in all respects justify his patrons in their expectations.

Admiral is the sire of Huntress, record 2:27¾, Sister, 2:19¾, Perhelion, 2:25, Nona Y., 2:25, and others equally as promising, but have not had the advantage of track work. He will serve a limited number of approved mares at $50 the season, with usual return privilege. Season ending August 1, 1890. No liability for accidents or escapes.

KING DAVID 2576.

Bay Stallion—Foaled 1883.

Sired by Admiral 488, dam Black Flora (the dam of Huntress, 2:27¾, Sister, 2:19¾, Perhelion, 2:25, Nona Y., 2:25), by Black Prince.

King David is one of the best gets of Admiral. He has a good disposition, kind to drive, smooth and even-gaited, and can speed fast. Barring accidents, he will trot in the twenties this Fall. His colts are large, rangy, and well finished. Will serve a limited number of mares at $30 the season, to end July 1, 1890. Every precaution will be taken to prevent accidents and escapes, but no liability will be assumed. Pasturage $4 per month.

A HALF BROTHER TO

ALMONT PATCHEN,

(2:15, trial 2:13 3-4).

JUANITO JR. is a beautiful bright bay, black points, with no white, foaled 1886. As a colt he has given much more promise than did Almont Patchen at the same age. Instead of being a pacer, he is a good square trotter, with every indication of great speed, and is so gentle and kind, that a lady can drive him. The owner's only reason for selling him is that business calls him away from this section of the State. He will be sold at a reasonable figure. This is a splendid opportunity for a gentleman to secure a first-class trotter at a very low figure.

The pedigree of Juanito Jr. is by Juanito (sire of Almont Patchen), dam Nettie Moore by Old Tom Moore. For further particulars, address

GUIDE, 2:28½.

The property of A. T. Hatch, Esq., Pleasanton. Cal.

Pleasanton is fast becoming one of the horse-breeding centers of California. For many years it has been noted for its salubrious climate, the effect of which has been to induce owners of large establishments to locate there when land could be had on advantageous terms. The great trouble with the Livermore Valley is that the vast acreage is better adapted for fruit lands than anything else, and as the viticulturists and orchardists have taken almost entire possession of the valley, it is now a very hard matter to secure any land without paying an enormous price therefor. Only lately Senator Hearst has been able to secure a large holding extending over many acres which was formerly known as the Valentine Ranch, and it is understood that he will in the near future bring up all of his thoroughbred mares from the San Simeon ranch to locate a new establishment near Pleasanton. In addition to the noted Pleasanton Stock Farm and the Valensin Stock Farm there is also a great deal of land devoted to the stock belonging to A. T. Hatch, Esq., the President of the State Board of Trade. Mr. Hatch has been interested more or less for many years in stock raising, in fact as he says himself the first money he ever made in his life he took to purchase a horse with. Since 1860 or thereabouts he has owned many horses, and last year came into prominent notice on account of his celebrated young stallion, Guide who made a record of 2:28½ as a four year old last year at Santa Rosa. The handsome brown horse had already won his spurs at Napa, winning there in three straight heats but later on in the season was troubled with the prevailing complaint, epizootic, and c not do himself justice during the remainder of the circuit. Wishing to give our readers a picture of this notable horse a visit was paid to the farm last week and an inspection made of him.

Mr. Sutherland, well and favorably known to the residents of Northern California and Oregon as an old driver and trainer, has the horse in charge, and at the request of Mr. Hatch, he was driven around the half-mile track, completing the two circuits in 2:31½, one quarter of which was speeded at a "twenty" gait. Guide is in the best of condition, although he will require a little more work to fit him for an arduous campaign, but as the stallion season is about over, there will be ample opportunity for him to become conditioned before he faces the judges' stand for the first time this year. He has improved wonderfully on h s last year's form; has filled out to a marked degree, and stands to-day, as can be seen by the picture, as handsome a trotter as there is in the State. His breeding is of the best, and being by that well known sire, Director, 2:17, cannot fail to reproduce speed; his dam was Imogene by Norwood 522 (sire of Tommy Norwood, 2:26½); 2d dam by American Star 14; 3d dam daughter of Harry Clay 45. There is no necessity to speak of Guide's sire, as Director and his ancestors are too well known to require comment, but it may not be out of place to say that Norwood was by Hambletonian 10, dam Lady Fallis (dam of Kisbar, 2:27¾, Pickering, 2:30, and Gretchen, dam of Clingstone, 2:14). Lady Fallis was by American Star 14, which, with Clara, the dam of Dictator, gives Guide three crosses of that noted blood. Beyond peradventure, his chances to-day look exceedingly rosy for making a very fast record this year, and as Mr. Hatch has entered him in quite a number of events, we confidently predict that he will add fresh lustre to the name of Director. Mr. Hatch has lately been asked to set a price on thia handsome young horse, and although many thousands were offered, absolutely refused to part with him. He has been liberally patronized by those owning good mares, and already two of his yearlings show wonderful trotting action, one especially, owned by Mr. Hatch, being able to show quarters even now in forty seconds. That he will make a famous sire in the days to come, no one can doubt, and as his breeding is of the best, he should add both fame and fortune to his lucky owner.

In addition to Guide Mr. Hatch owns a number of other stallions, one of which, Lenmar, is at present in training at Petaluma. He waa a very fast horse in the early portion of '89, but as he was likewise effected with epizootic, waa unable to show what he could do. However, his owner thinks that there is a possibility this year of his coming to the wire all right and has turned him over to the careful trainer, Tom Murphy, who will undoubtedly bring him up in good shape when the bell rings. Lenmar is a h s by Admar, dam Lenore by Gladiator 8336; 2nd dam Betty Morgan by Grafton, he a son of Vermont Morgan; 3rd dam Betsey Morgan by Vermont Morgan. As will be seen, Lenmar has nothing to be ashamed of in his pedigree and good luck is all that is necessary to bring him forward as one of the fast horses of the year.

Admiro is a handsome bay horse, eight years old, and stands 17½ hands high, weighing almost 1400 lbs. He is very speedy for a large horse and can show quarters in 40 seconds without any trouble. Admiro is a son of Admiral 488, dam Zoo Zoo by San Bruno, he a son of Easton's David Hill.

El Rey ia a sorrel stallion by Admar, dam Polly Lincoln by a son of Argyle.

Morales is a six-year-old bay horse by Le Grand, dam Mora by Admiral.

My Guy is a bay horse, five years old, by Guy Wilkes 2;15¼, dam Gracie by Arthurton 365; 2nd dam Old Lady by David Hill Jr.; 3rd dam by Williamson's Belmont (sire of Venture 2;27¼). We saw several of the colts by My Guy and can vouch for their being as handsome as one can want to see. Hia breeding is of the best and speed should surely follow.

Omar is a sorrel horse, four years old, by Admar, dam Imogene by Nutwood. Here again we find good breeding as Admar was sired by Admiral, he by Goldsmith's Volunteer (sire of St. Julian 2:11¼). Admar'a dam is Bruna by Hathaway'a San Bruno, he by Eastons David Hill; 2nd dam Truckee Jane by Grafton.

A handaome little fellow, only a yearling in age, but one to catch the eye at once from his very dignified and intelligent appearance, is Correct, a handsome bay by Morales, dam Imona by Steinway 1808. The above constitutes the stallions at Santa Rita Ranch, and taken all in all, they are a handsome and desirable lot.

Among the geldings, one that struck the writer as being very much of a trotter was Montague, dam Imogene by Norwood. Montague is the exact counterpart of St. Julian, resembles him very much in size, color and conformation. He will be put to work at once to prepare him for circuit purposes, and Mr. Sutherland has confidence that Montague can make a name for himself.

Steindale is a chestnut, six years old, by Steinway, dam the Tiffany mare, dam of Gibraltar 2:22½.

Select ia a bay, three years old, by Derby, dam Cigale by Admiral, 2nd dam Betty Morgan by Vermont Morgan: 3d dam, Betsey Morgan by Vermont Morgan. Derby, the sire of Select, is responsible for the parentage of quite a number of animals at Santa Rita, so his pedigree is given here. Derby, by Newland's Hambletonian, dam Phaceola by Silverthreads, he a son of The Moor; 2nd dam, Minnehaha, by Ball Chief; 3d dam Nettie Clay by Strader's Cassius M. Clay, 4th dam by Abdallah. This is royal good breeding, and Select should be able to trot very fast with his combined blood lines, given as above.

Election is three years old, bay, by Admar, dam Electe by Frank Malone's son of Electioneer.

Admon is another bay, three years old, by Derby, dam Admira by Admar.

Melnotte is a sorrel, two years old, by Admar, dam Lenore by Gladiator.

Tancred, bay, two years old, by Derby, dam Admira by Admiral.

Miron, bay yearling by Derby, dam Lenmira by Lenmar.

Lenidon is a sorrel, two years old, by Lenmar, dam Ida by Irvington.

Leonard, sorrel yearling by Admar, dam Lenore by Gladiator.

After inspection of the many horses which are at present being given gentle exercise by Mr. Sutherland, a visit was paid to the large paddocks where the brood mares were eating the rich and succulent grasses. For many years Mr. Hatch has had the major portion of his stock located at Montague, Siskiyou County, and only lately a large number of them were brought down to the Pleasanton Farm. The severe winter had evidently played serious havoc with many of the highly bred animals, but the nutritious pasturage which they are now enjoying is apt before long to bring them up to their normal condition. It must not be understood that the matrons were a bad looking lot, for taken all in all they are far above the average, it waa only lack of proper food during thewinter, that has caused them to appear low in flesh. Many of them have suckling foals at their side and the youngsters are all doing well. Among the large number which were to be seen it was a hard matter to get notes about them all but the breeding of some of them will give our readers an idea of the class of trotters that Mr. Hatch has at present.

Light is the little miss by Sidney 2:19¾, dam Ida by Irvington.

Mr. Hatch is fairly "in the swim" with this large and well-bred lot of trotters, and there can be no reasonable doubt but what he will be successful in the undertaking of a mammoth breeding establishment. He will have quite a number in training during the season, and that he may meet with his full measure of success, is the earnest wish of his many friends.

Meeting at Albuquerque.

The Spring meeting of the Gentlemen's Driving Association of Albuquerque, New Mexico, was held at the fair grounds in that city on May 15th, 16th and 17th. The programme as arranged was a very interesting one, and the attendance amply repaid the promoters, from which fact it may be confidently predicted that another meeting on a larger scale will be given before very long. The races were interspersed with several events for the runners, but our correspondent failed to send us a report of what the hang tails did On the first day there was a trot for the four-year-olds and under, May Queen, b f, three years old, by St. Cloud, proving an easy victor in three straight heats, the best time being 3:25, although the filly could undoubtedly have gone fully ten seconds faster. On the same afternoon there was a purse of $75 given for double teams, both horses to be owned by the same party; 75 per cent. of purse going to winner and 25 per cent. to the second. Dandy and Broncho, owned by R. H. Greenleaf, won an easy victory in straight heats, they not being pushed at all. The winners have a record of 3:16 to the pole.

On May 16th, a purse of $50 was offered for green horses, those having no record of any kind, and was won by W. L. Trimble'a Babe in three straight heats, the best time being 3:16; Mr. Horne's Kitty Cogan was distanced in the first heat and Grey Eagle owned by J. Eiseman was distanced by the judges in the third heat for running. On the same afternoon a purse of $200 was hung up by the association for the 2:55 class with the condition that the horse had to be owned in Bernalillo County; there were three starters for this event, the winner turning up in the b g Lancet, owned by W. L. Trimble who won the second, third and fourth heats. Bronco owned by Mr. Greenleaf taking the first heat; the best time of the winner was 2:57¼. Daniel Boone owned by D. Armstrong was distanced in the first heat; in this race Mr. V. A Greenleaf drove Broncho the fourth heat and waa fined $25 for loud shouting and improper use of the whip.

For Saturday, May 17th, the association offered a purse of $300 for Free-For-All trotters, the horses coming to the post being Faro, b g by Mambrino Gift; Roan Dick, r g, and Miss Ruby a roan mare: Faro, who was owned by Dr. Carter, won easily in three straight heats, the best time being 2;39¼ in third heat, in which Roan Dick finished at Faro's wheel.

On the same afternoon the 3;15 class had an outing, the entries being Daniel Boone owned by D. Armstrong and Bay Fanny owned by O. R. Cassels Daniel Boone won the second and third heats, Dandy winning the first. The race was given to Daniel Boone as in the third heat Dandy was ruled out for foul driving of his owner; Bay Fanny was distanced in the second heat. The best time made was 3;09.

An extra day was given on May 18th, on which day there was a race which was really the best of the entire meeting, the entries being Lancet, Broncho and Ethan Allen Jr. Broncho is only a $30 Mexican horse, but in the three heats he won, showed himself to be a fair trotter, his powers of endurance being much more than that of his competitors, and in the heats which he won he never made a skip or left his feet once. Lancet won the first two heats, Broncho the third and fourth, and Ethan Allen Jr., the fifth, while Broncho outlasted the others and won the sixth heat, the best time in the race being 2:55. The following are the

THE FARM.

The Bronze Turkey.

It is claimed by most writers on domestic poultry that the turkey is the only valuable fowl contributed by North America to the table of the world. His native habitat extends from the Northwest Territory to the Isthmus of Panama. South of that he is not found. This is the real and only original bronze turkey. He attains great size, even to 40 and 50 pounds for the male and from 30 to 35 pounds for the hen, But at this size he is no great treat for the epicure. My preference is a fat, young hen weighing from 10 to 12 pounds.

When young, the chicks are quite tender and need much care. Another rather precarious time is when they are feathering out. The courtship of the gobbler commences in February, and when once the hen begins to lay, the whole of that litter is fecundated. She could safely be removed from the flock, and, under normal conditions, every egg would hatch. A turkey hen will lay from seven to eleven eggs at a litter, and will produce three broods if she is not required to hatch but one.

An illustration: A neighbor of mine by the name of Evarts bought one pair of bronze turkeys. In due time the hen laid nine eggs. These were set under a common hen. Again, in about 10 days, the turkey hen laid another litter of 11 eggs; these again were placed under a common hen; a third repetition resulted in seven eggs, and these the turkey hen was allowed to hatch, and if my memory is not greatly at fault, Mr. E. raised the whole twenty-seven turkeys to maturity.

Young turkeys should be placed in a board pen; they cannot get over a board 12 or 14 inches wide. If hatched by a common hen she must be confined, because she is a rambler and the ordinary chick is quite spry when but a week old. The young turkeys should be fed at first on hard boiled eggs chopped very fine. In a few days wheat or cornbread crumbs may be given. They will thrive on this feed. When a greater quantity of food becomes necessary curds and fine chopped onions may be added.

There is no fowl more destructive to insects than the turkey. A flock will spread out over a meadow or grain field like an army with banners, and when they go for grasshoppers they waste no time and never need make a second peck to secure mister hopper.

The poultry dealers of almost every considerable city in our land have their own approved methods in which poultry shall he dressed and placed upon the market. One way approved by self and satisfactory to Chicago and Boston dealers, is this:

When all ready cut off the turkey's head, pick off the feathers dry, being careful not to lacerate the skin. When thoroughly cleaned hang up by the neck and pour over the body a dash of boiling water. The whole fowl will swell up like dough when placed in a hot oven. Draw all the entrails, and these should be nearly empty at the time of killing, but do not draw out the crop. Use no water, but wipe the inside as clean as possible, and place the heart, liver and gizzard back and close up with a few stiches. In this condition when once thoroughly cooled (not frozen) you can send them from here to Boston or San Francisco and have them arrive in the best condition, and they will find a ready sale and bring good prices.—CHAS. W. MURTFELDT, in the Republic.

La Fleche.

La Fleche, the Black Spanish of France, is a veritable nightmare among fowls. Its tall legs, its bold carriage, its inky suit and its strange comb give it a very peculiar appearance. And yet, I fancy, despite the contradictions of many that the comb after all is what gives this fowl its strange look. Because the comb is but a small part of the fowl a great many people who would be wearied with the carriage of one solid idea have protested that the change in comb was not enough to separate two varieties otherwise similar. It so happens that there used to be and perhaps still is a red-faced Black Spanish fowl with a single comb, which in everything but comb bore a very close resemblance to La Fleche, and yet La Fleche and Red Faced Spanish were very different looking fowls—there would be no danger of confounding them. The two upright horns of Red or La Fleche make a wonderful change in the whole appearance of the fowl. If any one doubts that the change in comb makes a great change in the appearance let him take a leghorn cockerel and with a pair of shears cut off the comb and wattles and then place the fowl by the side of an unclipped bird and note the difference. The two birds look as if they belonged to two different breeds.

La Fleche is a composite fowl, produced by the skillful crossing of French poultrymen. That one of the breeds was the Black Spanish there is every reason to believe; that the Polish or some other crested breed was also used is apparent from the peculiar comb, the cavernous nostrils and the small crests that the early specimens used to show.

A good many years ago Mr. Philander Williams imported some of this breed into the United States. The fowls, after a time, passed out of his hands, were scattered through many towns and states, and have practically disappeared. I remember discovering at one time in the town of East Providence, R. I., a small flock of La Fleche, a remnant of the importations of Mr. Williams. These birds had been inbred generation after generation until they were little larger than the Black Hamburghs which were kept by the same man. The first really good La Fleche shown in America in recent years were exhibited at Buffalo, in 1888, by Mr. Owen Scotten, of Detroit, Mich. These birds had been recently imported, and their large size and meaty bodies explained why the French people prize the fowls for the table. At the New York show in 1890 a New Jersey gentlemen exhibited some fine specimens, which I suspect were either the Scotten birds or descendants from them. If not, they must have been a recent importation.

La Fleche have never been popular in this country. Whether this has been due to close inbreeing, caused by the impossibility of obtaining fresh blood when required, or whether it has been the result of the change of climate conditions, or whether it has been owing to prejudice, I cannot say. The fact is obvious, whatever its cause. La Fleche are very good summer layers of large, white eggs, are fairly hardy as fowls, somewhat tender as chickens, and when bred from good stock are excellent for the table. Their black legs, black pin feathers and white skin are objectionable when sold in the markets, but do not affect the quality when served upon the table. The French prize La Fleche much more than the American do, but with better birds it is possible that there will be a greater appreciation of this fowl.

Hints From the Greatest Poultry Country.

The Chinese prize the droppings of fowls as the best of manure, carefully collecting those of the geese, ducks, chickens and pigeons. Goose-dung brings very high prices. In the use of such material, they often dilute with water, and they manure the plants rather than the earth squirting the liquid article out of watering pots at the roots of the plants.

They have many ingenious methods to save their fowls from being caught by the hawk. The pigeons in North China have tied to their tails whistles which make a whirring noise as they fly through the air and which frighten hawks away. I was a long time at a loss to know what this sound was. I heard it many times a day in every city of North China. The goose-herder protects his charge in much the same way. He has a sort of bamboo whistle or tube fastened to the end of a rope whip which he swings from time to time around his head to scare away the hawks. Inasmuch as some of the goose-herds number as many as a thousand birds, and as the hawks are numerous and bold, it will be seen that this is not an unnecessary precaution.

The Chinese are very fond of eggs, but they never eat them soft-boiled, and they believe that an egg grows better with age. Preserved eggs are one of the daintiest of China and it takes forty days to pickle them for use. The eggs are covered with a mixture of tea leaves, lime, salt, and wood ashes, made into a paste, and are then packed away in wood ashes, which, all over China, are sold to the egg-packers for this purpose. The older an egg grows after packing the better it is supposed to be. There are methods of pickling which turn the eggs as black as jet. In some cases they are steeped in water in which the leaves of fir or cedar trees have been boiled. The Chinese also pickle eggs in salt water, and they regard these salted eggs as good for medicinal purposes. They have certain festivals at which they give presents of hard boiled, dyed eggs, and when a child is born the family and friends celebrate the event by a feast of dyed eggs. All told, the egg industry of China gives employment to many thousand people, and forms one of the important specialties of this very busy nation.—Frank G. Carpenter.

Store Cattle from America.

Sir Jacob Wilson's speech is a purely selfish one in regard to the importance of store states cattle. His argument is, clear this country of pleuro-pneumonia at whatever cost, in order that we may sell our pure-bred stock to our American buyer; but on no account admit the produce of such stock to this country again, on account of the so-called risk of disease. Sir Jacob Wilson admits that there is at present no pleuro-pneumonia in the western states, but he says it is impossible to get these clean cattle into this country without running the risk of importing disease. Then he holds up the bugbear of Texan fever, which is a climatic disease, and would not live in this country. Moreover this disease is confined within well-defined limits of country, which could easily be scheduled. Besides, we have the ten days' voyage acting as a quarantine; and if any cargo should at any time show symptoms of disease, such cattle could be slaughtered at point of landing. Sir Jacob Wilson says the scarcity of store cattle is only temporary; but where will the price of fat cattle go to if we breed twice the quantity we do at present and also receive all the fat cattle America can send? The success which has attended the feeding of Canadians this season is a strong proof of the great impetus which would be given to agriculture were we to get an unlimited supply of the raw material cheap. The interest of the feeder is also the interest of the consumer, and these interests cannot be wholly set aside to please and help the breeder of pure-bred stock. Sir Jacob Wilson speaks hopefully of stamping out pleuro-pneumonia in this country, but many think this will never be accomplished. In a country such as ours, and necessarily importing largely, there must always be a certain amount of risk of disease; and the question comes to this: Give us the largest supply of store stock possible with the minimum amount of risk. This question of store states cattle is rapidly taking hold of the Scotish agricultural mind, and will be an accomplished fact ere long. Does it not look strange to admit store stock from Ireland where there is always more or less disease, and forbid their importation from the western states of America, where friends and foes alike admit there is no pleuro-pneumonia?—A. Hutcheson, in North British Agriculturist.

What Red Polled Cattle Are.

Hon. S. A. Converse gives the folowing description of Red Polled cattle:

Many make a mistake in calling them the "Red Angus cattle." The word Angus is not properly used in speaking of this breed. They are no more related to the Polled Angus than they are to the Shorthorn or Holstein. The origin is traced in another direction entirely. From the remotest time there has been in Suffolk county, England, the red-muley breed called the Suffolk Dun," and, from the earliest time until the present, always known as a superior dairy breed. Twenty-five years ago this breed was nearly lost by the sweeping ravages of a disease known as the rinderpest. Their scarcity since then accounts for their having been little heard of.

Color is always a solid, beautiful dark red, which is transmitted to all their offspring, and even when crossed with breeds of a different color 90 percent of the grades will be red.

They are absolutely hornless, and when crossed with horned breeds they impart this quality so strongly that out of 250 half-bloods that I have bred not one has horns, only a few have even had loose knobs.

In size they are very good. Most of the bulls at maturity weigh from 1,800 to 2,200 pounds, and cows smaller in proportion.

They mature very early, keep easy, and are smooth, fine bone and muscle.

They are very gentle and easy to handle; and rarely that ever one of the bulls ever gets cross.

Their milking qualities are first class. They usually give a good large mess of very rich milk; and a very valuable characteristic of the breed is that most of them will milk a whole year, and from one calving to another, thus making a long season in milk.

They leave their impression strongly on any breed they are crossed with, and their grade and full blood steers are as fine, pony-built fellows as ever went to market, and are quick sellers.

They will huddle in a shed like sheep and ship with the least possible injury.

Dairying, East and West.

Eastern farmers are not a little disgusted to learn that in the towns nearest them, Iowa creamery butter is retailing at thirty-one and thirty-two cents per pound, while the best Home-Made is retailing at twenty eight cents. The first is made from hay worth from three to five dollars per ton, and corn from eighteen to twenty three cents per bushel, and the second from hay worth in the market nine dollars per ton, and corn worth forty cents per bushel. There is nothing very consoling in this to the Eastern farmer,

While it is true he receives the total amount, less the retailer's profit, and the Western farmer pays that profit and in addition freights and the cost of gathering the cream or milk and that of manufacture, yet his cheap land, together with the ease of cultivating, far more than compensates for this. He has, too, in his large herds, a far better chance of grading up his cows and developing a uniform herd of heavy milkers

Dairying, whether East or West, to be profitable must be engaged in as a business, and one of the essential features of that business must be a dairy cow that will be a heavy milker. This cannot be obtained by haphazard breeding, or by using one breed and then another, mingling bloods till the herd is all colors and forms. It is difficult to do this on a farm where half a dozen cows are kept and in a neighborhood where four-fifths of the farmers are grain raisers by birth and education. The difficulty is increased where one farmer has moderately level land and can grow good sized cattle, and his neighbor has a hilly farm where the land slides from the hillsides after heavy rains, and he dare not stock it with large cattle.

The Western dairyman therefore, has the advantage, and can always hold the Eastern butter market if he will. To do it, however, he must increase the butter capacity of his cows, must give greater attention to all the details of the business, and must furnish the raw material for a first-class article of butter. The demand for good butter is constantly increasing, and will continue to do so, and there is little danger of the market becoming overstocked. The best will always sell at good prices.—Iowa Homestead.

Argentine Mutton.

London, May 10 —The importations of live sheep into the United Kingdom which reached a total of 178,354 head in the first quarter of 1888 and 209,029 in the same part of 1889, fell off to 27,345 head in the first three months of the present year. This wonderful change is due to scheduling of German sheep, which have for a long time formed the bulk of British importations of this stock. This apparently opens up a field for supplies from some other quarter, and advantage of this fact is already being taken by exporters from the Argentine Republic. Over 300 live sheep from Buenos Ayres lately arrived at Liverpool, and proved so attractive to buyers that their flesh brought twice the price of the frozen mutton from the same country. In the course of the last year or two there have been unmistakable indications that the supply of sheep in this country is not equal to the demand, and that the imports of dead mutton could not make up the want of live sheep. And the Argentine Confederation can give England practically unlimited supplies of sheep if they could be brought here alive. It takes rank next to New Zeland in the weight of frozen mutton which it sends to us. In 1887 England imported from the Argentine Confederation 251,273 cwt. of fresh mutton, and in 1888, the last year for which complete returns are recorded, received 345,395 cwt. of mutton. Now that a few of the many millions of live sheep there have found their way here and have sold well, there are more to follow. British importations of mutton in the first quarter of this year were 401,174 cwt. against 296,289 cwt. in 1889 and 227,090 in 1888.

Which is Best?

No one will claim much profit in 2 or 3-year-old stall-fed steers at 2½ cents a pound, says a correspondent of Farm, Stock and Home; but when they sell for 3 cents and weigh 800 at one year old, it is not so bad; and it is not misleading to say that there are yearlings in this county that weigh 800 and will sell quick at 3 to 3½ cents a pound. One of my neighbors is feeding a calf that he expects to make weigh 1,000 pounds when he is one year old in July next. Quality and early maturity are the points to attain. To illustrate: I saw a few weeks ago a 2-year-old heifer sell for $10; later I saw a heifer of the same age sell for $15; afterward, I heard a man offer $40 for a good grade heifer of same age. Now, on which was there a profit, and what made the difference? Nothing but good quality and early maturity. Another: A neighbor sold some high grade—last fall calves, a few days ago for $20 each. In the same town are yearlings that will not bring $6 each; why the difference? The first were good stock, and had good care; the latter, scrub stock and had scrub care. Is it misleading to recommend the former as the most profitable in times of depression, like the present?

A Long Milking Cow.

One exhibit most likely to arrest the attention of the public in general and farmers in particular at the South Franklin Agricultural Show, held at Bukekohe on March 17, was a well-bred Shorthorn cow, exhibited by Mr. J. Allen, Hillside, Pukekohe (but not for competition), says the Auckland (New Zealand) Weekly. The cow was bred by Mr. Edward Allen, of Mount Albert, calved second and last time September 21, 1882. She then gave five gallons of milk daily, has been milked twice daily ever since, and is now giving a fair quantity. We have never heard of a dairy cow milking so continuously (a period of nearly eight years) without having a calf in the interval, and question very much if it could be beaten even on the large continent of America, where all the unlikely things happen, and the big things grow. We may add that the cow has not been spayed.

Articles of incorporation of the Chicago and Montana Sheep Company have been filed says the Livingston Post with the county clerk. The incorporators are Chas. C. Rice, of Myershurg, Erve G. Blair, of White Sulphur Springs, and Henry E Rohn, of Chicago, Ill. The capital stock is $25,000 divided into 250 shares of $100 each. Operations will be carried on Myershurg, Mont., where the offices will be located. The object of the company is the buying, selling, feeding and dealing in mutton sheep.

They are "Phenomenal" Smith now with Philadelphia, Jimmy Smith who played third for the Californiaa, Hughey, Jack and Nick Smith, formerly of the Pioneers, Pop Smith of the Bostons and Andy Smith now with Stockton.

The idea of a young man playing ball for money is not nearly as abhorrent now as it was some years ago, when a ball tosser and a loafer were synonymous terms to many minds. There is nothing at all derogatory now-a-days in a young man playing base ball for the return it brings him. In fact, it must be considered in the highest degree commendable if a young man has the requisite skill to play ball so that it will command a financial return, and he is thus enabled to defray, in whole or in part, his expenses.—Life.

Shelly as yet has not fully strengthened the Stocktons in their weakest point—the catching department. Vogt is fastidious, and cares only to catch Kilroy, claiming he can't afford to have his hands banged up by working with every pitcher; and Smith is entirely too slow to do effective work at his end when receiving Hapeman. What the Stockton team needs is a catcher who is capable of handling any of them, and such a one is Matt Stanley. Stanley is anxious to be identified with some of the professional teams, and if given a chance, will more than hold his end up. His work with the amateurs this season has been of the very highest order both in catching and throwing. Lately he has improved wonderfully in hitting, and we have no hesitancy in proclaiming him a valuable player.

Digby Bell once officiated as an umpire. It was in a game between Philadelphia nines called the Leans and the Fats. The left-fielder of the Fats was an enormous party who had contracted the habit of staying out late every night and riding home in a cab, after all of the street cars had stopped running. This man did not get to first base until the ninth inning, and then he reached there on a muffed third strike. Through a series of awful muffs on the part of the infield of the Leans, he finally reached third. The next batter made a three-bagger and the big man started to toddle home. He was stopped by willing hands, however, a cab was brought into the field, he was fired into it and drawn home. "We couldn't allow you to break your record, my boy," said the captain of the Fats. "You have always been driven home in a cab."—Review.

Manager Robinson gives evidence of possessing as many erroneous ideas about running a ball team as he has suits of clothes, and they are numberless. His latest is to take McDonald off second and play him in the field. What a piece of stupidity, and where is he going to get Jims equal, outside of the Major Leagues. According to a recent computation McDonald leads the Oaklands in hitting and has had. and accepted more chances than any other second base player in the League, ranking close on to the "star" of the position—Reitz. If the Colonel wants to strengthen his infield, why don't he displace the noisy man at short, "who brays loudest and does least." He can certainly find any number of amateurs who can discount this "high-roller" player in the position and its "dollars to doughnuts" that Mr. O'Neill wont have any better percentage this year than he had last, when as a shortstop Wilson, Whitehead, Stickney, Ebright and Newbert ranked ahead of him.

One of the promising ball twirlers of the profession is Knell, of the Philadelphia Brotherhood Club. He has the elements of a good ball player, but he is possessed of two weaknessess, which he must overcome before he can be classed as a winning pitcher. One is his attempt to fool batsmen on balls that do not go over the plate, and the other is his impatience. Veteran batsmen like those who compose the Players' League are trained in hitting, and the ball must come over the plate before they will hit at it. Knell's wildness is mainly due to the fact that he works like a machine, firing one ball after another as rapidly as the catcher returns it to him; and, in consequence, he never stops long enough to steady himself and pick out a mark to throw at. Then, also, a batsman becomes nervous and impatient when the pitcher stands in the box and faces him for a few moments after delivering the ball, and he is less apt to hit it under those circumstances than when one ball after another is sent in rapid succession. Knell is young and this is one of the tricks he has not yet learned in his business.—Sporting News.

THURSDAY'S GAME.

OAKLAND vs. SACRAMENTO.

JUNE 12th, AT HAIGHT ST.

The white stockinged Senators and the black jerseyed Colonels came together before a very fair sized audience on Thursday. The sympathy of the crowd was evidently with Stapleton's men, and loudly applauded their every brilliant play. It was a game, if minus the first inning Sacramento would have won. Pokey Chase, who is brought to the front every time either Stockton or Sacramento is in a hole for a twirler, pitched for Sacramento. His first inning was a most disastrous one, the Oaklands making four runs through his wildness and Bowmans error.

The Senators played a hard up hill game, but their hits were not closely bunched. Their fielding was almost perfection, Stapleton, Reitz, Daly and Godar playing the infield in a most finished style, and Roberts and Goodenough did some marvellous fielding. Bowman worked like a Trojan, and with the exception of his error in the first inning, his playing was in accord with the remainder of the team. Chase, after the first inning worked like a beaver, and was very effective, allowing but seven hits to be made by the Colonels is a very creditable performance for this youngster.

The Oaklands, having been presented with four runs, did not have a hard time winning. Their fielding game was of a yellowish tint in places, the errors being mostly made on easy chances. Stickney and McDonald's work were features, and their outfield played a strong game.

Stapleton did great work at the bat, hitting the ball out hard every time and getting three pretty safe shots. Chase, O'Neill and Hill also hit well: The score:

OAKLAND vs. STOCKTON.

FRIDAY, JUNE 6TH, AT OAKLAND.

About fifteen hundred people, many of whom were decorated with a badge of pearl gray and black ribbons, which are the colors of the Oakland team, viewed this game at Emeryville. It was a very pretty exhibition, full of life and some hard hitting, as the score will attest. The errors made by the Oaklands were of a costly nature however, and were it not for the great General O'Neill's overthrow of Fogarty's sharp grounder in the first inning, and Colonel Hill's misjudgment of Wilson's high fly, the score would certainly have been much different.

Parrott pitched a wonderful game, allowing only three safe hits, and was very steady throughout. Big Andy Smith caught and threw to bases very cleverly. The Stocktons' fielding was much superior to that of their opponents.

SAN FRANOISCO vs. SACRAMENTO.

FRIDAY, JUNE 6TH, AT SACRAMENTO.

Lookahaugh pitched great ball in this game keeping the nine hits made off him so widely scattered that they were non-productive of runs till the ninth inning when Reitz and Roberts scored. The Friscos batted Harper freely from the start and won easily. Sweeney, Hanley and Ebright played brilliantly and hit very hard and Stevens caught nicely. The Sacramentos fielded neatly and run bases well, but when runs were needed Lookahaugh was an enigma. Following is the score:

OAKLAND vs. STOCKTONS.

SATURDAY, JUNE 7TH, AT HAIGHT STREET.

The game was exceedingly dull, the Stocktons playing very poorly. Carsey and Hapeman were the opposing pitchers, and both were hit hard. Hapeman did not have the best support in Smith's backstop work, the big fellow being slow in recovering, and often falling short in throwing. Fogarty was in miserable form, making three bad errors. McDonald's finger was severely injured in the fourth inning, but, notwithstanding, Jim played a good game, accepting some very difficult chances.

Shickney, Isaacson, Cahill, Wilson and Selna played well, and the hitting honors were about evenly divided between Carsey, Lohman, Charley O'Neill, Cahill, Swan, Holliday and Fudger. The score:

SACRAMENTO vs. SAN FRANCISCO.

SATURDAY, JUNE 7TH, AT SACRAMENTO.

The fifth inning saw the Senators tie the score and then in the sixth with two out they jumped on Young viciously and the result was that in four innings they added seventeen runs to their string. Every ball Young pitched was just "pic" for the heavy hitting Sacramentans, and home runs triples and safe ties were the kind of hitting they were dealing in. The 'Frisco's got badly rattled as they witnessed the wholesale slaughtering and piled up the neat sum of twelve errors of which Captain Ebright took three and the balance were distributed through the remainder of the nine. The Sacramentos had Farrell, Reitz and Harper in the box at different times and but seven hits were secured off them. The score:

OAKLAND vs. SACRAMENTO.

SUNDAY, JUNE 8TH, AT HAIGHT ST.

Harper was wild as a "Texas Steer" and this with a great many errors and an inability to hit safely when hits were needed, was the cause of Sacramentos crushing defeat last Sunday. The game was interesting till the sixth inning, when the Oaklands piled up five runs on three bases on balls, Lohmans single and ONeills triple. This robbed the contest of all pleasure as the Sacramentos could do but little better than going out in one, two, three order. The fielding on both sides was of a very ordinary character, errors being numerous throughout the game. O'Neill had his usual two and Hill, Daley, Stapleton, Godar and Roberts were each credited with the same number.

Bowmans work was exceptionally clever, having to contend against some very ragged pitching by Harper. Donohne's decisions on balls and strikes were erratic and were decidely unfavorable to the Sacramento team.

SAN FRANCISCO vs. STOCKTON.

SUNDAY, JUNE 8TH, AT STOCKTON.

It was a great game twelve hundred excited Stocktonians witnessed last Sunday. Runs, base hits and errors were scarce and consequently the exhibition was a pretty one. Neither side scored till the fourth inning when Sweeney got his base on balls and Ebrights three baser brought him home. The Stocktons tied the score in the first of the ninth when Selna tallied on his hit and Steal and Vogts single.

Ebright then won the game on his second magnificent three bagger, and Fudgers error. All through the field playing was brilliant.

Both Lookabongh and Kilroy did especially well, being very steady and effective. Ebrights work at short was truly wonderful and his hitting was simply terrific.

PORTLAND vs. SEATTLE.

SATURDAY, JUNE 7TH, AT SEATTLE.

The Seattles took a big lead of four runs in the first inning on two safe hits, a base on balls and some costly misplays by the Portlands. In the fourth inning they added three more to their score, while the Web foot boys were goose-egged till the sixth. In that inning, however, they came to time, nimbly knocking out five runs and scored another in the seventh. This was the last of tho run getting on either side, and the game ended in favor of the Seattles. Borchers started in to pitch, but retired after the first inning in favor of Munday. The score.

PORTLAND vs. SEATTLE.

Sunday, June 8th, at Seattle.

Parrott was batted all over the lot, and this was the principal reason of Portland's overwhelming defeat. On the other hand, Seattle's star twirler, Fitzgerald, was very effective, keeping the bits well scattered, and giving hnt one base on balls. The Seattles scored six runs in the first inning, making seven hits off Parrott. In the second they hit him for four more safe shots, adding two runs to their scores. Then they let np till the ninth, when they slaughtered the elongated pitcher again, getting four more "safeties," including a home run by Camp. Notwithstanding the one-sidedness of the score, the fielding was generally good, and at times brilliant. Levy canght an excellent game, barring two passed balls, and "oldman" Perrier did good work at the initial. Billy Cooney made his re-appearance with the team but had no chances. The score:

The Amateurs.

Games Played by the California Amateur League and the Pacific Coast Amateur Association.

The Santa Rosas have kept up their winning gait and are now very firm in first position. The Fincks by losing two straight have dropped to third place and the Reports are now second. Vallejo lost another game and the Burlingtons having defeated the Allens last Sunday are now tied with the Marines for fourth place. The Allens are at present the tail enders. The record to date:

BURLINGTONS vs. E. T. ALLENS

Sunday, June 8th, at Haight Street.

The "Railroaders" and "Sports" came together last Sunday morning, and although errors were numerous, there was plenty of excitement in the game. Both teams presented a rejuvenated appearance, and a good word must be spoken for the new "finds"—Johnson, Walcott, Mulvey and Kelly. They are all ball players and will certainly do well.

The Burlingtons took a good lead at the start, and kept adding to their score in nearly every inning.

The Allens, although they hit the ball just as hard, were less fortunate in their run getting. In the ninth inning, however, they made matters very uncomfortable for the Burlingtons. With one man out, Geishaker was safe on Dunn's error of his hard grounder; he promptly stole second and scored on Johnson's pretty drive to left. Reilly then hit safely, and both he and Johnson scored on Evatt's beautiful double to right. Buckley took first on another error by Dunn and Stanley's sacrifice scored Evatt. Five runs and only one more needed to tie the score, but they didn't do it. McCarthy was nervous and retired to side on Dunns assist to Fleming. Both pitchers did well, Walcott being as steady as an old timer. Johnson showed some splendid curves, but was nervous in the fore part of the game and gave eight bases on balls. Stanley and Mulvey were in fine form, and handled their pitchers perfectly. Bradley, Evatt, Buckley and Stanley led in hitting. The score:

SANTA ROSA vs. WILL & FINCKS.

Saturday, June 8th, at Santa Rosa.

The "Young Giants" tackled the "leaders" last Sunday and came off second best. It was a game of the most vital importance to the "Giants" because if they won they would be very close on to the Santa Rosas for first place and by losing they relinquished their hold on second, allowing the Reports to supercede them in that position. Both teams fielded beautifully but the Santa Rosas were stronger at the bat and in running bases. Callen was in fine condition and pitched a great game. The Santa Rosas played superbly but one error being made on their side. Howell also pitched well, but the Sonoma boys developed a hitting streak in the fourth and sixth innings and scored five runs. The Finks had been goose-egged until the ninth, when they also did a little timely hitting. Cusick, Strand and Tillson each hit safely and Billings home run drive cleared the bases, making four earned runs. The excitement at this point was intense but the Fincks couldn't score again and so lost one of the hardest games they ever played. The score.

VALLEJOS vs. REPORTS.

Sunday, June 8th, at Vallejo.

The Reports won this game in the eleventh inning. They had a slight lead all through till the ninth when the Marines tied the score. Neither side tallied in the tenth and the excitement was great. In the eleventh the Reports hit out three runs and won the game. The batting of the city boys was very heavy, Thompson and Maguire leading. There was also some clever fielding, Farrell, Monet, Hughes, McGnire, McIntyre, Thompson and Sharp excelling in this department. Baltz pitched his usual steady game striking out eleven of the Reports and Farrell rendered him excellent support. The score:

Amateur Short Hits.

The Burlingtons are doing better.

Jimmy Geishaker had an "off day" last Sunday.

Leveque has not resigned from the Young Giants.

The Vallejos and Burlingtons are now tied for first place.

Gimmel, of the Santa Rosas, leads the amateurs in fielding.

The M. J. Flavins play the San Rafaels Sunday, for $50 a side.

Crackhon of the C. A. Murdochs is said to be a promising twirler.

Stocky Billy Kelly, of the Allens, has the actions of a good ball player.

Twitchell, an old timer, played right field for the Fincks last Sunday.

First base is Hen Stultz's position and he should be kept on that bag.

Dick Nagle has left Marysville, and is now playing first base for Merced.

Extra inning games are quite frequent with the California Amateur League.

The Antiochs defeated the Wilsons of Vallejo last Sunday by a score of nine to eight.

Donovan of the old Greenhoods would be a fine player for some of the amateur teams.

Cusick will play right field for the "Giants" Sunday. Frank Delmas will occupy his old position at first.

Sharp is chasing Gimmel pretty close for fielding honors. The managers of the big league want to keep their eye on this player.

The Rosedales beat the Young Stars last Sunday and Manager Murphy would like to hear from the Shamrocks.—Address 411 Clementina St.

In Johnson, the Allens have another good pitcher. It is true he is not as speedy as McDonald, but his curves are just as deceiving, and he possesses a cool head when men are on bases.

The Vallejos are just now without a manager, Campbell having resigned. It is said that Broderick and Hughes are without engagements, the team being unable to keep paying them salaries.

In the Amateur League there are several players who have been often seen wearing professional uniforms. They are Buckley, Baltz, Cusick, Williams, Thompson, Monet, Stanley, Lewis and Evatt.

The Fultons will hereafter be known as the M. J. Flavins. The team is open to challenges from any club in the State and communications may be address to F. A. Griffing Manager, 928 Market St.

Young Mulvey, the Burlington's new catcher, is a "clinker." He has a neat style in catching, and throws strongly to bases. With a little more experience with his pitcher, he will be reckoned one of the best back-stops in the league.

Genial Jim Cusick played a great game at first last Sunday for the "Young Giants". He filled Delmas' position to perfection accepting twelve difficult chances. His hitting was also a feature. In the first inning Jim led off with a hit—the only one secured by the team till the ninth, when he came first to hat again and started the ball rolling with another safe shot.

The standing of the teams of the Pacific Amateur League as computed by scorer Knowles, is:

	Won	Lost	Play'd	Per ct
E. & O. E	3	2	5	.600
Reliance	3	2	5	.600
U. C.	2	3	5	.400
A. N. A. C	1	2	3	.333

Frank S. Sheridan is now the acting manager of the Burlington team, Gage being unable to attend to the duties on account of other business.

The local amateurs complain that the scorers in the interior towns are continually giving the visiting teams the "worst of it." A prominent amateur said the other day "We can't expect a square deal" from the scorers up country, having never received any thing like a fair show yet. They seem only too willing to give us an error on the slightest pretext and never considerer the adverse circumstances under which some plays are attempted. Then we are often robbed of base hits, sacrifices, base steals and accepted chances, while the home teams always get full credit for every thing they do and a great deal they don't do."

If Loughran could be induced to play again in the Amateur League what an excellent addition he would be to Warrens "Young Giants." They need a change pitcher to relieve Howell and Frank could fill the hill to the Queen's taste. His fielding is of the Roberts style and it is douhtful if any amateur on the coast can touch him. His batting lately is said to be of a very high order also.

No game was played by the Pacific Amateur League last Saturday, the E & O E's being without a full nine. Umpire Van Court declared the game forfeited to the Reliance team score 9 to 0.

Next Saturday the schedule will be completed, the competing teams to be the Reliance and Anglo-Nevadas. Murphy will pitch for the Reliance team and either Downey or Rosborough will catch, Clements arm being in poor condition.

The statement published in last Saturday's issue of the Breeder and Sportsman that Dave Creamer, the well known second baseman, had been released from the E. T. Allens, did not create much of a surprise. For some time it has been whispered and rumored in private circles, especially among the members of the Racquet Club, that since Dave quit playing with the Stockton team, he has fallen desperately in love with a charming young lady residing near the classic precincts of Seventh and Bryant streets, and, as a result, has neglected ball playing for more congenial amusement. He has also secured a good position with a wholesale cigar firm, and is saving his money with an eye to the future. When questioned as to whether he personally intends to solve that all absorbing question, "Is marriage a failure?" Dave becomes very conservative, and prefers to talk on the success of Tom Powers in Baltimore, but before you leave him he generally finds opportunity to innocently inquire, "How much do you think it would cost to furnish a house of about five rooms?"

The Allens are now in great shape to do some tall ball playing, and they must be counted as "very much in the race", even though they are at the "bottom of the heap" just at present. Manager Keller has been indefatigable in his efforts to have a winning nine, and it must be admitted that his team has played in very "hard luck." But with his new timber we expect to see a big change in the team's playing, and would not be at all surprised to find the "Sports" holding at least second or third place when the season closes. The pitching department is very strong now and by giving both McDonald and Johnson plenty of practice, their only defect—wildness, will be overcome. Stanley is the "star" back stop of the league, and his throwing to bases is a feature of every game he plays in. The infield is somewhat different from the way we stated it last week, and the present arrangement is undoubtedly the best that could be conceived. Lewis is physically fitted to be a fine first baseman, having a long reach and being a sure catcher of hard thrown balls. Tom Buckleys abilities are too well known to need any extended mention in these columns, and Evatt is better placed at third than on first, being lively in pickups and a strong accurate thrower. Josh Reilly is in his element at short, or more properly speaking, all over the field, for we have never seen in any amateur team a harder worker; one who never loses sight of the ball and who is always on the alert backing basemen, than this rising young player. The out field also shows increased strength; McCarthy, Geishaker and Kelly being able to care for everything coming their way. As a hitting team, the Allens ought from this on do some powerful work, for Buckley, Evatt, Lewis, Reilly, Stanley and Kelly are clever, hard strikers. With judicious coaching and good captaining the team ought to push its way rapidly to the front.

ATHLETICS.

Athletic Sports and Other Pastimes.

EDITED BY ARPHIPPUS,

SUMMARY.

The great athletic event of 1890 is passed and a general quietness now prevails in amateur athletic circles. The new Olympic grounds will in a way help to keep up the interest in atbletics, but it is very probable that the majority of the crack amateurs will go out of training, now that they have ended tbeir duty of representing their clubs at the annual championship meeting. There is a great boom in cycling, but a general dullness prevails in tbe aquatic world.

IN THE SURF.

There is an increased attendance at the different surf baths along the coast. At Santa Cruz, Capitola and Monterey especially the number of batbers for this time of the year is nnnsually large. Quite a nnmber of our local society ladies who are summering at Santa Cruz swim to tbe rafts daily, and their daring feats in the ocean, never fail to excite admiration from the spectators on shore.

Tbe Terrace Baths at Alameda were packed on Sunday. It was the best day of the season so far. The Pacific Club boys were out in full force as usual, and some of tbeir exhibitions gained considerable applause.

Tbe members of the Lurline Club took the customary practice spins on Sunday, and are getting into trim for tbe swimming and diving contests which will shortly take place under the auspices of their club. Their club house is admirably situated and the athletes can get up a sweat in the gymnasium and afterwards take a plunge in the open sea.

The Olympic Club will probably in tbe course of time follow the examples of some of the leading Eastern Amateur Clubs by building a boating and bathing establisbment for the use of its members. There are several fine oarsmen and swimmers amongst tbe members of the O. A C. and snch an addition would most unquestionably prove a great boom.

A sad accident happened at the Terrace Batbs, Alameda, on Sunday afternoon last. A young man from Stockton was in bathing in the surf and not being acquainted witb the depths of the water, he essayed to dive head foremost from a height of ten feet into eighteen inches of water. The result of his mistake was an injured spine and several bad bruises. The Doctors who attended him were of the opinion tbat he could not recover. During the past couple of years similar acoidents have occurred at both houses in this city resulting fatally in some instances. Bathers have been cautioned time and time again about the folly of diving into water without having first ascertained its depth. We hope Sundays unfortunate accident will influence bathers to be more cautious in future.

CLUB JOTTINGS.

The University athletes are much disheartened over their late defeat by the Olympic Club. Had the students trained as faithfully as the Olympic boys the result would have been more even. It is exceedingly doubtful if the Berkeley men will ever make as good a fight again for the championship pennant, for, while tbeir team may remain just as it is the O. A. C. team will continue to grow larger and stronger so that by next Decoration Day several more men like Schifferstein, Jarvis, Purcell, Casady, Cooley and Scott are likely to wear tbe flying O on their shirts.

Lieutenant Donnelly of the O. A. C. has called a cross country run for Snnday June 22. The rendezvous will probably be Sausalito. It is expected that a large nnmber of novices will make their debut and that this will be the most successful run of the year so far

The cross country run of the Lurline Club which was to bave taken place last Snnday has been indefinitely postpoued.

The Acme and Alameda Olympic Clubs propose to hold several cross country runs during the seasou. All associate clubs of the P. C. A. A. A. will be invited to attend.

Captain John D. Garrison, of the Alpine Club, has called a run for to-morrow from Jackson's Villa, Sausalito. The run will be to Blythedale and return, a distance of about ten miles. Members are requested to take the 10 A. M. Sausalito boat from this side.

RULE XVII.

THE COURSE.

Each competitor shall keep in his respective position from start to finish in all races on straightaway tracks, and in all races on tracks with one or more turns he shall not cross to the inner edge of tbe track, except when he is at least six feet in advance of his nearest competitor.

The Referee shall disqnalify from tbat event any competitor who wilfully pushes against, impedes, crosses the course of, or in any way interferes with another competitor.

Tbe Referee shall disqualify from further participation in the games any contestant competing to lose, to coach, or in any way impede the chances of another competitor, either in a trial or final contest.

RULE XVIII.

FINISH.

Tbe finish of the course shall be represented by a line between two finishing posts, drawn across and at right angles to the sides of tbe track, and three feet above which line shall be placed a tape, attached at either end to the finishing posts.

The tape is to be considered the finishing line for the winner, but the order of finishing across the track line shall determine the positions of the other competitors.

A finish shall be counted when any part of the contestant's body, except his hands or arms, shall touch the tape at the finish line.

RULE XIX.

HURDLES.

Different heights, distances and number of hurdles may be selected for hurdle races.

In the 120-yard hurdle race, ten hurdles shall be used, each hurdle to be three feet six inches high. They shall be placed ten yards apart, with the first hurdle fifteen yards distant from the starting mark, and the last hurdle fifteen yards before the finishing line. In the 220-yard hurdle race, ten hurdles shall be used, each hurdle to be two feet six inches high. They shall be placed twenty yards apart, with the first hurdle twenty yards distant from the starting mark and the last hurdle twenty yards before the finishing line.

In hurdle races of other distances and with different numbers of hurdles, the hurdles shall be placed at equal intervals, with the same space between the first hurdle and the starting point and the last hurdle and the finishing line as between each of the hurdles.

In making a record it shall be necessary for the competitor to jump over every hurdle in its proper position.

RULE XX.

JUMPING.

SECTION 1. All jumping shall be made without any assisting devices.

A fair jump shall be one that is made without the assistance of weights, diving, somersets, or handsprings of any kind.

In all handicap jumps the scratch man shall be entitled to try last.

SEC. 2. The Running High Jump.—The Field Judges shall decide the height, at which the jump shall commence, and shall regulate the succeeding elevations.

Each competitor shall be allowed three trial jumps at each height, and if on the third trial he shall fail he shall be declared out of the competition.

Competitors shall jump in order as placed in the programme; then those failing, if any, shall have their second jump trial in like order; after which those having failed twice shall make their third trial jump.

The jump shall be made over a bar resting on pins, projecting not more than three inches from the uprights, and when this bar is removed from its place it shall be counted as a trial jump.

Running under the bar in making an attempt to jump shall be counted as a "balk," and three successive "balks" shall be counted as a trial jump.

The distance of the run before the jump shall be unlimited.

A competitor may decline to jump at any height in his turn, and by so doing forfeits his right to again jump at the height he declined.

SEC. 3. The Standing High Jump.—The feet of the competitor may be placed in any position, but shall leave the ground only once in making an attempt to jump. When the feet are lifted from tbe ground twice, or two springs are made in making the attempt, it shall count as a trial jump without result.

Witb this exception the rules governing the high jump shall also govern the standing high jump.

SEC. 4. The Running Broad Jump.—When jumped on earth, a joist five inches wide shall be sunk flush with the earth. The outer edge of the joist shall be called the scratch line, and the measurement of all jumps shall be made from it at right angles to the nearest break in the ground made by any part of the person of the competitor.

In front of the scratch line the ground shall be removed to the depth of three and the width of twelve inches ontward.

A foul jump shall he one where the competitor, in jumping off the scratch line, makes a mark on the ground immediately in front of it, and shall count as a trial jump without result.

Each competitor shall have three trial jumps, and the best three shall each have three more trial jumps.

Tbe competition shall be decided by the best of all the trial jumps of the competitors.

Tbe distance of the run before the scratch lines shall be unlimited.

Sec. 5 The Pole Vault.—Poles shall be furnished by the club giving the games, but contestants may use their private poles if they so desire, in which case the other contestants shall also be allowed to use them if they wish. The poles shall be unlimited as to size and weight, but shall have no assisting devices excepting one prong at the end.

The rules governing the running high jump shall also govern the pole vault for hight, and the rules governing the running broad jump shall also govern the pole vault for distance.

Sec. 6. The Standing Broad Jump.—The feet of the competitor may be placed in any position, but shall leave the ground only once in making an attempt to jump. When the feet are lifted from the ground twice, or two springs are made in making the attempt, it shall count as a trial jump without result.

In all other respects the rule governing the running broad jumps shall also govern the standing broad jump.

Sec. 7. The Three Standing Broad Jumps.—The feet of the competitor shall leave tbe ground only once in making an attempt for each of the three jumps, and no stoppage between jumps shall be allowed.

In all other respects the rules governing the standing broad jump shall also govern the three standing broad jumps.

Sec. 8. Running, Hop, Step and Jump.—The competitor shall first land upon the same foot with which he shall have taken off: The reverse foot shall be used for the second landing, and both feet shall be used for the third landing.

In all other respects the rules governing the running broad jump shall also govern the running hop, step and jump.

RULE XXI.

PUTTING THE SHOT.

The shot shall be a solid sphere, made of metal, of the requisite weight.

It shall be put with one hand, and in making the attempt it shall be above and not behind the shoulder.

The competitor shall stand in a circle seven feet in diameter, on four feet of the circumference of which shall be placed a board four inches high, at which the competitor must stand when the shot leaves his hand.

A fair put shall be one in which no part of the person of the competitor shall touch in front of the circle or on the board in making the attempt.

A put shall be counted as foul if the competitor steps over the front half of the circle or on the board before the measurement of his put is made.

Foul puts and letting go the shot in making an attempt shall he counted as trial puts without result.

The measurement of all puts shall be made from the nearest mark made by the shot to a point on the circumference of tbe circle, on a line with the object mark and the center of the circle.

A board similar to the one in front may also be used at the back of the circle. Tbe order of competing and number of trials shall be the same as for the running broad jump. Shots shall be furnished by the club giving the games. Any contestant may use his private shot if correct in weight and shape, in which case the other contestants must also he allowed to use it if they wish.

AT THE OARS.

The coming regatta will hardly be as successful as expected. Somehow or other the oarsmen do not seem inclined to settle down to hard work, and in consequence, no brilliant performances may be looked forward to. We do not understand the dullness which at present prevails in rowing circles, unless it be tbat people are losing interest in aquatic sports. Tbe bay of San Francisco contains some of the finest courses in the United States, and it is a great pity that rowing is not more extensively practiced and fostered.

The annual single scull race at Victoria, B. C., was rewed on May 30th for $30 and a cup presented by R. C. Davis. William Cotsford, C. Bush and J. Seely entered. Cotsford and Bush got away together, Seely following close after them, but falling behind at every stroke. After the first half mile Cotsford showed his friends that he had not forgotten his old-time business and he pulled a good race, being about five lengths ahead of Bush when he showed up. Bush came in second, Seely having no place in the race.

Owing to the low tide on Sunday the South End men were unable to launch their boats and very few crews were out.

J. B. Barber has challenged Joseph S. Nyland, of the Ariel Club, for a three-mile race with a turn, over a course near Tiburon, for a purse of $250.

The Columbia Rowing Club of Oakland is considering the advisability of sending a crew to compete for the Amateur championship at the Victoria (B. C.) regatta, which will be held on Dominion Day, July 1st.

The Lurline canoe fleet and several shells were out on Sunday. The Lurline boys are hard workers, and will make a good showing before the close of the season.

THE WHEELMEN.

The following notice has been issued to all California L. A. W. members:

SAN JOSE, Cal., June 6, 1890.

DEAR SIR: If you will attend the 5th annual meet of the Cal. Division L. A. W. at San Jose, please notify the committee at once whom you wish to invite to the Division party, to be held on Saturday evening, July 5th, at the Hotel Vendome. The hotel will accommodate but a limited number, and we shall give every visiting member an opportunity to invite a few friends. Fraternally yours,

O. GRANICHER.

Tbe following is a complete list of the wheelmen who rode all the way to Hollister on June 1st: W. M. Meeker, in charge of the run—A M Thompson, George P Wetmore, F R Cook, T. L. Hill, E C Landis, F W Ray, A E McKinney, J L Miller, J F C Holroyd, C Elmer, G A Morrill, T E Bullevant, G Sbeller, H A Pogne, W I Gilmour, T W Gilmour, C H Bliss, E S Broadwater, R Fairhanks, W W Needham, G L Kessling, J A Delmas, H Smith, J Smith, F Larder, A Rivett, E D Woodman, O Granicher, Y D Hensiel, A A Deesing, W R Lipsett, R R Martin, L G Hodgkins, A E J Nye, H C Hyde, E C Tole, H W Spaulding, L A Connoy, W G Watchers, F A Leadbettle, J A McNamara, C Lapson, J B Lamb, C N Langton, S Lubin, C W Hammer, Sanford Plummer, A D Allen, J G Cox, W E Thompson, T H Doane, T Stevenson, H F Wyne, L S Stewart, F A McGrew, R A Smyth. Of the wheels ridden, forty-three were "ordinary" and ten were safeties.

The San Jose wheelmen are making great preparations for the coming two day's meet. They will do all in their power to make things pleasant and comfortable for the visiting riders, and are sparing no pains to have the new four-lap track in good order and suitable for record breaking. The local wheelmen have been training faithfully for some weeks past and a good many of the existing coast records will probably go under on July 4 and 5.

PROFESSIONAL SPRINTING.

A moderate crowd of people, many of whom were ladies, was present at Central Park on Sunday afternoon to witness the third Sheffield Handicap. Although a good many well known sprinters were entered the betting was tame.

Captain Jordan of the Olympic Club and several other delegates of the P. C. A. A. A. were noticed amongst the audience, and any amateur who took part in the heats will be summarily dealt with should he attempt to hoodwink any of the amateur clubs in future by posing as an amateur.

The following is a summary of tbe heats. 135 yard run

1st heat, E. Tiers, 13 yards, 1st. Time 14 1-5 seconds, W. Little, 17 yards, 2nd.

2nd heat; A. D. Leighton, 24 yards, 1st. Time, 13 2-5. J. P. Hangbn, 13 yards, 2nd.

3d heat: J, F. Heenan, 21½ yards, 1st. Time, 14 secs. B. B. Thomas, 21 yards, 2nd.

4th heat: L. A. Clinton, 21 yards, 1st. Time, 13 4-5 secs. W. A. Hendrick, 26 yards, 2nd.

5th heat: C. Morrow, 12 yards, 1st. Time, 13 1-5 secs. C. A. Eldridge, 19 yards, 2nd.

6th heat: B Campbell, 19½ yards, 1st. Time, 13 2-5 secs. T. J. Riley, 19 yards, 2nd.

7th heat; Tom Kendal, 18½ yards, 1st. Time, 14 secs. G. Bartels, 21 yards, 2nd.

8th heat: H. M. Johnson, 8½ yards, 1st. Time, 13 secs. W. J. Farmer, 16 yards, 2nd.

1st Final heat; Kendal 1st. Time, 13 1-5 secs. Tiers, 2nd.

2nd Final heat: Clinton 1st. Time 12 2-5 secs. Campbell, 2nd.

The concluding heat was won by Clinton; Campbell, 2nd, Tiers, 3rd.

Tbe purse of $100 was distibuted proportionately to the first three.

The officers of the day were. Official Handicapper, Jos. Acton; Judge, Billy Jordan; Timekeeper, Ed. Eratt.

The next Sheffield handicap will take place on July 4th, when $250 will be given to the winners.

RUNNERS, WALKERS, JUMPERS, ETC.

In consequence of the Little trouble, P. N. Gafney of the Alpine Amateur Athletic Club has declined to serve another term as delegate to the P. C. A. A. A. Owing to business matters, Mr. Gafney has been unable to accept any office in his club for the next term.

George W. Jordan of the O. A. C. has also resigned as a delegate, and will be succeeded by James H. Gilhuly. Mr. Jordan states that his reason for resigning is because some of the other clubs' delegates opposed his action in barring Little of the Alpine Club from the championship games.

Commencing at 2 P. M. on July 4th, the Olympic Athletic Club will hold a handicap meeting at its new grounds. The following programme has been decided upon,

1. 100-yard, handicap (open).
2. 220-yards, Hammersmith medal (open).
3. 1 mile walk, handicap (open).
4. Running broad jump (club) handicap.
5. 1,000-yard run handicap (club).
6. 2-mile run, handicap (open).
7. 100-yard partnership race (club).
8. 300-yard handicap (club).

Entries will close at 8 P. M. June 28th, at the Olympic club rooms.

The club events are open to members of the Olympic Club only. Tbe open events are open to members of clubs belonging to the P. C. A. A. A.

The Directors of the Alpine Club have decided to postpone tbe boxing tournament until next month. A fine exhibition however, will be given towards the end of June. Next month the prizes won at the late Field Day will be distributed to the winners.

TURF AND TRACK.

W. H. McCarthy does not work the Brookdale horses on Sundays.

Belle Hamlin 2:12¾ is receiving a special preparation for a fashionable record.

Addie Bell 2:22½ has been sent to Ewell Farm to be bred to Brown Hal 2:12½.

The dam of Maud Messenger 2:16¼ has been bred to Lord Wilkee by Guy Wilkes.

The colored ring are said to have scooped in a big pile on Sinoloa II last week.

James Stinson of Chicago has bought from Samuel Fleming two sisters of M'lise 2:21.

Daisy D. has returned to Fresno, having been stinted to Cheviot since the Sacramento races.

Bow Bells has so far recovered that he will be taken through the Southern Circuit by Thomas.

Brown Hal is said to be moving quarters at an amazing gait, and Johnston's record is said to be in danger.

An offer of $10,000 for Miss Alice 2:20½ by Alcantara, dam Thorndale Maid was refused and $15,000 asked.

Sunol is the pride of Terre Haute. Never a stage nor professional beauty's photograph sold as hers has in the last few weeks.

Proctor Knott picked up a nail last week, which necessitated a let up in his work for a few days, or he would have been out ere this.

Bruce Cockrill says that the yearling colt, (half brother to Capt. Al) by Ironclad out of Black Maria, is the most racy looking colt he has ever seen.

George Land has sold for $1,200 to R. S. Strader, Lexington, Kentucky, the three-year-old blk. c. Anglan Boy, by Wilkes Boy-Lady West, by Allie West.

A. L. Whitney's two year old filly 'Anna Bell' by Dawn dam by Hubbard beat her solitary opponent in the two year old stake at Sacremento in 2.53 and 3.01.

Tycoon, who was purchased by L. J. Rose from J. Hill, will probably be seen on the circuit again this year instead of being sent east as was at first intended.

The Willows Agricultural Association is building a number of new stalls on the race course to accomodate the many racing men who participate in their annual races.

Jess Armstrong (the horse who broke his leg at St. Louis) had to be killed. His leg was amputated, but afterwards it was decided to kill him as he was in such misery.

Mr. C. C. Seaman of San Diego, the former owner of Bell Boy, has a gold mounted tooth of the unfortunate horse, the only substantial portion of him remaining after his death.

The Kentucky Stock Farm had as a frontis-piece last week a group of free-for-all pacers; Johnston in the center, and heads of Budd Doble, Roy Wilkes, Lillian and Ed Annan.

Kelseyville is rapidly coming into favor among the trotting talent in Lake County. Corcoran is there with a string of five; Hiram Tracy has two, and C. S. Piner is working four.

The Owens brothers are working Capt. Al, Mero, 2—Wildidle—Precious and several youngsters on their track near Fresno. Daisy D. will be put in training for the fall races.

The State of Maine values the horses within her lines at over $10,000,000, without putting on any fancy values. Such being the case, this industry alone is of much value to the State.

The purest gaited and most promising youngster under Bither's care at the Allen Farm is Experta, a two year sister to Express 2:21 by Electioneer out of Esther a thoroughbred mare.

Ella Hopkins, the dam of Geneva S. 2:19¼, Quinine S 2:28½ and Mattie H 2:24½, was bred to a jack for two seasons and had that valuable animal been living she would probably having been raising mules yet.

Fides, the winner of the Toboggan Slide, is exceptionally highly bred, by imported Ill Used out of imported Filagree by Stockwell, out of Extasy by Touchstone, thus having a double Stockwell strain.

J. H. Goldsmith made a good start at Dundee Park last week winning the three minute class with Dawson in straight heats 2:31½, 2:26½, 2:28¾, and the 2:20 with (Mr. Valensin's) Simmocolon 2:25½, 2:24¼ 2:23¼.

John Splan now has about twenty five head of trotters and pacers in training at Cleveland. Among the string is Charley Friel 2:15¼. Jas. McLaughlin, a son of Red Bill McLaughlin is Splan's understudy.

Trailleur, who after Corunna, is the boss New Zealand three year old this year is called "Tra-la-la" by the stable boys. A New Zealand jockey loves French names as much as the gaily dressed bookmaker does.

We have had exceptionally flattering accounts of Lucy Abbott, who obtained a record of 2:26½ at Denver. Pete Brandow's erstwhile pet is now the Du Bois brothers' pride, and a mark below 20 is confidently expected.

Mr. McMillan has made an offer to trot Governor Stanford 2.23¾, by Electioneer, out of Barnes by Whipple's Hambletonian against Mr. Hamlin's Chimes by Electioneer out of Beautiful Bells for $1,000 or $5,000 a side.

Palo Alto will have a useful stable for the fall, despite their many sales. Peel is doing fair work and is expected to stand up, while Faustine, Muta and several of the youngsters will be in good trim when required.

Sir William the three year old son of Sir Modred and Vesper, who ran so well in Australia this season over all distances is sire of about fifteen foals, having been turned loose with a band of mares prior to being put into training.

W. H. Wilson Cynthiana has purchased Colon, the dam of Simmocolon, and Patchmore, by Strathmore, from Mrs. A. P. Dills, Hopkinsville, Ky. Colon is in foal to Simmone. Mr. Wilson also bought a yearling by Gordon 3127 out of Colon.

A. Smith McCann of Lexington has sold to Schmulbach & Park of Wheeling, West Va., for $4,500, two yearling fillies by Red Wilkes, dams by Star Almont, and the two year old bay filly Lady McGregor, by Red Wilkes, dam by Robert McGregor.

Soprano, by Strathmore, 408, dam Abbeee, by Albion, was foaled in 1875, and she is the youngest broodmare that has three representatives in the 2:30 list. She is the dam of C. F. Clay, 2:18; Eminence. 2:18¾, and Strathbridge, 2:28½, all by different horses.

Prince Royal, carrying 116 lbs. last Wednesday at Westchester, ran one and one-sixteenth miles in 1:46½, the last mile in 1:40, beating all previous records by three-quarters of a second. Evidently the Prince has a good chance for the Suburban yet.

Horses run in all shapes. Trailleur, the New Zealand crack race horse is said to be a slab-sided, three-cornered kind of a horse, while Tenny, Dave Pulsifer's pet, would not be taken as a model by a sculptor, mais n'importe, they race in all shapes.

The Valentine Ranch near Pleasanton, which was purchased a few weeks ago for Senator Hearst, will be used principally for training purposes, a mile track will soon be built and the youngsters from the San Simeon and Cambria ranchoe will be sent up as soon as they are broken.

Messrs. W. R. Hearst and J. Follansbee have gone to their ranch in Chihuahua, Mexico. Mr. Follansbee will put in training there Lovelace 3 by Kyrle Daly out of My Love and Kingmaker by Warwick out of Sister to Jim Douglass, and if they show up well will bring them here for the fall meeting of the Blood Horse.

T. H. Williams Jr. last week purchased from Palo Alto Stock Farm the two-year-old Rinfax by Argyle, out of imp. Amelia. Rinfax won a sweepstake for two-year-olds at San Jose. and the Matadero Stakes at Sacramento. He will join the Undine stable, which is at present at Washington Park, Chicago.

W. M. Murry started out in winning form on the opening day last Tuesday at Kansas City. Lord of the Harem, Wildidle—Frolic ran a good second for the Derby, while Parapet Bulwark—Nelly Brady won a five furlong for two year olds and Kiro .3. Hooker—by Foster easily accounted for the six furlong and repeat.

The often quoted veteran racing reformer, Admiral Rous —than whom there was no firmer believer in the progress of the thoroughbred, wrote: "The form of Flying Childers might win a £30 plate. winner to be sold for £40: Highflyer and Eclipse might pull through in a £50 plate, winner to be sold for £200.

Representatives of the Willows, Red Bluff, Chico and Marysville district faire held a meeting in Marysville last Monday and formed a circuit commencing at Willows August 12th–16th, thence to Red Bluff, 19th–25th and Chico, 26th–30th, winding up with Marysville Sept. 2nd to 6th. Upwards of $20,000 will be offered in purse and stakes.

Andy McDowell left Pleasanton last Wednesday with Direct, 2:18¼, Margaret S., 2:19¼, Cricket and Katy S. for the Eastern campaign. All of them have been showing great form in their work this season, and great things are expected from them. T. H. Williams sent his recent purchase, Rinfax, in the same car; he will be turned over at Chicago to McCormick.

W. J. Gordon has found a mate for the great Guy, as far as matching in regard to color, size and appearance. The two sons of Kentucky Prince are so much alike that half the people seeing them hitched double for the first time were unable to tell which was Guy and which was Prince Hogarth. Mr. Gordon made his purchase at the recent Fasig sale, and paid $2,150 for the Prince.

Among the purchasers at the Dixiana sale were Messrs. Haggin, Rose and Daly. Marcus Daly paid $4100 for a colt by Alarm out of Adonia and $650 for a colt by Alarm out of Queechy. J. B. Haggin paid $1,500 for the Himyar—Hearsay filly, $1,500 for a colt by Alarm—Hazlem and $1,400 for two others. L. J. Rose gave $650 for a Himyar filly. The 29 head sold for $32,575.

Bravo, the winner of the last Melbourne Cup, has been purchased by Mr. Southall for Messrs. Apcar & Gasper, two prominent Indian turfites. Thirteen hundred guineas was the price paid for Grand Flaneur's son, and, as Mr. Cripps, who purchased him under the hammer last November, only gave 975 guineas for him, he has cleared about 30 per cent. on his five months' investment.

In the House of Commons on May 15th, Mr. Matthews, in answer to Mr. Samuel Smith, said, that every telegram with respect to betting, was not illegal, but only those inviting bets, or advertising special information or advice, with a view to betting. Mr. Matthews said there would be a great difficulty in having such a complete examination of all telegrams as would be necessary to detect those contravening the act.

The English horse Trappist—in his day one of the crack sprinters, has joined the majority. He was by the recently defunct Hermit out of Bunch, by Muscovite out of Diomedia, and when in the zenith of his racing career was the property of Captain Prime, for whom he won the Stewards' Cup at Goodwood in 1875. The best of his produce is probably L'Abbesse de Jouarre, last year's Oaks victress. He was latterly owned by the Duke of Hamilton.

Australians follow the old English plan in dealing with Welshers, an exchange says: A disturbance occurred on the centre of the course at Randwick shortly after the race for the Sydney Cup. One of the speculative gentry, who had evidently overlaid Carbine in his book, was about to make an unostentatious exit from the course, but his victims intercepted him, and treated him to such rough usage that when he escaped his clothing presented a scene of wreckage rarely witnessed on a racecourse.

Jimmie McLaughlin's little nine year old son is already quite a horseman. He exercises a few of the Lorillard string every morning, and it is said that he sits his saddle like a veteran. In face and figure he is remarkably like his father.

"Lucky" Baldwin is as lucky on the turf as in dealings with mining stocks and real estate says a New York daily. He is about five feet nine inches tall, thin and of dark complexion. His hair is gray, and so are his mustache and goatee. He does not bet much. If he has a good thing he will put up $500, and he is nervous and excited all the time until he has won or lost. He places his money himself, and is usually to be found in the betting ring watching the odds of the bookmakers, waiting to get the best of the odds.

Mr. Tom Merry, acting on behalf of Mr. L. J. Rose, has purchased the following thoroughbred mares in Victoria: Catherine's Wheel (full sister to Tantallon), 6 yrs., by Wellington from Phizgig (imported—dam of Suwarrow); Harmony, 5 years, by The Drummer (imported), from Maritana, by New Warrior from Mermaid (grandam of Melos and The Broker); also Spinach, 2 yrs., by Atlantic, from Seakale by Ladykirk, from Sancepan (imported, dam of Haricot, Fryingpan, etc) Catherine's Wheel is in foal to Dunlop, and Harmony and Spinach are to be served by him at once to foal to American time

It is said that Mr. Abington (Baird) has already run through £500,000 in his short and stormy career on the turf. Mr. Abington started out badly, being ruled off for fixing a race—at Derby, I think, in which he rode the winner. In those days he was one of the worst riders among the so-called gentlemen jocks, but he has shown great improvement in style, seat and finish since his return to the turf, and is now a fairly good rider. One of his first purchases on his being re-instated was the mare Busybody for 8,800 guineas at the Falmouth sale in the spring of 1884 in which year she won the One Thousand and Oaks before breaking down.

The S. S Alameda which arrived from Australia had on board six mares purchased for Mr. L. J. Rose by T. B. Merry, and a two year old colt. Seven mares were shipped, but one, a full sister to the renowned Sheet Anchor, died en route. The six which arrived were all very healthy but in poor condition evidently having been shipped lean and seem very weedy specimens to be by such horses as Darebin, Musket and The Drummer. What their dams were I could not find out as Mr. Merry's men knew next to nothing about them. Mr. Merry will come on the next trip with the other eight mares which are being bred.

The following horses have recently been purchased in Montana for Senator Fair's breeding farm, close to Knight's landing, near Sacramento: Fanny McGregor, chestnut filly, by Robert McGregor, dam Fanny Patchen by Mambrino Patchen; Hattie H., bay filly, by Wyoming Chief, dam Flora Wilkes by George Wilkes; Lizzie H., bay filly, by Wyoming Chief, dam by Dictator, second dam by Fanny Patchen; Annie Kirkwood, chestnut filly, by Satinwood, dam Annie Kirksey; Zettie, bay filly by Wyoming Chief, dam Flora Wilkes by George Wilkes, and Princess Wilkes, black filly, by Ned Wilkes, dam by American Clay.

Although the racing season of 1889-90 will not actually close for over a month, the Hon. J. White has broken all previous records concerning the amount of stakes won, his total being over £20,000. This (writes the Leader) is a substantial increase on the largest sum ever previously won by one owner in a season in Australia, the highest sum in former seasons (all to Mr. White's credit) being £16,728 for 1887-8; £15,027 for 1885-6; £14,496 for 1888-9; and £13,783 for 1887-7. The Hon. D. S. Wallace will again be second on the list of winning owners, having up to date won about £9,400 in stakes. Last year the contest between the two most popular owners in New South Wales and Victoria respectively was much closer, Mr. White winning £14,496, and Mr. Wallace £10,327.

Phaeton, the well known racing correspondent of the Auckland Weekly News, says: "Since the mighty deeds of Carbine at the recent A. J. C. Meeting I have heard many arguments as to his height and measurements with those of his sire. In order to settle a dispute on the point, I have looked up the question, and the following is the result:

	Musket.		Carbine.
Height,	16h. 1½ in.	Height,	16h. ¼in.
Girth,	6ft. 1 in.	Girth,	5 ft. 7¼in.
Forearm,	21½ in.	Forearm,	17in.
Below knee,	8¼ in.	Below knee,	7½in.

It should be stated, however, that Musket was measured at sixteen years old, while Carbine's measurement was taken when he was rising four years old."

Muzzles are still used by many trainers, particularly race horse men, whose horses often look as though a good feed would have done them good. Charles Marvin whose career as a trainer and educator of horses is phenomenal says in his book on Training the Trotting Horse, that muzzles are an invention in horsewear that are an unmitigated evil, and if every trainer were of my mind the harness-makers would soon forget how to make them. They will drive their heads to the bottom of the bucket of water, and take chances of breathing through their ears rather than draw back; they will try to swallow three quarts of oats in one gulp, will gorge on all the hay, straw or anything eatable in sight, and even in their sleep will dream of hay-stacks. With such a horse I would far rather regulate his feed carefully, bed him with something he cannot eat, or even tie him up. In a rare case the muzzle might be used on a gluttonous colt, but they are hardly ever necessary, and their use hardly ever excuseable.

Before the racing began at Morrie Park on the 4th, several individuals were to be seen moving about at a lively rate buttonholing every visitor as he arrived at the course. These same individuals talked with horsemen, and in fact everybody at the track whom they could reach. After they had interviewed several hundred people, they retired to one of the cigar stands with the crowd following in the betting ring, and exhibited a petition which stated that the said parties were authorized to represent the undersigned to sue the New York and New Haven Railroad for overcharges of fare, which was paid by said parties last year when 50 cents was paid for excursion tickets to the course. It was claimed that the railroad overcharged its patrons in violation of law, and that the sum, together with damages, would be recovered. When the movements of the lawyers became known to the track officials the sheets were ordered removed from the cigar cases, and the parties warned not to continue to work on their scheme under penalty of ejectment. The whole business created quite some excitement as long as it lasted.

"Some horses, like some men, have greatness thrust upon them," says an exchange, "hnt pacere have always been an exception to this trueism. The side wheeler has always been looked upon as of plebian origin, and any honors enjoyed were dearly earned. Gibson's or Moore's Tom Hal stood the greater part of his life at a fee of $5, and Little Brown Jug was sold for $25. The great Brown Hal, whose present value is almost beyond price, was sold for $50 50, part of the sum being paid in wheat and peas. Wilson's Sam, 15, was at one time kept as a teaser for a jack, and his owner was glad to get $5—for a service when the colt should stand and suck.

So long ago as 1869, the late Lord Derby, in writing of the Turf, suggested that its then deterioration was brought about—"(1) by the premature running of two-year olds; (2) by the multiplication of short races, which enables horses to be brought out oftener, and so affords more frequent opportunities of gambling; and (3) by the great preponderance of handicaps. These last are a necessary evil, hnt their avowed tendency is to place the best and worst horses on an equal footing, and thus to encourage the breed of the latter at least equally with the former." It is not a little curious that after an interval of more than thirty years the Jockey Club should be contemplating a change in the direction Lord Derby hinted at in the second of his reasons for a deterioration, which was then, as it is now, more apparent than real.

Up to the present time there are hut ten great brood mares that have a record of 2:30 or better. They are as follows: Beautiful Bells, 2:29½, dam of four with records from 2:19¼ to 2:24½, Daisy Burns, 2:29¾, dam of two with records of 2:28 and 2:28½; Dixie, 2:30, dam of one, and second dam of one; Lady Franklin, 2:29¾, dam of one, and second dam of one; Mary A. Whitney, 2:28, dam of two with records of 2:22½ and 2:29½; Mollie 2:27, dam of one trotter and one pacer; Pocahontas (pacer) 2:17½, dam of one, second dam of two, and second dam of two speed-producing stallions; Prairie Bird, 2:28½, dam of one, second dam of one, and second dam of one speed-producing stallion; Tackey, 2:26, dam of three from 2:20 to 2:22½, second dam of one (pacer) and second dam of one speed-producing stallion; Lucille Golddust, 2:26¼ dam of two with records of 2:19¼ and 2:20½.

The ten pool room keepers in St. Louis, says the Times-Democrat, were tricked out of a sum estimated between $5,000 and $7,000 by the old wire-tapping scheme. The killing was made by the conspirators on the last race at Latonia. The race wire from Latonia was in trouble after the second race, and there were long delays between the fourth and fifth races The race was the Harold stake for two-year-olds. Palestine was the favorite at 3 to 1, hnt the talent in St. Louis selected Gascon and Allan Bane.

The gang got the winner, Georgetown, who was 8 to 1, and held the race back fifteen minutes. Such a flood of money came in on Georgetown that the rooms all wiped out the race before the message announcing "off" came." The money was paid on Georgetown and the conspirators were later caught dividing the spoils and talking over the trick. They had the winner, Daisy F, in the fourth race, hut as she was an even money shot they could not make much.

Mr. W. G. Craven, referring to racing of thoroughbreds, in an article contributed to a contemporary, seems to doubt whether any benefit would be derived from three-year-olds being trained for long courses. "It must be remembered," he remarks, "that in the old days of long races the horses frequently did not appear in public till four, five and six years of age. Nowadays, two-year-old racing commences in March, when many of the competitors are really not of full age, many having been born in April and May, and there is no clear proof that any harm has come from this system; and certainly the size and quality of our horses have in no way deteriorated, whilst their performances are quite equal to those of their ancestors for the distances over which they are asked to race. Besides which, the system of not running two-year-olds till August exists in France, and twenty years ago people who raised a cry against two-year-old racing prophesied that the French would eventually beat us. Has this come to pass?"

"Ribbleden," the Sydney correspondent of the Australasian, says, speaking of the phenomenal Carbine—"It is a most difficult thing for even the most experienced racing man to tell when Carbine is beaten. He possesses the knack, somehow, of doing exactly what is wanted of him, irrespective of distance, weight, or the quality of his adversaries. The expenditure of his forces is regulated by circumstances. If he were pitted against a hack, he would not try to bring disgrace upon his opponent by finishing the length of a street in front. He would probably win by a head or so; and any hut the most practised eye might be deceived as to the horse's real capabilities. No matter under what disadvantages he runs a race, Carbine gets there all the same. What difficulties were presented in the All-Aged Stakes may be gauged from the fact that men who have been racing all their lives betted hundreds and hundreds of pounds at evens that Carbine would not win when Prelude and Correze swept into the straight with four or five lengths the best of it; hnt the result shows that it is almost impossible for any one to determine when Carbine is beaten. A more honest horse or a more courageous horse was never seen. Mick O'Brien says that the two-year-olds took Carbine off his legs at the start, and never gave him an opportunity of steadying him or of pulling him together."

A Buffalo Commercial representative said to Mr. C. J. Hamlin: "You recently purchased a few thoroughbred mares down in Tennessee to mate with your trotting-bred horses; now, why wouldn't it have been just as wise to have sent some of your trotting-bred mares to be mated to some of the great race horses?" "I maintain," said Mr. Hamlin, "that the sire controls the action more than the dam, because he is stronger. This is true, also in the human family. In nine cases out of ten, children take more after their father than their mother, especially as to gait and disposition." "Would you, a breeder of long experience, advise a young man of limited means to buy a thoroughbred mare to mate with a trotting-bred horse, in hopes of raising a 2:20 nag, in preference to buying an equally good trotting mare?" "No sir. A man with limited means cannot afford to experiment. It is different in the case of Senator Stanford, myself, and perhaps others. If I fail to get good results from my thoroughbred mares from the first cross, I can outcross them again, and get trotting instinct sufficient to overcome the thoroughbred desire to run. Thoroughbred blood, as all know, gives finish and staying qualities. I have been careful in my selection of running mares to secure daughters of thoroughbreds that possessed as much trotting action as possible, so it would be necessary to make but one outcross. Whether I will succeed or not time alone will tell."

The St. Louis Republic of last Saturday says: "Ed Corrigan was the maddest man in town yesterday. He arrived from Latonia yesterday morning with his great 3 year-old, Riley, for the purpose of starting him in the Derby. About 11 o'clock he marched into the Fair Grounds office on Chestnut street, and after a pleasant greeting to Mr. Bruce, who is acting secretary during the meeting, tendered the requisite amount to make Riley a starter in the Derby. When Mr. Bruce informed him that the Jockey Club held a letter from his clerk, in which Riley was ordered declared last April, the big horseman almost dropped to the floor. His face took on several colors and when he had regained control of his voice he demanded that the letter be shown him, which was done. This satisfied him, hnt it did not cool his temper. Had Riley been in the race yesterday he would certainly have made Bill Letcher stretch his neck to have won the juicy plum at the end of the course.

There are several different speculations as to the form the proposals of the Stewards of the Jockey Club will take as to the supposed preponderance of short distance races, says the Sporting Chronicle. One authority says they will be of "a very stringent character, and will place races of a mile and upwards, on a equal footing with those run over a less distance, so that those managers of meetings who have been contributing large sums of money for short distance races will be compelled in future to frame their programme so that at least as much money must be given away for races of a mile and upwards as for shorter ones. It is very likely that considerable hostility will be found to this proposal from a section of the club, but I have no doubt at all that in the end the Stewards will be successful." Another correspondent thinks that the "Stewards of the Jockey Club can be depended upon, however, to introduce reform in a temperate manner, and will surely turn a deaf ear to some of the suggestions that have been advanced. Handicaps or weight-for-age races decided over long courses must remain in the minority, and the principal object that should be held in view is to strike a blow at the present hurry-scurry system." How the reform can be "stringent" and "temperate" at one and the same time remains to be seen.

The inaugural meeting of the Gridley Trotting Association held last week was highly successful. The Gridley Herald says: The attendance was between 1,000 and 1,500. Henry Block Sr., and C. N. Reed were chosen as judges; Wm. Elliott Sr., timer. The first event was a mile heat for $250 a side, between Elliott's Cyclone and Carstenbrook's Wonder. Cyclone was a favorite in the pools, selling at $8 to $5 for Wonder. The result corroborated the pool box, Cyclone winning with ease, in 2:52½. Next on the programme was a two in three contest between Rhoton's Singleton Jr., and Wm. Sligar's Eclipse. This was a surprise for the sports, the mare Eclipse being unknown so far as speed was concerned. She took the first heat in 2:34. Singleton won the second in 2:39. In the third and deciding heat Singleton held the pole until entering the second quarter when the little mare captured that position and "dusted" him all the way around, winning the heat and race in the remarkably good time of 2:32½. H. Block's Crazy Jane, J. G. Lewis' John G. and F. C. Hsack's Lightning Stricker then entered into a two in three contest; purse, $350. Lightning Striker won the first two heats and race. Time, 2:56¼ and 2:41¼. The sports lost heavily on this race, Crazy Jane being the favorite at odds of 3 to 1 on. W. S. Harkey's Belle and Lightning Striker trotted a single mile for a purse of $250, the latter winning in 2:32¾. John G. and Crazy Jane trotted a mile for $100 a side, owners driving. It was a dead heat. Time, 2:43. The match was declared off.

A meeting was held in Susanville, Lassen County, at which the following resolutions were passed.

"It is proposed to hold a County Fair at the Fair Grounds near Susanville in the month of September or October, 1890, and, if a sufficient sum of money shall be subscribed, it can be made a great success.

"The program, as understood, is to make it strictly a County Fair! No purses or premiums will be given for exhibits from any other locality, or for horses, except those which have been owned and kept within Lassen County for at least six months before the first day of the Fair.

"By this method all money subscribed for the Fair will be distributed among farmers and stock-raisers of the county, and the main objection raised against the District Fair be obviated.

"It will be strictly a Farmers' and Stock-raisers' Fair, as all the money subscribed will be given in premiums and purses for Lassen County products and stock.

"We therefore expect that farmers and stock-raisers will contribute liberally toward the exhibition of our products and advertisement of our county. This is a prosperous season, and it is a great opportunity to show what Lassen county can produce.

"We cannot be loser, for all the money subscribed will be kept at home.

"Let us all put together, and have a grand exhibition."

Evidently Lassen Co. believes in protection, in fact is a good old Tory county.

A prominent English sporting journal says that next to the champion horse of the century (Ormonde). Petrarch was most probably the highest priced animal that ever changed hands. (Petrarch was, I think, the handsomest horse I ever saw.—Ed. T. T.) With Petrarch having won the Middle Park Plate, beating all the best horses in training, and seeming to have stakes to the value of £25,000—including the Guineas, Derby, Grand Prize, St. Leger, and Prince of Wales' Stakes—at his mercy, it is no wonder that he was worth a lot of money. The "cash down" paid by Lord Dupplin was the extremely moderate sum of £11,000, hut, in addition to this, Mr. Gosden, who bred and owned the horse, was to receive one-fourth of such races as the horse might win in which, at the time of the sale, he was engaged. Mr. Gosden, not forgetting his jockey, seemed for Goster in the agreement £200 in case the horse won the Two Thousand, and £300 for the Derby. Goater did very well by this, as, though Luke rode him when he won the Two Thousand, the £200 was paid all the same, and Lord Dupplin, who was no niggard, gave him £500 when he won the St. Leger. The races Petrarch won under the agreement were: The Two Thousand Guineas, value £4,100; the Prince of Wales' Stakes, value £2,750, and the St. Leger, value, £4,850. This gives a total of £11,700. One-fourth of the above amount represents £2,925, which, added to the £11 000, paid in the first instance, gives a total of £13,925, or £75 less than the Duke of Westminster is reported to have paid for Donoaster. Taking into consideration the £200, however, to which Goater became entitled under the conditions, the purchase money was increased to £14,125—the largest sum that has ever been paid, with the exception of the big sum that is said to have been given for Ormonde.

Judge Morton of the Circuit Court on June 5th appointed E. A. Tipton receiver for the trotting stallion Red Wilkes. He is owned jointly by Miss Nannie Smith and W. C. France. The latter has kept him at his place for more than three years, and Miss Smith brought suit for a receiver, claiming that the books were not kept right, and that the horse's fees should be raised to $500. In granting the receiver the court ordered that the horse should remain at France's farm, hut that the receiver should have entire control of him.

The Sporting World speaking of the Tenny race says: While the big handicap was being run, Col. Pulsifer sat up in the grand stand serenely smoking a cigar, and Trainer Donovan looked a little thoughtful as he sat under the shade of the trees in the paddock, hut there was one member of the stable that was fully alive to all the excitement and importance of the occasion.

He was a diminutive urchin, with about as cute and mischievous a little black face as one can well imagine, and when the horses were at the post he perched himself monkey-like on the backstretch fence the better to watch the proceeding.

"Dat white boy can't ride, I knowed he nebber couldn't ride that hoss," muttered the youngster as the horses made a break away and Snapper pulled up Tenny fighting for his head.

"Now dat hoss am mad an he ain't again ter try. I know him better dan any ob dem. Doan' I ride him all de time?" And the little scamp's eyes fairly leaped out of their sockets in his intense excitement.

"Look at him now, jes look at him," he screamed. "Dar he's off last and dar der hev shut him off. Pull out dar men and gib that hoss a show. Pull out an he'll beat every body."

As the horse turned into the stretch, and Tenny commenced to close up, he lost all control of his emotions and yelled till he was hoarse, hnt when the horses had passed the winning post he became as docile as a lamb, and a quiet smile overspread his features as he softly ejaculated:

"I knowed it all de time. I knowed dey couldn't nebber beat dat little bay hoss;" and then he climbed off the fence and wended his way back to the stable, stopping occasionally on the journey to execute an impromptu breakdown; hut mainly he confined himself to murmuring through his smiles: "I knowed it all de time."

The venerable Judge Barry, of Gallatin Tenn., who with General Andrew Jackson, used to be active supporters of the turf, gives a correspondent of the Tennessee Farmer a brief description of one of ye olden times races as follows:

The Judge, speaking of old-time racing, described a race he saw when the jockey (who was a slave) won the race and his freedom. It was on the old Nashville course, and the horse was Tennessee Oscar, son of Wonder. He was a runaway horse and dangerous to ride. The rider was Simon, the best jockey of his day. The proprietor of Edgefield, Dr. John Shelby was a generous man, and one of superior judgment. He had great confidence in Oscar, and knew if he was well ridden he would reach any goal aimed at. He bet a large sum of money on him, and told Simon he had bet $250 for him, and that if Oscar won, he could buy himself. Simon belonged to a widow lady who only asked $400 for him, as he was lazy and impudent and only fit for the saddle. In those days jockeys were not in such demand as they are now, nor did they receive half the pay. It was a four-mile heat race, and when the horses were brought to the post, (there were several started) Oscar was in the wildest mood and got a bad start, hut in a few rounds, it seemed, he passed one, then another, and by the time he reached the half-mile post where I stood, he was going like the wind. Here Dr. Shelby yelled to Simon: "Why don't you pull that horse?" Simon replied, as he flew on: "Look at his mouth; what more can I do?" His mouth was wide open and he was running sway, and such a burst of speed I never saw before nor since. He distanced all the field except a fine Whip horse owned by an excellent man and trainer, Berry Williams, and it was with difficulty he could be stopped. The next heat was but a repetion of the first. Simon was again instructed to pull him, and not to distance Mr. Williams' horse. Simon said: "I will do all I can, gentlemen, but I am riding a crazy horse to-day." Oscar took the hit and ran away. He ran eight miles in all, the Whip horse barely saving his distance. He was the gamest horse I ever saw, and did as much to improve the stock of Tennessee as any horse that ever lived. I was in Gallatin long enough to learn that.

The Gymkhana races of the Rockaway Hunting Club, in which ponies not exceeding 14 hands 1 inch high will compete, will take place at Cedarhurst, Saturday, July 5th, on the arrival of the 1:30 train from Long Island City. The Times says: There will be six races—the first a "dressing race," in which the ponies are to be brought to the starting point with only a bridle on. The saddle and the coat and waistcoat of the rider will be on the ground. After the starting signal is given, each competitor must saddle and girth his pony, put on his coat and waistcoat, and make for the winning post, when the first man to arrive with cost and waistcoat all buttoned will be the winner.

There will also be a "manikin race," each competitor riding to a point in which manikins will be placed, picking up one and carrying it to the winning post; a "polo ball and bucket" race, in which each competitor will have to put three balls in as many buckets, and then come in first; a "cigar and umbrella" race, in which the competitors are provided at the start with a cigar, matches and an umbrella, and must light the cigar, open the umbrella, mount and reach the winning post with cigar alight, and umbrella in good order.

The fifth race, open only to members of the American Pony Racing Association, will be very amusing, and is called the "egg and spoon" race. Each rider must carry an egg in a wooden spoon held in one hand, and must arrive at the winning post with the egg unbroken and in the spoon. If the egg fall, the competitor must replace it without outside assistance, and start again from the point where it fell or he may return to the starting post for another egg. The last will be a "turning race," the start being made midway between two two posts. The riders must run around the two posts twice and finish on the second round at the point at which they started.

First and second prizes will be offered for all races, and the rules of the American Pony Racing Association will govern. Members of any recognized club may compete, except in the fifth race. Entries should be addressed to the Executive Committee of the Gymkhana Races, at Cedarhurst, stating riding colors, on or before Monday, June 30th. Entrance fees are $1 for each race. The judges are V. A. Blacque, Jenkins Van Schaick, and E C. La Montagne; the clerk of the course is Capt. R. J. Blake, and the Executive Committee is composed of E. C. La Montagne, Leonard Jacob, Jr., and J. D. Cheever.

Training
The Trotting Horse

BY CHARLES MARVIN.

This great practical horse book is a handsome, three hundred page octavo, bound in cloth, elegantly printed, superbly illustrated, and explains in every detail the remarkable success of CHARLES MARVIN and the whole plans and methods pursued at Palo Alto as to breaking, training, shoeing, gaiting, driving, keeping, racing and breeding trotters.

Read what J. C. Sibley, the owner of Si. Bel, says of this book: "In this work Marvin has let out all the mysteries of the craft, and it is so simple and plain that any breeder, owner, trainer or rubber who has any relish for his business can take a colt as a yearling and develop to the highest and fullest extent that colt's capacity as a trotter. The work impressed me so strongly that I have ordered twenty copies, and shall place one in the hands of every rubber on our farm." Mailed postpaid for $3.50.

Address,

THE BREEDER & SPORTSMAN,

313 Bush St., San Francisco, Cal.

Grim's Gossip.

There are seventeen yearling trotters at Rosemeade.

Harry Rose, a son of Senator L. J. Rose, was married on Monday to Miss Currier of San Francisco.

It is now believed that Laredo will not go East. It is reported that he did not show up as well as expected in his work at Santa Anita.

I want every horseman in the state to send me all the news obtainable. We are anxions to hear from all sections, and letters will be always acceptable.

John Watts, the successful rider of Sainfoin in the English Derby received a oheque for £500 from the plucky owner—Sir Jas. Miller.

W. C. Jones, Colnmbia, has bought from Major Campbell Brown, a half interest in the five-year-old stallion McEwen, 2:18¼, for $12,500. Ed Geers will still train him.

Senator Rose is not satisfied with his already large string of thoroughbreds, and has purchased from the Dwyer Bros., of New York, a yearling filly by Reform, dam Megara.

Entry blanks for the Los Angeles meeting can he secured at this office, a liberal supply having been received from the Secretary of the Sixth District Agricultural Association.

Balgowan, who won the Southern Hotel Stakes at St. Lonis, is owned by Lieutenant Clay of Los Angeles. He is by Strathmore, and was bred by George Clay of Kentucky.

Sixteen trotters and pacers have this early entered the 2;30 list of 1890, with records ranging from 2;24 to 2;30. Sultan and Jim Wilson are the only sires so far with two to their credit.

Bruce Cockrill,s mare Marvin by Kyrle Daly, dam Marian by Hubbard has had a filly foal by Ironclad and has been sent to Sacramento to receive the embraces of Prince of Norfolk.

L. J. Rose's gorgeous jacket was seen in front at Westchester last Thursday, the speedy filly Fairy beating Blithe, Eclipse and others, running the five furlongs in 1:01½ on a dead slow track.

When is the great tumbling of records going to cease? Ten Broeck's mile was made in 1:39¾, and yet Fides, in the Toboggan handicap, ran three quarters in 1:10¼, at the rate of about 1:33½ for the mile.

It is now said that Major B. G. Thomas has made W. Lakeland an offer for Exile, and that when the horse is retired from the turf, he will fall into the Major's hands. I think he will go to Rancho del Paso.

Mr. J. M. Smith of Contra Costa County, has lost a fine filly, by Anteeo Jr. The youngster was being halter broken, and threw herself backward, causing an artery to burst, and the filly only survived a few moments.

J. W. Robinson, one of the directors of the Sixth District Agricultural Association, was in the oity this week from Los Angeles. He reports that the meeting to be held in Los Angeles will eclipse all previous efforts.

Bow Bells has recovered from his accident of a few weeks since, and he is now sound and well. Bow Bells, Bonnie Wood, and several Wedgewood two-yesr-olds will be taken through the Southern Circuit by Johnny Thomas.

H. H. Bancroft of San Diego County, has sold to H S. Richards of El Cajon, the stallion Alert, hy Arthurton 365, dam by Geo. M. Patchen Jr. 31. Alert has several promising young colts that should bring him to the front.

There have been many enquiries for the San Jose entries but Secretary Bragg has evidently overlooked this matter and neglected to send them. Horsemen on making entries to purses and stakes want to hear as soon as possible what they have to contend against.

There are many who expect to see the record for a mile and a qusrter beaten in the Suburhan, if it be good day and track. Kingston made a low mark to shoot at bnt the extraordinary speed shown by several of the candidates, is enongh to cause the assnmption.

Although Balkan 2:29½ was withdrawn from the service this year, it was not on account of his foals, as the sucklings hy him are much admired by all that have seen them. He will be sent for a low record this year and it will take better than a "twenty" horse to beat him.

Andy McDowell is rolling onward toward the great Eastern circuit having the Pleasanton horses in charge. I asked him before he started what the prospects were but he refused to answer. One of the stable hoys said they expected to hire another car to bring hack the winnings.

A full brother to Yolo Maid is at present being worked at the track by Mr. Nolan, object being to show two miles in 5:00, which if acoomplished will cause the gelding to change hands as a Mr. Foster, from Australia, has an option on him if he accomplishes the distance in the time mentioned.

Gen. Turner was not satisfied with the record he made for Suisun, 2:25½, so to see what he oould do with the mare, gave her a gentle "hreather" on Saturday last over the Belmont Park track, and negotiated the distance in 2;19½. From present appearances, the Electioneer boom will still continue.

The Los Angeles programme meets with popular approval this year, and in consequence the Southern citrus helt will secure a liberal entry from atl over the State. The direotors are also booming their meetlng, such as it was never hoomed before, and are bound to have one of the best meetings on the circuit.

On Thursday afternoon, the Australian mares, sent over for Mr. Rose, were shipped by rail to the breeding establishment of that gentleman iu Los Angeles connty. The young colt which was bronght over for another party was also sent down, and will be kept there until the arrival of Captain Tom Merry.

B. Benjamin, Secretary of the Los Angeles Association, sends me a telegram that the railroad officials have made arrangements to carry horses to the Los Angeles meeting at the rate of $100 per car load. This is a generous rednotion and will be appreciated by those who wish to ship their stock to the southern city.

Horsemen intending to enter at Los Angeles are reminded that nominations for the 2:30 trot for $1,500 and the district trotiing stakes for 1890 and 1891 close on Monday. Los Angeles sets the hall rolling on the grand oircuit this year and it will pay all owners and drivers to carefully read over the programme and conditions published on another page.

The English Oaks was won this year by the Duke of Portland's Memoir, St. Simon—Quiver, Chevalier Ginistreli's Signorina, St Simon—Star of Portici second, and Mr. J. H. Houldsworth's Ponsea, Springfield—Napoli, third. Memoir ran second (hard held) to her stable companion Semolina in the One Thousand, while Signorina was last year's crack two-year-old.

Stamboul closed the year 1889 with two in the 2:30 list, Vesolia (2 years) 2:29½, and Nehusta 2;30. Already for the present year he has added another, the black filly Murtha, her dam being by Flaxtall. With the large number of Stamboul youngsters that are now scattered from the Atlantic to the Pacific, there should be many more enter the circle before the trotting closes for the year.

Last week mention was made of the death of Fontana, and I stated that death was said to he by colic. That was the street rumor, and was given as received. Sam Gamble has sent me a note in which he says that the mare's death was oansed by a large tumor in the pylorus of the stomaoh, aa was demonstrated when an autopsy was held. Fontana was within two weeks of foaling, and had her little one come into life, a filly would have heen the result.

A peculiar case has just come to light from the Aptos ranch. Mr. Adolph Spreckles reports that last year two youngsters were turned loose in a psddock, one a filly ten months old, and the other a horse colt eleven months old. The result is s own in the fact that the filly has a foal at her side and she is only a little over twenty one months old. The foal is a fine one, perfect in all ways, and is a natnrsl trotter. Who can beat this for extreme youthfulness in both sire and dam.

R. B. Cockrill and Eugene Breen of Salmas Valley made a visit to this office on Thursday morning and reported the horse interests in their section as heing booming. Mr. Cockrill has a colt ont of Dairy D, from whom "Brnoe" expects mnoh as the youngster is full of promise. Mr. Breen thinks well of a yearling that he has by Ironclad, out of a Billy Walker mare. Both of these youngsters will be heard from at the Blood Horse Meeting next year

Mr. Ferguson, the clerk of Palo Alto ranch has an advertisement in this issue, calling the attention of horsemen to his new stake book, which is placed in the market for the first time. With the experience that the author has had, there is no one more competent to construct a book of the kind and those who purchase will find themselves amply repaid by the saving in time and convenience: Sample sheets will be forwarded on the remittance of a two cent stamp.

Miller & Sibley of Franklin, Pa, seem determined to capture all the Electioneer colts that they can get their hands on. A telegram informs me that they have bonght from G. H. Hopper of Unionville, Ohio, the four year old stallion Connoisseur by Electioneer, dam Consolation hy Dictator 113, 2nd dam Belle(dam of Mary, the dam of Superior 2:19¼, and Benefactor 2·28), hy Alexander's Norman 25, sire of Lula 2:14¼. The consideration paid was $10,000.

"There is one fact that cannot be obliterated," says the Kentucky Stock Farm. "It is that the trotting bred horse is to be the future roadster of America. Four minute plngs are no longer in demand. Men in cities, towns and villages will be buying more largely every year trotting bred horses for their buggies, phaetons and harouches. This is encouraging to the breeder of trotting horses to the farmer who is patronizing trotting stallions, as he will be snre to get more than double for such produce that he would for ordinary farm horses."

When Major Du Bois was here during the past winter, he purchased from C. W. Smith, of this city, the mare Lucy Abbott by Abbottsford, and took her hack to Denver, where she made her first appearanoe at the Overland Park, and won the three-minute purse in straight heats in 2:29, 2:28½ and 2.26½. By the way, the following ont from a Denver paper will be full of interest to those who have known the mare for a year or two: "There were four starters. The winner, Lucy Abbott, is owned by the well known Du Bois Bros, who purchased her some time since and relieved her of her duty of hauling a milk wagon." Pete, how much is milk a quart?

"How will the betting be on that pair in the Suburban?" asked a well known trainer of another as he watched Salvator and Frienze canter past one morning at Westchester.

"Well, it's hard to say. Tenny is in there and so is Raceland, and both of them will go all the journey, bnt I think yon will see a big change in opinion after that big chestnut is worked a mile and a quarter for the race, and the horse that beats him will get all the money."

"Then I don't know," responded trsiner No. 1. "I like the mare, and don't you overlook her when you put down your money."

W. H. E. Smith of Humboldt County lately started East with a string of thoronghbreds, accompsnied hy the well known Frank Dupoyster as trainer. My Chicsgo correspondent has failed to let me know of any disagreement in the stahle bnt the following I clip from the Woodland Democrat which speaks for itself: "George Lambert has reached a high position as a trainer. He has been appointed at a salary of $2,500 per annum to take charge of Al Farrow, Long Shot and Susie S, helonging to W. H. E. Smith, of Humboldt county. These horses are in Chicago, and George leaves Woodland Snnday morning for that city. He has been in Mr. Smith's employ for several years. The horses have already made a fine record."

The Directors of the Oakland, Napa, San Jose and Petaluma Associations will each send a representative to the office of the Breeder and Sportsman on Satnrday, (to-day) to oonsult together in reference to a programme for the various meetings. This is a good move, and a step in the right direction, for it would be very inconvenient for Mr. Corbett to trot Hazel Wilkes in the 2:20 claas at San Jose on Saturday, and then to have her trot in the ssme class on Monday at Napa. This personal allusion is made, as it explains the situation and is liable to happen to any horseman. However, a meeting of the representatives will tend to prevent any such a jar, and many other matters can be talked over that will be to the mutnal interests of all concerned.

Breeding trotting stock is a very fascinating pursuit, so much so, in fact, that it is attracting the attention of Englishmen to this country. Mr. Cox, of London, England, who lately came to America, intends to embark in the trotting horse breeding business. He also expects to campaign one or two good trotters through the Grand Circuit.

My old friend, Dr. M. W. Hicks of Sacramento, sends me a letter in which he complains, "that not one of the Turf papers of the country have mentioned the fact that Blue Belle 2:26½ (Mila C) was by Blue Bull, not even so fair a paper as the Breeder and Sportsman." My dear doctor one would naturally suppose that every person in the country knew the paternal ancestor of "Blue Belle" after the expose that was made when she was ruled off, but you must feel assured that this paper has always been a friend of the Blue Bull family and said what was just and right about them. However that feeling is only what we have for any other great family of producers and as an impartial paper we try to treat all alike.

Last week mention was made of a telegram received from James Goldsmith announcing that Mr. Valensin's Simmocolon had won a race at Dundee Park, N. J. The mail brings information that there were five starters for the $500 purse, but the chestnut horse proved too speedy for his competitors. It will be seen from the summary given below that he improved his time in each heat.

Many months ago the Breeder and Sportsman urged the necessity of a meeting of representatives from the different Fair Associations, in the Northern portion of the State, to fix dates for the Fairs of 1890, so that there might be no clashing between them in reference to the times selected. Acting on that suggestion a call was made for last Monday, and the delegates met at Marysville, and the following telegram was sent to this office: "The meeting of Chico and Marysville District Fairs was held here last evening, and it was decided to organize a great northern racing circuit, embracing these districts. The dates of the races and time for the fairs are as follows: Willows, August 12th to 16th; Red Bluff, 19th to 23rd; Chico, 26th to 30th; Marysville, September 2d to 6th. Eighteen thousand dollars in purses and stakes will be offered.

In the June number of Wallace's Monthly just published, the editor, John H. Wallace, gives the explanation of his recent robbery. He states the amount of the robbery at $18,835. The checks were drawn on the funds of the Wallace Trotting Register Company, and signed by Robert L. Wallace, assistant treasurer, except one for $2,500, which was signed by him and raised from $2 to $2,500 and drawn on his personal account. The halance left in the bank is a little rising $4,000. With this sum, Mr. Wallace says, to the credit of the Trotting Register Company, he does not despair of being able to pay the stockholders a dividend of five or six per cent at the close of the year. Owing to the forged check for $2,500, his personal account was left with a balance of $18 and a few cents. Mr. Wallace gives a plausible explanation of why Leslie E. Macleod became a victim of circumstances in the affair. In conclusion he says; "There is plenty of marrow in the old bones yet and plenty of courage to build anew."

A prominent breeder of New York once told the writer that he had no use for pacers, and what was more, he would not breed them; bnt, when he coupled a trotting and trotting-bred daughter of Electioneer with a pure-gaited trotting-bred son of George Wilkes, the result was a foal that was a natural pacer, says the Horse World. This brings to mind the fact that Jennie Lind, with a pacing record of 2:17, has given birth to a foal by Roy Wilkes, pacing record 2:12¾, and the foal is a natural trotter. It is a very puzzling problem for breeders to solve, how it comes, when after coupling pure-gaited trotting-bred parents, the produce will possess the pacing gait. Take Pocahontas Boy for an example: A pacing bred horse and the sire of more pacers than trotters, one would naturally think that when bred to daughters of the pacing bred pacer Blue Bull, the produce would surely have the pacing gait. Bnt a look at Pocahontas Boy's 2:30 list shows that while he has sired many pacers and but four trotters, three of his trotters are out of daughters of Blue Bull. Will some one who knows kindly tell why this is?

My correspondent at Franklin, Pa., sends an account of a great fire that occurred in the training and horse barn of Miller and Sibley at Prospect Hill near that city on the afternoon of Tuesday, June 3d. In spite of the most streneons effor's of the men, the fire was soon heyond control and when the fire department arrived from the city the place was a mass of ruins. In addition to the main building a lot of sheds and stalls to the east of it were also consumed. The main horse barn was 385 feet in length hy 160 feet in width, and was one of the most complete structures of its kind in the country. In the heart of the barn was a kindergarten track for colts, and outside of that was a driving track. The outer portion of the building was used as stalls for the horses in training. The heat was so intense that part of the fence aronnd the training track was consumed. At the time the fire broke ont the stalls were filled with horses, but owing to the daring and heroic work of Mr. Stinson and his associates not one was lost, The cause of the fire is supposed to be spontaneous combustion. The building was insured for ahont two thirds its value.

The Horse World says: "Many are the predictions as to what the four year olds will do this season and in nearly every case it is either Sunol or Axtell that is placed at the head. There are, however, three or four colts of that age that have a license to trot as fast as either of those remarkable colts, and there are some astute judges that will not be surprised if one of the unnamed ones should go a faster mile this season than either Sunol or Axtell.

A couple of great young things that may be seen in the East this season are Margaret S., 2:19¼, and Direct 2:18¼, two game young race goers by a sire of the same kind, Director, 2:17. Director was one of the steadiest rating and gamest race goers ever seen on the grand circuit tracks, and it is a significant fact that no sire was ever represented, the same season, hy as good a three year old as Margaret S. and as good a four year old as Direct. There is something more about this pair of young race goers that should set the advocates of non-development in the parents to thinking, and that is that not only are they sired by a developed and campaigned sire, hut the dam of Direct is Echora 2:23½, and Margaret S. is out of May Day 2:30."

The Tacoma Meeting.

The Secretary of the Morgan Memorial Speeding Track has forwarded to this office a programme of the races for a five days' meeting which it is proposed to hold on July 1st, 2ud, 3rd, 4th and 5th. There are about $6,000 offered in purses, there being altogether five running events, seven purses for the trotting brigade, while the pacers have not been neglected as there are three purses to be divided among the side wheel division: The programme is a good one and will undoubtedly receive the unqualified support of all horsemen throughout the northwest.

2:30 Records.

It would seem that at last the National Trotting Horse Breeders' Association, which formulates the rules by which horses may be enrolled in the American Trotting Register, have determined to try and prevent the oft repeated trials against time and bogus matches by which horses obtain records, and are classed as "in the list." At a late meeting action was taken in the matter, and a set of rules was drawn up by the committee appointed for the purpose, which will be revised, if deemed necessary, before they are given to the public as "the law." Of course it must be understood that these rules only apply to those not already in the charmed circle, and if once a member of that august body, he can then be sent against the watch to lower his record. The rules as given below are not in their entirety, but summarized so that the Directors of the various agricultural associations may understand what is required to obtain a record that will be accepted at headquarters.

1. All performances carrying an animal into the 2.30 ist for the first time, must be made at a regular meeting of a reputable association.

2. These performances must be made under the control of the National Association of Trotting Horse Breeders, or of an association in membership and good standing with the American Trotting Association or the National Trotting Association.

3. The meaning of the phrase "regular meeting" is fully defined, and is used in contradiction from what might be really a special meeting, called for the single purpose of giving an animal a record.

4. Under these rules there can be no more bogus matches, gotten up privately, for all performances must be made at a regular meeting in order to secure the benefit of a 2:30 performance.

5. Stakes may be opened by any association, as restricted above, for all animals seeking admission to the 2:30 list, to be called the "Standard Stakes" the terms of entrance to be fixed by the Association, but not less than ten dollars. The entries will be divided into groups of three and so started. In the race, if the leading horse trots in 2:30 or better, he takes his record and goes to the stable. If in the next heat the leading horse trots in 2.30 or better, he also goes to the stable, leaving the third horse to trot the third heat alone, and this is the only case, under the system, in which a horse trots alone and that after he has trotted two heats against others.

6. The one-half of the stakes of the winners in a group or division will go to the horse making the fastest record in the group, the balance to the Association, and the stakes of all failures will revert to the Association.

There may be some amendments or additions to the above, but not enough to materially alter them.

The Australian Importations.

On last Saturday morning the S. S. Alameda arrived with the first consignment of horses sent over by Mr. T. B. Merry for ex-senator L. J. Rose of Los Angeles. It would be very unfair to give a description of the mares in their present condition as the hurried manner in which they were shipped from the antipodes prevented the preparation which they should have received for the long sea voyage. The animals were sent over in charge of Mr. Chas. Wilson who is well known to the racing men of Australia, as the owner and trainer of Gardenia, the only mare that ever beat Mentor. Mr. Wilson informs us that within a day or two of the shipment the mares were running loose in the paddocks and had not been taken up in time to properly fit them for the journey.

The daily papers have all mentioned the arrival of the stock, but as usual got them all mixed up, for by the list published in the Breeder and Sportsman some three weeks ago, it was anticipated that several others would be sent, but at the last moment changes were made, the animals sent being as follows: Lady Alice, b m, by Musket out of Erycina by Sledmere and therefore a sister to Mitrailleuse.

Hester, ch m by Derby son of Kingsborough, this was a noted mare and carried 142 pounds and ran second for the Murrimbidgee Handicap; she was a good performer and purchased by Mr. Merry on account of the brackets which stand opposite her name in the racing register.

Elsie, ch m, by Grand Flaneur out of Daughter of the Regiment; 2nd dam the dam of Melos which gives her a double cross of Yattendon, the sire of Chester.

Pheohe Marks, b m, by Kingsborough out of Lady Audley, dam of the Secret. This mare was thought very highly of when in training, but broke down early in her engagements. She is in foal to Othello, son of the Barb and is the only one of the mares purchased by Mr. Merry that will foal to Australian dates.

Keziah, by Darebin out of Lady Fanny, is in foal to Hastings, winner of the Hawkesbury Handicap; Keziah has been stinted to foal according to American time.

Rose of Arizona, formerly called Amber, is by the Drummer, but in the papers sent the 1st and 2nd dams were omitted, the 3rd dam, however, is the dam of Melos.

San Pedro, br c, by Waxlight, dam sister to Calamia, winner of the Melbourne cup.

There was also sent a br f Heiress full sister to Sheet Anchor, she by St. Albans out of Queen Mary; unfortunately this mare died on the voyage over, leaving only seven of the eight to arrive here. Mr. Merry has purchased eight others for Mr. Rose which will arrive on the next steamer. One of the mares which was originally intended to be sent in this first consignment was the br m Ricochet, five years old, full sister to the mare Lady Alice mentioned above, but she received a severe kick from one of the horses and it was deemed expedient to leave her until the second lot was sent.

Another Departure.

It is a fact susceptible of proof that we are all more or less engendered with a feeling of selfishness. Many times within the past few weeks we have heard horsemen deploring the fact that Palo Alto sent the pick of their horses East, and that Hickok had also traveled in the same direction to try and gain honor with those under his charge. It has been a source of grumbling, because many have been of the opinion that their absence would detract from the interest of our local racing circuit, but there is another side to look at in this question, and that is this: California for quite a number of years has been the Mecca to which Eastern horsemen wended their way for the purpose of picking up fast and enduring trotters. The fame of Electioneer, Stamboul, Guy Wilkes, Director, Sidney, Piedmont, and many others has gone broadcast throughout the land, and as a natural consequence breeders in the East have endeavored to secure the speedy sons and daughters of these noted sires. This has been brought about on account of what California bred horses have done on the Eastern tracks, and the residents of this State must bear in mind that every race won by a Californian representative in the East is only adding fresh glory to the Golden State. When the two stables mentioned above started on the eastward journey the Breeder and Sportsman wished them Godspeed, and now we have to say a few parting words to still another stable which started on Wednesday morning last. Mr. Salisbury of the Pleasanton Stock Farm has already won golden opinions for his noted sire because he campaigned him throughout the Eastern circuit, meeting the many mighty horses of the day, and beating them all with his speedy black horse. To show the people of the East that Director reproduces his marvelous speed in his progeny, Mr. Salisbury has shipped back for trotting purposes Direct 2:18¼, Margaret S 2:19¼, and Katie S, with no record at all, all of which are the progeny of Director. There is also in the same car a mare by Steinway called Cricket, a pacer who gives every evidence of being very fast when brought in contact with those of the lateral division. These horses will be campaigned throughout the East until the first of August, and perhaps a week or two later, when they will be brought back to California for the purpose of taking part in the latter end of the circuit here.

The owner takes back with him the good wishes of a legion of friends, and we sincerely trust that victory may perch upon his banner whenever any of his stable start. If he should prove able to beat many of the cracks against whom, no doubt, he will have to contend, there will be fresh laurels to add to the already large wreath of Old Director.

The Northern Circuit.

Attention is called on another page to the Northern Circuit which has just been completed. A correspondent at Chico who was present at the meeting of delegates from the different associations throughout the northern section informs us that $3900 will be offered in purses at the Willows; $3500 at Red Bluff; nearly $6000 at Chico and $5500 at Marysville. We are glad to see that these associations are acting together in harmony, the only regret being that the Directors of Glenbrook Park cannot stand in with the circuit, for the distance between there and the Willows is so short that many who would like to attend both places can only go to one and thus one association must lose some of its expected patronage.

While the Northern Circuit is being made horsemen further south will be busy at San Jose, Napa, Petaluma and Oakland, but there are plenty of horses in training to-day to insure full entries for both of these circuits and we do not doubt but what both of them will show up well as far as entries are concerned. In the course of a week or two we shall be able to offer our readers a full programme for each meeting of the northern circuit and horsemen who desire to make entries up there can find entry blanks at this office.

Los Angeles Entries.

This is the last opportunity we shall have for calling the attention of our readers but more particularly the horse owners throughout the State, to the fact that on Monday next, the 16th inst., the entries will close for a purse of $1,500 for the 2:30 class at Los Angeles, and also close for the District two-year-old trotting stakes for 1890 and 1891. It is unnecessary for us to speak of the liberal manner in which the Directors of this Association have acted towards the horsemen of the State by offering large and generous purses. There is no one who cannot afford to go from the central portion of the State to Los Angeles to compete for the large purses offered, and we fully expect to see many an entry from within a radius of a hundred miles of Sacramento. The Secretary has used his utmost endeavors to make the forthcoming meeting a great success and as the principal portion of this labor consists in trying to get entries for the purses, we feel assured that he will not be disappointed in the work he has done. Read the advertisement in the appropriate column and make entries for the first meeting of the circuit.

Ione Meeting.

The Directors of the 27th Agricultural District comprising Amador and Sacramento Counties will hold their 4th annual fair at Ione on August 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th next. With two exceptions the entire programme consists of running races, there being three or four each day. Handsome amounts have been added to each of the stakes, and the races comprise all distances from a quarter of a mile and repeat up to one and three-eights miles. There will also be during the meeting two match trotting races between stallions owned in the district. The rules of the State Agricultural Society will govern the races except when the conditions named are otherwise. The entries are due on July 15th, and from the highly successful meeting that was held at Ione last year, there are good grounds for the belief that another successful meeting will be held this year. The track, so we are told, is in the best of condition, and those who attend as spectators may rest assured that they will witness grand contests.

Our Tennessee Letter.

GALLATIN, TENN., June 5th.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—By the time this is in print, the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN'S many readers will most probably be able to form some idea anent El Rio Rey's alleged loss of wind, or a "roarer" as some may term it. The Winters' stable of horses left Nashville last Monday for St. Louis, where El Rio Rey is engaged, as are Rey del Rey and other horses of the stable.

It has been given out that El Rio Rey will start in the St. Louis Derby next Saturday, providing the track is good. As that race will be an event of past turf history ere this has reached the printer's case, I will not dwell upon the outcome and probabilities of that race, but will say that any owner with a pretty fair sort of a colt should not let El Rio Rey's presence keep him from starting. True it is that El Rio Rey did an "easy mile" in 1:44 (?) before they left Nashville, but a trial mile is not an actual race of a mile and a half, or the other distances that three-year-olds have to run in the stake races now.

Rey del Rey, without an exception, is the grandest looking horse that ever wore plates, and Courtney has him in the pink of condition. Before leaving Tennessee for St. Louis, he did a trial three-quarters fast enough to assure all connected with him that he can out-run any youngster that has appeared this season, and when he makes his bow to the public, it will only be a repetition of his elder brother's performance last year, when he won every race in which he started.

Don Jose, of the Winter's string, has an ailing limb, and with the possible exception of El Rio Rey being effected, their is not another unsound horse in the string. Average and Joe Courtney will beat more horses than will beat them.

Outside the departure of the Winters horses, there has been no happenings of more than passing importance among the runners. Among the trotters and sidewheelers the same can not be said for from Ewell Farm comes the news of a gait never known to have been accomplished before. Some how or other it sounds like a big Tennessee story with a Mulhattan flavor, but in this fast age we must not look upon anything as an impossibility. I have just received a note from reliable sources at Ewell Farm, which bears the sensational news that Brown Hal 2:12½ had that day paced a quarter in 28 seconds, a 1:52 gait. This can hardly be true, yet under the existing circumstances I must believe that it is, It is one of the most remarkable feats ever accomplished by a trotter or pacer. Brown Hal is a full brother to Little Brown Jug 2:11¾, and is himself the sire of Prince Hal, that obtained a mark last season of 2:16½. Brown Hal has never met defeat upon the race course, and his record of 2:12½ he made last season in the third heat of a winning race, after Roy Wilkes had paced the second heat in 2:13. Considering that he has just made a heavy season in the stud the performance is the more remarkable. Ed Geers will go down the Grand Circuit with him, and it is expected of him to eclipse Johnston's record.

Come over the Rockies, California, with your Adonis, Roy Wilkes and others of that ilk, and Tennessee will try to make it interesting for you with Brown Hal 2:12½, and Hal Pointer 2:13.

Huntress had quite an easy time winning the three Jackpot races at Lexington, Louisville and Latonia. The result of the race this year was hardly what the managsment of the three Kentucky clubs expected, and I would not be surprised at seeing this race dropped out of the entry books next fall.

Since coming East, Fairy and Rico of the Rose string have both started, but neither have earned brackets. Fairy startsd in the Great American Stakes at Brooklyn, and while she did not win, she ran a very creditable race, finishing in fourth place, with several crack two year olds strung out behind her. Rico is in the Suburban at a light impost, and after he fully recovers from his long trip across the continent he may be able to show something like Suburban form.

Fids's victory in the Toboggan Slide Handicap has made her price in the Suburban move downward several points. There is quite a difference in six furlongs and a mile and a quarter, and I am inclined to think the Belmont filly much better suited at the former distance. She completely smashed the record in her race for the big Westchester event, and, with her smart turn of speed, she may be a dangerous mare in the Suburban.

By the way; This seems to remind me how fast the 3-year old filly English Lady has loomed up as a formidable suburban candidate. A few weeks ago I spoke of her as not being "suggestive of a Surburan winner? but in this one particular I have changed my opinion considerably. She is shoes to plates, the best three year old in the West, not barring Robespeirre, Riley or Bill Letcher, the three Derby winners. Her four consecutive victories at Lexington, Louisville and Latonia have been the cause of her being backed from 100 to 1, down to 15 to 1 in The Surburban. Her Latonia Oaks one and a quarter miles, 113 pounds up in 2:08¾ is the best race run in the West this season, and in point of time, is equal to 2:07 over the Sheephead Bay Course. She only carries 94 pounds in the Surburban, and if she does not go amiss before Suburban day, her stable companion Proctor Knott, will remain in his stable while The Lady wins Sheepsheads Bay's big race. She is my choice, and if she wins that race, the hottest air-tight cinch ever seen upon an Eastern race course, is going to be uncorked.

Since writing the above I learn, reliably, some sensational news regarding the Winter's Stable, which is to this effect; Three days before the California horses were shipped from Nashville to St. Louis, B. J. Johnson, trainer for the Chicago Stable last season, was in Nashville, and most of the time had business at West Side Park. Whenever the Winter's horses were at work, Johnson was upon the track, watch in hand, noting every movement of the California cracks. Finally he approached Mr. Winters, asking him to put a price upon his entire stable. Mr. Winters told him that El Rio Rey he would not sell, and that the mare Florence A, he would leave at Belle Meade to be bred to Imp. Great Tom, but that he would sell Rey del Rey, Don Juan, Don Jose, Judge Post, Average, Loretta, Blizzard, Atelis, Joe Courtney and the other horses of the stable for $55 000. Johnson then asked Mr. Winters if he would take $45,000 and give him three days' option upon the horses. Mr. Winters responded "I will not give you three minutes. I will sell now, but in three minutes I might not. Give me $55,000 cash and I will turn my stable of horses over to you." Johnson replied that he was not prepared to do so, immediately, but would like to talk to him at the end of the time he asked for. Johnson is now in Louisville, and is supposed to be trying to arrange for the purchase of the horses.

In the Winter Stable is a colt—Rey del Rey—that is worth all of what Johnston offered for the entire string. Before leaving Nashville, as stated above, he showed the fastest six furlongs ever run over that track, and there are several Nashville turfmen who will bet dollars to apples that Rey del Rey can simply loose Russell, the crank colt of the East, at any distance. As a prominent Nashville horseman told me to-day, "There are some two-year-olds in the Winters Stable that have shown better work here than have any three-year-olds." The colts alluded to are Don Juano, Rey del Rey and Judge Post, a trio of youngsters that will show their heels to the cracker jacks of the aristocratic Belmont, Dwyer, Morris and Withers Stables when they are taken East.

People who are in a position to know, say that El Rio Rey is effected with something like catarrh, and the peculiar noise made by him when at work is from this, and not caused by being broken-winded. As this is a peculiar disease among horses it is not known to what extent it effects the horse.

Answers to Correspondents.

Answers for this department MUST be accompanied by the name and address of the sender, not necessarily for publication, but as proof of good faith. Write the questions distinctly, and on one side of the paper only. Positively no questions will be answered by mail or telegraph.

Subscriber.

Will you give in the next number of the paper the address of the owner of Axtell.

Answer.—Axtell is owned by five persons. A letter addressed to W. P. Ijams, Terre Haute, Indiana, will reach the owners.

Reader.

Will you please publish the pedigree of "Paddy Magee" and any noteworthy performances or other qualifications and oblige.

Answer.—Paddy Magee, was by Gen. Taylor, dam a Canadian mare, pedigree untraced. He is registered as Capt. Hanford 804. There are records of nineteen races that he won, but to give an outline of them all, would take more room than we can spare.

Names Claimed.

A Correction.

Two weeks ago we published an excellent article on Navicular disease from the pen of Dr. A. E Buzard, and it has been extensively copied throughout the United States. The author calls attention to a couple of mistakes which occurred in it as printed, the proof reader having slighted the "copy." In the sentence, "The disease is progressive, caries of the bone takes place, the tendon playing over it becomes involved, and in extreme cases upturned." The word in italics should read ruptured, to make it read correct. Under the headings of symptoms, "the peculiar joint" should read the peculiar gait.

Glanders in Horses.

WRITTEN FOR THE BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN

As this disease is becoming very prevalent in this State, I consider that a short article on the disease may be of some utility to the readers of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN in assisting them to detect the disease, and also to prevent the spreading of the same.

The causss of this dissase are various, but the majority of cases doubtless arise from contagion, that is, coming in actual contact with a diseased animal, or by inhaling the same atmosphere, drinking out of the same bucket, or even cases have been known from wearing the same harness.

It is frequently generated by horses in a low, emaciated condition, being kept in some dark, unventilated and undrained stable, and being allowed to remain for days, or perhaps weeks, on the manure which has accumulated behind them, and then being obliged to continually breathe the vitiated atmosphere, which will necessarily be generated in such cases.

The symptoms of this loathsome disease are frequently very deceptive; many a horse has been destroyed for glanders when the disease did not exist, it being confounded with nasal gleet. To an experienced person such a mistake should not be made, as the symptoms between the two affections, although alike, differ materially, on a close and minute examination. In a case of glanders the discharge from the nostrils is scanty, yellowish in color and frequently streaked with blood, and is very glutinous in character, having a tendency to adhere to the edge of the nostrils. The lining mucous membrane of the nostrils, will, in the majority of cases, be of a leaden hue, and on careful examination, a few ulcers will be found on its surface, these ulcers presenting a very distinct and characteristic appearance. The glands between the lower jaw will be found somewhat enlarged, hard and indurated, and adherent to the bone. The animal will have a cough but not of a very distressing nature, and the general appearance will indicate that the animal is not in perfect health, although I have seen cases where the horses looked the picture of health. Now in ozena or nasal gleet the discharge from the nostrils in the majority of cases will be copious and come away in big white clots, the membrane may not present quite a natural color, the glands will be enlarged but will be soft, and do not adhere to the jaw. In a few cases there may be a soft cough, but the general appearance of the horse will be healthy.

In cases where a horse is found to be glandered, it should be immediately destroyed, and if there be any other horses in the same stable they should be strictly examined, and not allowed to come in contact with any other horses, should not be allowed to drink out of any bucket or trough, which may be used to water other horses. The stable should be thoroughly fumigated and whitewashed as a preventative. In some cases in London, which came under my notice, the entire stable was pulled down and rebuilt with new material. The harness used by the diseased horse or horses, should be scalded with boiling water, and often thoroughly scrubbed with hot water, soap and carbolic acid. In fact, in a bad case, it is advisable to destroy the harness and the stable equipment which has been in use for, or on the diseased animals.

The remainder of the horses should be examined frequently, and on the slightest symptoms the animals should be destroyed and the proper authorities notified.

In few cases, as far as I can ascertain, the health authorities never receive any notification when any animal has been destroyed with glanders. In England it is a crimiual offence to possess, knowingly, a horse with glanders, and punishable by fine or imprisonment. Such an arrangement in this State, more especially when this disease is on the increase, would be benefic al to horse owners and the public generally.

It would also be advisable to appoint one or more qualified veterinary surgeons as inspectors, and give them unlimited power, as to entrance to stables and inspection of such stock as they should think fit. There are at present numerous stables in this city which are unfit for occupation, and should the disease get a hold in such places, it will be a most difficult task to eradicate it, much less prevent the spread of the affection.

One word about public water-troughs. In London at one time, they were considered a blessing and a boon to horses, and their owners, but after a time they proved to be a damnably cause. The reason of this was that glandered horses were worked in late night cabs, and the animals were watered at these troughs, the discharge dropped from the nostrils into the water, and the consequence was, that some sound horse was allowed to drink at the same place later on, and in all probability swallowed the discharge, and in a few days the animal would present symptoms of glanders, and then came the question: "Where did the horse get it from?" From numerous experiments on horses made by the Royal Veterinary College in 1874-75, it was proved beyond doubt that glanderous discharge, given to a sound horse, would generate glanders in a short time.

I would advise all horse-owners working horses in this city, or even in the country, to carry a bucket with them and draw the necessary water themselves, and not allow their animals to partake of water at any of the numerous public horse troughs.

Our Terre Haute Letter.

Terre Haute at the present writing is one of the busiest towns in the United States when looked at from the trotting horseman's point of view. There are congregated here at present a large majority of the best known horses in the country, and on Monday when I arrived it seemed as though there were representatives here from all the principal breeding farms in the United States. Special trains were run from a great many points, and advantage was taken of low rates by those who are lovers of the light harness horse.

On Monday evening I called in at the pool rooms to see what sort of betting the Eastern people indulged in, and much to my astonishment, as I entered the door, I heard the auctioneer saying, "How much am I offered for first choice?" You can conceive my astonishment when I heard it knocked down for $7, the second choice sold for $5, and the third for $3. I had always labored under the impression that betting in the Eastern States on trotting races was far and away above anything that Californians indulged in, but this sample of what I saw for the 2:23 purse was so small and insignificant in compariaon with what can be seen at Oakland, Napa, Petaluma or Fresno that I am impressed with the belief that Sam Whitehead and his corps of men can do better at the small meetings in your State than they could do if here.

I can readily understand that the doings of the Golden State horses is what will more directly interest your readers, and therefore will not devote much space to the races in which only Eastern horses were engaged. On the opening day, Tuesday, June 3rd, there was a very fair attendance, considering the attractions, and yet it is safe to assert that of the 4,000 people who were in attendance nine-tenths of them paid their admission fee on purpose to witness the matchless Sunol. The day was a beautiful one, and if made to order could not have been surpassed, a day in which one finds relief from the cares of business and the multitude of small annoyances which are bound to compass any one engaged in pursuits of any sort, and it is probable that the fine weather had as much to do with the large attendance as the very ordinary racing which ensued. Since the arrival of the Palo Alto string here hundreds, and probably thousands, have attended the race track, and many had become more or less familiar with the appearance of Sunol and the face of Charlie Marvin; at any rate, when he appeared upon the track with his little bay beauty, they were received with a great deal of cheering and clapping of hands; in answer to the reception the Palo Alto reinsman doffed his cap and started down the reverse way of the track, jogging slowly. When a short distance past the three-quarter pole Sunol was turned around, and from that point home was given what Budd Doble declared to be a "little exercise." It was really marvelous to see the game filly covering the ground at a 2:13 gait, the quarter being completed in 33¼ seconds, and yet those who saw her on your California circuit last year knew she was not being extended even a little bit. I like her much better than I did last year, and that is saying a great deal, and I am inclined to the belief that what Ed. Bither said to me at the Bay District Track on the day when she made her record is true: "That mare can beat Maud S's time whenever she is started for it."

Fred Arthur, the pacer, had a record of 2:15½ and that made on a half mile track. I said "had" because before I finish my letter I will show you how he has lowered it. However, the fast son of Belmont was then brought out for exhibition and Mr. Grimes, his driver, was also as cordially received as Marvin. The three races which followed resulted in Nutmeg, a son of Nutwood, winning the 2:23 trot, the fastest time made being 2:22½ which goes to the credit of Frank B., a br g, by Bog oak who won the first heat in that time, the winner's best time being 2:26. In the 2:32 trot which followed, Katie B., owned by L. A. Davies, owner of Roy Wilkes sold favorite over the field, but notwithstanding a strong and vigorous support from the betting men she only won the first heat gaining a record of 2:28¼, Joe Eastman winning the next three and gaining a record of 2:29½. The last race of the day was for the 2:50 class, in which there were four starters, Called Back winning in three straight heats, the best time being 2:36¼.

On Wednesday the 2:28 trot brought out Twist, a roan filly by Jay Bird; Cubic, a b g, by Electioneer, and Constantine, the Egbert youngster, which was sold for such a long price last year. Twist sold for $10 and the field $10; the roan had things all her own way in three straight heats, and was never troubled in the least by either of her two competitors, winning as she pleased in 2:26½, 2:26¼ and 2:27. The papers on the following day saw fit to state that this was the battle royal between Kentucky and California, to sustain their pet theories of breeding the trotters. Such consummate nonsense could only emanate from scribblers who do not know what they are writing about. One of the papers had the following:

"The Palo Alto theory that for speed and endurance at the trot, the thoroughbred cross must be close up, was maintained by Cubic, son of Electioneer, dam Cuba by imported Australian. The roan descendant from the loins of the mighty Wilkes had the best of the argument, and to-night the scalp of Sibley is hung in the Simmon's wigwam."

The 2:35 pacer had four starters and it proved an easy victory for Catherine, a descendant of Dictator, the best time made being 2:32¼. During the day Budd Doble appeared behind Jack 2:15, and Harry Starr who is Doble's right hand man, also exhibited Houri 2:17. Johnnie Dickerson also speeded the two-year-old Faustino, who as every one knows has the yearling stallion record of the world.

Friday morning opened up bright and auspiciously, the city being crowded to its utmost capacity, for in addition to the attractions of the race track, Barnum's monster circus also put in an appearance. However, my business called me to the stables with no time to spare for the circus. When the bell was rung it must be confessed that things looked rather home like for there sat Orrin Hickok in the timers' stand as large as life and twice as natural. Johnston 2:06¼ was given a slow mile by George Starr and Palo Alto was driven by Mr. Marvin a slow half. The great feat of the day was the exhibition of the pole team Reina and Betsy Brown driven by Doble who started to beat the half mile record of 1:08½, and it must be confessed that the feat was easily performed, Doble sending them a merry clip and completing the distance in 1.07½, the first quarter being consummated in 32½ seconds. Truly it is wonderful time and Mr. Doble proposes when they are both just right to send them against the double team mile record of the world. The first race of the day was for the 2:40 trotters which was easily won by Huasar, a brown colt by Jersey Wilkes, three straight heats falling to him the fastest mile being 2:26½. The sport of the day finished up with the Free-for-all pacing race, the entries to which were Fred Arthur, Gray Harry and Bessemer. Fred Arthur was the favorite in the pool box bringing $10 to $8 for the field. In the first heat he beat Bessemer by a head only in the really good time for this season of the year, of 2:14½; he easily took the second and third heats, Grey Harry being his runner up in 2:17¼ and 2:20¼. It could easily be seen that Bessemer was not in condition for a hard race, but as he is of the improving sort you will hear from him later on.

The fourth and last day of the meeting was characterized by having the largest attendance of any preceding day. It seems almost requisite to require a stretch of the imagination to conceive that the following horses were all on the track at one and the same time: Sunol, 2:10½; Axtell, 2:12; Palo Alto, 2:12¼; Houri, 2:17; Johnston, 2:06¼; Roy Wilkes, 2:12¾ and Adonis, 2:14; such an exhibition of noted horses has never been seen at one time before on any track in the world. Mr. Marvin made himself a great favorite by speeding Sunol a quarter in 32¼ seconds, a 2:09 gait; Johnston, the pacer was sent three heats in 2:27, 2:23 and 2:20, the last quarter of one of the miles being completed in 31¼ seconds; the other cracks were only shown to bridle with the exception of Adonis whom Hickok sent a very slow mile. The 2:23 pacing race proved a strong incentive for the betting fraternity who piled in their money quite liberally on Frank, he selling for $10 while the field brought $3, it proved quite an exciting race as Frank won the first heat. Findley the 2nd, Frank the 3rd, Findley taking the 4th and 5th; Frank's best time was 2:26½, Findley's best time, 2:24½.

The sport of the day was brought to a conclusion by the race for the 2:19 class of trotters but only two starters appeared, Almont and the old favorite Kit Curry; Almont won as he pleased in straight heats, the fastest time being 2:20¾.

SACRAMENTO.

Horse's Sense of Smell.

The horse will leave musty hay untouched in his bin, however hungry. He will not drink of water objectionable to his questioning sniff, or from a bucket which some odor makes objectionable, however thirsty. His intelligent nostril will widen, quiver and query over the daintiest bit offered by the fairest of hands with coaxings that would make a mortal shut his eyes and swallow a nauseous mouthful at a gulp.

A mare is never satisfied by either sight or whinny that her colt is really her own until she has a certified nasal certificate of the fact. A blind horse now living will not allow the approach of any stranger without showing signs of anger not safely to be disregarded. The distinction is evidently made by his sense of smell, and at a considerable distance. Blind horses as a rule will gallop wildly around a pasture without striking the surrounding fence. The sense informs them of its proximity. Others will, when loosed from the stables go directly to the gate or bars opened to their accustomed feeding grounds, and when desiring to return, after hours of careless wandering, will distinguish one outlet and patiently await its opening. The odor of that particular part of the fence is their pilot to it.

The horse in browsing, or while gathering herbage with his lips, is guided in its choice of proper food entirely by its nostrils. Blind horses do not make mistakes in their diet. In the temple of Olympus a bronze horse was exhibited at the sight of which six real horses exhibited the most violent emotions. Aelian judiciously observes that the most perfect art could not imitate nature sufficiently well to produce so strong an illusion. The scent alone of a buffalo robe will cause many horses to evince lively terror, and the floating scent of a railroad train will frighten some long after the locomotive is out of sight and hearing.

Breeding Fillies.

There is quite a difference of opinion among breeders as to the proper time to commence breeding fillies.

We have had considerable experience during the past fifteen years in breeding mares, having bred a large number during that time, both for ourselves and those who patronized the stallions we kept for public service.

We have always advocated breeding the fillies at two years old, if it is the intention to breed them at all, as it is our opinion they will foal their first colt when three years old with less danger to themselves than when four or five years old, for the following reasons: the mare not being so fully matured as at four or five years old her bones and muscles are not so firmly knit, hence will give more readily, also the foal of the three-year old mare will generelly be smaller at birth, thereby lessening the danger of the mare having trouble.

We have never known a three-year old mare to have trouble in foaling, although we have known of quite a number of fine mares being lost by not being able to foal their first colt when five to seven years old.

Two-year old fillies should not be bred too early in the season; it would be better to have them foaled in July than before grass comes in the spring, as they will do far better if they can have a run on grass for a month or more before foaling.

We believe that mares that have their first colts at three years make better and more regular breeders, and in our opinion, the breeder who allows a good two-year old filly to run over without being stinted to a well-bred, matured stallion is losing valuable time.

We say breed the fillies to matured stallions, for in breeding horses, as with all other kinds of stock, if young immature females are bred to young immature males, the stock will rapidly degenerate into mere scrubs.—National Horse Breeder.

REMARKS AND CONDITIONS

No. 1. All trotting races are the best 3 in 5 (except the two year olds and yearlings) 6 to enter and three to start, but the Board reserves the right to hold a less number than 6 to fill by the deduction of a proportionate amount of the purse.
No. 2. Any races filling with 10 or more paid up entries the Society will add all monies over and also 20 per cent. of the purse.
No. 3. The National Association rules to govern, but the Board reserves the right to trot heats of any two classes alternately, or to trot a special race between heats.
No. 4. A horse making a walk over is entitled only to the entrance money paid in. When less than the required number of starters appear they may contest for the entrance money paid in, to be divided as follows: two-thirds to first one-third to second.
No. 5. The State Agricultural Society rules of 1890 to govern all running races, except when conditions named are otherwise.
No. 6. Non-starters in running races will be held for entrance.
No. 7. In all of the above races the entrance will be 10 per cent. of purse, and to accompany nominations. Purses will be divided into 60 30 and 10 per cent.
No. 8. In all races entries not declared out by 6 P. M. of the day preceding the race will be required to start.
No. 9. When there is more than one entry by one person or in one interest the particular horse they are to start must be named by 6 P. M. of the day preceding the race.
No. 10. In races designated as District all horses are eligible that were owned in the counties of Nevada, Placer, Yuba, Sutter, Colusa Butte, Sierra, Shasta, Plumas, Tehama and Lassen, and Washoe and Ormsby counties of the State of Nevada, prior to July 1st; also horses training on the Society's track from July 1st.
No. 11. Horses are eligible in county races if owned in the county prior to July 1st, or trained on the Society's track from July 1st.
No. 12. Hay, straw and Feed will not be furnished by the Society, but will be for sale on the grounds at reasonable rates.
Entries close with the Secretary on August 1st.
All purses are free to all unless otherwise designated.

The track at Glenbrook Park is now in first-class condition, and will be kept so and is free to all who wish to train on the course.

California Kennel Club.

The California Kennel Club held its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday last, at the office of J. B. Lewis, corner of Montgomery and Sacramento streets. Those present were Mr. Lewis, A. E. Post, Thomas Higgs, J. B. Martin, A. B. Truman and two others.

Thomas F. Casey ann Jeremiah Noonan were elected members.

A communication was received from A. P. Vredenburgh, Secretary of the American Kennel Club, notifying the California Club that it had been elected to membership.

Max Wenzel of Hoboken, New Jersey, a prominent member of the Irish Setter Club, was unanimously elected a delegate to the American Club to represent the California Kennel Club.

A. E. Post was elected a member of the Executive Committee of the California Kennel Club.

A. B. Truman, Thomas Higgs and J. B. Martin were elected a committee to consider the advisability of giving a bench show in the near future. It is likely that the show will be held.

Some discussion occurred on the proposition to bar Mr. Truman's dogs from competition, but the owner stated that they would be entered in the challenge class, and would therefore not interfere with the entries in other classes.

Interstate Coursing.

The movement towards giving a great coursing meeting at Merced in the Fall, and hanging up purses so great as to make it worth while for some of the Eastern and English dogs to compete, is likely to be successful. A large and enthusiastic meeting of coursing men was held at 539 California street, city, on Wednesday evening last.

The following were elected permanent officers of the association: President, Dominick Shannon; vice-president, Henry Wormington; treasurer, J. C. Nealon; Secretary, J. R. Dickson.

The following committees were appointed to collect subscriptions for the necessary purse required by the Eastern sportsmen who intend to compete in the interstate match:

San Francisco—William Stout, John Grace, James Douglas, Matthew Nunan, John Hammill.
Redwood City—P. Foley and J. Hand.
Petaluma—D. J. Healy and Patrick Carroll.
Oakland—P. Gallagher and P. Miller.
Newark—John Dugan.
San Jose—William McCormick, A. Tracey, T. Cooney.
Santa Clara—Dr. Wadams, Mr. Curtiss, Mr. Portal.
Rocklsnd—Edward O'Connell.
Sacramento—William Hanrahan, Thomas Waite and Patriok Kenny.
Bloomfield—P. Carroll.
Los Angeles—Walter Moore, Thomss Rice.
San Quentin—W. D. Berry.

The President was authorized to appoint any one else whom he may deem worthy.

The president announced that the association had received a guaranty of $500 from Merced. About $3000 will be sufficient to insure the match, and that amount is already assured,

The next meeting will be held on Wednesday, June 25th

The Kennel Club Muddle.

The action of the American Kennel Club in admitting the California Club to membership is being harshly criticized by some members of the Pacific Kennel Club; those who object to its admission insist that it is not a club except in name, that it has no bona fide membership nor any officers who are performing or have performed any services in connection with it for four years last past. The discontented ones persist in saying that the aimns of the California Kennel Club is to subvert the purposes of the Pacific Kennel Club; to belittle what has been done by members of that Club and generally to harrass and hamper rather than to move on in good faith for the interest of dogs and their owners. It is urged that after such representations as to the extent of the Kennel field in San Francisco as were made to the American Kennel Club, it was unwise and unfair to the Pacific Kennel Club to admit a competing organization even though that organization existed only nominally. It is proposed by some of the more quick tempered members of the P. K. C. to withdraw that club from the A. K. C., but it is not probable that such action will be taken. We hope that the utmost circumspection will govern all proceedings in this matter. It is worse than folly for any single Club to presume to dictate to the general Kennel organization of America. Any attempt to override the action of the general body can only result in disaster to the club which makes the effort. That mistakes may have been made by the A. K. C. is likely but it is a poor remedy for errors in the working of a grand institution such as the A. K. C. to demolish the body or to weaken it by lessening its membership. We are not prepared to say that the California Kennel Club has any members or that there is in fact any such institution in existence nor can we deny the existence of the club, if anybody acquainted states that it is in operation. A Kennel Club amounts to nothing anyhow except at about the time when a show is to be given. Then the mosshacks swarm about, jabber and bustle as though they had been in it all the time. One thing is sure, viz: that no show in San Francisco can be made to clear its way which is not conducted more economically than those given by the Pacific Club. If the admission of the California Kennel Club to the A. K. C. operates to make the Pacific Club more careful it would be a good thing. At all events it is nonsensical to think of taking the Pacific Club out of the A. K. C., because if the former ever desires to give a show it must necessarily apply for re-admission. A little time would temper the acerbity of those who are now cross firing in relation to the clubs.

Muzzling Greyhounds at Coursing Meetings.

In your valuable journal of May 23 we notice a comment on muzzling greyhounds at inclosed meetings, and to entirely set aside any and all questions in regard to this subject will fully explain the modus operandi of the muzzling process. The muzzling is done, of course, to protect the rabbit from being killed, and this is done, not for the sake of economy, but to do away with the least shadow of objection to coursing on the score of cruelty. The universal sentiment of those who saw the trials at Hutchinson last Fall with the greyhounds without muzzles was in favor of muzzling; and when the second stake was opened the association decided to use the muzzles on every occasion where the running was on inclosed grounds.

The muzzles used are of very light steel wire and are capacious enough so that the dog can have perfect freedom in the use of his jaws. He can open his mouth to the fullest extent desired.

After each course an attendant secures the dogs at once and the muzzles are taken from them. The straps around the neck are not tight, and in reality the dog is not in any sense distressed or even annoyed by the muzzles; every owner of the greyhounds that competed at the meeting will tell you that there was no appreciable difference in the running of the dogs with the muzzles on, and should those with whom you have conversed witness a course they would be thoroughly convinced of muzzling the dogs.

The muzzle is a sort of basket work covering the nose to the eyes, with three long wires reaching to the neck back of the ears, through he ends of which the strap is fastened, and while it does not prevent his breathing in full, he is unable to close his jaws on the hare. We have now run four meetings with the dogs muzzled and in no one case has a dog suffered in the least and it has proved so universally successful that it will be understood that under no circumstances will a course be run on inclosed grounds without the dogs are muzzled.

When the subject of coursing was broached to the officers of the Humane Society at St. Louis and an explanation was given of the protection given the rabbits by using the muzzle they at once said, "why, of course there can be no objection to the sport if the dogs are muzzled and an escape is made for the hares," and they were out in force and enthusiastic observers of the sport, made harmless and devoid of cruelty by the use of the muzzle. Who knows a better way. —G. Irwin Royce, in Turf, Field and Farm.

[Confess, now, Dr. Royce that you felt uncomfortable in knowing that you could not course to rule with muzzled dogs, because so many points were prevented by their inability to use their jaws freely. Why not make a stand against the mawkish sentimentality which would hamper and practically destroy one of the grandest of sports? What thoroughbred courser would consent to load his dog with wire masks and heavy collars? Ed.]

Occidental Coursing Club.

The Occidental Club held its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening last, at 21 Kearney St., city. Those present were Messrs. Gregory, O'Keeffe, Abbott, W. S. Kittle, Dickson, Wormington, Boyd, Nolan and Carroll. Treasurer Abbot reported $48.35 in the treasury. It was suggested by Mr. Abbot that a trophy be added to the regular coin prizes at the Thanksgiving Day meeting of the club, and the suggestion met general approval, some $40, being subscribed on the spot. The club then went into executive session,

Mr. R. E Culbreth has lost his fine St. Bernard Rex. The dog was poisoned on June 9th by some miscreant. Rex stood 32 inches at the shoulder and in condition weighed 210 pounds.

Mr. W. J. Golcher has become the owner of that very handsome white and liver pointer bitch Jessie Ranger (Ranger Croxteth—Fannie Faust) which was brought by Mr. A. B. Elford from the Dilley Kennel to this city. Jessie Range should bear fine progeny if judiciously bred.

Mr. Watson's Field Trial Derby entry he calls Old Black Joe II but why it is not easy to see since there can be no direct relationship between the dogs. This later importation is like that famous Old Black Joe. a dog of unknown breeding. We hope it may develope the extraordinary excellence of the winner two years ago.

Kennel matters are quiet although the dog days are near at hand. About the only activity noticeable is at the training grounds of Mr. M. D. Walter near Galt, and of Mr. Allender near Watsonville. At these places fine strings of young pointers and setters are being handled in preparation for next January's Trials at Bakersfield. Those who did not send full particulars when sending their Derby entries should do so at once. There is a reason for insisting upon this which will be readily understood by all dog men.

The attention of such of our readers as are interested in coursing is called to the effort being made to give a monster coursing meeting during the coming fall. The citizens of Merced have subscribed $500 toward such an event and other subscriptions are being freely offered. A little vigorous action will insure stake money amounting to several thousands of dollars and will bring to the State the crack dogs of America and probably some from abroad. Those who care to do so may send their subscriptions to the Breeder and Sportsman.

Some Practice Scores.

Some very fine work was done at Bird's Point a few days ago by Messrs. Robinson, Eddy and Fay. The shooting was strictly to American Association rules. On May 23d the following scores were made:

Robinson ....1 0 2 1 1 1 2 1 1 1 1 0 1 0 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 0—17
Eddy..... .....1 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0—20
Fay..... .....1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—20

On May 27th, the scores were:

New Game Birds.

There is something of interest to sportsmen in the report just received at the State Department by Minister Thomas, at Stockholm. The minister proposes to introdnce into this country the capercailzie and the black game. These are the two most important birds of Sweden and Norway. In the fall and the winter they are to he seen hanging on branches at the market places of Stockholm.

The capercailzie is the largest and noblest member of the grouse family. The full grown male weighs fiom ten to twelve pounds. He is an extremely hardy bird. In Sweden and Norwsy he is found in large nnmbers up to and beyond the arctic circle, as far as the 70th parallel of north latitnde. He can endure the severest cold and deepest snows of the longest winters. He often avoids the bitterest cold by burrowing into the snow, thns obtaining warmth and shelter.

This bird subsists upon the coarsest and commonest food. He feeds npon the buds and leaves of trees, the needles of leaves of the pine and sprnce, young pine cones, clover and grass, berries of all sorts, seeds and grain, and insects of every kind. In the depth of winter a capercailzie has been known to live for more than a week in the same pine trees, subsisting entirely npon pine leaves and young pine cones.

The capercailzie is pre-eminently a bird of the pine woods, or pine mixed with birch, spruce, maple and other growths. He loves wooded hillsides better than wooded plains, and he must have fresh water near by—either a brook or pond or piece of swampy ground.

He is a local, not a migratory bird, though sometimes lack of food or other causes may drive him to extensive wanderings. In his habits he much resembles the American ruffed grouse—though in size he is nearly ten times as large.

The black game inhabits nearly the same kind of region as the capercailzie. He is equally hardy and can withstand the cold and snows of the most rigorous northern winters. His weight is about three ponnds—about the same as our prairie chicken. The male bird is a lustrous, metallic black in color; hence the name. He has, however, a white strip in his wings, and his jet black, outward-curving tail feathers are much prized as a hat ornament in the Tyrol.

The black game is also a grouse, and he is often found in company with the capercailzie, or at least in close proximity. The black game is also a bird of the woods, bnt the birch is pre-eminently his tree, though he is met with in mixed growths of almost every variety. He does not frequent the deep woods as the capercailzie; he loves better the borders of the forests and woods and groves with frequent openings. He is also fond of cranberry swamps, and in swampy lands is often found miles away from any forest.

His food is much the same as the capercailzie, though not quite so coarse. It consists chiefly of the buds and leaves of trees, berries and insects. In summer the black game is very fond of blueberries, raspberries and cranberries; in winter he feeds principally upon the buds of the birch, hazel, alder willow and beech, and when pressed for food will eat the young green cones of the pine. This bird seems to be equally fond of animal food, and readily eats snails, worms, the larvæ of ants, flies, beetles, etc.

He is a more social bird than the capercailzie, and comes out more into the fields and clearings, and nearer the abodes of man.

"Hundreds of times," Minister Thomas writes, "when traveling through the forests of Scandinavia, I could scarcely resist the conviction that I must be back again in the woods of New England. Here in Sweden are the same hill sides and mountains, the same swift, clear brooks, foaming in their rocky beds, and the same forest trees—the pine and spruce, the birch, maple and beech, and oak and ash. Here are the same wild berries too, and in Sweden you may pick wild strawberries, raspberries, blueberries and blackberries, just as with us in America.

Then take the two grandest and most useful of the wild animals of Scandinavia. The reindeer of the fields is almost identical with our own caribou, and the most expert naturalists have been unable to distinguish any substantial difference between the Swedish elk and the moose of America. The fact is that a great portion of the United States—at least one third, perhaps one-half—is fitted to be the home of the capercailzie and the black game. for there is a suitable climate, a suitable broken country of hill and dale, well watered and covered with a suitable forest growth, and this forest growth together with its underbrush and bushes, will not only provide shelter for these birds, but will furnish them with all the food they require until they become as plenty as European sparrows now are in our streets and public parks. It is my firm conviction that these valuable birds will thrive throughout all the wooded districts of New England, New York and Pennsylvania, and westward through the greater portion of the states of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota. They will also find a congenial home along the wooded slopes of the Rocky Mountains for their entire length as well as in all the wooded ravines and declivities of the mountain ranges of California, Oregon and Washington,

The fact that these birds are found among the hills and mountains of Europe as far south as Greece, Italy and Spain renders it almost certain that they will find a congenial climate and nature throughout the entire ranges of the Alleghanies, the Blue Ridge and the Cumberland mountains, together with their spurs, side hills and outlying forest districts and may thus be easily acclimated over large sections of the states of Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama. And beside the districts above enumerated, there are doubtless many other portions of the United States well fitted to be the home of these magnificent game birds.

The minister explains that it will not be worth while to attempt to try the transportatian of the eggs. That method is usually a failure. But he believes it is feasible to ship the full-grown birds, and says that the forests of Scotland and various localities in Hungary, Austria and Germany, where these birds had been exterminated by the hunters, had been restocked in this way. He believes that a hundred capercailzie and a hundred black game can be obtained and put down in this country at a cost of $3,000.

From Austin B. Sperry.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—As you were particularly anxious in regard to my appearance when I returned from my journey abroad, I conceived the idea of dropping you a line to prepare you for the real changes in my general appearance. You may expect to see a wind splitter with a suit composed of two plaids, a tall silk hat, and the usual single eye glass. It really takes the American to ape the customs of the old country, and I am just the one to do it. In regard to my travels so far I will not attempt to describe them, as everything is such a change to what they have at home. I am endeavoring to find some one who will invite me to witness the shooting of the London Gun Club, and think I have sufficient cheek to succeed. At Monte Carlo I intend also to witness the shooting. In Corry, Penn., U. S. A., I met a Mr. H. A. Penrose, (who I believe is considered one of the crack shots of the East, and is interested in the manufacture of the Keystone argets.)

He was very kind to me, and invited me to participate in the Club Shoot, which took place while I was there, and which I accepted, but did not distinguish myself. The Keystone targets and traps I consider far superior to the Blue Rocks, and I saw them worked to the best advantage. The birds are much superior, and the traps throw the birds with greater speed and more accuracy than any I have ever seen. I believe them to be the coming artificial bird. They are all packed very carefully, insuring a less percentage of breakage. The Blue Rock manufactory at Cleveland I saw also, but it does not begin to compare with the other.

I wanted to say one thing in regard to the enthusiasm of the Eastern sportsmen over ours. At Corry where I visited, (which is a town of only about 7,000 inhabitants) they have a club of over 70 members, a nice club house on the grounds and all of which is entirely owned by the members, and club day they all turn out. The day I had the pleasure of shooting with them it snowed quite hard, but nearly all were present and participated in the shooting. They shoot very rapidly, over 40 shot this day at 25 birds apiece. We began about half past two and were through before five.

Kindly remember me to all of my friends, and hoping to meet you at the meeting in October. A. B. SPERRY.

LONDON, ENG., May 18th.

At a regular meeting of the Pacific Sportsmen's Club of Sacramento last Sunday night, it was decided to hold the next medal shoot at the Gerber grounds on Sunday, June 15th. The club has joined the State Sportsman's Association, and will entertain all visiting clubs in October.

Major S. I. Kellogg, of the Selby Standard Cartridge Company, is visiting Portland, Or., for health and business combined. We hope he may soon return sound in body, and encouraged in his efforts to push the sale of his excellent ammunition.

A very graphic and interesting letter is that from Mr. Austin Sperry. We can clearly picture the man in the moon and without great mental strain can describe Heaven as we understand it, but to conjure Austin Sperry in the character of an Anglo—Ans is too much. We congratulate England, the continent and all those parts, upon the opportunity to meet Mr. Sperry than whom we know no clearer headed or more typical American. We hope that persistent sportsman editor of the Shooting Times Mr. Lewis Clement, may meet Sperry and take him down into the Shires for some sport.

It is well worth noting that Mr. Martinez Chick in making his brilliant shooting against Captain Brewer used Selby Standard Cartridges. The scores were the best ever made at a like number of birds in consecutive matches. Captain Brewer loaded his own cartridges but Mr. Chick simply went into the Selby Company's office and selected his ammunition from the supply in store, not even thinking it worth while to have them specially loaded, so near perfection have the cartridges been brought by Major S. I. Kellogg and his co-laborers in the loading plant. Those who saw the shooting will admit that more even, harder hitting ammunition never was let go from a shot gun.

The fear that the late rains had chilled many nests and destroyed most of the young quails does not appear to be well founded. Reports from many portions of the State agree that not for many years have young birds been so abundant. In Marin, Sonoma, Napa, Solano, Contra Costa, Alameda and San Mateo Counties, those which are most frequented by San Francisco sportsmen, the stand of quails is greater than any since 1883. It is to be regretted that the southern portion of the State, particularly about San Diego, is being swept of its game to meet the never ceasing demand of the great hotels of that section. The San Diego club does not seem to be able to cope with the owners of the Coronado Hotel, which institution we are informed is seldom or never without freshly killed game in its larders.

The sixth annual trap shooting tournament of the Sportsman's Association of the Northwest, will be held at Portland, Ore., on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 19th, 20th and 21st. Twelve matches are listed, some at Peoria blackbirds and some at live birds. In the blackbird matches the entrance is $3, at live birds entrance is $5 except in one of the matches on Friday, when the entrance will be $25. The special prizes are very many and of great value, ranging from $150 down to $8. But few of the matches, in fact, only two are limited to residents of the Northwest. Californians can shoot in ten of the twelve events, and if they have not lost all their money by the time they get through with those, they can make special sweeps and get rid of the rest of it. The conditions are these:

All shooting will be class shooting. Prices for inanimate targets will be 5 cents. Prices of live birds will not exceed 40 cents. All matches will be shot under the American Shooting Association rules, subject to the approval of the Association.

Entries in each match will close at the firing of the first gun.

No badge or medal offered in this programme (except the Selby best average badge which is open to all comers), can be won by other than a bona fide member of the Sportsman's Association of the Northwest.

Refreshments and Ammunition can be procured on the club grounds.

The officers of the Association are: W. T. Muir, President M. R. and G. C.; H. T. Hudson, Secretary S. A. N. W.; Buell Lamberson, Secretary M. R. and G. C.

Dr. S. .E Knowles, Dentist, removed his office from the corner of Post and Dupont Sts. to the S. E. corner Post and Stockton Sts. June 9th, 1890, and students in guns and gunnery should note the change.

Mr. W. G. Steele, President of the Exploration Department of the Oregon Alpine Club of Portland is trying to stop the sending of skins of deer killed out of season from Oregon to this state and we hope will have the sympathy and assistance of all sportsmen.

A very handsome advertisement is that of the Golcher Hunting Boots and Shoes which appears in another column and it can truly be said of these goods that "handsome is as handsome does." If we have a reader who wishes to own a pair of boots or shoes suitable for walking in over quail ground, through the mountains for deer, about summering resorts, as fishing waders, on pedestrian tours or anywhere else where a sensibly shaped thoroughly made shoe of lasting material is needed then we unreservedly advise him to go or write to Clabrough, Golcher & Co., at 630 and 632 Montgomery St., for the Golcher Hunting Shoes. This advice is resultant upon the severest possible test of the shoes for the purposes suggested. A few days ago we visited the store and purchased a pair of the shoes, put them on in the shop, tramped off in them and for two days did hard walking over the mountain roads and along fishing streams, without the slightest discomfort or inconvenience. There are no seams on the inside of the shoes or boots. The leather is alum-tan and oil-tan; there are good stiff counters and firm shanks and tough soles. The shoes weigh 2½ lbs. per pair, the boots 3 lbs, and while seemingly very low in price they are yet strong, well made and cannot but be durable. Nothing approaching them in excellence has ever come to our notice and they will undoubtedly be worn universally by sportsmen, anglers, field trialers, campers and all others who need delightfully easy, light and strong foot wear.

Major S. I. Kellogg writes from Portland as follows:

"I am trying to get up an inter-State match at inanimates. California will have here for her team Cadwallader, of San Jose, Dr. Taber, of San Bernardino, Cadman, of San Francisco and Yours Truly. Can't you stir up H. A. Bassford or Mr. Chick or Frank Coykendall, or a few more to be here and strengthen our team. Mind you the proposition is embryo as yet and may not culminate. Sorry to have missed the Chick-Brewer affair. Regards to all enquirers."

ROD.

A Trout Pest.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—I am sorry to inform you of the fact that a fly is beginning to attack the trout in these waters. It is a black fly with a rather large body for the size of the wings. I send you a specimen of fly with four large trout that they killed last Sunday. Wish you would show the fly to the Fish Commissioners, and get them to inform us as to the best means of exterminating them. What are fruit pests to this? What is an orchard to a brook full of trout as large as these? Hope you will get them in good shape. This is the best I can do so early in the season.

SIERRA CITY. JOE E. CARNEY.

[We failed to find the fly spoken of, and must ask Judge Carney to send us more, when they will be submitted to the Academy of Sciences. They should be sent in a bottle.—ED.]

Game Fish of British Columbia.

An exchange published in the far north gives these interesting items about the game fish of that section.

If there is one more than another thing that will attract the attention of the stranger on his arrival here, it is the excellence and variety of our food fish, while the gameness of some of them will especially commend them to the sportsmen. There are five varieties of salmon in British Columbian waters, to which extended reference has already been made in these columns. Three of them may be spoken of as game fish, viz, the Cohoe, the Sockeye and the Tyhee, or spring salmon. These are emphatically angling fish, and are plentiful in their respective seasons, notably in March and April, and when the rivers are full. They may be taken with the fly, minnow or spoon bait, in the sea, almost at all times. Frequently the rivers are too muddy for them, and they can only be caught at certain times and when there are freshets.

The trout of British Columbia are of two kinds, the ordinary common (salmo purpuratus) having black spots, and the steel head (salmo Gairdneri). The ordinary trout occasionally attains the weight of ten pounds, but three or four pounds may be considered the weight of a good fish. The steel head attains from 25 to 30 pounds. Both species are plentiful in all the rivers, some specimens of common trout being found in the lakes, which are never frequented by the steel head. Both fish afford lively sport for anglers, all through the summer months.

In this province there are two varieties of char, the Salvelinus malma and the Salvelinus Namaycush. The former have red spots and the latter are brown with yellow stripes. It is not often that either of these fish are caught with the fly, the last named variety having a fancy for the spoon bait, the minnow or a piece of bacon; but it is scarcely what may be described as a game fish. They can be caught all summer, and also through the ice in winter. The Salvelinus malma seldom reaches over five or six pounds, while the other is not known to attain over ten pounds, although in Eastern Canada it has been taken at as high as 120 pounds

The grayling is seldom seen in British Columbia, it being only found, so far as known, in the Cassiar district. On the other side of the Rockies, notably in the tributories of the Peace River and streams having their outlet in the Arctic Ocean it is comparatively common. Although its average weight is from a half to three quarters of a pound, it sometimes reaches from three to four pounds. It takes the fly well, and is full of fight. It is in the best condition in winter.

It is said that "giant powder friends" are at work on the streams of Lake County.

Mr. Ben O. Bush writes from Kalamazoo, Mich., that trout fishing is at its zenith, and that prospects for the coming shooting season are good, young birds being plenty.

A wrinkle to anglers about repairing a broken rod is to split a quill after soaking it, lay a piece or two pieces of watch spring along the break, cover it with the quill and bind the whole tackle with waxed silk.

Mr. Geo. Heazleton left for Webber lake on Monday last to be gone ten days. Mr. S. B. Whitehead, better known as a bookmaker, although a rare angler and owner of as choice a lot of rods as anyone we know goes to Webber next week. We fear both gentlemen will fail to have such sport as they desire because of the lateness of the season at Webber. The snow is barely off the ground now.

The Klamath is the objective point this year for the leading fly casters. Mr. Ramon Wilson intends to visit Shovel Creek, and may be accompanied by Mr. Will Golcher and Jno. M. Adams. What chance has a trout against such a trio? There is one consolation, however, that all of the gentlemen named use the fly and nothing else.

As was foretold, the fishing nowadays is something worthy of remark. The trout streams are just about right, flies are plenty, fish in countless numbers and rising freely. Dr. Heffenger killed something over a hundred in Sonoma Creek on one day of last week. Mr. Will Rix brought a beautiful basket of trout from Maria County last Saturday; the fish were unusually large, none of them being smaller than three to the pound and many weighing three-quarters.

Lagunitas Lake is full of beautiful trout at present, although no stocking has been done for several years. The use of anything but the fly is prohibited there, and we know no more charming spot to visit; whether for fish or merely for an outing. Permission must be secured from the San Rafael Water Co. to visit the premises. The Menlo Water Works Lake is said to be overstocked with bass. The body of water is small, although very favorable for bass; they multiply there astonishingly.

The fishing on the Carmel is superb at present. The first storm last fall washed out the fish ladder, and the fish are huddled below the dam, waiting with their ascension robes to go up. The road has been so that the company could not get lumber up the river to replace the ladder as required by law, but it is reported that it will be done in a week or two, and the Isaac Waltons who want to get in before the fish hegira should not procrastinate in getting there.

For some time past matters have not been going smoothly with the fishermen in the neighborhood of Sacramento of whom there are about twenty-five, exclusive of those operating below Freeport. They had been receiving about 3½ cents per pound for their salmon, which did not pay them as the boats about there average only about 10 fish per night.

On Tuesday last the fishermen met and formed a branch union among themselves. They called on W. R. Jones, proprietor of the Sacramento fish market, and made a satisfactory arrangement with him, by which he is to handle all fish caught by them, and of the net proceeds he is to have 10 per cent commission. If the fish brings 7, 10 or more cents per pound the fishermen will receive the benefit.

Under this agreement made, if any fisherman violates his contract he is to forfeit his boat and outfit to Mr. Jones; and if the latter does not live up to the terms he forfeits his fish market to the fishermen.

The latter were in good humor on Tuesday, and returned to their boats for their night's arduous work, feeling that life was at least worth the living.

The manner in which fish—especially trout—come on to feed during the early stage of a rainy day and "go off" as the volume of descending water increases, is an interesting item for the attentive naturalist-angler, says an exchange. It would seem that the increased volume at first sets free all kinds of hitherto quiescent larvæ, and that some tonic effect comes of the pure soft water of the skies. Later the effect is reversed, and the swarming myriads of water creatures are lost in the preponderating mud and vegetable debris, and the water itself becomes nauseating to the fish. One can quite understand also, how the multitudinous particles of foreign matter in a soiled stream may, after a while, mechanically irritate the delicate bronchiæ of the trout. Some fish will live comfortably in liquid mud (par example, the mud fish of Ceylon, described by Sir Emerson Tennant in his "Fishes of Ceylon"), but not so the patrician trout. His most delightful habitat is the icy and limpid spring gushing from some rock bound mountain glen or grotto. But of course he does not disdain the rain swollen river, providing there is not too much of it, but just enough. At such times he gorges himself on all the varied lower life of the stream, and retires to digest in somnolent complacency, ignoring sublimely the feathered lure of every kind whatsoever.

- Young Fashion — Imp. Monarch — Imp. Priam, by Emilius; Imp. Delphine, by Whisker
- Young Fashion — Fashion..... — Imp. Trustee, by Ca'ton; Bonnets o' Blue, by Sir Charles

Hurrah was imported by John Reber, of Lancaster, Ohio, a locality where there were but few breeders of thoroughbreds. Under these disadvantages he sired a long list of winners. His sire Newminster, won the St. Ledger 1851, and his dam, Jovial by Bay Middleton, winner of the Derby 1836. Newminister by Touchstone, winner St. Ledger 1834. Dam Beeswing, winner of 54 races out of 64 starts, by Dr Syntax, winner of the Doncaster Cup, 1837—40—41—42, the only horse that ever accomplished that feat.

On the side of the dam Three Cheers is equally well related. Young Fashion was the dam of Surprise, Scotland (the only horse that ever beat Asteroid a heat), Liverpool, Columbia, and Bonnie Kate, the dam of Little Buttercup, and the flying Bonnie Lizzie. His grandam, Fashion was the greatest race mare of her day and beat Boston in that historical match at four mile heats, which is recorded as one of the greatest events in the annals of the turf.

Horsemen who are qualified to judge, pronounce Three Cheers to he the finest type of the Newminster line in America.

LOCATION.

THREE CHEERS will be located at the Arcade Training Stable, Rancho del Paso. This place has been selected ior the reason that first class pasturage has been secured there for the exclusive use of these mares. and the other facilities to be obtained there for the care of mares (especially mares in foal) are better than can be found elsewhere in the locality.

TERMS.

$60 for the season with the usual return privileges. Pasturage $5 per month. Mares cared for as owners may desire at bottom rates for grain and hay. All bills payable before the mare is removed.

Mares shipped care of WM. IRVINE, Pacific Stables, Sacramento, will be properly cared for and sent to the ranch without delay,

Three Cheers will be in charge of one of the most experienced and competent stud grooms in the State, who will exercise every care, but no reponsibility assumed for accidents or escapes.

For further particulars apply to Louis Crissler, at the rance; Wm. Irvine, Pacific Stables, Second St., Sacramento; or to the owner,

Our Australian Letter.

SYDNEY, New South Wales, May 14, 1890.

DEAR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—The owner of that well performed colt Sir William, by yonr Sir Modred, has had the doubtful honor conferred npon him of having his horse placed top weight, 9 stone 5 pounds, in the Royal Stakes, a six furlong flutter to be rnn at Randwick on the 24th of May. Sir William was asked to give 2 ponnds to Sedition, which Sir William's owner thought so unfair that he scratched the colt's name out of the race. Sedition, an aged mare by Neckersgat from Irish Queen, is a sterling performer, who last year won the Newmarket Handicap, the champion sprint race of the colonies, and she won the Royal Stakes last year with the same weight in the saddle as she is alloted this year, so that the owner of Sir William may well feel dissatisfied at having to concede snch an animal 2 pounds.

Pony racing has been carried to snch a pitch in the colonies that the Australian Jockey Club, the premier racing authority in New South Wales has taken the matter up in the interest of legitimate sport, and passed the most stringent rules on the snbject. No trainer or jockey is now allowed to own a racing pony under pain of disqualification, and no programme that contains a pony race will be recognized by the Anstralian Jockey Club. Pony racing is now carried on night and day, the Lillie Bridge grounds, sitnated in one of the snhurbs of Sydney, being fixed up with the electric lights. The Anckland, New Zealand racing Club, have followed the suit of the A. J. C., and placed their ban upon the sport of the lilliputions.

The Hon. Jamss White's career on the English turf has not opened very auspiciously, what with the indifferent running of Kirkham and the hursting of the blood vessel of Plutarch. Kirkham and Narellan are big horses and comeof a stock that require plenty of work, and many Australian horsemen are of opinion that if a colonial trainer had gone to England with the animals they would have given a better acconnt of themselves. However, a colonial trainer will in all probability take Mr. White's string in hand next season, and when Kirkham and Narellan mature, I shall expect them to show the Britishers something in the way of weight carrying and staying powers.

Lurline, the dam of Darebin is dead. Lurline won a Melbourne Cup and foaled Darebin, a brace of events the like of which fall to very few mares.

Yonr Mr. Tom Merry, who is at present here purchasing brood mares, has evolved a scheme which on the face of it looks as though there might be lots of money in the transaction for all concerned. He proposes to promote a company for the purpose of buying at least a half dozen of the principal steeple-chase horses of this country and take them to America for yonr coming great exposition, where they will be exhibited on the varlons tracks so that Americans can see what wonderful weights the Australian horses can carry and what enormous jumps it is possible for them to make. Sir Roderick Cameron, who is at present in New York, has been communicated with in reference to the matter and he gives it his earnest support. In his letter Sir Roderick writes: "You would receive a cordial welcome from all sporting men here and they are many and influential. Yon also should feel encouragement from the snccess of Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show that proved a great success. If the Sporting Clnbs of Melbonrne or Sydney should take the matter up and look to the public for subscriptions, I would willingly give a fifty-ponnd note towards the fund and I would rejoice to see your horses clearing five feet of stiff timber and thns showing to our American consins how to do it; jumping here has so far heen a farce and I think I am safe in saying that four feet of timher has been the maximnm and more frequently it is thres feet six of hrush that is attempted." There are many here who feel inclined to go into the speculation and I am pretty certain that Mr. Merry will have the company completed before he returns with his brood mares on the next steamer.

This month has been a remarkably qniet one on the Anstralian turf, so I shall take the opportunity of giving your readers some notion of the most prominent Australian oarsmen which may prove of interest to you Yankees, by reason of our having amongst ns your crack sculler, O'Connor. O'Connor is well liked in Australia, and his practice shows the knowing ones that he is amongst the first flight, and it is the general opinion that he is far and away a better man than Ned Hanlon ever showed himself to he in Australia, whatever he may have been before he reached our shores. O'Connor considered himself rather badly treated at first in not at once getting on a match for the championship, which Kemp was supposed to hold, but Australian sportsmen are of rather a suspicious natnre, and they thought that if O'Connor met and defeated Kemp for the championship, the Yankee would at once travel for his native shores in company with the coveted honor.

Another point was that Sydney possessed four men, with money at their backs, who considered themselves fit to row for the championship: Stansbnry, McLean, Kemp and Matterson, so that it really resolved itself into rowing a series of races in "heats," to find out the best man, but O'Connor wanted the others to "row off," and he to meet the ultimate winner for the championship. This was manifestly unfair, as O'Connor would have started freeh for the final event, whilst his opponent might have been compelled to keep in training for two or three races and then row, a stale man, against O'Connor. Matterson, whose ability to raise the stake money alone put him alongside the other three, has now been defeated with the greatest ease by both Kemp and McLean. Kemp and McLean meet to-morrow afternoon, and your O'Connor is matched against Stansbnry, so that it will be between the winners of these two events as to who is the champion of the world.

Before I proceed further I may state that yon Yankees may lay the flattering unction to your hearts that we have not another Henry Ernest Searle in Australia. Searle was a phenomenan and his like may never crop np again in the aquatic world. Kemp I expect to see beat to-morrow by McLean, but in Stansbury and McLean, O'Connor will meet men of great pace, and men who possess the physical and mental power to stay out a gruelling race. In Australia, O'Connor is looked upon as a sculler whose races are decided on the first mile, as were Edward Hanlon's until Beach's dogged determination enabled him to wear down the hitherto invincible Canadian, bnt if such be the case, O'Connor need look for no respite until the judge's flag falls, for both Stansbury and McLean are as tenacious as a couple of bull dogs. It is a peculiarity of Colonial sculling that no other Colony but New South Wales can raise an even moderate professional sculler. The Colonial champions, Green, Hickey, Trickett, Laycock, Rush, Beach, Kemp, in addition to a host of second classers better than anything raised in the other colonies, all hailed from New South Wales. It is one of those things that cannot he understood by Yours, "THE JUNGLE."

REMARKS AND CONDITIONS.

TROTTING AND PACING.

All trotting and pacing races are the best three in five, except the two-year old, unless otherwise specified; five to enter, and three to start, but the Board reserves the right to hold a less number than five to fill, by the deduction of the entrance money from the purse for each horse less than five. Entrance fee, 10 per cent. on purse, to accompany nomination. Trotting and pacing purses divided at the rate of 50 per cent. to first horse, 25 per cent. to second, 15 per cent. to third, and 10 per cent. to fourth.

In the two, three and four-year-old sweepstakes, unless otherwise provided, moneys are divided as follows: To winning colt, all the stakes and 50 per cent. of the added money; second colt, 33⅓ per cent.; third colt, 16⅔ per cent. of added money. In all stakes payments not made as they become due forfeits all money paid in, and declares entry out.

The National Association Rules to govern trotting; but the Board reserves the right to trot heats of any two classes alternately, if necessary to finish any day's racing, or to trot a special race between heats. A horse making a walk-over shall be entitled only to the entrance money paid in. When less than the required number of starters appear, they may contest for the entrance money, to be divided as follows: 66⅔ to the first, and 33⅓ to the second.

In trotting and pacing races, entries not declared out by 6 P. M. day before must start.

In trotting races drivers will be requirtd to wear caps and jackets of distinct colors, WHICH MUST BE NAMED IN THEIR ENTRIES.

RUNNING.

The State Agricultural Society's rules of 1889 to govern running races, except when conditions named are otherwise.

Please observe that in the foregoing stakes declarations are permitted for a small forfeit.

In all the foregoing stakes the declarations are void, unless accompanied by the money.

Sturters in stake races must be named on or before 6 P. M. of day before race. All entries in purse races not declared out by 6 P. M. day before must start.

Racing colors to he named in entries.

Final settlement of all purses and stakes won will be made on Saturday morning, September 20th, at the office of the Secretary.

Entry blanks and racing rules will be furnished upon application to the Secretary. Entries in all races, except otherwise stated, to close with the Secretary on Friday, August 1, 1890.

MEMO is, as can be seen at a glance, one of the best bred young stallions in service, having three crosses of Rysdyk's Hambletonian and one of Harry Clay, the sire of Green Mountain Maid (dam of Electioneer, etc.), while Long Island Black Hawk and Flaxtail also contribute to his blood. Sidney (Memo's sire) is universally known as the best young sire in the world, a producer of extreme speed at an early age.

PERFORMANCES.

MEMO trotted in public in his two year-old form, obtaining a record of 2:49, though he was close to Grandee in a race on the Bay District Track, the second heat of which was made in 2:31 1-2, the first in 2:32. He exhibited phenomenal speed when three years old, and had it not been for a slight strain of his fore fetlock, there is little question that he would have shown in public very close to the best record. On the Oakland track he was timed a mile in 2:20 1-2, and frequently trotted quarters in from 32 1-2 to 31 seconds.

As a four year-old Memo only started once—at Sacramento—when, although out of condition, he showed great speed, and improving as he went on, great hopes were entertained of his going well down in the 'teens at the P. C. T. H. B. A. meeting, but after showing several very fast miles his leg filled and he was laid up for the season. He is sixteen hands high, and of powerful build throughout. His color is a glossy black, with both fore-feet white. His disposition is all that could be desired, and his action superb. He is a sure foal getter, only one mare being reported not in foal during his last season.

TERMS, $100, with usual return privileges, for a limited number of mares. Season to close JUNE 15th, when he will be prepared for track purposes. Pasturage $5 per month. Have leased the cricket ground adjoining the track for pasturage, where there is fine feed. Reasonable charges if fed hay and grain. Best of care taken of mares in any manner owners may desire, but positively no responsibility assumed for accidents or escapes. For further particulars address

Silver Bow

Will make the season of 1890 at the Oakland Race Track.

PEDIGREE.

SILVER BOW 11708, two-year-old record 2:37, is by Robert McGregor 647, 2:17¼ (sire of Bonnie McGregor, 2:13½, Earl McGregor, 2:21½, Mac D., 2:30, McGregor Boy, 2:29¾, Mark Time, 2:30, Roxie McGregor, 2:20¾) by Major Edsall 201, 2:29, by Alexander's Abdallah 15—sire of Goldsmith Maid, 2:11—by Hambletonian 10—sire of Dexter, 2:17¼.

Robert McGregor's dam was Nancy Whitman by American Star 14, by Stockholm's American Star.

SILVER BOW'S first dam is Sadie by Hambletonian 10, sire of Geo. Wilkes, 2:22—sire of Guy Wilkes, 2:15¼—also Electioneer, sire of Sunol, three-year-old record, 2:10¾, and Palo Alto, 2:12¼; second dam Lady Wynne by Wm. Welch 311; third dam Elenora Margrave by imp. Margrave.

DESCRIPTION.

SILVER BOW is a handsome bay, no white; 15-2½ hands high; weighs 1075 pounds; of fine form, with the best of legs and a clean-cut, intelligent head. Is remarkably level-headed, seldom making a break; wears seven-ounce shoes in front. His record, 2:37, is no mark of his speed; he can beat 30 easy, and with his gilt-edge breeding, he is just what he ought to be, a trotter sired by a trotter whose dam was herself a trotter and his grandam the dam of two trotters. His dam Sadie being by Hambletonian 10, shows him to be bred from the cream of the trotting blood.

TERMS: $100 for the season. Mares not proving in foal returnable for the season of 1891 free of charge. Good pasturage and first-class care taken of mares for $5 per month. No responsibilities assumed for escapes or accidents. For further particulars, address

Limited to 15 approved mares.

Season to end June 1st, 1890.

P. J. WILLIAMS,

Care Race Track, Oakland, Cal.

Pleasanton Stock Farm Co.'s Stallions.

DIRECTOR, 2:17.

Director's book is open for 15 good mares more than already booked for the season of 1890, at $300 each.

This is the cheapest service fee ever charged for a stallion, taking into consideration his BREEDING and RACE RECORD and the RACE RECORDS OF HIS COLTS.

Season to commence February 15th and close August 1st.

CORRECTOR, Five Years Old.

Sire Director 2:17, dam Brainey, she by Echo. Echo sired by Rysdyk's Hambletonian, out of Fanny Felter, by Magnolia, he by Seely's American Star. Brainey's dam Lady Dudley, she by Tom Dudley by Blacknose, a son of Medoc, he by American Eclipse. Lady Dudley's dam by Bertrand, Jr., a son of Bertrand.

CORRECTOR is a rich seal brown 15¾ hands high, and is the fastest young stallion in the world under the same conditions, never having been off the farm where raised and never been shod or driven for speed before last Christmas, and can trot quarters now in 35 seconds, a 2:20 gait.

He will be allowed to serve ten good mares, at $100 each for the season, which closes June 1st.

DECORATOR, Four Years Old.

Sire Director 2:17, dam Chess, sired by Cardinal 2.37, trial 2:28, he by Gen. Gifford's Morgan, dam of Cardinal, sire 1 by Joe Gales of Ohio, he by Marlborough out of the Duchess of Marlborough by Southern Eclipse; second dam old Duchess of Marlborough by Sir Archy; third dam by imp Diomed. Decorator's second dam a Morgan and Messenger mare.

Decorator is a light bay 16 hands high, and with but little handling for speed has shown eighths in 17½ seconds, a 2:20 gait.

He will be allowed to serve ten good mares at $50 each for the season, which closes June 1st.

Mares not proving with foal may be returned next season free of charge of service fees to the same stallion, if he is still in our possession; however, the company reserves the right to return the fee instead of giving service.

Pasturage $4 per month; hay and grain extra. Accidents and escapes at owner's risk.

Service fees due at time of service, and must be paid, together with pasturage, etc., before mares are taken away, or a good approved note given, payable August 1st, 1890, at which date all bills must be settled.

A Dry, Warm Place to Sleep,

No matter how stormy the weather. All Stock under cover when it rains.

VISITORS WELCOME ANY DAY EXCEPT SUNDAY.

How to Get Stock to the Souther Farm.

The Souther Farm is one and a half miles northeast of San Leandro and eight miles southeast of Oakland. The stables are about one mile east of the county road, which runs between Oakland and San Leandro. The place to turn off is at Stanley Road, where a large signboard of the farm is placed. Guide boards will be found at every cross road. In any ordinary weather the roads are very good, and they are fairly good after the unusually heavy rainfall of the past winter.

All stock sent from San Francisco may be brought over by Garcia's Express, No. 3 Market street, San Francisco. They also have an order box outside of Hawley Bros.' Hardware house on the corner of Market and Beale streets. The express leaves San Francisco on the Creek route boat, which starts at 1:30, but all orders should be in the order box at Market and Beale streets by 10 o'clock, or at the office, No. 3 Market street, by 11 o'clock at the latest. In the case of very young or very valuable horses, the Souther Farm will send reliable men to lead or drive over any stock that will not lead behind a wagon. A small charge will be made in such cases, to cover the extra expense incurred.

Horses are very easily taken from Oakland to the farm, and where it is inconvenient for owners to bring them or send them, the farm will send after anything that is to come. On horses that stay three months or over there is no charge for getting or delivering. Where a horse stays a short time the actual time and expense only is charged to him.

Horses can be shipped by rail from almost all parts of the State to San Leandro. Always notify the Farm several days before shipping anything, and then men will be on hand to receive stock on arrival. The railroad station is but two miles from the Souther Farm, and the agent invariably gives immediate notice of the arrival of any stock consigned to the above farm, but when word is sent to the farm in good season by letter or telegram, the animals sent are saved waiting a couple of hours in the car.

Passenger trains leave San Francisco (from the broad gauge ferry) and First and Broadway, Oakland, at frequent intervals during the day. There are several trains from San Jose to San Leandro on both the broad and narrow gauge railroads; the broad gauge, by way of Niles, is much more convenient for getting to the farm. There are trains each day from Sacramento, Stockton and Livermore to San Leandro. In ordinary weather it is a short and pleasant drive from Oakland to the Souther Farm or from San Francisco to the Farm by way of the Creek route ferry boat. Always notify the Souther Farm just when you will arrive at San Leandro, and some one will meet you at the station. If you do not recognize the farm conveyance ask the stage driver, who will point it out.

Leo Wilkes, brown horse, four years, 16 hands, full brother to Sable Wilkes, will be allowed to serve 30 mares at $100 the season

Mares not proving with foal may be returned the following season free of service fee. Parties engaging the services of any of the above horses must send a deposit of 10 per cent. of service money with engagement. Pasturage $6 per month, and when the condition of the animal requires it, hay or grain, or both, are fed, the charge will be $12 50 per month. Good care will be taken of all mares sent to the Farm, but no liability will be assumed for accidents or escapes.

All bills are due at time of service, but must be paid by August 1st of each year. No stock will be allowed to leave the place until all bills are paid.

Alcona 730.

Sire of

CLAY DUKE - - - - " 2:31¼

ALCONA will be a great sire, but four of his colts have ever been trained, and all have shown full miles better than 2:30, and two of them as good as 2:20. Two of his first sons each sired a colt as a two-year-old, and last season one as a four-year-old trotted a full mile in 2:23¼, and the other, a three-year-old, a mile in 2:31. With opportunities, Alcona is destined to be one of Almont's best sons. Almont, for his opportunities, is beyond doubt the most prepotent sire of his age. He has 36 representatives in the 2:30 list; 49 sons and 22 daughters that have already produced 2:30 performers. Almont died five years ago at 20 years old. If he lived he would be but 25 years old.

PEDIGREE.

ALCONA sired by the great Almont (sire of Westmont 2:13¾, Fanny Witherspoon 2:16¼, Piedmont 2:17¾, and 33 others with records better than 2:30, and grandsire of Belle Hamlin 2:12¾, etc.); by Alexander's Abdallah (sire of Goldsmith Maid 2:14), he by Rysdyk's Hambletonian. Alcona's dam, Queen Mary, by Mambrino Chief (sire of Lady Thorne 2 18 1-4, and 5 others in the 2:30 list, and sire of the dams of Director 2:17, Piedmont 2:17½, Onward 2:25 1-4, Red Wilkes Almont, Belmont and many other noted sires).

DESCRIPTION.

Alcona is a beautiful chestnut 16 3 1-2 hands high, and weighs 1300 lbs. His colts possess speed, style, finish and beauty, and if they don't trot they command the highest prices for carriage horses.

$10 for the season. Usual return privilege.

Season of Alcona and Grandissimo ends July 1st, 1890.

Grandissimo,

Full Brother to GRANDEE, 3-year old record 2:23 1-2.

Sired by La Grande (son of Almont, and out of Jessie Pepper by Mambrino Chief; Jessie Pepper is the dam of Ione 2:17 1-2, Alpha 2:23 1-2, Sterling Wilkes 2:31¾, and others) dam Norma, by Arthurton (sire of Arab 2:15, Joe Arthurton 2 21 1-2, etc.)

Grandam Nourmahal, (full sister to A. W. Richmond, sire of Arrow 2:13¾, Romero 2:19, and sire of Columbine, dam of Anteeo 2:16¾, and Antevolo 2:19½ at four years old).

DESCRIPTION.

Grandissimo is four years old, will make a sixteen hand horse; he is a rich mahogany bay in color and perfect in style and action. $50 for the season. Usual return privileges.

"Grandissimo" with limited training last fall as a three-year-old, trotted quarters in 36 seconds and miles in 2:40.

I feel confident that he will trot fast this season, and will be a great sire as his colts this season are all grand youngsters.

The best of pasturage $4 per month. Mares taken care of in any manner that owners may desire, but no responsibility assumed for escapes or accidents.

For further particulars send for circular or call at stables, one mile south of St. Helena.

DEXTER PRINCE.

This Royally-bred Stallion will make the Season of 1890 at the LIVE OAKS Breeding Farm, 2 miles from Lodi, San Joaquin County, Cal.

DESCRIPTION.

DEXTER PRINCE is a blood bay, 16 hands high, weighs over 1,100 pounds; has great power and substance, and the highest finish. When two years old, at Palo Alto, he was timed quarters by Gov. Stanford in 32½ seconds, and he was driven eights by Mr. Marvin at a faster rate of speed than that. He is a sure foal-getter, and invariably sires foals of good size, of fine form and finish, and the highest rate of speed.

PEDIGREE.

By KENTUCKY PRINCE, the sire of Guy, 2:10¾, Spofford, 2:18¾, Company, 2:19¾, Bayonne Prince, 2:21 1-4, Fred Folger, 2:20¼, and a score more in the 2:30 list.

First dam LADY DEXTER, full sister of the greatest of trotters, Dexter, and the greatest of sires, Dictator, the sire of Director, 2:17, Phallas, 2:13¾, in a fourth heat, and Jay-Eye-See, 2:10.

Second dam Clara, the dam of Dexter, 2:17 1-4, Dictator, Astoria 2:29 1-4, and Almah, 2:28¾. Clara was by American Star, that has 34 daughters that have produced 2:30 or better trotters.

Third dam the McKinstry mare, the dam of Shark, 2:27¾. HAMBLETONIAN, the grandsire of DEXTER PRINCE, has 40 trotters in the 2:30 list, 44 daughters that have produced 2:30 trotters, and more than 100 sons that have sired 2 30 trotters.

CLARK CHIEF, the grandsire on the sire's side, was the sire of performing and producing sons and daughters.

DEXTER PRINCE has faster blood lines, on both sides, than any other stallion in the world—Guy 2:10¾, and Jay-Eye-See, 2:10.

KENTUCKY PRINCE is one of the best bred and speediest stallions in the world. David Bonner, in the presence of Governor Stanford, timed him when he trotted a 2:10 gait. He is by Clark Chief, one of the great broodmare sires; his first dam is Kentucky Queen by Morgan Eagle, son of Hale's Green Mountain Morgan, 2nd dam by Blythe's Whip, 3rd dam by Marlin's Brummler, 4th dam by Quicksilver 880, on through the strongest thoroughbred blood.

TERMS.

$100 for the season, with usual return privileges. Payable before mares are removed. Good pasture, and the best care furnished, but no responsibility assumed for accidents.

PREMIUM.

$250 will be given to the first of the produce of DEXTER PRINCE put in the 2:30 list, and $100 each after the first. Address

DESCRIPTION.

EROS is a rich seal brown stallion, bred by Hon. Leland Stanford at Palo Alto, and is the nearest living likeness of his celebrated sire, Electioneer. Stands 15.2 hands high, and weighs 1050 pounds.

In breeding to Eros, the owners of mares will strictly follow the great rule of breeding, viz., breed to a stallion by a producer and out of a sure producer of great speed. Eros is by the stallion that has produced more 2:30 trotters than any horse living or dead.

EROS is out of the dam of Sally Benton, four years old, record 2:17¾, Sport 2:22¾, and Eros 2:29½ in the sixth heat, against a field of nine horses. He is from a family that is endowed with great natural speed, trot fast at an early age, train on, throw trotters from all classes of mares, are of good substance, bone, style and action, and breed solid colors.

TERMS.

$100 for the season, with the privilege of return next season should mares not be in foal and horse and mare still remain in the same hands.

Good pasturage can be obtained at $5 per month, but no responsibility for accidents or escapes. There are a large number of box stalls, and animals can be kept up and fed on hay and grain at reasonable rates if required. Mares already in foal can be sent to the ranch for foaling, and will receive all the attention bestowed upon our own mares. Mares left with Mr. Peter Pomyea, Broadway Street Stable, Oakland, or with Mr. F. H. Burke, 401 Montgomery Street, San Francisco, will be forwarded to the ranch free of charge. For further particulars apply to

W. H. VIOGET,

LA SIESTA RANCH, MENLO PARK, CAL.

EROS is the only stallion offered to the public on this Coast that has a dam that has three in the 2:30 list.

Sultan, 2:24 (sire of Stamboul 2:12¾) has 19 in 2:30 list.
Moor 870 — Clay Pilot 93 Sire of 2 in 2:30 list. / Belle of Wabash.
Moor 870 — Vashti ..... Dam of Don Tomas, who got a record of 2:20 in 1889.
Vashti — Mambrino Patchen 58 Sire of 14 in 2:30 list Sire of the dam of Guy Wilkes, 2:15¼; also sire of 20 stallions and 18 mares with get in 2:30 list. / Kate Taber By Mambrino Messenger, he by Mambrino Paymaster.

Foaled 1876. Black. Sixteen hands high. Bred by L. J. Rose

A horse of highest form and quality; of great excellence in every point; a type of his celebrated family; of marked individuality, spirit and endurance; never properly trained or raced, but shows the possession of great speed; perfectly manageable in the stable and on the road and track.

As he is sired by The Moor 870, a son of CLAY PILOT, out of Vashti by MAMBRINO PATCHEN, he is a most valuable cross for mares of other families. THE MOOR sired Beautiful Belle and the dams of Sable Wilkes and Margaret 2:28 (dam of Regal Wilkes, 2-year-old record 2:20½).

MAMBRINO PATCHEN is regarded as the unsurpassed sire of broodmares, having, among many others, sired the dam of Guy Wilkes and of Wm. L. (the sire of Axtell), and a son of his sired the dam of Axtell. The public sales this year have demonstrated with renewed emphasis the value of The Moor and Mambrino Patchen strains of blood. For combining particularly with the Hambletonians it may be called "the ready money cross."

GRAND MOOR will make the season of 1890 for a time at the Oakland Race Track and afterwards at my Ranch, fifteen miles from Oakland. Mares can be delivered at the race track to the groom in charge. Pasture at $5 per month. For other food, if requested, an additional charge will be made.

TERMS, $150 for the season, with privileges of return if the horse does not change hands.

Every care exercised, but no liability for escapes or accidents.

A nominator in making an entry in any of the above stakes shall give the name of owner, name of breeder and where foaled, the age, color, sex, dam and sire if known. Colts owned in the counties of San Luis Obispo, Fresno, Tulare, Kern, Santa Barbara, Ventura, Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Orange and San Diego shall be eligible to entry.

REMARKS AND CONDITIONS.

All trotting and pacing races to be to harness, mile heats, best three in five, except otherwise specified. Entrance 10 per cent on amount of purse. Trotting and pacing divided as follows: 50 per cent. to first horse; 25 per cent. to second; 15 per cent. to third, and 10 per cent. to fourth. Entries not declared out by 6 P. M. of the day before the race must start. In all trotting and pacing races, five to enter and three to start. The Board reserves the right to hold a less number than five to fill. Horses owned in Fresno, Tulare, Kern, San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara, Ventura, Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Orange and San Diego Counties, are eligible for entry in district races. A horse distancing the field is entitled to first and fourth money. The Directors reserve the right to change the hour and day of any race, if deemed necessary. Races shall commence each day at 1 o'clock. American Association rules to govern, unless otherwise specified. Hay and straw free.

Running—The Pacific Coast Blood Horse rules to govern running races. Colonial-bred horses, foaled on Colonial time, allowed as follows: Two and three-year-olds, eight pounds; four-year-olds five pounds, and five-year-olds, three pounds. In all stakes, starters must be named to the Secretary or through the entry box at the track, on or before 6 P. M. of the day before the race. In all stakes, the right to forfeit ceases at 10 o'clock of the day on which the race is run. Racing colors to be named with the entry. Entries close with the Secretary July 1st.

Remember, entries for the 2:30 Trot and District Trotting Stakes close June 16th, and for everything else July 1st.

L. LICHTENBERGER, President. BEN BENJAMIN, Secretary.

STOCK RANCH,

800 Acres Improved,

SITUATED TWO AND A HALF MILES FROM NAPA CITY, with good roads leading thereto, a good hard finished house of nine rooms, with all modern improvements, streams running all summer, a great amount of live oak and black oak timber. It lies in a fruit belt, surrounded by fine vineyards and orchards growing upon the same quality of soil, and originally a part of this tract. About one-half hill, and one-half rolling land, but none of it is steep and all easily cultivated, splendidly situated for the breeding of fine horses. Price, $65 per acre. A HALF BROTHER TO

ALMONT PATCHEN,

(2:15, trial 2:13 3-4).

JUANITO JR. is a beautiful bright bay, black points, with no white, foaled 1886. As a colt he has given much more promise than did Almont Patchen at the same age. Instead of being a pacer, he is a good square trotter, with every indication of great speed, and is so gentle and kind, that a lady can drive him. The owner's only reason for selling him is that business calls him away from this section of the State. He will be sold at a reasonable figure. This is a splendid opportunity for a gentleman to secure a first-class trotter at a very low figure.

The pedigree of Juanito Jr. is by Juanito (sire of Almont Patchen), dam Nettie Moore by Old Tom Moore. For further particulars, address

Peruvian Bitters are made of the purest ingredients and compounded as carefully as any prescription.

Peruvian Bark, one of its principal ingredients, was introduced into Spain by the Countess, wife of Count CINCHON, Spanish Viceroy to Peru in 1630, who was cured of a fever by its use, since which time, no better remedy for Malaria and for Restoring the Natural Tone of the Stomach has been discovered.

On the Atlantic Coast they are used in the principal Hotels, Clubs and Restaurants, and sold by all Grocers and Druggists. We have sold them for the past three years WITHOUT ANY ADVERTISING and sales have constantly increased UPON MERIT ALONE, and we unqualifiedly recommend them to our friends and customers.

Vol XVI. No 26.
No. 313 BUSH STREET.

SAN FRANCISCO, SATURDAY, JUNE 21, 1890.

SUBSCRIPTION
FIVE DOLLARS A YEAR.

Sam Purdy, 2:20 1-2.

Some time ago we sent a letter to Mr. Foxhall A. Daingerfield, the present owner of Sam Purdy, 2:20½, asking for information relative to the old stallion, as there are so many horses in this country to day that have the blood of Sam Purdy running through their veins. The son of Geo. M. Patchen Jr. has been for many years in the East, and it was not until the year-book for 1889 was published, that we found any of his get enumerated in the 2:30 list; however when that useful publication arrived on the Pacific Coast, it was found that Charlie C, by Sam Purdy, dam Bessie O'Malley by O'Malley, had secured a record of 2:21½ at Baltimore on October 25th, 1889. During the present year, Charlie C. has again started and materially reduced his record, and it was to find out what other sons and daughters, if any, of the old horse could show speed at the trot or pace in addition to the one mentioned, that occasioned the sending of the letter. In answer to the request, the present owner of Sam Purdy has sent us a communication which will be read with interest by all who are interested in the trotting horse:

WREN'S NEST, HARRISONBURG, Virg., June 9, '90.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—Your letter of March 27, 1890, was duly received, but ill health and press of business has so occupied my time as to render more than a bare acknowledgment impossible, and that little has from time to time been postponed in the hope that I should have time for more.

After Sam Purdy left California, he was for some years—or until 1881—the road-horse of Mr. James R. Keene of New York. In the spring of 1881, Mr. Keene (my brother-in law) sent him to me at this place. Then trotting horses were practically unknown in this valley; the population, largely German farmers, regarding three or four miles per hour fast enough for safety to the bones of the old or the souls of the young, had bred their mares on not the best blood-lines for producing trotters, nevertheless, the size and good looks of Sam Purdy so attracted even these quiet and slow-going farmers, that from the first he had in numbers a liberal patronage. A few of our towns people had saddle or driving mares possessing some running blood, and many of these also were bred to Sam Purdy.

The first foal dropped to him east of the Rockies was a chestnut filly from a mare by Doswell, a son of Planet; she unfortunately got an ankle injured, by breaking through a plank in her stable, and was injured for speed, but even now, having been used as a brood mare, would, I believe, if trained, endanger the 100-mile record.

The second, a gelding (dam a little grey mare used in livery in this town), is now the good horse Charley C., record 2:21¼ in a fourth heat when not in good condition. This is one of the gamest horses now living.

The third, a bay filly (out of a farm mare owned by a German farmer near this town), was purchased on her beauty and natural speed by a gentleman in Missouri, and was sent by him to Mr. J. V. Stryker of Jerseyville, Ill., to be bred to Monon, son of Nutwood. Mr. Stryker regarding her promising for speed, suggested to her owner that she be developed to some extent to give additional value to her foals. Under Mr. Stryker's management, she was trotted trial heats on the St. Louis (Mo) track in 2:30 and 2:31 as a four-year-old, and she was awarded the first prize at the St. Louis fair as the best roadster, four years or over.

An own brother of the same mare, in a field of eight (all the others standard bred), trotted one-half mile heats, the contest being so close between him and a son of King Rene, as to divide prize and stakes equally between them.

Every foal by Sam Purdy is a natural trotter, regardless of the blood or habit of action of the dam. Many of them pace and show speed at that gait, but they are distinctly double (not mixed) gaited, and the pacing tendency has not, so far as I am informed, in any case interfered with their training for road or track. I know a few that I believe have more pacing than trotting, natural speed.

The owners of these colts, being generally farmers, do not train—or even allow them to exhibit their natural speed—and the fact that their dams are so generally as "common as the town pump" (until some of them had been accidentally allowed to show that they had not only speed but ability to stay an indefinite number of heats), had prevented their being much looked after by persons seeking colts for track purposes. Now, however, they are eagerly sought, and wholly regardless of the want of breeding of their dams, are bought at prices which open the eyes of our farmers to the fact that a trotting horse is not an invention of the Devil, and incline many to the belief that they could give "the aforementioned" more trouble to catch them if behind a fast roadster than a plug.

The result is that the old horse is over-run with mares, such as they are, and gets from them a class of horses with not the smallest impress in quality of their plebian dams. I believe that any candid observer will admit that in purity of action, fine size, style and endurance, the get of Sam Purdy, from all kinds of mares, are as uniform as those of almost any other stallion from mares his equal in breeding.

There are very few recognized tracks in this State, so that very many winners at fairs sired by Sam Purdy have no records. I could name dozens that have won from one to five or six races at fairs and on local tracks in matches, etc., which have no records, but have shown most creditable speed and race-horse qualities.

Since his get from common mares have performed in public, his harem has much improved in quality. Until the day before yesterday none of Sam Purdy's get that was even out of a "mare by a standard horse" had ever faced a starter. On the one-half mile track at Richmond, Va., June 7th, Three Tips, three years old, by Sam Purdy, trotted a match race against a three-year-old Red Wilkes filly, owned by Jo Lasitter of Richmond, Va., on a one-half mile track, defeating her in straight heats in 2:44, 2:42, 2:43¾. The colt Three Tips, the property of Preston Belvin, Esq., of Richmond, Va., is out of Virginia Girl by Hetzel's Hambletonian, and was bred by myself.

The owner of Sam Purdy has bought mares one at a time, until now the old horse has some excellent matrons in his harem, and in the past two or three years, as many as eight States have been represented by the public mares bred to him, so if the "days" of the old horse are "as long in the land" as those of his sire, he may yet see many of his progeny emulating his deeds on the track when in his golden prime.

A colt in my town, which has shown miles in 2:28, has no record, though he has been twice matched for $500 against horses having records better than 2:30, he coming out harnessed for each match and his competitor paying forfeit. A colt (out of a mare not equal to five miles per hour in any gait) has started in two stakes at local fairs, and in three matches, and has not lost a race or a heat.

At Alderson (W. Va), Lynchburg, Stanton, Lexington, Winchester, Berryville, and many other fairs in Virginia, and at Frederick City and other Maryland tracks, Sam Purdy's colts and fillies have won good races. Many have actual records on regulation tracks in their time for two, three and four-year-olds. Gold Elsie, 2:30½, is just outside "the list." Strontia (a colt that once had his fore legs nearly cut off in trying to get over a stallion fence) has a record of 2:35¾, and last fall trotted in 2:29; Geo. Purdy, record 2:34¼; Frances Purdy, four years old, 2:47½; Stockinette, four years old, 2:46¼, etc., and none of them out of mares with any trotting blood.

Sam Purdy seems to get perfectly level-headed and well-gaited trotters from mares nearly or quite thoroughbred.

I believe I have seen most of the great trotting stallions east of the Rocky Mountains, and have some knowledge of the get of most of the old stallions, and I have never seen one who impressed his gait and individuality upon his offspring to a greater degree than Sam Purdy. He is hale and vigorous, and while dignified in his box, he plays like a five-year-old in his paddock, and frequently has a circus all to himself when his groom goes to catch him and put him in his box. He touches the road as lightly, and enjoys his morning work as fully and with all the gusto of a youngster; his constitutional vigor is wonderful.

In appearance the get of Sam Purdy are exceedingly handsome, showing fine size, shape, style and colors. I enclose a letter from an Englishman who resides at No. 3 Rumford Street, Liverpool, relative to his impressions of a mare (by Sam Purdy, out of a mare by Mambrino Pilot) which I sold him a year age, and which he had bred to Lord Russell. He had not seen the mare until recently at Woodburn, where she was in good company. You will note his impressions of her.

This same gentleman bought two trotting broodmares in this country a few years ago; he returned with John Splan, and has brought back a filly by Sam Purdy, foaled in England, which he will leave in America to be educated. The other mare he bred to Purdy remains in America.

Two of Sam Purdy's daughters were booked to the ill fated Bell Boy, one by Mr. Wm. Ellison of Richmond, and the other by the English gentleman above referred to.

Nutwood, Lord Russell, Sultan, Nutguard, and other great stallions, are being patronized by owners of good fillies by Sam Purdy, their fine appearance and gait causing their owners to deem them worthy of such mating. In this way the best bred of Sam Purdy's daughters are denied training.

Yours truly, FOXHALL A. DAINGERFIELD.

In addition to the above very interesting letter, we have also received word from Jas. Cox, Esq., of No. 3 Rumford street, Liverpool, England, expressing his high admiration of the Sam Purdy mare which he owns; and he also states that he thought so highly of Nellie Bowyer and her exquisite foal which she now has at her side by Lord Russel that he has bred her back. He also states that when at Woodburn inspecting his mare and filly, that of all the royally bred matrons to be found at Mr. Alexander's Stock Farm, there was not one that excelled the Purdy mare in appearance. He says "she was in high company, and she stood like a queen among the Woodburn mares; I only wish I had a half dozen like her."

Another communication, from Geo. D. McNeill of Mooresfield, West Virginia, states that he has a colt called Big Sam by Sam Purdy, which he sent to Baltimore, and in an easy workout showed a mile in 2:39 early in the present season, but unfortunately the horse was ruptured, and Mr. McNeill says he is very much afraid that he will never be able to trot again, although he had every confidence that 2:25 would have been an easy mark for his horse.

On June 7th of the present year a match race for $500 a side for the three year-old trotting championship of Virginia took place at Richmond, in that State, on a half mile track; however, the following communication speaks for itself: "The race for the trotting championship at Richmond, Va , to-day, between Three Tips by Sam Purdy, and Manesh by Red Wilkes, was a complete upset for the betting fraternity, as the filly was a strong favorite at two to one. However, the race turned out a very one-sided affair, for after the first quarter had been trotted it was evident that it was no contest at all, as the filly could never get her nose in from three to five lengths of the colt whose owner ran down the track and motioned to his driver to slow up, the colt jogged under the wire at a five minute gait, reducing the three year old record of the State by fully ten seconds on a half-mile track, which by the way, was 198 feet over length. I may state here that the track was prepared for Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show, and hence the oddity of its length; it would also be as well to notify you that the former three-year-old record of the State was made on a mile track and was in much better condition than the one over which we trotted to-day."

Yours, WM. ELLISON.

Mr. Dangerfield has also tried two experiments, by breeding two daughters of Sam Purdy to their own sire. It was a rather peculiar idea, and has too much the character of incest to be tried by other breeders, yet still the experiment was warrantable, owing to the scarcity of first-class mares. In a supplemental note Captain Dangerfield says: I have in the produce a yearling and a suckling whose gait and speed, age for age, I have never seen equaled, and both are grand, vigorous specimens of the trotter. A look at the weanling in my large pasture field where the foal was standing by the side of her dam makes me almost regret not having bred the mare back again to Sam Purdy, as the suckling filly is such a rare good one. We sincerely trust that in the future Sam Purdy may make a good name for himself in his new home, for most assuredly he has stamped himself while here in California as being one of the greatest trotters that ever appeared on a California track.

At the Denver Overland Park Spring meeting Carlile & Shields won $1,805; Kelly & Samuels, $1,320; Ed Gaylord, $1,000; Charles Feeney, $835; O'Brien Bros., $700; Denver Racing Association, $550; C. L. Richardson, $400; Thomas Hazlitt, $350; Pierson & Welsh, $300; L. Ogilvy, $250; Orange Grove Stable, $250; Golden Gate Stable, $250; All Shorss, $200; Clifton Bell, $200; Charles Johnson, $150; John Werlen, $150; John Winfield, $100; Palmer & Keys, $65; Charles Dutts, $50; John A. Davis, $50; H. Coombs, $50. The Palo Alto bred colt Pliny by Flood out of Precious, owned by Kelly & Samuels, has the largest winning to his credit, $1,320.

The Bay District Track.

When there are no fogs and but little wind, the Bay District track is always a place of interest for those who take a delight in seeing horses exercised. On last Tuesday morning a visit was paid to the track, word having been received that quite a number of horses would receive work-outs. The rain of the previous night interfered considerably with the programme, as it was not until high noon that a fast mile could be given to any of the trotters at present located there. In addition to the obstacles presented in the way of a slippery track, a very high wind prevented fast time being made, but quite a number of the horses were given moderate exercise, and there is no reason to doubt that there are many surprises in store for track frequenters during the present year.

Jas. A Dustin has a large number under education, several of which show promise of speed; still, there are several in the string that Jimmy has had but a very short time, and consequently no true line could be had on what they are likely to do.

Mr. Clay, of San Francisco, at the late sale of Mr. M. J. Hill, purchased a sorrel stallion named Ulster Wilkes, by Guy Wilkes, 2:15¼, dam by Ulster Chief, son of Rysdyk's Hambletonian. This sprightly young gentleman has been turned over to Mr. Dustin, and during the day was given two fairly good quarters; he shows that the noted sire of Guy Wilkes can reproduce speed in any of his get, and it is extremely probable that before the present season ends, that Ulster Wilkes will have a good low mark to the credit of himself and sire.

Rabe is well known to many of the California race-goers; he was last year in the stable of Dan Dennison, who secured for him a record of 2:24. Rabe is owned by Mr. Nixon of Winnemucca, Nevada, who hopes to materially lower his mark this year.

Another in the Dustin string is Mambrino Boy, a handsome bay gelding who takes to his work kindly, and shows every indication of lowering his present record of 2:30.

Gracie S., with a record of 2:22, is liable to have a full sister with a record equally low, as Lillis S. is moving along in splendid shape, and as one of our old drivers used to say, is "threatened with speed."

The old horseman, N. J. Killip, has a pacing team in Dustin's care, one of which was given a mile in 2:29½, while the other negotiated the distance in 2:34.

The Valensin Stock Farm is represented in the same stable by a fine large black gelding whose pedigree was given as being by Black Bird 402, dam by Buccaneer 2656; he was given a mile in 2:28½, and he took to the work so readily, that it is easy to believe that if started in a race he would readily compass the distance in close to 2:20.

California Nutwood, the stallion owned by Martin Carter of Irvington, is represented in the same stable by one of his get, a pacer, who was worked out a nice easy mile in 2:35.

Judge Green, of Oakland, is the fortunate possessor of a Sidney colt who is as yet very rank, still he was able to do a mile in the exceedingly good time, for a green horse, of 2:40½. This gelding has had only a month's handling, but the indications are very strong that he will prove a fast and reliable trotter.

A bay gelding by Nephew was also seen, but as he had only just arrived, no fast time was shown; he is a handsome animal, and will beyond doubt prove fast.

Capt. Frank Drake, of Vallejo, has sent down three to receive their preparatory work at the hands of Mr. Dustin, the first being a bay mare by Director, dam Black Flora (dam of Sister, 2:19½, Nona Y., 2.25, Perihelion, 2:25, and Huntress, 2:28); barring accident, this Director filly should this year add another to Black Flora's already long list of 2:30 performers. She was given a mile in 2:43, and was not pushed in the least. The second one is a full sister to the four named above, being by Admiral out of Black Flora. The third is a two-year-old chestnut stallion by Woodnut, dam by Admiral, who will undoubtedly prove a credit to sire and dam before long.

Mr. Dustin has also one of his own, a bay stallion by Dexter Prince, dam Bessie by General McClellan 144; 2d dam by Belmont; 3d dam by Shiloh. Although only a youngster, he is a good pure-gaited trotter, and his owner has a great deal of confidence in his ultimate speed.

The La Siesta Ranch has a half score of superbly-bred trotting stock at the track, none of which as yet have received any very hard work. Daylight, by Eros, made a name and mark for himself last year at San Jose, and as he is in the pink of condition, should be able to add another to his sire's 2:30 performers.

The bay filly Wanda has filled out and improved wonderfully since last year; she must weigh fully 150 pounds more than when she received her mark of 2:24, and although not given any hard work, seems eager for fast quarters and halves. Mr. Burke, who handled the ribbons over this superb mare, had no trouble in sending her a quarter in 38 seconds, the mare fighting for the bit all the distance.

Clovewood is the daughter of Clovis, dam by Nutwood, who, from a little spurt she made at San Jose early in the present year, deterred many from entering in the two-year-old District Stakes at that place; she is a large-bodied and clean-gaited filly, and if accident does not prevent, should prove her stamina and endurance before the season of 1890 closes.

During the early months of the year, Mr. Burke and his well-known trainer, Wm. Vioget, had many controversies respecting the merits of the best yearlings at the La Siesta Ranch. The many arguments finally closed by Mr. Burke and his trainer, each selecting one to do battle for their opinions; the one selected by the trainer is called Luck of Eros, by Eros, dam by Nutwood; 2d dam the dam of Vanderlynn, 2:21, by Joseph; 3d dam Old Scully by Easton's Black Hawk. The one selected by the proprietor is Donzella by Eros, dam the sister to Lewis D., 2:24¾. After a close and critical examination of each of the yearlings, it must be confessed that from present appearances, the Luck of Eros is the better of the two, however, Mr. Burke has great confidence in his own selection, and seems to think that Donzella can beat "Luck" in a contest.

In the same stable we also find Maggie E., 2:19¾, by Nutwood, dam by Geo. M. Patchen Jr. This well known mare, like the balance of the string, has received no hard work, but will be gradually prepared for this season's campaign.

Maraquita already has a record of 2:43, and is a handsome, well-disposed miss who, in her present four-year-old form, should considerably reduce her present mark. Maraquita is by Eros, dam by Elmo.

Another promising one in the same stable is Benefactor by General Benton, dam Frolic by Harry Clay 45; 2d dam Maori by imp. Australian; 3d dam by Lexington. Taken all in all, the La Siesta Ranch has a very useful lot of trotters, and from present appearances, there will be quite a number of Eros colts to add to the list this year.

Our Tennessee Letter.

GALLETIN, Tenn., June 13th.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—My worst fears of El Rio Rey's condition have at last become true, and my prediction that he would never win another race has been realized. Upon taking the horse to St. Louis, Mr. Winters had a veterinary surgeon examine him thoroughly, and after a close examination it was deemed best to at once retire him from racing and send him to the stud. It is evident from this fact that the Westchester illness was the commencement of the trouble. While the colt showed a splendid mile at Nashville, he could not go further than that distance, for on a good day and track there his best mile and a quarter was 2:16¼.

He will at once be sent to Mr. Winter's breeding farm. His fate is just such as was Sensation's, Tremont's and French Park's, all of whom were unbeaten in their two-year-old form, but were never trained thereafter. As these raced in different years, it will never be positively known which was the best, and almost everybody has different opinions as to their performances, entitling either one of the four to rank as king of two-year-olds. As these four colts met all comers and were never defeated, we must naturally class them superior to those that were good, but still had been beaten.

If the great colt Russell continues to show his heels to his rivals in the East he will probably be the first two-year-old to win as much as $100,000. Besides his already large stake victories he is yet engaged in seventeen of the richest stakes for his age, among which are the Carteret Handicap at Monmouth with $5,000 added, Junior Champion, worth $25,000, Select, Stakes and the rich Double Event, and Futurity Stakes. In all of these races he will meet Rey del Rey, and I look for the Winter's colt to as easily defeat Russell as the latter can a selling plater. Rey del Rey's stake engagements will be worth something over $100,000, and he may be the one to first cross the line. If he fills all his engagements he will, no doubt, come as near securing the $100,000 mark as will the Morris colt.

To-morrow week the seventh renewal of the American Derby will take place at Washington Park, Chicago. It is an open race—not because there are no cracks engaged, but because there are so many of them and they are all so nearly equal. Riley, Protection, Amigo, (His a Californian, and they always win Derbys) Bill Letcher, Prince Fonso, English Lady, Pilgrim, Helter Skelter and a few lesser lights that are engaged will make a hard field to pick from. Good-day and track, I would not be surprised to see them coming in this order, providing all of the above start, English Lady first with Amigo and Bill Letcher for the place horses. The Baldwin string are now quartered at Washington Park, where his horses are well engaged. He has been singularly successful in running this race, and there are a thousand who will back Amigo, thinking there is something in the "Baldwin luck." Bob Campbell, Mr. Baldwin's trainer, expects to win the race with his colt Protection, but I am afraid he will be sorely disappointed with his Junior Champion winner. He is a good colt, however, and he may finish far in the lead of the second horse.

The best played "scoop" of the season was that of the Daisy Woodruff party at Westchester last week; and it was even nicer than shrewd Johnny Campbell's nicely laid plans for the Brooklyn Handicap. Daisy Woodruff is owned by Reuben Payne, who owns a large breeding farm here, and he knows a "dead clinch" when they are about to come off That day "he went down the line," handling the books a "century" a piece on his little mare at odds of 50 to 1 against, and after she had run the race in 1:13, he found himself winner of $50,000. Every one of his stable boys simply got rich, and his trainer, Major Eliott, is said to have won $10,000 Last year Daisy Woodruff was bred to Asteiro, but owing to her not producing this spring she was again put in training, and very luckily so for Mr. Payne.

After all the Westchester course is not going to be the great thing it was once thought to be. The "straight" track is not what race-goers like to pay their money to see a horse run an eighth of a mile and a quarter race on. The circular track need not feel envious, for the tide of prosperity will soon turn and Sheepshead Bay, Brooklyn and other circular courses will be looked upon as the most aristocratic.

KENNESAW.

Los Angeles News.

The approach of the opening meeting of the Grand Circuit has livened up the horsemen all over Southern California, and the season of 1890 promises to be a memorable one. The entries for the 2:30 trot and the district trotting stakes closed on Monday, but at this writing all the entries are not in. The colt stakes have filled splendidly, such sires as Stamboul, Guy Wilkes, Woolsey, Alcazar, Gossiper, Albion, Will Crocker, Wilton, Endymion, Maximilian, Bob Mason and Christmas being represented.

"Lucky" Baldwin has arrived at Santa Anita. The Emperor of Norfolk, La Cienga and Costa Rica were sent East last week. The Emperor is expected to make his debut in the California Stakes at the Saratoga meeting.

The entries for the August meeting close next Tuesday week A good entry is confidently expected from the Northern end of the State, especially as the railroad company offer to charge but $100 for the transportation of a car load from San Francisco, San Jose, Sacramento, Stockton, Napa, or any point contiguous to the Bay City.

QUARTER STRETCH GOSSIP.

A brown stallion that will be seen on the California circuit this year for the first time is Jud Wilkes by Ira Wilkes. The dam of Jud Wilkes is Champion Maid by Champion Messenger. This stallion was imported from the East by J. W. Robinson.

John D. Young owns the only Monroe Chief stallion in Southern California. He is a three-year-old and his dam is by Young America, who is by Prather's Rattler.

Juan B. Arellanes is training a string of horses at Santa Maria.

Atto Rex and Gossiper are being slowly jogged. Opinion is divided about their standing for more than two or three races.

The only son of Wilton on the coast is entered in the trotting stakes for 1891. He is owned by J. W. Robinson and his dam is Grey Diana by Administrator.

Mr. Sanchez, of Santa Fe Springs, is training Dick Richmond. He expects to take this son of A. W. Richmond on the circuit this year.

Rajah has been thrown out of training.

The local papers are devoting considerable of their valuable space to booming the meeting in August.

Bay colt, by Tyrant-Springlike, by Springbok, G. W. Walbum $1,250.
Bay filly, by Sir Modred—Trade Dollar by Norfolk, Marcus Daly, $1,100.
Bay colt, by Darebin—Tulare by Monarchist, Hamilton Smith, England, $5,100.
Bay filly, by Sir Modred—Wanda by Norfolk, Marcus Daly, $1,300.

THE FARM.

DAIRYING.

The New System of Butter Shows in Denmark.

In a report just issued, Mr. Inglis, the consul at Copenhagen, says the Hull, (Eng.) News, who has already published an interesting report on dairy farms in Denmark, describes a new system of state butter shows recently organized in that country by the director of the dairy section of the Danish Agricultural Department. The fault of the old shows was that they were not of much practical benefit in encouraging the production of first class butter or in effectually tracing faults of manufacture to their source. The new plan has the support of a large number of dairies, dairy experts, and leading butter merchants all over the country. Its principal features are: (1) A continuous butter show at the expense of the State during several months of each year. (2) Here fresh samples of butter will be received every fourteen days. Thus there will be two distinct testings, not only of quality but also of weight. (3) The samples are to be sent immediately on the receipt of a letter or telegram, so that the dairymen will not be able to make a special cask for exhibition, and the samples are to be repeated as often as required. (4) Competing dairies must send in a return of the feeding system generally followed on the farm, with special reference to the week during which the samples are sent in. At present the number of dairies entered is 360. Nine judges have been selected, and these act in groups of three each, each group recording an independent opinion on each sample, which is checked by those of the other two groups. Each group will consist of two butter merchants and one dairy expert. The exhibitors are paid the usual market rate for their exhibits. The show will be held at intervals of a fortnight during eight months of the year, and the government grant during the current financial year is £1 350. As the same dairy will send in butter several times in the course of the year, great facilities will be afforded for ascertaining which are the best managed dairies, and it will then be seen where the art of butter making may best be learned. The report concludes by reproducing a series of questions in regard to dairy management put to the managers of competing dairies.

Some Advantages of Dehorning.

Whatever we may think in the matter of removing the horns from cattle when considered from a humane standpoint, we must admit that there are great advantages to be gained, says Field and Farm. First, it disarms the vicious bull of the weapons with which he kills humans. Second, it provides that the quarreling brutes shall live in harmony together. Third, it makes it possible for the weaker ones to live among the stronger ones and to obtain their full share of the feed when in pens or inclosures. There are many reasons in favor of removing the horns, and but a single one against it—that of humanity.

Mr. Morse of the Windsor Farm, with his hundred head of pure-bred dehorned Holsteins, says it has added $50 each to their real value. This from the fact that they dwell in peace together and require much less feed, since none is wasted in fighting and trampling over it. Every cow gets to the water troughs without being gored, and each gets its needed supply. There is peace and harmony in the stables. The management of the Broadmoor dairy dehorned 200 steers to feed for the shambles last fall, and found great benefit from the absence of the horns, since there was a uniform gain in flesh with all of the cattle feeding, and not one maimed or killed, and they went to the market unbruised and unscarred.

The greatest benefit from dehorning we have yet to speak of. With its introduction in the feeding districts of the West it has reduced the labor expense of taking care of cattle fully one-half. Two men will now take care of the number of cattle that, before dehorning, required three or four. Under the modern regime there are no stanchions required or no tying up in the barns. The dehorned brutes can be kept in moderately small pens and under sheds, nor be chained like wild beasts that destroy one another. Stalls in which to fasten and feed cattle will be unnecessary in the future. Close sheds and small corrals will be the style for cattle feeding.

Proposed Introduction of American Store Cattle Into Scotland.

North British Agriculturist (May 7): A public meeting called by the lord provost was held in Dundee yesterday for the purpose of taking steps toward securing the introduction of United States cattle into this country. There was a large attendance of farmers from the district. After the lord provost opened the proceedings, Mr. Andrew Hutcheson, in moving the first resolution, said that the importation of store cattle from Canada had proved so successful in Glasgow and Aberdeen that he hoped Dundee would get a share of the traffic. It was difficult, however, to make the scheme pay unless they could manage to carry along with them the importation of store cattle from the United States as well as from Canada. These cattle were forbidden because of the existence of pleuro in some of the Eastern States. He did not think there was a sufficient reason for prohibiting these cattle to be sent to this country except under the condition of compulsory slaughter on arrival. Pleuro was not like the cattle plagne; it could be controlled. Moreover, many people were skeptical as to the prevalence of pleuro, and he read a letter from Prof. Williams of Edinburg, in which he stated that he had examined thousands of United States cattle, and in no instance did he discover any sign of pleuro-pneumonia contagion. These cases of supposed pleuro were merely cases of lung disease, brought on by exposure, and not of an infectious nature. These testimonies, Mr. Hutcheson added, ought to carry great weight and cause the government to look carefully into the question. Canadian cattle were a limited commodity, but States cattle were practically unlimited, and what they required was free trade in cattle with a reasonable amount of precaution against the introduction and spread of disease. Dundee was deeply interested in this question, because the removal of the restrictions on American cattle would give a great stimulus to the cattle companies and would set them on their feet and add £2 a head to the value of every cattle beast in America. It would do good also to the farmers, for although it would bring down the price of beef, raw material would be cheaper. He was certain the American cattle were freer from disease than Irish cattle. He moved—"That this meeting, representing the town council and harbor trustees of Dundee, and farmers and others in this and neighboring counties interested, are strongly of opinion that it would be in the interests of agriculturists and the community generally that permission should now be granted for the importation of States cattle, on the same conditions as at present exist in regard to Canadian cattle, with such reasonable precautions as may be deemed necessary by the authorities."

Mr. A. Whitton of Couston, said he would go upon the principle of free trade. So long as this country was made the hunting ground not only of the natural but also of the artificial productions of other countries, it was unfair that agriculturists should not have an opportunity of getting raw material on the same terms. It was far from being a fair trade that fat cattle could be brought into this country, and poured, as it were, into the beef market, while they were prevented from going to the like market to supply their legitimate wants in the same way as other countries did. If they had got as many diseased cattle from Canada as they had from Ireland, Canada would have been shut out long ago.

The resolution was then adopted.

Salt Every Day.

Dairy cattle should have access to salt every day, and salt should be added to all their stable feed. A series of experiments has convinced me that when cows are denied salt for a period of even one week they will yield from 14½ to 17½ per cent less milk, and that of an inferior quality. Such milk will on an average turn sour in twenty-four hours less time than milk drawn from the same or similar cows receiving salt, all other conditions of treatment being equal. Comfortable quarters are indispensable to the health and well being of cows. Stables during the winter should have a temperature constantly within the range of from 40 to 55 degrees Fahr. In summer time a shade should be provided in the pasture fields, or adjacent thereto, to protect against the bristle making influence of July and August suns. In all the management of cows such conditions should be provided and such care given as will insure excellent health and apparent contentment. When practicable, milking should be done by the same person with regularity as to time. He only that hath clean hands should be allowed to milk a cow. I say "he" because I think the men of the farm should do all the milking, at least during the winter months. I have exercised the right of changing my mind on that subject since I left the farm. It is no more difficult to milk with dry hands than with them wet. It is certainly more cleanly, and leaves the milk in a much more desirable condition for table use or manufacture. Pure stable atmosphere is indispensable to prevent contamination from that source. Immediate straining will remove impurities which otherwise might be dissolved to the permanent injury of the whole product.—Orange Judd Farmer.

Shorthorns for Milk or Beef.

The handsomest and most showy form for a Shorthorn cow includes a broad as well as deep chest, full crops, fore ribs so round as to leave no depression behind the shoulders; a straight line along the back end of the rump; wide between the huckle bones, and well developed quarters. This is the best shape for making beef. For milk, the chest should be deeper and not so broad, fore ribs rather flat and long, crops less full than for beef, and the quarters quite broad, so that in looking at her in front her body will appear decidedly wedge-shaped, the larger end to the rear. But even thus formed, when dried off, a Shorthorn cow will fatten quickly and cheaply, and make a good carcass of a fine quality of beef. Occasionally one of beef shape—that is, about as full in front as rear, and rather fat—proves a great milker of a highly excellent quality, like some Holstein-Friesians. Many of those latter seem to have changed their nature in America, yielding richer milk generally than in Holland, and yet of a very abundant quality. No doubt this change is owing to the difference of climate and quality of food.

The summers in Holland are cool and wet and in Northern America comparatively hot and dry, with drier and more frosty winters, and the grass of our meadows is less rank and succulent. These have much influence in giving quantity and quality to milk and also in the formation of flesh. Still, the difference in breeds of cattle is paramount, and the animals should be chosen from such as excel in what is most desired by the breeder to produce.—Ex.

Pure bred Cattle for Humbolt.

Peter Saxe & Son have for many years been well known as importers of the purest and best strains of cattle in California. Last year Ira Russ, Humbolt Co., procured through Messrs. Saxe eight head of grandly bred Herefords, and was so pleased with them that under his instructions they sent last Saturday a splendid five year old cow and a ten month old heifer calf to join the herd. On Wednesday the same firm shipped a four year old Jersey Bull—Major Bagstock 18993 A. J. C. C., to Mr. Jas. Roberts of Humbolt.

Characteristics of the Cheshire Hog.

In the admirable articles of Colonel Curtis on "Swine Breeding," he gives quite an extended history of the development of the Cheshire, but does not give their peculiarities; so that one who had never seen them would know little of the difference between them and the other breeds. I give briefly their points of superiority:

1. Early maturity; at nine months or under the Cheshire, on the average, will outweigh any other breed. The best weights I can vouch for are the following: A litter of seven, killed when exactly nine months and one day old, averaged 406 pounds. One pig, from a litter from which the best ones were shipped, butchered when eight months and fourteen days old, dressed, 416 pounds—forty pounds of fat were taken from the entrails, which, if counted, would make dressed weight 456 pounds. Of course, these are exceptional weights, but good pigs, well cared for, should easily average 300 pounds or more at nine months. Half blood pigs from Cheshire boars will grow as well as the full-bloods. It is young pork that pays, considering feed consumed, and it brings a better price.

2. Quality of flesh—The Cheshire gives a larger proportion of lean meat than other hog [illegible] Lean is worth more than fat. To energize the active, nervous Yankee, lean, not fat is needed. The flesh is fine-grained and so of the best quality. The fat meat is solid, not soft and lardy, like that of some breeds. Feed a Cheshire and a small Yorkshire on like food and the Cheshire will give much the larger proportion of lean. These two qualities make the hog for the butcher as well as for home use.

3. Docility—No hog is more easily handled. Children [illegible] into the pen with the sow to play with the little pigs. At farrowing time, if weather is cold, a blanket is thrown over the sow, and, as the little fellows arrive, they are put under the blanket by the udders. In a few minutes the pigs are dry, warm and fighting for choice of position. The great loss of pigs at farrowing-time comes from their being chilled before they get dry. I notice some writers claim that hogs with erect ears are not as quiet as those with lopped ears. This rule, if it may be so-called, is utterly refuted by the Cheshire, which is the most docile hog in existence.—E. W. Davis in New York Tribune.

Southdowns.

An influential meeting of Southdown breeders was lately held at the Royal Agricultural Hall, Islington, for the purpose of establishing a society for promoting the interests of the breed; also for conducting some system of registration. There was a unanimous opinion that a society should be established and a register commenced. It was generally allowed that while for the home trade in Southdowns, the reputation of the breed might be sufficient; yet that foreign buyers unacquainted with individual flocks, look for a record. Unless, indeed, a register was established, the foreign trade was found to be seriously curtailed. It appears the movement in the direction alluded to had already produced an influence for good in bringing together many of the leading flockowners, who will find that in union there is strength, and that there are numerous ways in which the interests of the breed can be promoted by combination for that purpose.

Sheep.

No man is qualified for a shepherd who is not gentle in all his ways—a gentleman, remarks Galen Wilson, in N. Y. Tribune. Some are born sheepmen, some acquire skill in handling sheep; others are poison to the race. Grain producing farms grow poorer every year; sheep farms increase in fertility. The sheep crop suffers less by drouth than any other animal or vegetable. Breeding for the most wool to light carcasses is poor policy—there is no reason for sacrificing fleece qualities in carcass improvement. One cross upon pure Merino ewes by compact-bodied, close-wooled rams is usually of advantage, but cross upon cross will deteriorate the flock.

A good constitution combined with mutton and wool qualities, makes the perfect sheep. The breed that can give best return for care and feed is the proper breed to keep, and experience proves the Merino to be the winner in the race for money. The foot disease does not originate on high, dry ground, and animals affected with it recover spontaneously when removed from low to high land. Sheep moved from the limestone soil of the North to the sands of the South generally "die acclimating." Northern crosses upon the natives is the only way to secure desirable flocks there. Some flockmasters in a Western county have adopted heroic treatment of sheep-killing dogs. They feed their sheep pieces of beefsteak sprinkled with a solution of strychnine, and what the sheep leave the dogs consume, "and nobody's to blame." Horns on sheep are in the way all the time. Fewer can be corralled or folded in the same space or fed at the same time; they gouge out each others eyes, and a punch in the abdomen often causes abortion in ewes. Horns are a terror to the shearer, and valuable feed is consumed to produce the worse than useless appendages. Horns on lambs are prevented by excising "the buttons," as with calves, but the humane way is to breed the horns off. There will be muley ram-lambs among most horned breeds, and by use of such a Western shepherd had last season 500 muley ram-lambs out of 800, and he expects to succeed in breeding off all horns horns and establishing a polled Merino breed.

Trials of the Range Sheep Man.

It takes more brain, more energy, more foresight, says Charles Crane, of Utah, to run sheep than any other live stock; they must be constantly under the eye of the shepherd.

Ranges must be looked up, water piped, dug out and troughed, dipping, shearing and lambing looked after and prepared for.

Salt must be packed on the range, pack saddles, wagon and tent repaired; horses shod; supplies purchased; herders looked after; rams taken out and herded and fed, and often purchased; old ewes and poor lambs culled out, and sold; hay and grain looked after, for teams and rams in fall and winter; corrals repaired, etc.

His days are busy, and his nights are restless. The sheep are seldom corraled, and he knows when the moon is up, the flock is apt to move. When the wind blows, they will seek shelter behind a hill if near. He must sleep with one eye and ear open. A constant source of anxiety pervades his soul.

Often during the storms of winter he is up for days and nights, getting his sheep where they will not be snowed in. Often when driving to shelter, he glances around and sees, as far as the eyes can reach, a waste of snow; he struggles on with his flock, until they bunch and refuse to move, he camps, feeds his team, and perhaps without a tree in sight, or brush large enough to burn, goes supperless to bed, or watches his flock all night. In the morning his team is gone, his feet, although well wrapped up, are frozen, the storm continues for days, without a soul in sight; cold, miserable, hungry and wet, he walks around the flock and when the storm ceases, he finds he has lost twenty per cent, perhaps fifty per cent of his entire flock, the result of years of toil, labor and privation.

Is it strange we sometimes hear of a splendid shepherd committing suicide? The constant strain and anxiety, for safety of this flock, weighs heavily upon him, and the splendid physique and active brains give way, and in a moment of despondency, a flash, and a bullet ends a life.

If any one thinks it is lots of fun, and all profits to run sheep, permit me to disabuse his mind.

More failures have occurred than in any other business having the same amount of capital invested.

The causes for this are as numerous as their sheep—drouth, storms, poison weed, low price of wool, floods, etc., are the principal ones; what effects one section, does not another. It is only strong willed, determined, energetic men, who are in the business to stay, who will not be kept down; if they lose fifty per cent this season they keep on hoping to weather the storms next season.—Montana Stock Journal.

TURF AND TRACK.

Freeman has left Dave Pulsifer and will ride in the West.

There is some talk of a match between Palo Alto and Jack.

Mr. Valensin is visiting Bartlett Springs, and his health is rapidly improving.

Charles Ingalls, who has been with Hiram Woodruff some years, has gone to Montana to the Sawyer ranch.

An old man named Tuohy, who once looked after the celebrated Harkaway, died at the Curragh recently.

W. S. Vosburgh has been appointed official handicapper at Monmouth, and will also officiate as third judge.

Hugh Kirkendall, Helena, Montana, lost last week by death a suckling colt, full brother to the speedy Daniel B.

Cassius made all the running in the Suburban and came very near putting off the double event for the Beverwyck stable.

The only standard bred filly by Allerton got caught in a barbed wire fence at Independance, Ia., and had to be destroyed.

Garrison had a close shave when Brother Ban dropped dead on the track last week but luckily the rider was not injured.

Ed. A. Tipton, Secretary of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeder's Association, was appointed receiver for the stallion Red Wilkes.

The Directors of the Red Bluff race track will heve new stables, fences, and other necessaries completed before the meeting in August.

T. H Williams, Jr., left last Friday for Chicago. The Undine Stable will probably start several horses at the Washington Park meeting.

George Baldwin—Lucky Baldwin's nephew—left last week for Washington Park, Chicago, to take the management of the Santa Anita Stable.

F. B. Baldwin, the Fresno race track manager, is superintending the improvements at the Coronado Beach track, and will be manager of both tracks.

Gen. W. H. Jackson last week purchased from Judge Howell F. Jackson his half interest in the Belle Meade stud, and is now the sole owner of the famous breeding establishment.

Although the New York Jockey Club has a very strict rule in regard to owners carrying their proper colors, yet hardly a day passes but some horses carry the colors of other stables.

It is confidently expected thet the half mile and repeat at the Coronado Beach track on the Fourth of July will be very int-resting. Already half a dozen horses are in training, including John Treat.

John Williams one of the oldest trotting drivers in the state is educating some of the Rancho Del Paso horses, among others is the Antevolo—Mahel colt who is one of the handsomest in California.

The Morris Bros. seem satisfied with their trial of the Sir Modred's judging by their purchase of the Carissima and Preciosa colts. We like their display of judgment. Both should prove race horses.

Huntress will never be able to race again. She will be saved for breeding purposes. Among the horses reported killed are Climax, Brown Duke, Little Minnie, Cruiser, Germanic and Banner Bearer.

Isaac Murphy is in great form just now. He rode a grand race on Burlington in the Trial Stakes at Westchester, while last Tuesday he eclipsed himself when he rode his magnificent finish on Salvator.

George Leavitt has sold Early Bird for $10,000, and matched Fanny Slope, a four year old mare, by Florida, against Andy Welch's Directress by Dictator, for $500 a side, over the Mystic Park track in September.

Marcus Daly, who bought the most of the Sir Modreds, should have a good one in Embroidery's son. The Lulu filly which he bought, is the most beautiful creature (a racehorse all over) in the lot. She is the image of Firenzi.

Mr. L. N. Salmon, who has had several years' experience as assistant secretary of several courses, intends to write a book on the management of race tracks. This work will no doubt prove interesting to the public and valuable to officials.

Alex. Sweeton returned to Salinas from San Luis Obispo last week, bringing with him a black yearling filly by Altoona, dam by Venture 2:27. The youngster will be put in training for the yearling trotting race at the Salinas Fair this fall.

Inspector B, after his service in the stud at Erdenheim, where he covered about thirty mares, has been returned to the Dwyers' stables, and will be prepared for races later in the season. He will doubtless make his debut for the season at Monmouth Park.

The Sire Bros., New York, have bought of P. P. Johnston the running qualities of Lady Ban 3 by King Ban—Ladylike and three two year-old fillies—Sunflower by Lolaps—Smilax, Tulip by Powhattan—Hazel Kirke, and an unnamed one by Favor out of Sophy.

Mr. Hamilton Smith bought the Darebin—Tulare colt. This colt will make his bow to the public across the water. In our mind, if there were one colt in the hundred, we would rather choose this as that one. At $5,100 he should be cheap for the English turf.

William Hendrickson of Patchen fame is seriously thinking of taking a stable of trotters to Tacoma and possibly interviewing some of the Montana tracks with his trotters, prominent among which is a son of Nutwood who shows great promise; James Linden will drive.

B. McBride the owner of Major Daly was ordered on June 9th to take all his horses from Morris Park. McBride used very indecent insulting language in front of the club house while denouncing the management for putting up Hamilton in the Major Daly—Watterson race.

Mrs. Barnherdt, the owner of Lou, dam of Axtell, says the name "Can't-Tell" was selected previously to the birth of the sister to Axtell as appropriate to either sex, and a significant answer to the speculative enquiries of visitors as to the future possibilities of the youngster.

Captain Anderson, San Gabriel, Los Angeles, is one of the recent additions to the long list of California racing men. Besides Four Aces and Sir Ladd, he has several youngsters, and it is his intention to purchase some yearlings and two year olds to represent him on the track.

At the Haggin sale, Pierre Lorillard could not let Katrine's colt pass him. The mare's trial with Pontiac before he won the Suburban was enough to convince him about her—she could give him weight and beat him shoes to plates. Mr. Lorillard paid $6,000 for the Darebin colt.

Col. H I Thornton's two-year-old colt Austrian by Darebin out of Bavaria, injured himself in his box stall at Sacramento a few days ago, and it is said he will never be able to race. The youngster was a big overgrown colt, but assuredly would not have disgraced his high lineage.

On Tuesday D. S. Simmons, acting under Dr. Hamlin's instructions will sell at auction seven head of trotting and running bred horses at Agricultural Park, Sacramento. They are pet of such well known stallions as Brigadier 2:21½, and the well known race horse Joe Hooker.

Soprano, by Strathmore 408, dam Abbess, by Albion, was foaled in 1875, and she is the youngest brood mare that has three representatives in the 2:30 list. She is the dam of C. F. Clay, 2:18; Eminence, 2:18¼, and Strathbridge 2:28½, all by different sires. She is the dam of two 2:20 trotters.

People who ought to know say: "The Walton will never bet again. He is an old man now, although he does not look it, and has a large family. It is believed he still has $300,000 he salted away in bonds when he came back from his English triumphs; he should have for he left there in debt.

E. M. Kies, of Cambria, Hillsdale county, Mich., has sold to Dr. W. S. Hull, of Grand Rapids, Mich., for $2,000, the yearling filly by St. Bel, 2:24½, by Electioneer; dam Belle K. by Masterlode. Mr. Kies paid $1,200 for Belle K. as a yearling, and as this is her first foal it was quite a profitable investment.

May 4th, at Allen Farm, Rosina by Belmont, out of Miss Russell, dam of Maud S, 2:08¾, foaled a chestnut colt by Lancelot, brother of Prospero, 2:20; Elaine, 2:20; Dame Trot, 2:22, and Elista, 2:22½. Rosina is a full sister to Nutwood, and Lancelot is the youngest son of Green Mountain Maid, dam of Electioneer.

As Pierre Lorillard bought the best of the Darebins—with one exception—and Marcus Daly and the Morris Bros. the Sir Modreds—in such hands these fine colts should show us what the Australian stallions can do. We can say from observation of the three lots of yearlings sold, that this last is a truly representative one.

Burlington is, says a sporting authority, a perfect gentleman, his color—black—adding to his appearance. He has a small bloodlike head, with beautiful sloping shoulders, grand back ribs, and powerful hindquarters. His forelegs appear light below the knee, but one never saw a black horse yet who did not look lighter than he really was.

There were no sensational prices at the Rancho Del Paso sale in New York, but prices all round were good. The absense of the Dwyers of course made a good deal of difference in some of the sales; Dew Drop's sister, for instance, would most certainly have taken their fancy, and if she does not prove a clinker there is nothing in looks and breeding.

For $4000 cash and $1000 in future winnings W. W. Frazer, of Cynthiana, Ky., sold to J. F. Williams, of Eminence, Ky., and the Bashford Manor stables, Julia Magee, ch. f., three years old, by Springbok, dam Bayadere, by King Alfonso. Julia Magee ran second to English Lady for the Latonia Oaks and is with the exception of the Lady one of the best 3 year old fillies in the West.

After making a thorough examination of El Rio Rey, a veterinarian advised Mr. Winters to take the unbeaten champion out of training, and it is now understood El Rio Rey will be shipped shortly to California to enter the stud. The authority who pronounced on his ailment says none of his foes need worry over prospective meetings with this great crack—that El Rio Rey has run his last race.

James Golden has twenty five horses in his stables at Mystic. They are unusually good ones, and include the Stamboul filly, who was out of Del Fay, by Del Sur, Fearnaught 2:19¼, Arab 2:15, Molly J. 2:22¼, Emma E 2:22¾, Daisy R. 2:25½, R. R. H. 2:23¾, Maria Legacy, 2:29¼, Shep Knapp 2:37, by Kentucky Prince, Sweetbriar 2:36½, H. B. Winship 2:20¼, and Backman Maid 2:25¼. Bard Palmer is there, and the boys are all busy.

The crusade against pool rooms and the bookmakers of New York is said to have driven away hundreds of dollars to Long Island City, as a proof of which merchants, cigar makers, barbers, saloon and restaurant keepers who did business in the vicinity of the pool rooms claim that their business has fallen off 20 per cent. by the closing of the pool rooms in New York.

William Hendrickson who brought Washington and George M. Patchen Jr. to this state, says that all that ever was, or will be, known of the former was that he was by Geo. M. Patchen Jr., dam said to be an Abdallah mare. Washington was raised near him and his dam was well known and said to be an Abdallah but even that was doubtful; she was an exceptionally fine looking mare but could not be traced.

Mr. J. D. Sproul, the courteous secretary of the third Agricultural district, has sent us several entry blanks for their fair in Chico beginning on August 26th. Entries close with the secretary on August 1st. Chico is always popular with horsemen—'twas there Goldsmith Maid trotted three heats in 2:19½, 2:14½ and 2:17½, and a good entry should result; both runners and trotters are provided for.

Surefoot, the winner of the Two Thousand Guineas, and who was such a red hot favorite for the Derby, has a peculiar pedigree, his sire Wisdom being by Blinkhoolie (a son of Rataplan) out of Aline by Stockwell (brother to Rataplan). His dam is by Galopin out of Miss Foote by Orlando, out of Gossamer by Birdcatcher, thus giving Surefoot four Birdcatcher crosses and two of Touchstone—through Orlando, a son and Aline's dam a granddaughter of Touchstone.

Byron McClelland won a very popular victory in the Eclipse Stakes at Westchester with his good filly Sallie McClelland. Messrs. Morris started their crack Russell, also Reckon and Dr. Hasbrouck, evidently intending to corral all the money in sight. Russell and Sallie drew away from the field, and after a hard race the mare won by a head. The value of the race to the winner was $23,675. Mutuals paid $59 20 on the winner, who is exceptionally highly bred, being by Hindoo out of Red and Blue, by Alarm out of Maggie B. B., (the dam of Iroquois) by Australian.

The first plunger developed this season on the turf, the racing sharps say, is Jack McDonald the bookmaker, who is reported to have won $50,000 on Daisy Woodruff. "Pittsburg Phil" has gone in for steady profits and is backing at least two books, besides making his own outside ventures. He still follows his peculiar style of betting heavily on long shots, backing a horse with 10 to 1 against him as freely as he would an even chance. He does not seem, indeed, to care to take less than a 10 to 1 chance, but on account of his being in with two bookmakers, he is no longer considered a plunger.

"I went out to Morris Park the day Tenny won his low race," said a gentleman, "and the tonts actually made life a burden to me. They swarm about a stranger in the betting ring like carrion crows over a carcass, and they are almost as bold. Most of them borrow a dollar to go out to the track, and there they prey upon the public without a particle of justification. What do you think of having a dozen coarse, ill-smelling fellows, whom you have never seen, slap you on the back and offer confidence in the pure goodness of their hearts to let you in to a good thing? I think the management should have police to look after them."

Hon Charles H. Lugrin, Secretary for Agriculture, Province of New Brunswick, states that the government more than once refused $15,000 for Conn's Harry Wilkes, but the horse has more than paid for himself, and is doing most valuable service to the trotting horse breeding interests of the Province. He is also drawing business from the border States. Aurora, brother to Aristos, 2:27¼, which was purchased as a representative Morgan, is satisfying his patrons by imparting style and speed to his colts. The handsomest and fastest juvenile in his class at the Moncton Fair last fall was got by Aurora.

Buyers of pools at the local trotting and pacing meetings near New York complain that they often find it difficult to get a chance to invest their money on an apparently good thing owing to the fact that the poolseller himself has some one outside buying for him. This is altogether wrong and is an imposition upon the public. The poolseller gets 3 per cent. of every bet made, and that is enough. When betting privileges are sold by associations it should be distinctly understood that the men who conduct the business should not buy pools themselves, either directly or by agents. A man in the pool box with the betting sheet before him, and the knowlege of how owners and drivers are placing their money, has a big advantage over the ordinary spectator.

The Little New England pacer Allen Maid, who last season made a record of 2:16½ and equalled it the first time she started this year, was driven on the snow all winter by her owner, who lives in New Hampshire. His system, according to a local paper, was to jog the mare a few miles in the morning, and in the afternoon go out on the drive and clean out the boys. This work seems to have done her good, and indeed it is becoming the general opinion of horsemen that if trotters and pacers are wintered in a section of the country where there is good sleighing for a number of weeks, it does them no harm to indulge in a brush down the road now and then. Of course no horse that is expected to do battle on the turf the following summer wants to be raced on the snow all winter, but there is no harm in a little speeding.

John S. Clark, of New Brunswick, will campaign Sadie D., yearling record 2:35½; Presto, yearling record 2:41¾, two-year-old 2:25½. The latter has been placed in the hands of Mr. Dickerson, the man who drove him to his record of 2:25½. Crit Davis will have charge of Sadie D. Presto's first engagement is at Chicago, and the first important engagement of Sadie D. will be in the stakes of the Northwestern Breeder's Association, at Detroit. This is a great pair. Mr. Clark affirms with much emphasis that Presto will take a mark of 2:15 this year. "My disposition," Mr. Clark said, "is rather to underestimate the speed of my horses, but I feel enthusiastic over the performances of these two youngsters, having seen them move." Mr Clark has just returned from Kentucky, and while there was treated to an exhibition with which he was much gratified.

A curious incident happened in the Wickersley Hurdle Race at Rotherham, England, in May. Gladstone was weighed out for by Savage, and his number was hoisted, but subsequently A. Nightingall arrived to ride the horse, and having obtained the permission of one of the stewards he weighed out, and Savage's name was taken down. Gladstone (who had been made favorite) accordingly went to the post, but the stewards then ruled that Nightingall could not ride the horse, as he had not weighed out in time, and a messenger was sent to bring him back to the paddock, when it was then decided that the horse should not run. A meeting of the stewards was then held to consider whether the horse had been under the starter's orders or not, and they decided that Gladstone was not under the starter's orders, and all bets made on the horse were declared off.

The Suburban last Tuesday was productive of a grand race, the nine starters all being well known crack performers. Cassius made all the pace with Strideway, Longstreet and Salvator, three lengths back until the stretch was reached when Murphy on Salvetor gradually closed up, and in a close finish beat Cassius by a neck. Time, 2:06 4 5. Salvator's performance may fairly be called phenomenal, 4-years-old and carrying 127 lbs. Kingston who holds the mile and a quarter record 2 06½ carried 122 in September. At weight for age Kingston had therefore nine lbs. the best of the weight compared with Salvator.

Salvetor was bred by D. Swigert at Elmendorf, his sire being imported Prince Charlie, the Prince of T. Y. C.

Jimmy Goldsmith is driving as man rarely did before He stole a race with Plush in the 7th heat at Albany, N. Y.—on the 10th from Burke behind Yorktown Belle, the latter being beaten half a length by superior driving.

McCann & Bowman, Fairlawn Farm, Lexington, Ky., have sold to Schmulback & Park, Wheeling, W. Va., the bay filly Lady McGregor, 2 years old, by Red Wilkes, dam by Robert McGregor, for $2 000. Also two yearling fillies by Red Wilkes out of mares by Star Almont, for $1,250 each.

John E. Turner, known as the great strategist of the turf, has his own peculiar way of doing business; and the problem to be solved when he is in a race is not if he is going to lose, but whether he will win. When the "General" is ready to go to the front he puts an order in the pool box on his horse, and the talent are then sure they will get a good drive for their money, but it would nonplus the Delphic oracle to determine just when Turner is ready to cut loose in some instances. As a rule he is silent as the grave about the merits of his flyers and even the owner is frequently kept in the dark as to what the veteran schemer is about to do. The redeeming feature about Turner is that he is manly and straightforward on the track, trusting to his strategic ability to carry him through. If he gets caught with a sleeper it is not necessary to take him out of the sulky for the assurance that he will win if possible is to be relied on.

When C. W. Williams, of Axtell fame, began his career as a breeder, he made a grand coup by sending three mares to Kentucky, one to William L , and Axtell was the result, and he sold the colt last Autumn for $105,000; the second was sent on a visit to Jay Bird, and she dropped Allerton, 2:18¼, who was one of the three-year-old sensations of last year; the third one gave him a son of Onward, who is now doing good work in the stud. This year his luck has been of the opposite character. Out of four mares bred to William L., last season by him he has not a living foal. Two of the mares slipped, one foaled a dead filly, and the last of the quartette, Atoka by Jay Bird, dam by Denver Wilkes, foaled a filly which died two days later. In the great lottery of breeding it was fortunate for the young Iowa breeder that he drew his prizes on the first investment. He can well afford to smile at this year's bad luck.

Goldsmith Maid, to accomplish what she did, had to be "an earnest trotter." She was always driven without blinds and never had her feet loaded with toe weights. Even in her most desperate contests, the bands of music and the cheers from the myriad spectators, and the rush and contention of fields of rivals never disconcerted her. She trotted every inch of the mile to win, and when a throat-latch only was needed to land her a winner she would stretch out her neck like a wild goose to place her nose first across the goal. In her genuine contests with Rhode Island, American Girl, George Wilkes, Occident, George Palmer and many other trotting celebrities, she not only evinced the steadiness of nerves and the strength of her courage, but the remarkable intelligence of her brain. Inbreeding never injured her performances, nor disgraced her behavior under the severest ordeals.

There is no reason at all to doubt that, if some well-known sportsmen were to patronize trotting, that form of amusement would, says the Field, very speedily occupy a more prominent position than it has ever yet done. In England, no less than in America, there is an intimate connection between the trotter and the every-day harness horse; and that is one of the reasons assigned for the popularity of trotting on the other side. The match trotter is to the ordinary harness horse what the steeplechaser is to the hunter; and the Americans take up with the former as readily as with the latter. Hiram Woodruff claimed for his countrymen that they had "a paragon of the animal which is already the wonder of the world, and which, from the familiar, affectionate, and universal use made of him on this continent, has already become an American commercial product of vast importance and proportions. The English have had the stock all along as well as ourselves; but it is our method of cultivation and our perseverance that has made the difference between their fast trotter of a mile in three minutes, and ours of a mile in two minutes and a half"—he might have said 2 min. 8⅘ sec. had he been alive at the time the famous Maud S. accomplished her memorable feat.

Said Frank Eames of Bay Ridge: "I remember once when in California in the early days that the legislature adjourned for the purpose of attending the four-mile race between Nathan Coombs' horse, Ashland, and Lathrop's Langford. This was probably the only instance on record in America where a legislative body adjourned for the express and acknowledged purpose of attending a horse-race. Still everybody knows that from a time beyond which the memory of man runneth not to the contrary the English parliament has adjourned every year for the express purpose of attending the Derby. When Lord Palmerston was prime minister he always made the motion himself, and made a nice little speech. It is true he did not call it a horse race, but alluded to it in classic phrase as "our isthmian games," but they knew what games he was up to.

Yes," said Milliard Sanders, "but I can tell you something better than that. During reconstruction days in South Carolina, when there was that famous negro legislation which made history with the bottom rail on top, the legislature not only adjourned for a horse-race, but when the sport was over it appropriated money out of the State treasury to pay the debts lost by the members.—New York Star.

The manner in which the fourth estate is represented in the various jockey clubs is somewhat surprising. The Turf, Field and Farm says "the genial Mr. H. D. McIntyre, Secretary of the Boooklyn and New Jersey clubs, is an old newspaper man of varied experience. Mr. Salmon, who is clerk of the scales for the same clubs, was for many years connected with the local press. Mr H. G. Crickmore, Secretary of the Monmouth, made the World the recognized daily sporting authority for so many years that we cannot begin to remember when "Crick" was not a competent part of that journal. Mr. J. J. Burke, who has presided in the judges' stand at Brighton Beach, Clifton and Guttenburg, and who last week left for the west to occupy a similar position at Kansas City, Washington Park, Chicago and St. Paul, for years ably edited the racing department of a sporting weekly, and is at present connected with a daily. Mr. C. V. Sass, who founded the "pink un" and still finds time to write a column or so of interesting gossip for an afternoon daily, is the secretary at Brighton and Clifton and a right good secretary, too, as is Mr. Samuel Whitehead, of the Hudson County Jockey Club. And now Mr. Voshurgh joins the long list of bright and brainy newspaper men who have found congenial employment with racing institutions.

Inquiry has been made on all sides respecting the status of Fashion Stud Farm for racing material. The Newark Call says: Surprise has been expressed that out of the magnificent contigent herded at the farm none have made their appearance in the classes of the different Spring circuits. The stakes of the State Breeders' Association, it is true, have a large entry list from the farm, but apart from these there have been no entries. Mr. Dunbar attended the Decoration day races at Waverly, and was received very warmly by his host of friends. Good-natured, genial Tom is always interesting, and whenever he sits down for a moment on the quarter-stretch he is sure to be the center of attraction for those who have the greatest respect for his ability in training and treating the trotting horse. Dunbar spoke very encouragingly of the condition of the stock at Fashion. He spoke with great enthusiasm of the work of Beulah (2:19½) particularly, and predicted that when she is cut loose she will beat the great record of Favonia. Most of the racing stock will be campaigned this Fall.

The Clay Stakes was trotted for at Albany on June 12th. The weather was cold, and it rained at intervals throughout the day which prevented a large crowd going out to the track. Six starters turned out for the stakes, value $3,000, which was won in straight heats by Suisun, driven by Turner, was forced out in 2:22¼ twice by Alicante. Mr. Valensin's Simmocolon, driven by J. H. Goldsmith was well backed and made a strong bid for the third heat, showing in front up the back stretch, but left his feet, and when Goldsmith got him straightened out it was too late.

The racing stable most affected by the disastrous wreck on the Wabash at Warrenton, Mo , says the National Horseman, were those of F. J. Kellar and Jack Chinn, of Cynthiana, Ky. Not one of Kellar's horses escaped. His were in the front car next the engine, and when the collision occurred the car was telescoped, the engine and tender going through it, killing the five horses, father and son who owned them, and four of their employes, colored. The names of the horses were Egypt, Lige P., Spring Dance, Turner, and Ben Ridgely. Of Chinn and Morgan's horses Ganges, Little Prince, St. Bridget, Oklahoma, and Leo were killed outright. Mary McGowan and the fast filly Josie M , were taken out alive, but badly injured and will never race again. Chinn's stable was simply wiped out. Huntress, of the Chicago stable, was in with the Chinn horses and she was buried under the debris for several hours. She was too badly hurt to ever race again, but will do as a brood mare. Hindoocraft, Proctor Knott, Ja Ja, and English Lady were not on the train, as first reported. Good-by, next to Huntress and Josie M., was the most famous racer in the cars, but he was not hurt at all. The train, with its load of eight injured men and the balance of the horses, got into Kansas at three o'clock in the morning.

For some time past, says Sterling in the Melbourne Sportsman, I have urged upon the Victoria Racing Club, the advisability of appointing an officer to act as steward at all meetings within a certain distance of Melbourne, the gentleman so appointed being paid a fixed and liberal salary by the Victoria Racing Club, which could exact a fee for his services from each club for each meeting so attended. Such an officer would, of course, be thoroughly cognisant of the meaning and signification of the rules, and thus would be able to afford the gentlemen he would become associated with most valuable assistance in involved or intricate issues which crop up when least expected. He would at once be able to draw the attention of his brother stewards for the time being to any irregularity of procedure, or to any infraction of the rules of racing taking place at the meeting held under their direction, and at suburban meetings, where it is daily becoming a matter of increasing difficulty to secure the attendance of competent men in the capacity of stewardship, he would be a valuable factor indeed. Recent decisions at Moonee Valley, Elsternwick, and Shepparton are the strongest argument in favor of such an addition to the staff of the Victoria Racing Club, and such an appointment would, while relieving that club's committee from the trouble of everlasting appeal cases, assist the handicapper, and keep the committee fairly informed as to the mode in which the meetings he attended were conducted.

John Splan says: "So many older, smarter, better educated men than myself have written, lectured and said so much about trotting horses that I approach the subject with very little confidence in being able to give it any new light. Theories I find to be all very well in books, newspapers, lectures, etc , but when those same theories are put into actual practice they develop some unlooked for weakness which lets the whole structure fall to the ground. The same I think can truthfully be said in regard to shoeing a trotter. Any knowledge that I have in the matter I have gained from actual practice together with hints and pointers from men like Mr. Robert Bonner and a few others I could name who have made a lifelong study of the matter. The first thing to be decided upon is how little weight you can possibly use in the horse's shoe to protect the foot and at the same time balance the horse so he will be able to go at his highest rate of speed on a trot. What makes it more difficult than anything else to give rules to shoe a horse by is a fact that no two horses can be shod alike. All horses are formed differently, gaited differently, and have different dispositions. In all the great number of horses I have had I cannot now remember of any two that I shod exactly alike. I hardly think that any one outside of an expert ever realizes how much difference it makes to a fast horse to make his shoes a couple of ounces heavier or lighter, but I know plenty of horses with whom to take off or put on two ounces on each forward foot would be enough to change the result of the race. Now if this is true, and I am sure that it is, the shoeing of the horse is of very great importance.

"In this connection toe-weights come in play. I would rather a horse would go without the weights than with them The great trouble with toe weights is that people use them when there is no necessity, and nine times out of ten have them heavier than they need to be. I use toe-weights a great deal; if I have a horse that has to wear over a fourteen ounce shoe, unless he has an extremely large foot, I put on a toe weight. I think there is less strain on a horse's leg with a very light toe weight and a light shoe than there would be with the weight of shoe you would have to put on the horse without the toe weight."

The English Derby.

The following is the telegram sent to the New York papers giving an account of Sainfoin's victory:

London, June 4.—The Derby holiday is over, and tonight sportsmen are wondering how they managed to overlook Sainfoin. Very few knew how good the colt was, and so few indeed shared in the pulling off of the greatest race event in the world. Sir James Miller and his party and the trainer, John Porter, in whose name and colors the winner ran, are credited with having made a grand coup, and wonderful stories are told of their winnings.

Derby Day dawned with a leaden sky that was very depressing to the holiday crowd, and light showers of rain fell all the morning. The Derby course was sodden and slippery, the turf holding the water and making the going anything but safe and good. In spite of the weather there was an immense attendance. The crowd looked as if half of London and all the neighborhood people were present, and the nobility were out in force. The betting was tremendous.

There were but eight starters for the Derby, and, as predicted, Surefoot was a top-heavy favorite. His price at the opening was 75 to 40 on, and that was forced to 95 to 40 when they went to the post. Sainfoin was at 7 to 1, Rathbeal and Le Nord 14 to 1 each, Golden Gate and Kirkham each 50 and Martagon and Orwell 100 each.

The field gathered at the High Level starting point. The eight were bunched and sent away at the first effort, but it was with the favorite, Surefoot, behind and standing almost still when the others got in motion. Just before him and behind all the others was Baron de Rothschild's Le Nord. The Duke of Westminster's brother to Ormonde, Orwell, was first away, and he was at once sent on to make the running. The pace was so slow that it was little more than a gallop for a half mile. Sainfoin was second, Watts rating him steadily on. Liddiard, on Surefoot, took a lot out of his horse in closing up the ground he lost at the start, and was at work on the favorite when the distance was half done. Le Nord closed up more slowly. Orwell led at the mile, eight lengths in front of Sainfoin. Golden Gate, Rathbeal and Surefoot next. At the hill, just before Tattenham corner, Sainfoin began to close up. Surefoot was in trouble there, but he gamely kept trying, though Liddiard had already made too much use of him. At the corner, where the world-famed Archer had won so often, Watts slipped Sainfoin up. Orwell, Le Nord and Surefoot then set out for him. The finish lasted throughout the straight run. For an instant all were bunched, then Sainfoin drew away, and, with three parts of a length between him and Le Nord, raced home under all Watts' powers of persuasion. He won by a short length, Le Nord second, a neck in front of Orwell, who was a head in front of the favorite, fourth, the others well strung out. The summary follows:

The Epsom Derby Stakes (IIIth renewal) of 5,000 sovs. for the winner, 400 sovs. for the nominator of the winner, 300 sovs. for the owner of the second and 200 sovs. for the owner of the third; for colts, 9 st.; for fillies, 8 st. 9 lbs.; then three years old; by subscription of 50 sovs. each. half forfeit if declared by the first Tuesday in January, 1890, and 10 sovs. only if declared by the first Tuesday in January, 1889. and surplus to be paid to the winner; about one mile and a half, starting from the High Level starting post.

J. Porter's ch c Sainfoin, by Springfield—Sanda.....Watts 1
Baron de Rothschild's ch c Le Nord, by Tristan-La Noce .....F. Barrett 2
Duke of Westminster's b c Orwell, by Bend Or—Lizzie Agnes .....G. Barrett 3

A. W. Merry's b c Surefoot (Liddiard), Capt. Machell's b c Rathheal (Robinson), E Baird's b c Golden Gate (Cameron), J. White's ch c Kirkham (F. Webb), and J. Snarry's b c Martagon (J. Osborne), ran unplaced.

Betting: 7 to 1 Sainfoin, 1 to 2 place; 14 to 1 Le Nord, 4 to 5 place; 95 to 40 on Surefoot, 14 to 1 Rathbeal, 50 to 1 each Golden Gate and Kirkham, 100 to 1 each Orwell and Martagon.

Sainfoin, the winner, is a son of the Bushy paddock (Hampton Court) sire Springfield, he by St. Albans, dam Viridis, and was bred from Sanda by Sir George Maude, director of Her Majesty's stud. Sanda, Sanfoin's dam, is by Wenlock; his grandsire is Stockwell, and her maternal great grandam was Lady Evelyn, winner of The Oaks in 1849. When a yearling Sainfoin was sold to Sir R. Jardine and Mr. Porter, who raced him as a two year old. Early this spring he was sold to Sir James Miller. As a two year old Sainfoin started but once, then in the Astley Stakes, five furlongs, August 9th, at the Lewes Summer Meeting. With 8st. 8 lbs. he won easily, beating Garter, Springcup, Petrel, Bena, Gushat, Blondina, Bright Eyes, Rotten Row and Grenadiere. He started for the first time in his three year old form at Sandown Park. April 25th, in the Esher Stakes, one mile, and with 6 st. 11 lbs., won with plenty to spare, beating Dry Toast, Cheroot, Amphion, Wishing Gate, Free Mason, Ingram, Miss Dollar, Ronda, Kaikoura, Teviot and the Strathem Co 's filly. He next started in the Dee Stakes, at Kempton Park, his only competitor being the Duke of Beaufort's Bull's Eye. The race was at the Derby distance, a mile and a half, and with Derby weight up Sainfoin won in a common canter. He has never been beaten, and just why he was so overlooked in the Derby until almost the very day of the race it is hard to tell. It had been supposed that Sir R. Jardine and Mr. Porter were dissatisfied with the colt, and on that account sold him to Sir James Miller. But it looks now as if a clever coup had been made, for Sainfoin was backed right and left, and his present owners and the former owners and trainers are known to have pulled off a rare stake over his victory. An immense amount of money was lost over Surefoot, but that won over Sainfoin will made Settling Day (Monday) a rare time for those who laid the odds. Sainfoin has engagements that make him a most valuable horse, now that he has proved himself possessed of quality enough to win a Derby. He is in the Epsom Grand Prize, in which he carries ten lbs. penalty for winning the Derby, and Surefoot will carry the same penalty for the Two Thousand. The great races he is in are the Zetland and Midsummer Plates at the Newmarket first and second July meetings, the Sussex at Goodwood, the Doncaster St. Leger, the Champion at Newmarket, the Roman Grand Prize, the Ascot All Aged and Hardwick, the Stock bridge Biennial and the Knowsley Dinner Stakes at Liverpool.

Hen Harris has signed Whittaker, who until recently pitched for the Waco Texas, team. Whittaker's record as a pitcher is a good one, and while in the Texas League he made an excellent showing with the bat, having an average of 240, and ranking twentieth out of sixty-one batsmen.

Ed Stapleton is covering first bag for Sacramento in magnificent style. Since his illness his work has improved a hundred per cent. and now he gracefully captures every thing no matter how speedy or awkward the throw. He has also given undeniable evidence of his value as a hitter, having the greatest number of long hits to his credit and often getting as many as three and four safe shots in a game.

There a great many amateurs besides Reilly who only need to be given a chance to prove themselves "desirable acquisitions" to the professional ranks. We have mentioned a number in previous issues, but to refresh the memories of the slumbering managers, will go over the list again. Here's a promising lot of colts to draw from: Tillson, Stanley, Cusick, Thompson, Strand, Monet, Maguire, Leveque, Cook and Frank Delmas.

Robinson is a clever gentleman when making a promise, but like a great many others he evidently believes that "promises are made to be broken" For the past month he has assured members of the press that he would have the front of the stand at the Emery grounds padded, but as yet has failed to do so. The continual driving of the ball against the stand not only promises to ultimately wreck the structure (several of the boards are loose already) but is of constant annoyance to the spectators.

It seems almost inexplicable that the "celebrated, cultivated and underrated" Colonel Tom Robinson, always so tasty and neat in his own personal attire, should select such a homely and mournful costume for his pennant winning team. While the tight fitting jerseys show off the shapely limbs of his men to good advantage, the somberness of the uniform counteracts the other pleasing effect, and instead of a team of happy-go-lucky ball players, one could easily imagine he was looking at a delegation of sorrowful undertakers.

It is not necessary that Joe Noonan (Purcell) should receive the consent of his "academic superiors" before he plays ball again, as stated in one of the morning dailies. Joe is under no restrictions whatever, and is perfectly free to enter into any arrangement he may desire. Of course as he is resolved to study for the priesthood, he prefers acquainting his superiors of his immediate intentions, but this is purely optional on his part. There is no doubt but that if Finn or any other local manager desires Purcell's services, he is in a position to consider any proposition for this season.

The members of the theatrical profession are great sportsmen. Hundreds of them follow the horses and the ball players during the season, while nine out of ten of them would go miles to witness a fight. Senator Billy Crane saw Sullivan whip Ryan at Misaissippi City; Horace McVicker saw the big fellow perform the same office for Kilrane at Richburg; Joe Ott, of the Blueheard Company, is a clever ball player, as is Willie Collier, of The City Directory. The Daly Company, headed by John Drew, always has a ball team in its company. Otis Skinner and Joe Holland are baseball fiends. So are John Russell, Maurice Barrymore, Matt Snyder, Sidney Drew, Frank Moynihan, Jerry Stevens, and a hundred others who might be mentioned.

It must be rather embarrassing to the young player who leaves his minor league club full of ambition, and goes into a major league, where the company is a trifle too speedy for him, and he is crowded out and obliged to sneak back to his home and begin all over again.—Sporting Critic.

California has sent a score or more of young players East, and we have yet to see any of them creeping back home again. In fact, from past and present indications, it looks as though the big leagues are very largely indebted to the Golden State for many of their best talent.—Ed.

Reilly's work in his past few games verifies our statement in the Breeder and Sportsman of the 24th ult. that, "there are a number of amateurs right at home, who, if given a chance would prove themselves as capable as many of their older brethren". Reilly has made a big hit, and his playing Sunday is just a sample of what he can do whenever the same opportunities offer. He certainly fulfills our assertion made in the Amateur Notes of the same date, to wit: "'Josh' Reilley, of the Alerts, is a 'comer'. As a second baseman we have never seen his equal in the amateur ranks.. He is as active as a kitten; knows how to play the position for all it is worth; receives a ball, no matter how hard hit, gracefully and easily, and has a clever way of touching a runner. He is one of the hardest hitters in the League, and an earnest and humorous coacher. As a base runner he ranks up with the speediest. Reilly would be a success in any of the big League Clubs on this Coast."

The grounds at Haight Street are anything but pleasant to look upon. Bunches of rank, withered grass here and there, and dust circling in whirlwinds, is all there is to charm the eye of the patient spectator who arrives at the usual time set for the game, and has nothing but this cheerless outlook for a dreary wait of an hour or more, as was the case last Sunday. Dan Mariana, who was most conscientious in his endeavors to have the grounds in good condition, has been dismissed by that "champion releaser," Robinson, and already his absence is felt. There is no reason whatever why two ground keepers should not be constantly employed; in fact, it the managers care to consider the comforts of the patrons, this is an absolute necessity. With a little expenditure, the grass in the outfield and the plats surrounding the infield could be easily converted into bright, attractive lawns. Then with two men at work with the hose when games are in progress, the dust could be effectually laid, and the comfort of the spectators in this respect insured. This would certainly redound advantageously to the league from a financial standpoint, as increased and less dissatisfied audiences would be the result.

Two lovers went to the base ball game
One afternoon in May;
He was a crank; she never has seen
Professional players play.

He faithfully tried to explain it all,
She tried to understand;
But the more he talked, the less she knew
While he thought the game was grand.

He cheered, he danced, he yelled "Hi! hi!"
She calmly looked about;
And if anyone made a three-base hit
She asked if the man was out.

She tried her best to keep the score,
But when the game was done
He found that whenever a foul was hit,
She had given the man a run

It dampened his ardor to have her say:
"Why don't the umpire bat?",
And each question she asked diminished his love,
Though he wouldn't have owned to that.

Till at last she asked in her guileless way:
"Which nine is playing now?"
He broke the engagement then and there,
And now they don't even bow.

THURSDAY'S GAME.

OAKLAND vs STOCKTON

June 19th at Haight Street.

It was a dull, uninteresting exhibition. There was absolutely nothing in the game aside from a few pretty catches to warrant the most ardent admirer of the sport to give it his attention. Both teams fielded like a lot of wooden men, and balls that should have been caught figured as base hits. The pitchers were in very poor form, and altogether it was a very tame exhibition. Vogt was disabled and Matt Stanley filled his position. Although he was up behind the bat the greater part of the game, he had no chances except a high foul fly which he captured neatly; as Kilroy did not strike out a single Oaklander. But he was strong at the bat, knocking out a number of hard fouls, and securing two hits. The batting generally was heavy, both teams participating. The Oaklands however, bunched their hits, and aided by some good base running and a good deal of error making, won easily. The prominent feature was the fielding of Fogarty, Cahill and Stickney. Fogarty's catch of a hard line drive back of first was a magnificent bit of playing. The score:

SAN FRANCISCO vs SACRAMENTO,

FRIDAY, JUNE 13TH, AT OAKLAND.

A large attendance welcomed tbe Friscos and Senators at the Emery grounds and witnessed a lively hard hitting game. In fact it was the greatest batting game of the season. The Friscos presented a patched np appearance, Sweeney being on tbe sick list, and Young was placed in the outfield, Stevens playing first and Speer catching. Harper was in the box for Sacramento and was hit out merrily. The game opened favorably for tbe Senators who scored tbree runs on Daley's single, Bncban's error of Godar's line hit, Stanleton's and Roberts doubles and Bowman's base on balls. Tbe Frisco's were goose egged till the fifth, when they made three on a base on balls, two singles and Levy's double. From the seventh inning Sacramento forged rapidly ahead and won easily. The feature of the day was Levy's terrific hitting. Three doubles and a triple is the best batting Rube bas ever done in any one game. Speer, Hanley, Young, Godar, Stapleton and Bowman were also bandy witb the stick. Tbe score:

OAKLAND vs STOCKTON.

FRIDAY JUNE 13TH, AT STOCKTON.

The above teams played a great game, tbe Colonels fielding being perfect while the Gas City boys were credited witb only two misplays. Carsey and Kilroy pitched winning ball and were equally steady with men on bases. Stickney and McDonald were in excellent form and played a perfect game in other respective positions. The same may be said of the work of Fudger, Selna, Cahill and Isaacson. Holliday, Cabill, Dungan and Isaacson did some clever and timely hitting. Donahue's decisions were as usual nnsatisfactory to the Stocktons. The score:

SAN FRANCISCO vs. SACRAMENTO.

SATURDAY, JUNE 14TH, AT HAIGHT STREET.

The home aggregation and Senators played a wonderfully pretty game last Saturday, with the home team on the winning end. Farrell pitched a masterly game for Sacramento except in the fifth inning, when the 'Friscos almost annihilated him. He began in tbis inning very wild, giving Young and Shea their base on balls, and then Sweeney, Hanley and Ebright hit safely in rapid succession, making five runs and virtually winning the game. The fielding was of tbe very highest order, Reitz, Daley, Godar and Stapleton for the Sacramentos, and Hanley, Ebright and Reilly for Frisco, covering themselves with glory. The batting was sharp and heavy, Shea, Sweeney, Hanley, Ebright, Bowman and Reitz doing efficient service with the stick. The score:

STOCKTON vs. OAKLAND.

SATURDAY, JUNE 14TH, AT STOCKTON.

Hapeman in this game was almost invincible, and Meegan being rapped out for fourteen hits, including tbree triples, it is scarcely a matter of wonderment that the Stocktons won. Not till tbe sixth inning, however, was tbe game in the Stocktonians hands, when with two out Fogarty hit safely and his example was snccessfully followed hy Swan, Holliday, Wilson and Hapeman. Tbis timely hitting netted four runs. Vogt gave Hapeman fine support behind tbe bat, and Fudger, Fogarty, Selna, Wilson and Cahill also played winning ball. Tbe Oaklands fielding was generally faulty. Fudger's bitting was a principal feature. Tbe score:

SAN FRANCISCO vs OAKLAND.

SUNDAY, JUNE 15TH AT OAKLAND.

Lookahaugh's curves met with a very warm reception at Emeryville last Snnday morning. and tbis can he stated as a reason tbat tbe Colonels won. It was a good exhibition in which some great hitting and wonderful infield work was displayed. Oakland scored in tbe fourth, sixth, eight and nintb inning, getting in all twelve runs, five of which were earned. The Frisco's did not hit Cobb hard, and wbat "safeties" they did get were widely scattered and consequently non-productive. Stickney's hitting was a feature, and McDonald, Lohman, Cohh and Shea sbared the batting honors with bim. The fielding of N. O'Neill, McDonald, Reilly, Sweeney and Hanley was of a most perfect quality. The andience, wbicb numbered abont eigbt hundred, were very entbusiastic from an Oakland standpoint, and went into ecstacies over every hit and successful play made by the Colonels. Sberidan's decisions as usual, met with favor by players and spectators alike. The score:

SAN FRANCISCO vs. OAKLAND.

SUNDAY, JUNE 15TH, AT HAIGHT STREET.

Tbe Colonels evidently tbink tbey can't have too much of a good thing, for in the afternoon, at the Haight Street grounds, in presence of some six thonsand Frisco constituents, they just took the home team into camp as readily as they did on tbeir own grounds in the morning. Oakland is largely indebted to young Mr. Carsey for their victory. He certainly pitched a most masterly game, Frisco's six hits heing distributed tbrougb five innings. The fourth inning was the only one in whicb the home team scored, and in that they just earned one little run. Young was hit considerably harder than his more youthful adversary, the third inning being a veritable Waterloo for him. Carsey led off with a nretty single to center, and C. O'Neill did likewise. Stickney's hit forced O'Neill, but Dungan's safety filled the hases again. Then N. O'Neill, for his patience, was awarded first base on balls, and this forced Carsey across the plate; Stickney and Dungan scoring on McDonald's hit, and "Sir" Norris coming home on Lohman's safe drive past third. This gave Oakland four runs and the game.

The fielding honors go to Josh Reilly, just gradnated from the amateur ranks. Reilly's playing would do credit to some of the greatest sbort-stops in the business; in fact, nothing was hit anywhere near him but wbat he captured with the ease and grace of a most finished player. He received a most hearty ovation for his marvellous exhibition Shea, Sweeney, Ebright, Stickney, McDonald and N. O'Neill also played a good fielding game. At the bat Dungan, McDonald, Carsey and Levy excelled. The score:

STOCKTON vs. SACRAMENTO.

SUNDAY, JUNE 15TH, AT STOCKTON.

Eigbt innings was the "game" at Stockton last Snnday morning to enable the teams to catcb the Sacramento train. But eight innings was just sufficient to give the Gas City boys eight runs, and as the Senators couldn't make hut one-quarter of that number, tbe Stocktons won with apparent ease. Perrott pitcbed another good game, being very steady and effective. Chase was hit harder, nine safeties, including a triple and two doubles being secured off him. He also gave four men first on halls. Selna was not on hand and Smith played first base in good form. The infields of both teams put up a very pretty game. Holliday, Fudger, Wilson and Perrott were especially strong at the hat. The score:

SACRAMENTO vs. STOCKTON.

SUNDAY, JUNE 15TH, AT SACRAMENTO.

Tbe Senators somewbat evened up matters in the afternoon game witb the Stocktons, but not without a hard struggle. The game was not called till 4 o'clock, and the sun being low and blazing full in the fielders faces will serve as an excellent excuse for some of the errors made. Harper and Kilroy were the opposing pitchers, and harring their wildness, both did nice work. Stapleton and Daly were indisposed, Bowman playing first and Daly going to right with Farrell at short. Several pretty plays were made, but the hitting was light. Goodenough's work on the paths was a feature. The score:

The Amateurs.

Games Played by the California Amateur League.

The Amateur race is still widely spread out with the Santa Rosa boys having quite a big lead. But as less than one-third of the schedule of games has been completed, the teams at present far down on the list need not feel too badly discouraged, as there is ample opportunity for them to retrieve their losses. The Reports are second and slightly in advance of Warrens "Young Giants." Vallejo is fourth, the Burlingtons fifth, and the Allens are still "in the hole." The record (to date):

E. T. ALLENS vs. WILL & FINCKS.

Sunday, June 15th, at Haight Street.

It was the "Sports" game up to the sixth inning when the "Giants" did some clever stick work and with the assistance of a few costly errors on the part of the Allens seven runs came in, closing up the score nine to ten. From that inning on it was a great battle in which the "Giants" displayed superior team work and hitting abilities. In the eighth they got three men over the plate, L. Delmas being safe on McDonalds error, Leveque sacrificed him to second and Howells drive to center scored him. Frank Delmas then hit to Evatt who promptly retired the little pitcher at second but Frank scored on Strands hit to left. Conwsy collided with Lewis at first, who fairly had him out, but being knocked insensible Lewis dropped the ball and Strand scored. Billings ended the inning on his fly out to McCarthy. The Allens failed to score in the seventh, eighth or ninth and the game went to the Fincks. The fielding was at times really brilliant, Tillson F,, and L. Delmas, Buckley, Beckett. Geishakher Stanley and McCarthy playing like veterans. Jim Cusick led in hitting having two beautiful doubles and a sacrifice to his credit. Evatt, Lewis, Buckley, Tillson and Howell also did heavy stick work. McConvilles umpiring was not satisfactory. The score:

VALLEJO vs SANTA ROSA.

Sunday, June 15, at Vallejo.

The Vallejo's and Santa Rosa's played an eleven inning game last Sunday which terminated in favor of the "Marines." In the eighth inning Vallejo forged ahead, making three runs, only to be overtaken and tied in the ninth by Santa Rosa, making the same number. In the eleventh, however, Vallejo settled it, getting two men across the plate, while the Sonoma boys just tallied once. The game, although exciting, was not a good one in any respect, the fielding being miserable and the batting light. Baltz was very effective, striking out sixteen and allowing but three hits, Tufts was in the box for Santa Rosa, and the youngster did fairly well. Callen played center and erred on every chance offered. Magnire made his his first appearance with the "Marines" and acquitted himself creditably. The prominent featnres of the game were the hard hitting of Farrell McQuire and Lee, and the fielding of Wise, Stultz, Arlett, Cook, Gimmel, Lee and McQuire.

Gimmel, Stultz and Farrell also did some clever and speedy bass-running. The score:

The Pacific Northwest League.

PORTLAND vs. TACOMA.

Sunday, June 15th at Portland.

In this game Portland got there in great shape. Their victory is principally due to some excellent stick work in the first inning. It happened this way. Howard took first on balls, and J. Parrott's line drive scored Howard; a passed ball and error placed Parrott at third, and then Cooney lifted one to short right, Parrott scoring. Cahill hit to short, but McCabe fumbled, and Cooney was safe at second with Cahill at first. "Old man Perrier" scored both men on his double to deep right. Four runs and a brilliant beginning. Portland added one in the second and another in the seventh, while Tacoma only tallied one in each, the first, fourth and ninth, the game ending six to three in favor of the Web-feet. The features were the hard hitting of Cooney, Parrott, Perrier and Hoffman, and the general brillisnt fielding of the Portlands. The score:

Amateur Short Hits.

Santa Rosa still leads.

Pace is a very accurate thrower.

McCarthy is fielding in fine form.

The Allens missed Reilly Sunday.

The Allens are "jonahed" somewhere.

Santa Rosa has lost two games to Vallejo.

"Bloudie" Callen is not a success as a fielder.

Tribou has been re-signed by manager Keller.

The Burlingtons play at Santa Rosa to-morrow.

Jim Cusick's two doubles Sunday were "corkers".

Frank Delmas has fallen off considerably in his hitting.

The Suisuns defeated the Vacavilles last Sunday. Score, 11 to 2.

The "Young Giants" are fast crowding the Reports for second place.

Cate is the most successful umpire the Amateur League has ever had.

Billy Gimmel continues playing his usual brilliant game for Santa Rosa.

Strand's throwing would put many of the professional fielders in the shade.

Jimmy Geishaker was himself last Sunday, and put up a first class game at short.

The Vallejo "Marines" will meet Warrens "Young Giants" at the Haight St. Grounds, Sunday.

The "pony battery" Howell and Billings have been doing some exceptional good work this season.

Jack Cook is Santa Rosa's third baseman now and Stulz will be kept in his proper position—first base.

The players of the Report and Burlington teams were highly interested in the Allen—Finck game last Sunday.

Reed Beckett, the latest addition to the Allen team is a fast fielder and thrower. His double play Sunday proved his valne to the team,

The Santa Rosas did not annihilate Baltz last Sunday as they expected. Three little hits hy such a heavy team of hitters as the Santa Rosas claim to he is a very poor showing for them, but puts Baltz's stock up at a high standard.

If Cusick continues the way he has been hitting for the last two games he played, he will be at the head of the list when the season closes.

The Allens have sustained an irrepersble loss in Josh Reilly going to the San Franciscos. Reilly was the best player in the team and last Sunday his work at the bat was greatly missed. Besides he was a "star" coacher and when the team was in a hole there was no player who could "jolly them up" better than he.

Left field is the position that is being played almost to perfection in the Amateur League. The records of Gimmel, McCarthy, Sharp, Forster and Strand will verify this statement, and it is quite probable that the Amateurs' averages will bear a very favorable comparison with that of the more experienced professionals.

Jack McConville did not have a very sociable time umpiring last Sunday mornings game. He certainly failed to command the respect the autocrat of the field is supposed to receive and in fact several of the Fincks were very much inclined to "josh" his decisions. Fines were certainly in order, and if McConville wishes to preserve decorum he must not be too delicate in placing plasters where they are deserved.

Jim Corbett, the "nimble professor," has a young brother named Joe who, of all promising youngsters, must be put down as a "comer." Joe has been covering second base in such a clever style for a St. Mary's College team, that his youthful breast is now adorned with a handsome gold medal presented by some admiring collegians. The other day Jim had the youngster out to the Olympic Club grounds, and with some others, indulged in a little practice. After Jim had wearied himself pitching all kind of balls, only to be batted all over the lot by the little fellow, he said: "Why, I was never 'in it at all' with the 'two-year-old"; you know I was no slouch of a player myself, but he can double discount me playing now."

We have noticed that the greater part of the errors made by the amateurs are attributable to wild throwing. This is a fault that could easily be remedied. The amateurs like the professionals know that nothing aside from hard hitting brings them more favorably to the notice of managers, press and spectators than clever sharp fielding. Consequently they have become imbued with a desire to figure in rapid and double plays as often as the barest possibility will permit. In this respect they frequently overreach their abilities, for without taking time to gnage the distance they must throw, and the desperate chances they are taking to make the play effective, they just hang the ball anywhere to get it out of their hands and the result is, that most generally every man on bases gets home or at least advances a bag. An inning or two of this kind of work is sure to rattle any team, no matter how capable they are in other departments of the game, and defeat is almost inevitable.

The Will & Fincks, or as they have been more familiarly called Warrens "Young Giants", as now constituted, are a team that ought to do some great battling for the pennant. In the Amateur League, they are what the Sacramentos are to the big League. In fact their playing, bearing in mind that they are amateurs, very forcibly reminds one of the gild-edged work of the Senatorial aggregation. Warren from quite an extended experience knows a good player when he sees him, and is always on the alert to strengthen his team in any weak spot. His team to-day is undoubtedly the most formidable in every respect in the League. Howell has proven himself equally as efficient in the box as several pitchers many years his senior, and Billings has been giving him the most encouraging support. The infield is a very clever one; the two Delmas brothers on first and third and Charley Tillson at short having played together for the past few seasons know how to play their positions to the best possible advantage. With Conway they are "four of a kind" and hard to beat. Then the outfield is the most evenly balanced one ever seen on a amateur diamond. Strand, Leveque and Cusick are very fast fielders and accurate throwers. In hitting and base running they will undoubtedly lead the League as Frank Delmas, Cusick, Strand, Leveque. Billings and Tillson are exceptionally strong at the bat. They will probably excel in base running also, Tillson, Leveque, Howell, Strand and Cusick each having already made an envisble reputation in this department. All together they are a very strong team and ought to capture almost "everything in sight."

ATHLETICS.

Athletic Sports and Other Pastimes.

EDITED BY ARPHIPPUS,

SUMMARY.

A large number of novices sre preparing themselves for the coming handicap out door meeting of the Olympic Athletic Club, which will be held at the new grounds on Friday, July 4th. The wheelmen are bestirring themselves and are getting into good condition for their coming two-day tournament. Owing to the liberal prizes which will be offered by the Fourth of July Regatta Committee several of the local professional oarsmen have gone into training and will enter the professional single shell races. Several cross country runs are on the tapis and a boom in that line of sport may be expected.

AT THE OARS.

Sunday last was a good day for the oarsmen and many of them were out in their shells. There was an unusual activity in the neighborhood of Long Bridge, consequent upon the favorable condition of the tide.

The South End Rowing Club has elected the following officers for the ensuing term of one year: J. J. McCarthy, President; J. Traynor, Financial Secretary; W. Richards, Recording Secretary; A. J. Melletz, Treasurer; C Burns, D. Bassett and P. Reardon, trustees. The initiation fee has been reduced to $1, and the monthly dues to 50 cts. Hereafter the club will meet twice a month.

Stokes of the Pioneer Rowing Club is in good condition and his club will expect him to win the amateur shell championship on the 4th of July. A good many of the pioneer scullers were out for practice spins on Sunday.

The amateur crew of the Ariel Club are determined to show up in great shape at the regatta.

The members of the Dolphin Club are losing no time and were out in full force on Sunday.

The oarsmen are in a happy mood because John T Sullivan has been elected Chairman of the Fourth of July Regatta Committee. He is the right man in the right place and will see that the lovers of aquatic sports get all that is coming to them.

The Lurline Club will be represented by the following crew at the coming regatta: F. H. Taufenbach, bow; J. Ringen, forward waist; P. Gay, after waist; W. Schwartz, stroke; G. Gay, coxswain. Several of the boys were on the bay on Sunday and many of them exercise daily.

About $1,200 will be spent for prizes by the Regatta Committee and this fact alone will help to draw out some of the crack oarsmen who have remained on the shelf for a year or so. The programme will be made out about the middle of next week. It is almost an assured fact that Peterson, Henchman (of Stockton) Growney, Griffin, Van Gulphin, Stokes, Doherty and Deane, (of Stockton) will all enter for the professional events. Such an entry list would make the single shell race highly interesting.

Edward Hanlan has returned to Toronto. He will row in the Duluth regatta on July 22 to 26.

Postta, the American amateur champion oarsman should win the diamond sculle at the Royal Henley Regatta on the Thames, England, this year. Guy Nicholls, the English amateur champion will not compete in the race. H. Gardner, the stroke of the Cambridge, will row in the race.

The Aldermen of Boston, Mass., have decided on the following programme for the annual professional and amateur rowing regatta on the Charles river. Here it is: 1st race—For professional scullers, 3 miles. 1st prize, $175; 2nd, $100; 3rd, $75. 2nd race—For local professional scullers, 3 miles. 1st prize, $75; 2nd, $50; 3rd, $25. 3rd race—For amateur junior scullers, 3 miles. 1st prize, City of Boston Cup, value $50; 2nd, gold medal, value $25. 4th race—For eight oared shells, amateurs, 1½ miles, straightaway. 1st prize, nine gold medals and flag, value $125; 2nd, nine silver medals, value, $75 5th race—For four oared working boats, professional, 3 miles. 1st prize, $200; 2nd, $100; 3rd, $50. Total value of prizes, $1,125. The entries are free and may be made personally or by letter at the office of the clerk of committees, at the City Hall, until 2 P. M. of July 2. after which time none will be received. The Committee for the city is composed of Aldermen Wooley, Cove and Leary, and Councilmen Burlen, Shaw, Sprague, Pierce, Harrison, Sullivan, Clark and Robinson.

RUNNERS, WALKERS, JUMPERS, ETC.

The athletes do not seem to be taking much interest in the coming field games of the O. A. C., announced to come off on July 4th. Certainly none of the running or walking records will be broken, for the majority of the crack athletes have gone out of training, completely worn out by their exertions trying to get into good trim for the late championship meeting Several Olympic novices, however, will make their appearances, and it will be interesting to watch their performances.

Kortick, Jellineak, Wheelan, Foster and Crane, all new men, will enter, and good records may be expected from them. Without exception, they are all promising sprinters, and by next year may be able to make bids for championship honors.

Steve Casady has been feeling very pleased since May 30th, and he expects to do some record breaking next year. With proper handling he should leave 50 seconds in the shade for the quarter.

Cooley feels disgusted because of his defeat by Hill in the mile. It is doubtful if he could down the U. C. man in a mile or under, but it is dollars to cents that he could lead Hill all the way from one and a half miles up.

Casady, of the Alpine Club, will continue to practice distance running, and as he is quite a novice compared with Cooley, the young Englishman should improve considerably during the next couple of months.

With a liberal handicap, A. Cook should make it interesting for Coffin in a mile walk. He is an improving man both in style and speed, and may stand a fair chance for a medal on July 4th.

V. P. White, of the California Athletic Club, and W. M. Schwartz, of the Lurline Club, will wrestle a mixed match, catch-as-catch-can and Græco-Roman, before the former club some night in July for a $25 medal.

Leader John Hammersmith, of the Olympic Club, has leased the Grand Opera House for September 3d, on which date the grandest gymnastic exhibition ever witnessed in San Francisco will be given All the prominent athletes in the club will be billed to appear.

It is said that Harry M. Johnson, the professional sprinter, has left town.

There will be two amateur running races at the Scottish Thistle Club picnic at Shell Mound Park, Berkeley, on July 4th, under the auspices of the P C A A A. Three medals, costing respectfully $35, $25 and $15 will be given for each race. The distances will be five laps, or about half a mile, and two laps, or about a fifth of a mile. Several of the leading amateur runners will compete.

The Alpine Club members will take a long walk on Sunday July 6. The journey will be from San Mateo to this city. The athletes will leave on the first train for San Mateo where they will eat lunch. After walking around town for an hour or so they will start for San Francisco, the distance being 21 miles. The pace will be a slow walk averaging about three and a half miles a hour, and Captain John D. Garrison will insist that no spurting shall take place at the close of the walk. The tramp is intended as a pleasure trip as well as an exercise, by which the muscles of the body may be hardened without violent effort.

All associate members of the Pacific Coast Amateur Athletic Association are invited to take part. All information of the walk can be obtained from Captain John D. Harrison, 706 Powell Street. The following men have signified their intention of starting: A Cooke, R Luttringer, J R Collins, J D Garrison (captain) P N Gafney, R Staats, D Vultee, Ed. Steinway, Charles Armbruster, George W Armbruster, A Davis A M King, F E Holland, W Bowen, H C Casidy, P J Sheedy, A Choynski, E P Levy, C W Meyer, W F Vollmer and T H McCarthy. Judging from the interest taken in the affair, which is an original introduction among the athletic clubs on the Pacific Coast, it is safe to say that fifty athletes will undertake the journey.

About a dozen members of the Alpine Amateur Athletic Club crossed over to Sausalito on Sunday last, where they enjoyed their third cross country run from Jackson's Villa. The run, which was under the direction of Captain John D. Garrison, was to Lime Point and return. All the starters had been over the course before and were familiar with its ins and outs. The outward run was very slow, Garrison arriving at the Fog Station first, with Meyer second and Vollmer third, the rest being close up. After resting five minutes the boys started homeward, Captain Garrison allowing his club mates a start of about 300 yards. The run in was fast, but Garrison, despite his handicap, got home first by a couple of feet in 49 minutes, Meyer was second, Vollmer third, Choynski fourth and King fifth. The following men started: Captain J. D. Garrison, C. W. Meyer, A. M. King, G. H. Simmonds, R. C. Stasts, Ed Steinway, E. Steinway, Jr., A. Choynski, W. F. Vollmer, C. H. Larkey. After enjoying a refreshing dip in the briny ocean, the tired athletes sat down to a toothsome repast which had been specially prepared for them by Mrs. Ross Jackson. The club photographer, Ed Steinway, took an excellent photograph of the men in their running costumes.

The victorious Olympic team which captured the pennant on May 30th, will shortly hold a banquet. Songs, recitations, and speeches will follow the feast. The exercises will probably close with a grand wine rub down.

An excellent photograph of the O A C championship team was recently taken at the Elite Photograph Gallery. All the men who competed for the O A C in the games on May 30th are included in the group.

M. C. Giry, the ex-President of the Alpine Club, is now clerking at the I X L on Market street.

We understand that Captain G. W. Jordan, the ex-delegate of the O A C to the P C A A A wrote to the Directors of his club informing them if the Alpine Club was allowed to remain in the P C A A A he would resign as a delegate. The Directors accepted his resignation.

The following are the winners of the Olympic athletic games held at St. Louis, on June 7th:

One hundred yard run, scratch—A J Helmuth, O A C, won; time, 10 2-5secs.

One hundred yard run, handicap—L H Aftenkemp, Belleville A C won; time, 19 4 5secs.

One mile walk—H A Hentricks, M A A C, scratch, won in 7min 42secs.

Pole vaulting—Herman Wieneke, M A A C, scratch, broke the Western Association record in a vault of 10ft.

Four hundred and forty yard run—Won by Otto Wareskopsy in 53secs.

The 16-pound hammer was thrown 87ft 4in by Miles McDonough, of the Shamrocks, and he won.

The 220 yard walk for members were taken by Phil Hartman in 25 3-5secs.

The one mile run was won by Gus Wagner, Belleville A C, 60yds, in 4min 47secs.

George P. Powell, the Western champion, won the high jump with 5ft 10in. St. Louis will send two teams to the Detroit championships.

During the games of the Interscholastic Association on Holmes' Field, Cambridge, Mass., June 7th, W. C. Downes, the Harvard medium distance runner, made an attempt to excel the best time ever made on that track for half a mile. He had A. M. White, '92, for pacemaker, and succeeded in his effort, breasting the tape in 1min 57 2-5s. The best previous record for the track was 1min 59½secs, made by G. P. Coggeshall, '88, in the year '88.

More than three thousand persons were present at the open games of the New York Athletic Club, held at their beautiful country home at Travers Island, on Long Island Sound, on Saturday afternoon, June 7. It was also "ladies day" with the club, and therefore there was even a larger representation of the fair relatives and friends of the members than customary at the sports of this influential organization. Better weather could not have been desired by those bent upon having an enjoyable outing, but the fresh wind that was so welcome to the spectators was not conducive to superior performances on the running path. The grounds were in capital condition, the management was as faultless as ever, and, although there were many absentees among the entries, the sport was excellent, while that phenomenal shot putter, George Gray, distinguished himself by creating four world's records with missiles of different weights, and W. L. Condon added to his reputation by throwing the 16lb, hammer, standing, with one hand, a distance of 123ft. 6¾in. The absence of W C Dohm and W C Downes from races for which their names were down on the programme occasioned much disappointment. The former was reported to be sick, while the representative of Harvard was busy with his examinations and could not attend. The race in which Sherrill, the Yale crack, and Cary, from Princeton, appeared, at one hundred yards, resulted unsatisfactorily, owing to the former, who had easily won his trial heat, straining a tendon in his foot and falling near the finish in the final. A summary:

One hundred yards run—Final heat: Luther H Cary, Manhattan Athletic Club and Princeton College, first, in 10[illegible] s.; T I Lee, New York Athletic Club, second; P Vredenburgh, New York A C and Princeton, third.

Six hundred yards run—J S Roddy, Manhattan Athletic Club and Princeton College, first, in 1m. 20[illegible]-5s.; L R Sharp, New York Athletic Club' second.

Hurdle race, 120 yds.—Final heat: H L Williams, New York Athletic Club and Yale College, first, in 16[illegible]-5s; George Schwegler, New York Athletic Club, second; F C Puffer, New Jersey Athletic Club, third.

One mile run—A B George, Manhattan Athletic Club, first, in 4m. 35[illegible]-5s.; W McCarthy, Manhattan Athletic Club, second; W T Young, Manhattan Athletic Club, third.

Putting the 16lb. shot—George R Gray, New York Athletic Club, first, 44ft. 6¾in.; F L Lambrecht, Manhattan Athletic Club, second, 40ft. 11⅝in.; E J Gisnuini, New York Athletic Club, third, 37ft. 1in.

Pole vault—E D Ryher, New York Athletic Club and Yale College, first, 10ft. 4in; J Crane Jr., Boston Athletic Association and Harvard College, and R F Curry, Boston Athletic Association and Harvard, tied at 10ft. 1in.

Half mile run—J S Roddy, Manhattan Athletic Club, first, in 2m. 102-5s.; W H Wright, New York Athletic Club and Harvard, second; H E Billings Jr., New York Athletic Club, third.

One furlong run—L H Cary, Manhattan Athletic Club, first, in 232-5s; T I Lee, New York Athletic Club, second; P Vredenburgh, New York A C and Princeton College, third.

Running high jump—R K Pritchard, Manhattan Athletic Club, first, 5ft. 10in.; H L Hallock, Manhattan Athletic Club, and F C Hooper, Berkeley Athletic Club, tied for second place, 5ft. 6in. and the former won the toss.

Hurdle race, 220yds—George Schwegler, New York Athletic Club, first, in 27[illegible] 5s.; H L Williams, New York Athletic Club and Yale College, second, C E Leutilhon, New York Athletic Club, third.

Quarter mile run—L H Cary, Manhattan Athletic Club and Princeton College, first, in 53s.; J C Devereaux, Manhattan Athletic Club, second; F M Hartshorn, New York Athletic Club, third.

Obstacle race—J H Bell, New York Athletic Club, first, B G Woodruff, New Jersey Athletic Club, second; W B Miles, New York Athletic Club, third.

Throwing the 16lb hammer—W L Condon, New York Athletic Club, first, 119ft. 9½in. F L Lambrecht, Manhattan Athletic Club, second, 112ft. 8½in.; M O'Sullivan, Pastime Athletic Club, third, 88ft. 2in.

Running long jump—E E Barnes, New York Athletic Club, first, 21ft. 9½in.; Victor Mapes, Berkeley Athletic Club, second, 20ft. 12½in.; C T Weigand, New York Athletic Club, third, 20ft. 4in.

Putting shots—In trials against the record George R Gray, New York Athletic Club, created the following new records; 14lb. shot, 47ft. 7⅞in.; 16lb. shot, 46ft.; 18lb. shot, 41ft. 9½in.; 2lo. shot, 38ft. 8⅝in.

Referee, William B Curtis; track judges, A C Stevens, Ed. Milligan, Will Wood, and A G Mills; field judges, B C Williams, S J Cornell and James E Sullivan; timekeepers, J H Abeel Jr., John H Sterd, George Taylor and Evert Wendell; starter, George Goldie, clerk of the course, A A Jordan; announcer, A C Palmer.

The different lodges of the Sons of St. George in New York City will hold a picnic at Jones Wood, New York, on August 13, the chief feature of which will be the sports in the afternoon, including the following events for which the prizes will consist of gold and silver watches and silver cups: 100 yards run; 220 yards run; 440 yards run; 880 yards run; 1 mile run, open to all amateurs, and a tug of war, and races for men over 200 lbs. in weight and for men over 45 years of age open only to members of the order.

The Board of Governors of the Manhattan Athletic Club, at a meeting held on June 6, adopted a resolution to the effect that the club would not consider the application for membership of any athlete, a member of any club belonging to the Amateur Athletic Union unless he presented with the application his release from the club to which he had belonged.

W. G. George, the ex-champion amateur runner, has assumed the entire management of the Molineux Grounds, Wolverhampton, England, a favorite racing path for 'cyclers.

CLUB JOTTINGS.

Some of the members of the Lurline Club are anxious that the club withdraw its application for admission into the P. C. A. A A. They seem to have an idea that the Association does not care very much to elect a North Beach club to membership. The Secretary of the Lurline Club received a letter from the Association in regard to the amateur standing of one of its members, William Schwartz, the wrestling instructor, who was said to be receiving a salary. The following reply was mailed to the Association: I beg leave to say for the benefit of the club that we are a new organization heartily endorsing the sentiments of the association in its good work in bringing together strictly amateur clubs to the front, and will not this late day make ourselves liable for any breaking of the rules of the association.

At present we have three boxing teachers, and two in wrestling, and I am desirious of informing the association that there is not one of our teachers under pay or being compensated for services rendered, but strictly voluntary on their part, which was the understanding when they were elected honorary members of the Lurline Club.

The Alpine Club will not hold any exhibition this month, but next month a fine entertainment will be given.

A meeting of the P C A A A was held at the Olympic club rooms on Wednesday evening, June 11th. At 8 o'clock, the hour at which the meeting should have been called to order, there were present over a dozen delegates, but as the night advanced and 10 o'clock resounded through the halls only half that number remained in the waiting room. There was considerable kicking done by the delegates who were compelled to wait, and they had just cause for kicking. It seems inconsistent that meetings of the Association should be called at such a late hour, and the sooner this state of things is remedied the better for the welfare of the P C A A A. At 11 o'clock, when the election of officers took place, only four delegates were present: Messrs. Scott, Steinway, Gilhuly and Moody. The other delegates were obliged to leave, owing to the lateness of the hour. All the old officers were elected. J. H. Gilhuly was accepted as a delegate to succeed George W. Jordan of the O A C, who had resigned. Several records were accepted.

The next meeting of the Association will be held at the same place on June 25th.

THE WHEELMEN.

The programme for the League meeting has not as yet been issued. The new four lap track at San Jose is nearing completion, and will be in tip top condition by the Fonith of July. The grand stand has already been erected, and all the other arrangements are nearly perfected. The hall which will take place on Saturday evening, Jnly 5th, at the Hotel Vendome, promises to be one of the events of the season at San Jose. Several hundred invitations will he issued.

A complete list of the prizes to he awarded the winners will he published on Monday. The prizes will he handsome and costly and will include watches, hicycles, jewelry, etc.

Several Los Angeles wheelmen are in trsining at San Jose, and doubtless some of the trophies will find their way to the City of Angels.

A good many of the Garden City Wheelmen are also in training and the local riders will need to exert themselves.

The Oakland Bicycle Club has called a rnn for Jnly 3d. The men will be divided into two teams, a fast one and a slow one. The slow team will leave the cor of 12th and Broadway streets, Oakland, at 4:30 p m. The Scorchers will follow at 7:30. The run will be to San Jose.

The lantern parade on the evening of the 4th, will be an interesting sight to witness.

Chief Consul R. M. Thompson's handbook is about ready and will shortly be issued. It will he one of the largest and beat books of the kind ever issued. Every member of the Cal. division L A W will receive a copy free and it will he impossible for ontsiders to procure a copy of the book as it will not he for sale.

At a meeting of the Bay City Wheelmen held June 16th, the two following gentlemen were nominated for delegates at large: Dr. T L Hill of San Francisco, and C C Moore of Stockton.

Chief Consul Thompson, George P. Wetmore and Sanford Plummer rode to Santa Cruz on Snnday, going by way of Bonlder Creek and Saratoga.

The B C W will hold a road race in Septemher with time handicaps. The race will be on the principle of the great Pullman road races. The race will prohahly be open to all members of the Cal. Division L A W. Valuahle prizes, consisting of hicycles, watches, etc., will be given.

At a meeting of the Bay City Wheelmen held June 9th, a committee was appointed to see what could he done in regard to the issuing of honds for building purposes.

It is the intention of the Bay City Wheelmen to build a club honse of their own in some convenient part of the city. The rooms will he finely furnished, and no donht many wheelmen who are at present nnattached will he only too glad to join a club that will shortly he ahle to hoast of having a finer club house than any other bicycle organization on the Pacific Coast.

Chief Consul Thompson and W. M. Meeker intend going to the Yosemite Valley next month.

A club run of the San Francisco Bicycle Club, occupying a week, is to he taken through Lake and Sonoma counties.

The board of officers ot California Division met last week and nominated the committee whose duty is to make nominations for chief consnl, vice-consnl and secretary-treasurer, for the coming term. C. C. Moore of Stockton, Fred Russ Cook of San Francisco, H. C. F. Smith of Los Angeles, Dr. Van Norden of Alsmeda and A. C. McKenney of San Jose are the committee. The election will he conducted under the Australian plan, according to the new constitution. Each member of this committee will send his nominees to the secretary-treasurer, and all the names received hy him will be placed on one ticket and the ticket sent to esch member of the division, who will cross off the namss which he does not wish to vote, and then return the ticket to the secretary-treasurer. Any other names received hy the secretary-treasurer indorsed hy the members in good standing will also he placed on the ttcket.

The nominations for representatives at large will he made hy the league olubs of the division, of which there are five—Bay City Wheelmen, Los Angeles Wheelmen, Garden City Wheelmen, Vineyard Valley Wheelmen and Palm Leaf Wheelmen. Chief Consul Thompson has notified the secretaries of these clubs to make nominations for five representatives on or before July 1st, 1890.

"Hexameter," the Los Angeles correspondent of the L. A. W. Bulletin, is strongly advocating the re instatement of S. W. Speirs into the amateur ranks. The fact of Mr. Speirs having competed in the Morgan "fake" races at the Mechanics Pavilion some months ago, after having been dnly cautioned that any wheelmen who took part in these races would he disqualified as an amateur, is a harrier strong enough to prevent his re-instatement. There are plenty of good wheelmen now in the State, and the loss of one amateur who was hot-headed enough to violate the rnles of the L. A. W. will make hnt little difference to the amsteur hicycling world.

Unique Racing.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., June 5.—Milkmen from all sections of the city, after serving their customers with dispatch, today turned out in holiday attire, accompanied hy their wives or hest girls, and wended their way to Belmont Course to witness the third annual racea of the Philadelphia Milk Exchange. The Lancaster tnrnpike and all roads loading to the track were crowded by the jolliest crowd imaginahle. All sorts of vehicles, from the genuine buckboard to the dilspidated milk wagon, conveyed over 4,000 spectators to the grounds. The weather was hot and the roads dusty, bnt everyhody enjoyed the day hugely. Honest racing waa the order, everyhody trying to win. Frank Bower, Joshua Evans, John T. Strickland and Dr. J. A. Marshall were in the judges' stand.

The milk wagon race created considerahle amnsement for the spsctators. Each contestant was stationed at the wire, the driver to load two thirty-quart milk cans, shut up the tail-board, and get in his wagon and drive a mile, the first horse in to he declared the winner. T. Fogarty loaded first, with Siney second, hut Lady Forrest took the lead and won the race in 3:21½

The 2:35 pacing race was hotly contested between the three starters, the hay gelding Eli winning. Best time, 2:34½.

The second Milk Wagon class was a repetition of the first race, Smiling Jimmy getting the atart and keeping the lead to the three-quarter pole, when Jersey Boy passed him and won the race in 2:39½.

The 2:50 class was the race of the dav, with Stone Cutter the favorite. Stone Cutter won the first hest by a neck. In the second heat Frank had the race in hand to the stretch, when he quit hadly, and Stone Cutter passed him a length from the wire. In the third heat all endeavored to beat Stone Cutter. Frank and Butcher Boy made the pace hot, but Stone Cutter outfooted the field and won by a short length. Best time, 2:43.

THE HISTORY OF TROTTING.

Phenomenal Progress Since the Days of the First Three Minute Trotter.

Some little idea may be obtained of the rapid growth of trotting and the phenominal progress made in this rate of speed by a comparison of a few events happening in different decades dnring the present centnry. It was in the year 1818 that a horse first trotted in three minutes. It was accomplished at Jamsica, N. Y., hy a horse called Boston Blne, and wss regarded as a notable performance. Nothing else of importance transpired during that decade. In 1844 Lady Suffolk trotted in 2:26½, and the world wondered. In 1845 Moscow trotted in 2:30, in 1849 Pelham trotted in 2:28, and Lady Sutton in 2:30, and with a notation of these praise worthy performances the history of that decade is written.

In 1853 Highland Maid and Tscony each trotted in 2:27. In '59 George M. Patchen trotted in 2:26¼, and Brown Dick in 2.25¼, and in 1859 the sun of that decade set in a blaze of glory on account of the world famed performance of Flora Temple, when she trotted in 2:19¾. The news wss tisshed to the uttermost parts of the earth, horsemen marveled and predicted the end had come, the sturdy little msre was proclaimed the Queen, and conservative men shook their heads and indulged in melancholy musings over the fact that it wss a fast age, and men and women were going to the dogs because of their love and admiration for a healthful, pleasant sport which many good men and trne, believed immoral

During the next decade trotting assnmed some sort of form, and 2:20 was frequently beaten. In '67. '68 and '69 Dexter earned lasting tame by trotting in 2;17¼. Lady Thorne trotted in 2:18½, American Girl in 2:19½. In '78 Rarus trotted in 2:13½, in '74 Goldsmith Maid in 2:14, in '78 St. Julien trotted in 2:12¾, in '78 Hopeful trotted in 2:14¾, in '75 Lula trotted in 2:14¾, and in 1876 Smuggler trotted in 2:15½, and in '74 American Girl obtained a record of 2:16½. By this time trotting hsd become a recognized sport and a good part of the stigma or odium stta hed to it had been removed, while the business of breeding the trotter was asauming a practical form and becoming reduced to a system.

In 1885 Msud S. trotted in 2:08¾. 1884 Jay-eye-see trotted in 2:10, in 1881-2 Trinket trotted in 2:14, in 1882 Clingstone went a mile in 2:14, in 1880 St. Julien trotted in 2:11¾, in 1884 Phallas trotted in 2:13¾ and the ssme year Maxie Cobb was credited with a record of 2:13¾. In 1887 Harry Wilkes trotted a mile in 2:13½, in 1888 Prince Wilkes trotted in 2:14¾, and Rosaline Wilkes in 2:14½, in 1887 Patron trotted in 2:14¼, in 1889 Guy trotted in 2:10¾, Sunol, a three year old in 2:10¼, Axtell, a three year old, in 2:12, Stamboul in 2:12¾ Palo Alto in 2:12¼, Belle Hamlin in 2:12¾, and Bonnie McGregor in 2:13¾.

It was in 1876 that Smuggler obtained the stallion record of 2:15½, and thst stood against all competition for eight years until Phallas trotted in 2:13¾, and Maxie Cobb in 2:13¾ These records defied all competition for five years, when the record was heaten hy three stallions, one of them a three year old. It was in the year 1844 that 2:30 waa first heaten, and in the year 1889 there were nearly six hundred accessions to the list. It waa in 1883 that Hinda Rose astonished the world by trotting to a three year old record of 2:19½. That record stood unchallenged until 1887, when Sable Wilkes trotted in 2:18, and since then it has been heaten hy seven other three year olds, and in 1889 was reduced hy Sunol to 2:10¼. There are twelve three year olds that have trotted in 2.20 or hetter. In 1886 Msnzanita trotted in 2.16 aa a four year old. That record has never been beaten, and only once equaled, and that was in 1889 hy Edgemark It was in 1881 that Wildflower, a two year old, trotted in 2:21. That record was never even approached until 1888, when Snnol trotted in 2:18 and Axtel in 2:23, while in 1889 Regal Wilkes trotted in 2:20¾. Only one two year old has beaten 2:20. In 1881 Hinda Rose, a yearling, trotted in 2:36¾. That record was conaidered iuvincible until 1887, when Norlaine trotted in 2.31¾ and Susie D. trotted in 2.35¾. In 1888 Faustino trotted a mile in 2:35, and this closes the list of fast yearlings. This shows a most remarkahle rate of progress.

There occurs occasionally a phenomenal performance, made perhaps under advantageons circumstances by a snpreme effort; with everything, including nature and the ingenuity of man in its favor. This performance is rarely equaled until a certain combinstion of forces or fortunate circumstances afford opportunity, and then the attempt is made. The die is cast, some specnlative or daring individual risks all upon one grand supreme effort; all circnmstances are favorahle, and at once, almost as by an eleotric spark, records are broken and smashed to atoms, a great victory over time and almost over nature is won, and applsuding thonsands witness, without fully appreciating its fnll aignificance, a phenomenal event. Perhaps the grandest stnggle against the old man with the scythe was the hattle royal last year hetween the great 3-year olds, Sunol and Axtell. In sll its conditions it was an nnequal contest. On the one side was the prestige of wealth, recognized breeding, a famous aire and one of the most competent trainers and handlers of colt trotters the world has ever seen. On the other hand was a poor, obscure yonng man, a colt hy a sire "to fortune and to fame unknown," very little money and presumably very little judgment in training and handling. The record is, ss it reads to-day: Axtell, 2:12, king of stallions; Sunol, 2:10½, queen of 3-year-olds.

The grand filly, almost unapproachable, in the marvelous splendor of her snpreme performance, has earned the laurel she so proudly wears; earned it by tention of nervea and muscle, by one grand, glorions, series of great deeda that have placed her away heyond her kind, and made her name throughout the length and breadth of this great land a houaehold word. The wonderful colt, horn in a little country town, educated, trained and driven hy an amateur whom all the world laughed at, shipped from town to town, from State to State, from track to track, wherever there was a dollar in sight; trotted under all sorts ot disadvantageous circnmstances, and finally hy one grand, nnexpected, nnlooked-for great effort, crowned king of stallions. The great filly, 2:10½, the superh atallion, 2:12; which is the greater do yon say? That'a for you to decide, gentle reader. We don't know or don't oare. We knew them both as babies, and watched them both in their grand career. One thing we do know, and it is this: Their dams were esch hy sirea almost unknown, entirely without reputation, among men as brood mare aires. One thing we don't know is this, and that is why their dams were not one or the other some far famed mare of great renown, a queen mother in some great broodmare family. From absolute obscurity two mares have been raised to the highest pinnacle of fame hy the performsnce of two of the greatest youngsters ever born, and it is the very irony of fate that these self-same mares were by sires unknown to fame.

Why is it, do yon say? Qnien Sshe; who knows? Who can tell? Who, among sll the wiee mem, the eminent creators and formnlators of beautiful theories, will rise and explain? The people are anxiously waiting. Let the scientist who has fathomed the awful mysteries of life and death, or the flippant theorist who knows all ahont it, solve the problem and instruct the people. As for us, we have passed thst point in the study of the science of breeding, and honestly and humhly proclaim ourselves a mere student of the mysteries of the great mother nsture, and he it understood, the more we study, the more we observe, the less competent we feel to instrnct; the more humhle we feel as to our absolnte knowledge of the grest science. More and more, as we observe and study are we inclined to he humhle, and be satisfied to be a recorder of facts and events, leaving to ahler and more astnte minds and to men who have studied and observed less, the task of elucidsting the great problem and of explaining it to the people. Some one will criticise this article, and we will be glad of it, for as the great premier of England wrote. "Critics are the men who have failed," and agsin a great poet said: "To every trade msn serves apprenticeship save to the trade of censure. Critics all sre ready made." What we would like to sec and what the people demand is that some estimahle gentleman who hss never hred a mare or owned a trotter, and who could scarely tell whether a horse had a spavin or the glanders should explain these so-called mysteries—Clsrk's Horse Review.

Have Mercy on the Horses.

As the spring work hegins, writes a farmer in the Michigan Farmer, remember horses feel the heat as much or more than we do, as, if we hecome burdened, we can easily lsy aside our heavy clothing and snbstitute that which is lighter. The horse cannot always do this, for although nature proclaims that animals "shed their coat" in the spring, yet it is often the case that the horse does not part with his heavy coat of hair until late in the season. Then, too, do not hurry him too much. How would you relish heing urged continually at your work? when limbs are growing weary and exercise and sunshine combine to bring the perspiration starting from every pore, to have a whip flourished around your ears, while some one who holds the reins shouta "Get up!" How good it would seem to stop and rest a minute to get your breath! Perhaps when that corner is neared you will hear the welcome "whoa". As the corner is neared you involuntarily slacken your pace, expecting to he allowed to stop. But no, instead is heard the command to go on, enforced quite likely hy a whiz of the whip.

How a good drink of water would taste, your mouth is so hot! But you know better than to expect that; and when at last, tired and panting, you are allowed to rest a few minutes the driver drops his lines, and if it he not too far from the pump, you soon hear the sound of gushing water, and as he drains our cup after cup of the refreshing fluid you can only hope he will perhaps remember that you are thirsty too, and hring you some. Bnt no; back he comes empty-handed, when only one pail of water would have heen so refreshing to you and your mate. For you know quite well that the idea that a drink of water will injure a horse when warm any more than it will a man is utterly false, nnless it he used immoderately.

Then there is the check-rein. What it was ever invented for is more than you or I know. It is nothing but a torture when at work to have your head drawn up, snd do what you will you cannot get rid of it. You turn your head this way and that, trying to get a little relief, and have the whip applied for your pains. Then, when you have to start a load, how much essier it is if you can get your head down.

Blinders are another thing often annoying to a horse. How often we see them so close to the eye that they impede the free action of the eye-lashes, which would he very annoying to us, and why is it not to the horse? Look over that work harness, and if there is any tendency on the part of the blinders to "lop" over the horse's eyes, cut them off, and you will never have cause to regret it. A horse soon hecomes accustomed to their absence, and I am sure if he had a voice in the matter, would much prefer to have them removed.

Then when you hitch up to go to town don't expect to make a first-class carriage horse out of one that has been working in the plow all week, and pull his head in the air and expect him to trot off as lively as a colt.

Much of the cruelty practiced upon farm horses (and it is nothing less) is the result of thoughtlessness, and pages might be written on the subject. How oft n are the horses jerked and yelled at in cultivating, only making them excited and incapable of performing their work as well as they would if handled quietly and gently!

I have in mind a horse of nervous temperament, which with quiet treatment is an excellent horse to cultivate with, scarcely ever stepping ont of place, apparently as careful to keep off the hills of corn or potatoes as a person would he. At a blow or harsh word or jerk of the reins she is fairly wild, jumping into the next row, taking the cultivator too in her excitement.

Don't urge the slow-walking team to keep up with one that walks faster. Note the difference in people as to gait. Some men will with perfect ease walk twice as fast as others; snd ought the slow horse be blamed hecause he cannot keep up with another?

Particular attention should he given to the collar that it does not cause a gall. A well fitting collar, kept smooth snd clean, will rarely give trouhle in that direction.

The new stake book arranged by Mr. Ferguson is meeting with great sale.

The Horse World, formerly issued as a monthly, now appears as a weekly. It is a readable paper and deserves success.

Mr. Walter S. Vosburgh, official handicapper of the New York Jockey Club, has been appointed to the same position by the Monmouth Park Association.

Mohawk Chief was seen not long since at Palo Alto pulling a harrow on the Kindergarten track. He is as handsome a horse as ever, and took to his work kindly.

The well known horseman, Lee Mantle of Butte, Mont., was crushed by the explosion of a boiler in the Silver Bow Electric Light Works, in Butte, on Friday, June 13th.

Seconds and thirds seems to be as near as the Malte e Villa Stable can get to the front in the East. Everyone would be pleased to see Porter Ashe's pretty cherry jacket in the van once or twice.

Mr. Valensin has not quite recovered from his late illness, although he has been able to be around once more. At present he is rusticating at Bartlett Springs, taking advantage of the health giving waters.

Geraldine has been unfortunate enough to run second quite a number of times in very fast time, but those who have pinned their faith to the mare have reason to believe that she will shortly show her heels to the best of them.

W. B. Sanborn of Santa Rosa was in town Monday, and he reports favorably in regard to the horses in training at the track there. He says that Sonoma County is prepared to spring a surprise or two on the trotting world when the season opens.

The Hills Bros. of Lompoc, Santa Barbara Co. have lately purchased the bay stallion Commodore Nutwood by Nutwood, the consideration paid being $1,000 and a valuable mare. The horse has a record of 2:32 and has shown a trial in 2:28.

The famous Green Mountain Maid's youngest son, Lancelot, is three years old, and those who have seen him recently say he is the best of his wonderful family, and he will probably enter the 2:30 list this season. Ed Bither is training him.

H. Silverman of 1016 Golden Gate Avenue has for sale, the mare Elaine by Bonner (son of Chieftain 721) dam by McCrackens Black Hawk. Elaine is only nine years old and should prove a valuable brood mare for those that are looking for bargains.

Victor 2:22 who has stood during the season at Napa, has been taken to Indian Valley, where his owner Mr. Doherty will prepare him for another campaign. Victor is one of the favorites on the circuit and race goers always look for a sensation whenever he appears.

The good people of San Luis Obispo are going to have a one day's meeting on July 5th. Mr. Lew Warden reports that the track is in superb condition being both fast and safe; he also says that the regular fall races will commence on Sept. 2nd and end on the 6th.

Robert Bonner and a party of friends have paid a visit to Terre Haute to inspect Sunol and everything is satisfactory. The great four-year-old moved a quarter in 31 1-5 seconds, at which Mr. Bonner was much pleased. The query of the day among horsemen is, how fast can Sunol go?

The Tennessee correspondent of this paper was the first to announce that Brown Hal 2:12½ had paced a quarter in 28 seconds. Considerable discredit was thrown on the statement, but now Major Campbell Brown comes forward and verifies the report, which settles the disputed point.

The horse loving people of Los Angeles are confident that they will have one of the best meetings of the circuit and that the entry list will be very large. The Directors are already assured of patronage enough from horse owners to feel that that they were warranted in offering large purses.

The Greenville (Plumas County) Driving Park Association has been organized with a cash capital of $400, and land has been leased in the neighborhood of the city from Frank Kruger. The Directors of the Association are D. McIntyre, G. S, Bransford, C. H. Lawrence, D. McKinley and D. L. Haun.

We are under many obligations to Edwin F. Smith, Secretary of the State Agricultural Society for a copy of the published report of the society for the year 1889. In addition to a complete record of all the races which took place at the State Capitol, there are also full reports of the contests that took place at the other Agricultural Meetings throughout the State.

R. L. Carroll tells me he will have the Oakland programme out next week in the Breeder and Sportsman. Four days trotting and pacing will be provided for the talent, while the thoroughbred element will not be neglected, as three days will be devoted to their mode of progression, and probably five races a day, for which free purses on a liberal scale will be hung up.

If the telegraphed accounts are true, Judge Green, President of the St. Louis Jockey Club, is in very bad odor, owing to a decision given on Thursday last, he naming a wrong horse as winner. Mr. Green has always held a high place among the patrons of the turf and I should be loath to believe that he was guilty of intentional wrong, unless the testimony against him was overwhelming.

Wm. Napier of Pleasanton was in the city on Wednesday, and from him I learn that the Three Cheers—Queen Emma filly, owned by Schweere & Napier has been sent to the stable of Matt Storn at Sacramento to receive preparatory work for a fall campaign. She has been well entered in all the stakes of this year, and "Billy" seems to think that he has got a "show in" for at least a part of the money.

Before another issue of this paper the ball will have started rolling at Chicago, and many Californian horses will have shown to the world what they are capable of doing. The Smith Stable, as well as one belonging to T. H. Williams, have been quartered at Washington Park for some time, and those who fancy the runners have every reason to believe that both of these strings will give good accounts of themselves.

Two well known horsemen met in the office of the Breeder and Sportsman a few days ago and a controversy arose as to how fast Sunol was likely to trot during the year 1890. The wordy war finally finished by a wager being made that the peerless queen would show a mile sometime during the year in 2:06. This may seem rather a low mark to set for the great mare, yet still there are scores who expect to see her perform the marvelous feat.

Major Campbell Brown, Ewell Farm, Spring Hill, Tenn., has sold to W. C. Jones, Columbia, Tenn, a half interest in the chestnut horse McEwen, 4 yr. old record 2:18¼, foaled 1885, by McCurdy's Hambletonian 1644, record 2:26½ (son of Harold 413 and Belle, dam of Belmont by Mambrino Chief) dam Mary M. by Bassinger. This is the young horse that many Eastern turfmen think can beat Direct.

A big hunt for wild horses ended successfully at Casper, Wyoming, last Monday. Three weeks ago a party of four cowboys started for Salt creek to try and capture a herd of wild horses which have ranged in the vicinity for several years. The wild herd was sighted and circled into a narrow canyon, where thirty of them were captured. They were all magnificent animals. Seven of them were branded, the remainder were "slicks," or horses which had run wild from birth.

Mr. J. H. Walters, proprietor of the Lakeport track will have a one day meeting on Saturday, June 27th. Six events are on the programme, three being for trotters and a like number for the "bang tails." This is the season of the year when life is enjoysble in Lake County and as the famous summer resorts of that section are already extensively patronized, the day's sport should be generously supported by both the local residents, and those who are at present up there for recreation and pleasure.

Mr. Irvin Ayres, owner of Alpheus 2:27, has leased that stallion to H. D. Albright of San Luis Obispo, who will in all probability have him trained and trotted in the southern part of the state during the present year. Alpheus is by Mambrino Wilkes 6033, dam by Major Mono. Mr. Albright will also make the season of 1891 with the horse at or near his home, and it will be a splendid opportunity for those owning well bred mares in that neighborhood, to secure the services of a well bred and dead game horse.

Matt Storn has eight thoroughbreds in training at the Sacramento track, and they are all doing well. Lurline has been bred to imp Cheviot, but will be seen in races this fall. Marigold is moving nicely, and Matt expects to win with her on the circuit. A two year old filly by Three Cheers, dam Mistake (dam of Kildare) is a beauty, closely resembling in looks Mr. Haggin's mare Firenzi. The stable boys are very sweet on her, and she has been named Mystery. Mr Storn also has his trotter Belvidere doing slow work, and threatens to give him a record this fall.

There can be no reason to doubt the ultimate success of the Pacing Horse Breeders Association, which will meet at the Gibson House, Cincinnati on Thursday of next week. The gentlemen having the matter in hand are enthusiastic in the cause and will carry the matter to a successful conclusion. The interests of horse breeding demands a strong organization for registery purposes, and it is proposed that the committee appointed for the purpose will have a good set of rules to lay before the association to regulate the pacers of America.

"There is no quality that exerts a greater influence on the selling value of road horses, family horses and coach horses than the quality of beauty. A horse of symmetrical form, with gracefully curved neck, clean limbs, fine head and proud demeanor, pleasing color and silky coat, will almost always sell readily for all he is worth, whether he is large or small, fast or slow. Other horses that are rough coated, homely colored, and of ungainly form will have to go begging for a customer, even though they may be far more serviceable animals than the beauties.

A telegram was received June 2 by District Attorney Fellows, New York City, from the United States Consul at Havana, stating that Robert L. Wallace, the defaulting cashier of the Wallace Register Company, had voluntarily surrendered to him $18,000 in United States bonds and $3 000 in cash, being, it is presumed, all he had left of the $52,000 which he abstracted. Although there was no treaty of extradition between the United States and Spain, it is quite possible that young Wallace and his companion, I. B. Lowitz, may be brought back and punished for their crime.

Secretary F. P. Lowell, of the Sacramento Colt Stake Association, writes me to say that at the annual meeting held at the race track, Sacramento, on June 10th, only two competitors came forward to do battle for the two-year-old trotting stake. The first was T. J. Driscoe's Farmington Boy, by Dexter Prince, and the other A. L. Whitney's Anna Bell by Dawn. The latter won easily in straight heats, the time made being 2:53 and 3:01. Those who saw the race are under the impression that the winner could have trotted in 2:40 or better if necessity had required.

The news had no sooner been received of Salvator's victory in the Suburban than the New York Herald telegraphed to the San Francisco representative to send on a message as to the manner in which the "win" was received by local horsemen. As was only natural the correspondent at once visited the Breeder and Sportsman office, where a large number of prominent horsemen had congregated to discuss the good work done by Mr. Haggin's colt. It was the generally expressed belief that Salvator is the best horse of the year, as he beat the best cracks of the East carrying lumps of weight.

Two races are announced for July 4th at Petaluma. The first one is for a purse of $200, mile heats, three in five, with the following horses: Lee Shaner names h s Poco Tempo by Anteeo; A. N. Burrell names b m Lillie Mac by Auctioneer Johnnie; J. B. Hinkle names b s Whalebone by Inca; Steve Crandall names b m Mountain Quail by Hernanni. The second race will be contested for by C. Futroe's g m Nellie Rustic by Rustic; A. N. Burrell's b m Annie L by Alexander; R. S. Brown's b g Robbin and Dan Misners g g Chappo by Rustic.

Peter Woods, who has had a large stable of horses at the Bay District Track in training, has been engaged by Gilbert Tompkins, Esq., owner of the Souther Stock Farm, to prepare the promising horses on the Farm for the fall circuit. Mr. Woods will have the grand young stallion El Benton under his charge and also the four year old Glen Fortune. I consider the first named one of the best two year olds in the State to-day, and under "Pete's" able management should make a sure enough trotter.

It is likely that Bess, by Fadladeen, out of Betsy, has run her last race. She ran away the other day, and covered three miles before she could be pulled up. While she suffered no apparent harm, it is probable that she will be put out of training.

One of the noticeable features at Palo Alto is the quietness with which everything is conducted. There is never any loud or boisterous language, and swearing in and around the stables is never heard. This is in contradistinction to many of the tracks and farms in the State, where most of the rubbers and grooms seem to think it essential and necessary to use rough and coarse language to the animals under their charge, yet still there is not a stable in the country where trotting horses are more quiet and gentle than they are at Senator Stanford's.

"Kennesaw," the well known collector of news for the Breeder and Sportsman, in Tennessee, has from the first proclaimed that Rio Rey would never face the starter again, and now his prognostications turn out to be true, for Mr. Winters has had his suburb colt thrown out of training, and the son of Norfolk and Marion will be sent back to Nevada to take the place of his sire in the stud. He was the great colt of his year, and it only remains to be seen whether his younger brother can follow in El Rio Rey's illustrious footsteps.

A match race, half a mile and repeat, took place at Los Alamos, Santa Barbara Co., last week between Harris' Pinto stallion and Hill's bay mare, the amount run for being $500. Our correspondent writes and says: "It is astonishing how some horses will run slower the more they train on, but perhaps it is not always the fault of the horse, the trainer has much to do with it and the riders often make a horse run faster one day than they can another. Hill's bay mare one month ago could negotiate a half mile in 52 seconds, yet still, on the day of the race she was easily beaten by Pinto in 57 and 57½."

Attention is called to the programme of the 17th Agricultural District, the races of which will take place at Glenbrook Park, commencing August 19th, when $6,500 in purses will be distributed among those fortunate enough to own the winners. There are three races each day, and as the purses are more than liberal, it may be expected that the entry list will be a large one. Last year the fair at Glenbrook Park was one of the most successful held in the northern portion of the State, and we confidently believe that the fair of 1890 will be even more so than the one of last year.

Reports from the southern portion of the State confirms the rumor that Nick Covorrubias has a grand race horse this year in Dan Murphy. He has been given a couple of "pipe openers," the first being a half mile in 49 seconds, while a mile was made in the fast time of 1:42½. The well known trainer Gus Walters is handling all of Nick's horses and has them in the pink of condition; they will no doubt be heard from when the southern circuit opens. In the same string is a very large, handsome three-year-old by Hock-Hocking who runs just as fast as he pleases, no company is too speedy for him and he is expected to show his heels to many during the circuit races.

One of the most important sales that has taken place in California for many a day, was consumated on Tuesday last; B. C. Holly of Vallejo, purchasing from J. A. Goldsmith of San Mateo, the chestnut mare Manon 2:21, by Nutwood, dam Addie (dam of Woodnut 2:16½) by Hasbrouck's Hambletonian Chief, son of Hambletonian 10. With the mare, goes her three living foals; the first a ch. f. foaled 1888, the second a blk colt foaled 1889, and a ch. colt foaled 1890, all of the three being by Guy Wilkes 2:15¼, and the mare is bred back to the same horse. The price paid was $20,000, and from the way prices go at present, the sum is not exorbitant. In buying Manon, Mr. Holly has returned to his early love, for that good mare is a full sister to his celebrated stallion Woodnut, which he sold last year to Mr. Steele of Cedar Farm. If the colt of last year is in good condition twelve months from now, Mr. Holly should be able to sell him for an amount equal to what he paid for the lot.

In the current number will be found an advertisement from the Directors of the Stockton Fair Association in which they announce the opening of five stakes and purses which will be trotted for during their meeting, commencing September 23rd. The 1st is a guarantee purse of $1,000 for the three-minute class; the 2nd is a guarantee purse of $1,000 for the 2:25 class; the 3rd for four-year-olds or under with a purse of $500, open to the district only; the 4th is for the 2:30 class and the 5th for the 2:40 class, both of the latter being for a guaranteed purse of $1,000 each. They also announce the opening of the Amsdor Stake for the running division open to horses of all ages. This stake is for animals owned in Amador, Calaveras, San Joaquin and Stanislaus counties. The entrance is $20 each for all starters with $150 added; the 2nd horse to reiceve half the entrance money, the distance being one mile. For the guaranteed trotting purses, the entrance is 10 per cent., payable as follows: $30 on July 1st, when nominations close; $35 on August 1st, and $35 on September 1st, when horse must be named. As is usual in all nomination purses, neglect to make payments forfeits all previous amounts paid in.

A meeting of the representatives of the fair associations of Napa, Petaluma, San Jose and Oakland was held in the Breeder and Sportsman offices last Saturday, F L. Coombs represented Napa; G. H. Bragg, San Jose; J. H. White and R. Brown, Petaluma; R. T. Carrol, Dr. Lathem and George Bement, Oakland. A lengthy discussion took place in regard to having the same class of races at each of the meetings and thus make it an inducement for horse owners to enter with a chance of earning a respectable amount of money through the circuit, it being conceded that it was not worth an owner's while to go to the trouble and expense of training a horse for only one race and it is confidently expected that by giving a series of races of one pattern at four of the most prominent meetings, a larger and more uniform class of horses would enter and better contests would ensue. With this object it was ultimately decided to give at San Jose, Napa, Petaluma and Oakland a 2:20 trot and 2:27 trot the opening day, on the third day of the meeting a 3:00 trot and a 2:30 pace, and on another day a 2:24 trot and a free-for-all pace. The first day at Napa, San Jose and Petaluma will be on a Tuesday. Oakland will commence on Monday, September 1st and continue to Tuesday, Sept. 9th, and will include three days for runners and four for trotters and pacers.

A Convert

One of the best known and most popular of writers on the trotting horse is "Iconoclast," whose able articles in each successive issue of the Kentucky Stock Farm are read with much interest by all who have a fondness for the trotter. For a long, long time he has made strong and aggressive war against the thoroughbred theory in trotters, and has hit many heavy blows in defense of his pet theory; however, he undoubtedly finds that at least a little thoroughbred is a good thing in the present day, as in the current number of his valued paper he makes use of the following remark: "There is no breeder who is not glad to have the blood of Miss Russell on his farm; it is the very giltest of gilt edged crosses." We are only too glad to see that the Judge has come around a little bit to our way of thinking, and sincerely trust that before many days he may see fit to become a strong advocate of Senator Stanford's theory.

The Haggin Sale.

It must be a source of great satisfaction to Mr. Haggin and Jno. Mackey, his superintendent, to know that the stock which is bred at Rancho del Paso is so highly thought of by Eastern buyers. The telegraph has not as yet given us full particulars as to the average made at the great sale on Monday last, but enough has been wired over to warrant the belief that all former averages have been beaten at this great sale. When the stock left Sacramento some few weeks ago, it was the concensus of opinion that never before had such a grand lot of yearlings ever left this State, and this opinion has been borne out by the purchasers as in many instances the large prices obtained were not on account of the breeding alone but of the magnificent individuality of the animals offered for sale, and it can hardly be wondered at, that buyers are plenty and eager in their efforts to obtain the thoroughbreds annually offered for sale by Mr. Haggin, for at each of the Eastern sales which he has had, there have been many noted horses sold and many stake winners secured. The extremely large average attained in 1888 was due in a measure to the price obtained for King Thomas, $38,000 being the figure at which he was purchased by Mr. Appleby, who in turn disposed of him for $40,000 to Senator Hearst; and last year the average was still kept up by the St. Blaze colt, which was bought by Mr. Daly for $22,000 and the Explosion yearling which brought the handsome sum of $10,000. This year we find, however, that there have been no sensational prices paid for any of the yearlings, but taken all in all the prices are higher than those obtained at the former sales. This encouraging outlook is enough to warrant the extension of breeding establishments in this State and is enough to force one to the belief that in the very near future Eastern buyers will be apt to visit California to attend annual sales, instead of California breeders having to send their horses back to the Eastern market.

Napa Aroused.

The communication which appears in another column signed "Napa Sportsman" is like scores of others which reach us month after month, year out and year in. It need not be said that the Breeder and Sportsman deprecates illegal fishing, the consistent course of this paper for many years is well known and has always made for the strictest observance of the game and fish laws.

Our repeated utterances in relation to the matter have often times been reproduced in our exchanges, and we hope have contributed to the creation and growth of a right popular sentiment with regard to game and fish. At times it seems advisable to use severe phrases in characterizing the vandals who persist in destroying breeding fish and game and the young, and when such language has been used we have made no reservation, nor have we regretted its use, but it is apparent that the Breeder and Sportsman without the active co operation of the officials in the various counties and the intelligent assistance of sportsmen everywhere can accomplish but little. We know the hesitancy natural when it is proposed to impeach a neighbor and can hardly blame individuals for refusing to proceed actively against their fellow townsmen, even though it is notorious that they are violating the law as to fish and game. In theory no citizen can be excused who shuts his eyes in the presence of such violations, but in operation the police supervision of streams and shooting grounds rests with the paid officers of the law who are charged with a thousand other duties and who are seemingly prone to wink at fish cases and game cases anyhow. District attorneys as a rule let such matters go by default. When prosecutions are vigorously pushed it is generally at the instance of some one other than the regular County officials and the fund necessary must be contributed either by the State or by private persons. The residents of Napa are the persons most interested in maintaining a stand of food fish close at hand and we would suggest that they bring pressure to bear upon their District Attorney, their Sheriff and law officers generally and make a few examples. If the poaching vandals once see that the sentiment of the community is averse to the continuance of their nefarious practices there is every reason to suppose that illegal fishing will cease. Meantime it might not be unwise for the sportsmen and anglers of Napa City to take some concerted action as to the matters mentioned by our correspondent. The Board of Fish Commissioners has done very much and is now willing to do all that it can in behalf of protection, but funds are not at hand, and it is really asking too much to ask that gentlemen holding purely honorary positions shall open their private purses for the general welfare. One point in relation to our correspondent's letter we dislike; that is, he does not mention the name of the persons he accuses. When it is known absolutely that men are violating the law, it has a good corrective effect to hold them up to ignominy and to make their names by words.

Colt Stakes.

There can be no question but what Colt Stakes are becoming more popular every year, and under the exceedingly low entrance fees required, breeders have no hesitancy in making a large number of entries in all stakes offered either East or West. The great success of the Breeder and Sportsman Futurity Stake in which of the two hundred and eighty-four entries, all but eleven were from the State of California, has warranted others in opening up other Futurity Stakes. Oakland with its usual characteristic enterprise followed suit and received large and abundant entries. Petaluma is already advertising a District Futurity Stake which will close on July 1st. And now comes the Chicago Horsemen offering a guaranteed stake that will be worth more money at futurity than a field of colt trotters ever contended for. This stake is for foals of 1890, and will be trotted between July 1 and October 15, 1894. The Horsemen guarantees a main stake of $11,000, divided, $5,000 to the first horse, $2,500 to the second, $1,500 to the third, $1,000 to the fourth, with plate to the actual value of $1,000 to the breeder of the winner, and a consolation stake of $1,500, to be trotted within four days from the date of the decision of the first race, open to horses that start and win no part of the main stake. The entrance of $200 is payable as follows. $10 with the nomination, on or before July 1, 1890, $10 on January 1, 1891, $10 July 1, 1891, $10 January 1, 1892, $10 July 1. 1892, $10 January 1, 1893, $10 July 1, 1893, $25 July 1, 1892, $25 January 1, 1894, and $100 for those declaring to start on July 1, 1894.

Bad Luck.

Last year the phenomenal luck of C. W. Williams, of Independence, Iowa, was in the mouths of everyone interested in any way in horse breeding. Starting as a poor man he bred two mares, one to William L. and the other to Jay Bird and from these two unions produced the wonderful colt Axtell 2:12 and Allerton 2:18¼, both records being made at three years of age. From these two mares has he secured an ample fortune, selling Axtell as he did, for the enormous sum of $105,000 yet still retaining Allerton for his own use and benefit. It would seem that lightning does not strike twice in the same place for we are sorry to have to announce that last year four mares were bred to William L., the sire of Axtell and Mr. Williams has been unfortunate enough to have nothing to show from the connections; two of the mares did not get in foal, a third one dropped a dead colt and the last of the quartette had a foal which only lived two days. Mr. Williams is a clear headed young man who will not take seriously to heart these sad losses but will undoubtedly breed back again, to see if there is still another Axtell in the loins of William L.

Goodwin's Official Stake Book.

We take much pleasure in acknowledging the receipt of a copy of Goodwin's Official Stake Entries for 1890, '91 and '92, containing the entries for all stakes which have closed from Monmouth Park and Saratoga Associations, and American, Coney Island, New York and Brooklyn Jockey Clubs, together with a complete and carefully compiled index, so that any horse whose name is mentioned in the book may be found very readily. Among the other valuable data, we find dates of declarations, closing of stakes, scale of weights, dates of meeting and list of yearlings of 1890, which has been compiled expressly for this work by Col. S. D. Bruce, compiler of the American Stud Book. It is a very valuable work for all horsemen, and should be in the hands of every breeder and thoroughbred owner in the country. Last year the price of the work was $10. but this year it has been reduced to $5, at which price it may be obtained from Messrs. Goodwin Bros., 241 Broadway, New York.

Nevada State Agricultural Society.

Taking time by the forelock the Directors of the Nevada State Agricultural Society advertise their programme for the annual fair to be held at Reno commencing Monday, September 22nd. The card, as will be seen by reference to the advertisement is a good one, there being liberal purses offered for the trotting, pacing and thoroughbred divisions. Entries do not close until the 15th day of August next, by which time owners of horses eligible for the various classes will be able to determine whether their animals are fit to start or not. We shall have occasion to speak more fully of this event as the time draws nearer for the entries to close.

The Guenoc Stock Farm.

A trip into Lake County at this sesson of the year is s pleasure that is always looked forwsrd to by those who either from bnsiness or plessure are required to cross the mountains. Last Friday morning a representative of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN left this city for the purpose of visiting the celebrated stock farm of Fredrick Gebhard Esq. It hsd been determined that the trip should be msde via Calistoga, and on the train the time passed delightfully ss we met those two well known horsemen, Hon. Jno. Boggs and Professor Hesld. As is natural to infer, the conversation wss on equine matters only; Mr. Boggs, just as enthnsiastic as in the days of yore when he owned Old Langford, and the Professor confident in the thought that he hss several trotters now in training with which he expects to win msny first monies.

On arriving at the end of the railrosd line, Mr. Palmer, representing the Middletown snd Hsrbin Springs stsge Compsny wss on hand to receive us with two reserved ontside seats, and sfter a hesrty luncheon at the Magnolis Hotel we were soon on our way, crossing the St. Helena Monntsins. The air was perfumed from the rich scents arising from the buckeyes and laurel which sre to be found on both sides of the road for slmost the entire drive of eighteen miles; while the dsy was wsrm, still the hest was not oppressive and as the ponderous cosch slowly trsveled np the side of the mountains s delightful breeze was experienced which was s relief from the sun's rsys, snd tended to make the grand panorsmic effects, which are seen from the mountains, more enjoysble.

At 3.15 the stsge pulled np in front of the Middletown Hotel and we found in waiting Dr C. W. Aby, Superintendent of the Guenoc & Lsngtry Farms, with a csrriage snd four resdy to take us the bslance of the journey, some eight or nine miles. In very short order we srrived at the hsndsome residence of Mr. Gebhsrd, but owing to the fatigue from the journey, it wss deemed expedient to postpone the object of our visit until the following morning.

Already much has been written in these columns in reference to the stock owned at Guenoc, but now we wish to see what class of foals hss srrived since our lsst visit to the plsce. After an evening delightfully spent in tslking over old reminiscences, many good stories being told by the genial doctor of things he had heard and seen while st old Nanturs, the stallions were brought out the following morning for inspection. They are under the charge of Mr. Chss. Drew, a young Englishman of extended knowledge in matters equine. It wss with pardonable pride that he brought ont horse sfter horse for our inspection; the first one shown being the well hred imported Greenbsck; the extrsordinsry good osre which this horse hss received since his importation to Guenoc hss considerably improved his appearsnce, and as we had not seen him since shortly sfter his srrival, the improvement was essily noticed. From his lordly sppesrsnce snd exquisite breeding it is little wonder that he received the first premium at the State Fair lsst September.

St. Savior wss the next horse shown and he looked ss full of fire and courage as he did on thst memorsble day when led out to do battle for the Emporium Stakes in which he was cut down, and yet with the gameness characteristic of his family finished secoud to the celebrated Rataplan, on three legs only. The old scar is still observable, but in his exercise he shows no evil effects from the wound, and when being cantered back to the stable it wss all the boy could do to hold him back.

Friar Tuck, the noted son of a noted sire, by Hermit, dsm Romping Girl, by Wild Dayrell, is a most besutifully formed horse and one that should nick with the grsnd Amerionn mares that are to be found at the Gebhard Farm. He is a handsome auimal and typicsl of the Hermit family, his services have been in great demand and it is not to he wondered st, for his breeding entitles him to a place with the best.

Several other entires were also shown, but as they were not of as high order as those spoken of, it is hardly necesssry to mention them.

We now come to the primary object of our visit, viz, the foals of the year, and it is a hard mstter to describe them individually where each of them are so near perfection. Glen Queen has a bsy colt by St. Savior for which the name "St. Peter" has been claimed, he is a handsome well behaved youngster and shows his grand breeding in every step he takes.

Leverette has a handsome chestnut filly called "Lake County" by imp. Greenback who gives every evidence of proving a thorough race horse, she is a finely finished little thing and is a credit alike to sire and dam.

We saw also the old and well known rsce mare Night Hawk, proud and happy in the possession of a hay colt with a hlszed face by St. Savior. This elegant young gentleman, from the performances of his parents should prove a racehorse of no mean ability.

Imp. Restless, a bay colt by St. Savior, a grand looking foal well put up, with strong stnrdy legs and good back. The word little can hardly be applied to him, for he seems to be farther advanced, considering his sge, than any suckling we have seen this year.

Her Ladyship has a grey or brown filly by Greenback, who is worthy of mention as she is a very handsome animal. In fsct, more so than her dsm who will be remembered by the patrons of the turf, as she ran only a few yesr sgo.

We also had the pleasure of seeing Mistske, Mr. J. B. Chass's mare, who hss a handsome bay colt by imp. Friar Tuck. This is one of the best looking foals on the fsrm, snd Mr. Chase may be congratulated on having snch a fine fosl from the daughter of Ksty Pesse.

We slso ssw Priscilla who is the mother of a chestnnt colt hy imp. Msriner, she having been sent np to the farm to be hred to imp. Greenbsck.

Glen Ellen was slso seen, she hsving been sent to the farm to he bred to St. Ssvior.

The lsrgest fosl on the plsce is called "Guenoc" in honor of the farm name. He is by imp. Greenback snd out of Wsh-ta-Wah. If size snd appearsnce are criterions, Guenoc shonld prove a world heater.

The old Dsniel Boone mare Prosperine has a very fine chestnut filly hy Greenback. This is a beautiful animsl, snd one from whom mnch is expected.

Another of the Dauiel Boone msres, Una, formerly owned by Jndge Shsfter of this city, has a brown filly by imp. Greenback, Leonie being the name claimed for her.

Miss Hooker hss s very nice hay filly at her side by St. Savior, the nsme for which is clsimed being "Itswsmbs."

These are a few of the many thst were seen at this grest farm, and it was with plessure thst Dr. Aby informed us that lste in the summer he will stsrt East to bring out another carlosd of especislly selected mares for Guenoc.

To those who take this trip for the first time it may seem a long distsnce to go, but on arrival one is amply repsid for sll the trouble snd hother that it may have cost, for beyond doubt there is no place in California thst is the superior to the Guenoc Farm for the purposes for which it is intended.

The rich native grasses were so thick snd hesvy that quantities have fallen from its own weight, one field especislly of red top clover being thicker thsn any ever seen before hy the writer. Fully a year has elsped since the lsst visit was paid there, snd the additions snd improvements made by Dr. Aby have completely changed the look of the farm; paddocks have been lsid out, fences rebnilt, stallion barns erected, with stables and other necesssry bnildings in profusion. A race track hss been surveyed in the large field directly in frout of Mr. Gebhsrd's residence, and when finished will be the equal of any training track in the Stste; it will be a full mile in length snd forty feet in width, with the usual grsde on the tnrns. It would hardly do for s pnblic trsck. as in the center is a large field of osks, which on a private trsck simply adds to the besuty of the plsce snd does not detrsct but very little from the sight seeing. Thirty-eight men sre now engaged on the place snd more will be added to their nnmber ss it becomes necesssry to finish up the vast and extensive improvements which sre contemplated by the proprietor.

In starting for our return to the city, instesd of coming back vis Middleton, the trip was msde homeward over Howell Mountsin, we arriving in St. Helens in ample time to catch the sfternoon trsin for San Frsncisco, where we duly arrived in ample time for an early dinner.

The McCarty String.

From letters received from New York we learn that the "irrepressible Dan" hss srrived at Fleetwood Park with a very large number of Californis horses which he proposes to sell, raffle or dicker off before the snow flies in the Eastern States during the coming fall. He started from San Francisco during the first week in May and arrived in Chicago with his four carloads all in good condition, not one hsving even the most trifling silment.

McCarty is as well known in the Windy City as he is in either New York or San Francisco, snd it was not long before he had an enthusiastic crowd of horsemen aronnd him to examine the consignment of California horses which he hsd brought on with him. To Mr. Stinson, the owner of Nutmeg 2:22½, Dan sold eight finely bred msres, viz: Susie B. by Sargent's Brown Jug; Daisy McVernon by Mt. Vernon; Lida S. by Fred Hull; Rosalie by Bay Rose 2:20½; Alzina by Nephew; Lady Waterford by Waterford; Queen of Santa Maria by Brigadier 2:21¼, and Loretta 2:29½. He also sold Grayson by Elector (sire of J. R. 2:24), to a party living in Wilton, Maine, for $5000. Three road horses were also disposed of to different parties for $1500, $1000 and $800, the entire sales just completing a carload. A week ago last Friday the outfit arrived at Fleetwood, and during the week Dan has been busy st work trying to dispose of the other three carlosds. On lsst Sundsy McCarty electrified the spectators by giving the brown gelding, Milton, a half mile in 1:09¼, the best time msde for the distance on the track so far this year. Wesley, a four year old green horse hy Mr. Richard's Elector, was sent a mile in 2:33¼, the last half being completed in 1:14½. Wesley is a very promising young horse, and will surely make a fast one as he has had but two workonts since Dan bought him.

Of course it would not be "White Hat" if he did not patronize the rnnning trscks, and already he has made two very large winnings figuring np in the thousands. Our correspondent says that while the party was in Chicago they were shown two handsome Director colts, one a brother to Margaret S. called Pleasanton, and the other out of Sweetness (the dam of Sidney) who will undoubtedly make a good mark for himself nnder the appropriate name of Saccharine. They looked so well and moved so nicely that the McCarty party were all plessed with the beantifnl animals, especially as they were Cslifornis prodnctions. Sidney stands very high in the Esst as a sire, so our correspondent writes, and he furthermore ssys "We will have a chance to see one of his get start for first money at Fleetwood as the Parkville Stock Farm has Sidney Smith entered in the slow class, and he is well spoken of by those who have seen him move. Will write and tell you what he does. More anon."

VETERINARY.

Conducted by W. Henry Jones, M. R. C. V. S.

Subscribers to this paper can have advice through this column in all cases of sick or injured horses or cattle by sending an explicit description of the case. Applicants will send their name and address that they may be identified. Questions requiring answers by mail should be accompanied by two dollars, and addressed to W. Henry Jones, M. R. C. V. S., Olympic Stables, Sutter Street, San Francisco.

I hsve an sged gelding which has shown signs of lsmeness for shout six or seven months. There is no swelling on the fore legs and I csnnot detect sny sore spot. He rests one front foot snd then the other, ss if the pain wss in the feet. Will you plesse inform me what is the csuse of lameness, and the best remedy to spply.

Answer.—Judging from the description of your lame horse I hsve no hesitation in pronouncing the snimal to be lame from navicular disease. The remedy I would suggest, is to hsve the operation of neurotomy performed, snd I hsve no doubt that if the operation is properly and skillfully performed that the horse with csre will last yon some time.

Cruelty to Animals.

I consider that it is necessary that attention be drawn to the lsrge smount of cruelty tbst is prscticed in this city. It may be safely said that it prevails to s greater extent than in any other city in the Ststes. One has only to observe the poor wretches that sre used by fruit snd fish peddlsrs, snd notice the large piece of old sacking that is plsced under the saddle and withers. If this be removed, a large suppurating wound will be brought to sight, and the sacking, in some csses, stick fsst to the wound.

It would be a great boon to these animals, if some influentisl persons would interest themselves on their behalf, snd hring a few of the owners before the police judge, and no doubt the cruelty would quickly decrease, at least for a time.

The milk rsnches should slso have some inspection as regsrds cruelty, to ssy nothing of the sanitary arrsngements. The trsnsportstion of ponltry in over-crowded boxes from the Esst is a too frequent csuse of crnelty, many of the birds dying in trsnsit from want of room snd wster.

The Deadly Glanders.

The following clipping has been sent to this office, but without the name of the paper being mentioned, so we csn not give proper credit.

A number of horses have died in the vicinity of Msdera dn ring the past few weeks from a mysterions disease. The following excerpetd from a communication to the Fresno Republican may throw some light on the subject, and should be read by every owner of stock: "Every reader of your estimable journsl who owns or hss horses or mules in his possession ought to know that scores of animals in the valley are affected and dying with glanders or fsrcy. It is no stretch of imagination to ssy that these fatal disesses are so prevalent that it is at s risk that one waters his horse at sny of the hundreds of inviting watering troughs in the county, the glanders being far more easily contracted from nasal droppings thsn from inhslation of the breath of diseased animals. In fact, we have known horses thus diseased to he worked with and run in the same pasture with sound horses for months that did not contract the disease, whereas a single drop of the virus did the deadly work. Hence wstering places are where the disease is most generslly carried from one animsl to another, especially standing water, ss in troughs. It msy not be generslly known that the glanders is a blood oisesse and can easily be contracted by the humsn family, especislly by a person troubled by cstarrh or lung tronble inhaling the breath of diseased animsls, or hy the virus getting into any embrasure of the skin. Leprosy and cancer are the only diseases to he equally dreaded and compared with the glanders when once in the system."

The Portland Races.

It is very evident that there is something the matter with the mails or there is something the matter with our Portland correspondent, as we have failed to receive the full reports of the races at that point which we fully expected in time for the current issue of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN. The following synopsis of the events have been culled from the brief reports received in this city but which for some unaccountable reason have been spoken of very rarely by the daily papers.

On the first day the well known chestnut colt Guido by Double Cross, dam Aurora by Thad Stevens, won a good race beating the Dennison Bros.' Princesses' First, Witmore's Coloma, Green's J. M. R and Sear's Carrie M., the horses running in the order given. Time for the seven-eighths of a mile 1:31. Mutual pools on Guido paid $20.50. J. H. McDonough was fortunate enough with his loan horse Tim Murphy to win the half mile dash in 50 seconds, besting such good ones as Daily Oregonian, Sunday, Cyclone and Ben L.

The 2:26 class for trotters brought out Kitty Ham, Alta, Lady Beach and Blondie; Kitty Ham won the first, 5th and 6th heats, the 2nd heat being a dead one between her and Alta; Lady Beach captured the 3rd heat while Blondie was fortunate enough to take the 4th. The best time made in the race was 2:32.

On the second day Sunday won the five-eighths dash in the very good time of 1:03¾.

The second race of the day, a mile-dash, fell to Guido with Tom Daly, a good 2nd. Time 1:44¼.

The race for the 2:50 class for trotters was rather uninteresting, the winner turning by in Hannibal, Jr.

The third day brought Sinfax to the front. The Cy Mulkey colt managed to beat R. E. Bybee's Rain Drop, Dennison's Princess' First, Green's J. M. R. and Sears's Carrie M, the time being 1:16½ for three-fourths. In the trotting race Susie S. had no difficulty in beating her opponents, winning in straight heats, time being 2:29½, 2:29½ and 2,31½.

There was also a three-eighths of a mile and repeat race, the entries for which were Sunday, Cyclone, Red Dick, Little Dick and Ben L., Sunday winning the 1st and 3rd heats while Cyclone took the 2nd. The time was 36, 36¾ and 35½ seconds.

The last day's races showed up Guido as a winner in the mile and repeat, Guido winning handily in 1:44½ and 1:44. In the first heat Tom Daly was second and Coloma third, but in the final heat the positions were reversed, Coloma being 2nd and Daly 3rd.

In the 2.40 trotting race Mozier's Joe Kinney had no difficulty in defeating the field, the best time made being 2:32½.

The free-of-all trotters was productive of a great surprise, Lady Beach winning the first heat in 2:35, while Alta won the 2nd in 2:32½. Alta also won the 3rd heat in exactly the same time, but becoming lame was easily beaten in the next three heats by Little Joe, who took the 4th, 5th and 6th heats, his best time being 2:32.

Breeding Trotters.

The majority of professional trainers, those which rank among the best, have probably had but little experience in breeding trotters. By far the greater portion of them have given the subject but comparatively little thought. There are exceptions, however, and among these is the well known trainer Charles Marvin, who, it is safe to assert, has broken a greater number of records with trotters that he has developed than any other trainer living or dead.

During the past twelve years Mr. Marvin has been located at Palo Alto, the most successful trotting breeding establishment in the world. This has given him a better opportunity than any other trainer ever enjoyed to study from a practical standpoint the science of breeding trotters. His views upon the subject should prove both interesting and profitable to young breeders. The following is an extract from Marvin's recent work, "Training the Trotting Horse":

"On no other subject connected with the trotting horse has so much been written as on breeding, and on no other do opinions so widely differ. I do not propose to theorize on the subject, nor to treat it exhaustively, as my main subject is how to train the trotter rather than how to breed him; but I may briefly throw together the conclusions that have formed in my mind from extended observations with trotters.

"First, I hold that there has been wide error, not, perhaps, in giving too much attention to blood to the exclusion of everything else. Form and action, I believe, have been too generally neglected, and especially is this true of action. Although it may seem paradoxical to say so, the gait I would consider perfection in a campaigner would not exactly suit me for a stock horse. I would prefer for a sire a horse with abundant and exuberant action, both before and behind, one with perfectly true and square stroke, and without a touch of mixing.

"I do not object to a horse starting on an amble, but when he trots let it be a trot. I do not care how a horse is bred, nor how good he is individually, if his action is faulty he would not suit me for a sire. A foul-gaited horse will get foal gaited progeny, and that kind can never hold their own with evenly balanced trotters. Action is not the only thing in a sire, but it is an essential for the absence of which nothing can atone.

"I believe that the chief reason why Smuggler has not been a greater success than he is as a sire is because he has not the proper order of action. I would expect of course the best results from Smuggler when bred to mares with excessive action.

"The truest kind of action is what we may call line trotting. The horse does not sprawl to get his hind feet outside of the front ones. The hind foot goes low, and the fore foot is lifted just high enough to let the hind one go under, not outside of the front one.

"I like a horse with a fairly wide chest, and the legs to stand well apart, and fall straight to the ground (not "both come out of one hole" like a sawhorse), and they should be especially well muscled. The idea that a narrow chest is favorable for speed arose, I suppose, from the idea that a horse's hind feet must necessarily go outside of his front ones in trotting. It is certainly an error.

"I need not go into a lengthy description of what the form of an ideal stallion ought to be; you all know it. He should be of fair size, with a good, brainy, intelligent head, a strong, sloping shoulder, a round barrel, with a strong, springy loin, quarters of great power, muscled well inside and out, strong gaskins and forearms, square set hocks and knees, short cannons, strong pasterns of medium angle and good feet.

"Some will argue that long cannons are just as good as short ones; that a horse with a long cannon will stride just as far as a short cannoned horse. That may be true, but I hold that all the driving power is above the hock, and all the muscles run from that point upward, and the horse with the longest thigh has the greatest driving power, and more leverage to handle the leg and foot.

"In the dam I want also good action, but I would not be quite as exacting in her case as to have plenty of it, for, right or wrong, it is my belief that the sire generally controls the action. Sallie Benton's dam had very little action; Dame Winnie, the dam of Palo Alto (2:12¼), and Annette, the dam of Ansel (2:20), had not any to speak of, but they were mated with Electioneer, a horse of superabundant action. I would avoid a brood mare with faulty action, just as I would a sire. Let what they have be square, true and good.

"I like a broodmare of moderate size. The dam of Manzanita stood only 14.3; the dam of Bonita, 14.2. Beautiful Bells and Dame Winnie are 15.2; May Queen fifteen hands. I prefer mares of rather blocky build, and that they should have good heads, tempers and dispositions. I need not say that soundness should be exacted in a broodmare, and of course the more perfect the general form the better. The idea that anything will do for a broodmare is a fallacy of bygone days. If I were breeding trotters I would have good mares or none.

"In conclusion, I like the sire and dam to be developed trotters, and the faster they can go the better. If they are natural trotters, and have in training shown great speed, together with good form and balance, from mating them you are almost sure to get a trotter. As for the trotting blood you have, of course the richer the better. The best test of trotting blood is how fast and how much it has trotted, and how many and how fast trotters it has produced. Any kind of blood is better than unknown blood."

A Curious Craze in Horse-Breeding.

Even the most casual student of human nature must admit that he was not deserving of the epithet "cynic" who first declared that men are like sheep—where one leads others follow pell-mell. The most superficial observer of the affairs of men knows this to be the most patent fact of human history. In a multitude of forms it finds manifestation. It is not difficult to read a bit of evidence of the decent of man from the ape in the actions of the imitative monkey. In every line of human thought, in every field of human action the vast majority of men are imitators, each following a lead which appeals to his fancy, his ambition or his cupidity. In politics, religion, society or business, men tread in the footsteps of predecessors so closely that, like the band of indians marching single file over the snow-covered prairie, each moccasined foot falling unerringly into the track before it, they leave but a single trail behind.

These reflections are awakened by the fact that all agricultural Iowa has turned its attention to trying to breed Axtells and Allertons. Williams' wonderful luck has driven Iowa well nigh daft, and nearly every dung-hill old mare in the State has been stinted this season to a trotting-bred stallion at stud fees exhorbitantly, ridiculously, appallingly high. Especially is this craze manifested for stallions of Wilkes blood—whence probably comes the phenomenal speed of the two Iowa wonders—but the book of every stallion which carries a drop of trotting blood, fashionable or unfashionable, in his veins has been crowded with mares at stud fees heretofore scarcely dreamed of. The surpassing absurdity of this craze—for it is worthy of no higher term—is seen in the obsracter of the mares thus bred from which it is fondly hoped fortunes will be dropped in the shape of record-breaking foals. Such singularly grotesque mismating has never before been seen in the history of horse breeding on this continent. Instead of seeking a stallion fitted in form and character to mate with a given mare, her owner puts her to the first standard-bred stallion he comes upon, be the two never so incongruous in character. What the harvest will be is not difficult to foretell. It is not the first time that Bohemian oats have been bought by the farmer greedy for undue gain. Seeds have many times been sown the cost of which the crop did not realize. The Gazette suggests the possibility that there will be more paid out in trotting stallion fees this season in Iowa than the entire crop of colts from the misfit unions now being made will bring when put upon the market. There is food for thought in this suggestion.

The Gazette of all papers is the least apt to object to the use of high-class, high-priced stallions when properly chosen to mate with the mares to be bred. No journal has more persistantly taught the necessity of patronizing first class sires, even at increased service fees; but there are limits to all things—save space and eternity. It now seems as if we should have to revise our philosophy to include among these things without limits, the Iowa trotting-bred stallion service fees. Surely the farmers of the "Hawkeye" State overlooked the fact that Axtells and Allertons are the produce of a half century. The labor of parturition necessary to produce such phenomenons seems to exhaust Dame Nature as to render her incapable for decades of another such birth. And yet the Mountain of agricultural Iowa is in costly labor; when the mouse is brought forth there will be many a wiser—and sadder—Man.—Breeders' Gazette.

Gen. Fine has the Petaluma track in good condition, and the many horses in training there are doing well. Lee Shaner is beginning to "move up" a few of his good ones, although as yet no extraordinary time has been made.

THE KENNEL.

Dog owners are requested to send for publication the earliest possible notices of whelps, sales, names claimed, presentations and deaths, in their kennels, in all instances writing plainly names of sire and dam and of grandparents, colors, dates and breed.

Names Claimed.

J. B. Martin, San Francisoo Cal, claims the names:

GOLDEN FAIRY, for white, with ticked ear, fox terrier bitch pup, whelped April 3rd 1890, by Blemton Vesuvian, (Champion Lucifer—Blemton Vesta) out of Beatrice, (Champion Bacchanal—Blemton Arrow).

GOLDEN FLEECE. for white fox terrier dog pup, same litter.

GOLDEN DUST, for white, black and tan fox terrier pup, same litter.

Sales.

J. B. Martin, San Francisco, Cal., has sold Golden Lilly, white foxterrier bitch, whelped July 24, 1889, by Clover Turk (Mixture—Spite), out of Beatrice (Champion Bacchanal—Blemton Arrow), to Mr. Lowden, San Francisco, Cal.

———, white, black and tan foxterrier bitch pup, whelped April 3, 1890, by Blemton Vesuvian (Champion Lucifer—Blemton Vesta), out of Beatrice (Champion Bacchanal—Blemton Arrow), to Mr. I. N. Isaac, Tulare, Cal.

———, white, black and tan foxterrier hitch, same litter, to Captain A. B Anderson, San Gabriel, Cal.

———, white, black and tan foxterrier dog, same litter, to Captain A. B. Anderson, San Gabriel, Cal.

———, fawn, black mask mastiff dog pup, whelped March, 1890, by Leo (Neno 2d—Gypsey), out of Bess, to Mrs. Treadwell, San Francisco, Cal.

A Pointer With a Wooden Leg.

There is a man now in the north of France who lives in an out-of-the-way village on the ooast, and shoots for the market, who has a most extraordinary pointer, one with a wooden leg—says an exchange. This is the near hind leg, which, it appears, was rnn over by a cart two or three years ago, and had to be amputated. The dog was then six years old, and rather than destroy his faithfnl and invaluable companion the owner appealed to the local doctor, who fitted a wooden leg to the stump.

At first the dog wanted to gnaw the wound, hut eventually he recovered and now takes no notice of his unusual appendage. He goes at a trot with a very slight limp, so slight as to be hardly noticeable. The bottom of the artificial leg is fitted with a round mushroom head-shaped iron ferrule, rather broader than the wood, and so far as work is concerned the dog, who is a Braque, is in no way impeded.

He is as firm as a rock on his points and retrieves marvelously well.

The American Beagle Club.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—The American Beagle Club desires, through your columns, to call attention to its organization and the benefits to the breed arising from such clnb.

The club has heen in existence for some seven years, and has done a great deal of good in perfecting the breed and bringing order ont of chaos then existing when the clnh was arranged. At bench shows at the time mentioned one judge would award prizes to the large species, and another would fancy the smaller ones, whioh created dissension by clashing of opinions, and exhibitors were all at sea. After the Beagle Club was formed, it oentralizsd ideas in regard to merit and demerit of the ideal dog, and filled a long felt want. It was gotten up with the intention of including all Beagle breeders and owners in the United States, and the clnb heartily extends an invitation to join to all snoh that reside on the Pacific slope, and all readers of your valuable journal. Follow-in are the standard and scale of points which will prove gof interest to all who have any welfare in this favorite of breeds.

STANDARD—HEAD.

The skull should be moderately domed at the occiput. with the cranium broad and full. The ears set on low, long and fine in textnre, the forward or front edge closely framing and inturned to the cheek, rather broad and rounded at the tips, with an almost entire absence of erectile power at their origin.

The eyes full and prominent, rather wide apart, soft and lustrous, brown or hazel in color. The orbital processes well developed. The expression gentle, subdued and pleading.

The muzxle of medium length, squarely cut, the stop well defined. The jaws should be level. Lips either free from or with moderate flews. Nostrils large, molst and open.

DEFECTS.—A flat skull narrow across the top of the head, absence of dome. Ears short, set on too high, or when the dog is excited rising above the line of the skull at their points of origin due to an excess of erectile power. Ears pointed at the tips, thick or boardy in substancei or carried ont from cheek showing a spaoe hetween. Eyes of a light or yellow color. Muzzle long and snipey. Pig jaws or the reverse known as under shot. Lips showing deep pendulous flews.

NECK AND THROAT.

Neok rising free and light from the shoulders, strong in substance, yet not loaded, of medium length. The throat clean and free from folds of skin, a slight wrinkle below the angle of the jaw, however, may be allowable.

DEFECTS.—A thick, short, oloddy neck, carried on a line with the top of the shonlder. Throat showing dewlap and folds of skin to a degree termed "throatiness."

SHOULDERS AND CHEST.

Shoulders somewhat declining, muscular, but not loaded, conveying the idea of freedom of action, with lightness, activity and strength. Chest moderately broad and full.

DEFECTS.—Upright shoulders and a disproportionately wide chest.

BACK, LOIN AND RIBS.

Back short, muscular and strong. Loin broad and slightly arched, and the ribs well sprung, giving abundant lung room.

DEFECTS.—A long or swayed back, a flat, narrow loin, or a flat constricted rib.

FORELEGS AND FEET.

Forelegs straight with plenty of bone. Feet close, firm, and either round or harelike in form.

DEFECTS.—Out elbows. Knees knuckled over or forward, or bent backward. Feet open and spreading.

HIPS, THIGHS, HIND-LEGS AND FEET.

Hips strongly muscled, giving abundant propelling power. Stifles strong and well let down. Hocka firm, symmetrical and moderately bent. Feet close and firm.

DEFECTS.—Cow hocks and open feet.

TAIL.

The tail should be carried gaily, well up and with medium curve, rather short as compared with size of the dog, and clothed with a decided brush.

DEFECTS.—A long tail, with a tea pot curve.

DISQUALIFICATIONS.—A thinly haired rattish tail, with entire absence of brush.

COAT.

Moderately coarse in texture, and of good length.

DISQUALIFICATIONS.—A short, close and nappy coat.

HEIGHT.

The meaning of the term "Beagle," (a word of Celtic origin and in old English begele) is small, little. The dog was so named from his diminutive size. Your committee therefore for the sake of consistency, and that the Beagle shall be in fact what his name implies, strongly recommends that the height line be sharply drawn at fifteen inches, and that all doga exceeding that height shall be disqualified as over grown, and outside the pale of recognition.

COLOR.

All hound colors are admissable. Perhaps the most popular is hlack, white and tan. Next in color is the lemon and white, then blue and lemon mottles, then follow the solid colors, such as hlack and tan, tan, lemon, fawn, etc.

This arrangement is of course arbitrary, the question being one governed entirely by fancy. The colors first named form the most lively contrast and blend better in the pack, the solid colors being sombre and monotonous to the eye.

It is not intended to give a point value to color in the scale for judging, as before said all true hounds heing correct. The foregoing remarks on the subject are therefore simply suggestive.

GENERAL APPEARANCE.

A miniature fox hound, solid and big for his inches, with the wear and tear look of the dog that can last in the chase and follow his quarry to the death.

NOTE.—Dogs possessing such serious faults as are enumerated under the heading of "Disqnalifications" are under the grave suspicion of being of impure blood.

Under the heading of "Defects" objectionable features are indicated; such departures from the standard not, however, impugning the purity of ihe breeding.

Beagle breeders are aware of the fact that a Standard and Scale of Points are an absolute necessity, so that an authorized type of the Beagle Hound is made apparent for Bench Show Judges to base their decisions upon, as no two are similar in opinion, as to quality and the breed marks of the race. With an accepted standard, a Judge has a gnide to lead him through the diffionlties of his position, and the breeder if a novice will be enabled with its assistance to discard those animals that are deficient in qnality, and recognize merit where it exists, thus elevating the status of his kennel.

The present officers of the club are: President—Herman F. Schellhass, No. 6 Brevoort Place, Brooklyn, N. Y; Secretary and Treasurer—Louis Smith, East Saginaw Mich., care of Evening News; Executive Commmtte—George Laick, Tarrytown N. Y; Wm. H. Child, 613 Commerce St. Philadelphia Pa.; J. M. Fronefield Jr., Wayne Pa.

It any readers of this article are desirous of joining the American Beagle Club, they are respectfully invited to send their names to the Secretary.

LOUIS C. SMITH, Sec. A. B. C.

Sport at Coronado.

A party of fourteen riders was made up at Coronado on Jnne 12th for an afternoon with hounds and hares. The party was made up at the hotel about 3 o'clock, and the horsemen and horsewomen, of whom there were half a dozen, were followed to the hunting ground by a nnmber of the hotel guests in carriages.

Of the 1,000 acres comprising North Ialand fully one-half has been plowed this season, by the Beaoh Company and planted to barley. The crop waa off, and only the stubble was left. It was over this stubble that most of the chasing was made. The surrounding thickets were found to be full of rabbits, whioh the dogs uncovered and chased to the clearing, and then came the horsemen. The chase on several occasions was a long and exciting one, and the sport was rarely enjoyed hy all.

Ernie Babcock, Mr. Babcock's eldest son, was the successful captor of the first rabbit, Miss Siebein securing the seoond, and Miss Huntington the third. E. S. Babcock was himself among the foremost riders, hut he can take lessons from his boys in rabbit hunting, his younger son being in for the "brush" of two jacks before his father had captured one.

Patterson Sprigg, J. Callen, W. O. Gassoway, Budd Story, W. H. Doud, Mr. Simmons, Mr. Shaffer, Dr. Yeaman, Dr. Morton, and a number of other San Diego riders were among the party, and all were led by J. T. Fisher, of the Beach, who was master of the hounds.

The hounds used were gaze-hounds, and were secured from the Valley Hnnt Club of Pasadena. They have been too well kept by somebody and were over fat for heavy work in soft soil. The result was that they tired easily. Proper training and frequent hunts will remedy all that, however.

The sport has been entered into with enthusaism by the Beach people, and a clnb is to be organized for holding meets once or twioe a week during the summer. Mr. Babcock will secure several more dogs, and there is talk of diversifying the sport occasionally by introducing a fox or a coyote.

Mr. Allender's Kennels.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—As requested I will give you a slight description of George Allender's new quarters.

It is about five miles from Watsonville and can be reached from this city hy the 8.30 A. M. train, having the train stopped at Vega, a flag station, 3 miles this side of Pajaro, and a walk of a short mile lands one at the best location for the purpose I ever saw. It is in a nice nook sheltered from both North and East winds. He has leased about twenty acres—part in orchards, about two acres of lake—some in vegetables and the rest pastnrage.

On the left as you enter is the yard where he can turn a batch (four) of dogs to play abont until he cleans ont their, I may say stalls, hecause they are more like stalls than kennels. Then they are returned to their kennels and another batch are turned out. After the yard comes a nest of four stalls or kennels the arrangement of which I like very much. They are airy but still warm. They stand about a foot or 15 inches above the grond. The floor has a slope of 2 inches from the rear towards the door. The bed is made at the rear by simply putting a loose piece of board across which is removed when it ia required to wash out the kennels. A little distance from this comes another batch, then 20 yards further along is an outbuilding where he has his caldron for cooking, and on the wall are hooks for collars and chains, etc, all in apple pie order. Another portion of this huilding is used as a store room. Then directly across the drive stands his cottage. Further along are more nests of kennels—only four in each nest and sufficiently far apart to prevent dogs in one nest contracting any contagious disease from dogs in the next nest. Another good thing is the security of the dogs never being either drowned or burned up—misfortunes which George has had to pass through. Had he been at this pots last January I should never have suffered the loss of the finest bitch I ever owned. He has sown a patch near the house with rye grass for the dogs to eat--another good thing. I may say I never saw his dogs looking better. There are lots of quail all around even in his orchard.

Dog owners may place their dogs in Allender's hands with perfect confidence of their heing safe and well cared for.

JAMES E. WATSON.

A valuable dog belonging to S. Sellers of Livermore was poisoned last Saturday by some scoundrel. Mr. Sellers offers a reward of $100 for the arrest and conviction of the miscreant.

Mr. Stubenrauch's pointer Diana, (Professor—Belle H.) whelped May 26th, eight, three dogs, to W. D. Howe's Don (Climax—Drab D.)

Membership in the American Beagle Club, described in another colnmn, may be acquired by sending the name of the applicant together with two dollars to the Secretary, Mr. Louis Smith, East Saginaw, Mich., Care of Evening News.

Attention is again called to the presence of Dan Gladstone (Gladstone—Sue) at 844 Harrison St., City, and to the fact that he can be utilized at stud.

Mr. H. T. Payne of Los Angeles is breeding to him and others should do so.

Mr. C. M. Osborn's grand pointer, Professor, is surrounding himself with fine representatives, the last lot being grand-descendants which are advertised for sale in another colnmn by "V. S." The hlood is superior, and the youngsters, combining the excellencies of Professor, Diana, Belle H., Don, Climax and Drab D. should be clinkers. Intending buyers should examine them.

THE GUN.

Blue Rock Club.

Secretary Charles F. Stone very kindly sent the scores of the last meeting in time for our last issue but they were accidentally obscured, and are now presented with an apology to the efficient executive officer and the members.

The Club met at Oakland Trotting Park on June 7th, ten members being present. The day was warm and the breeze materially helped the targets.

The shooting is done under American Association rules. The scores were, at 15 singles and 5 pairs of Blue Rock Targets.

Suisun Gun Club.

The members comprising the above named club met at the Arlington Hotel, Suisun, last Sunday evening and elected the following officers to serve for the ensuing year: W. G. Downing, M D, president; J. W. Harper, treasurer: Wm. H. Bryant secretary. The club has secured the privilege of shooting on the Stables tract of land adjoining the town on the north, where the railroad crosses Main street, and have had built suitable sheds, benches, etc, for the comfort of its members. The first regular shoot of the clnb will take place to-morrow afternoon, June 22. Several impromptu matches have taken place during the week between the members, in all of which Dr. Downing, carried off the laurels. He made a remarkable scoro on Tuesday, of four out of a possible twelve, with the advantage however of the wind blowing 30 miles an hour against the traps, causing the birds to remain almost stationary in the air. The club extends an invitation to all lovers of the gun to attend any of its meetings.

Selby Live Bird Medal Contest.

The second match for the live-bird medal offered by the Selby Smelting and Lead Company was shot off at Oakland Trotting Park on Sunday last. The birds were good, and the day propitious, but only a handful of spectators attended, and just four entries were made. The shooting was not very good, many birds dying out of bounds. The medal was first won by Mr. C. B. Smith, and now passes into the hands of Mr. C. J. Haas. The scores were:

At 25 birds; American Shooting Association rules;

R. A. Eddy	2	1	1	1	2	0	1	0	0	0	2	2	2	0	1	2	1	1	1	2	0	0	1	1	—	18

Pools, into which each man who entered put $5, were shot for in the afternoon. Six birds were shot at in each case, with about the following results from all entries:

E. Fay	1	2	1	2	2	2—6
C. Robinson	1	1	1	2	2	1—6
C. J. Haas	2	1	1	2	2	0—5
C. B. Smith	1	0	2	2	1	2—5
"Randall"	2	1	0	1	2	1—5

In the other pools the money was about equally divided by the gentlemen named, and by Messrs. "Randall," Haas and Smith.

Pacific Sportsmen's Club.

The June meeting of the club was held at the Gerber grounds in the suburbs of Sacramento on Sunday last. The birds were strong flyers, and the fresh breeze carried them away from the traps in a manner to severely test the shooters' abilities. The gold medal was won by Frank Ruhstaller with a score of 11 out of 12

After the medal shoot several pool matches were shot, in which Messrs. Damm and Gerber were the winners. The medal scores were:

Ruhstaller	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	1—11
Gerber	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1	0—10

Alameda County Club.

The Alameda County Sportsmen's Club held its fourth shoot of the season at the Oakland Trotting Park Sunday afternoon. Although the birds were old and strong, they flew from the trap badly on account of the warm weather. The scores were as follows:

S. E. Knowles	1	0	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1—10
W. W Haskell	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1—11

Mr. Haskell not being present at the May shoot, he was allowed 12 extra birds, of which he killed 11. The tie was then shot off between Osborn and Boardman for first prize, resulting as follows:

Osborn	1	1	1	1	0	1—5
Boardman	1	1	1	0	0	0—3

The next event was a pool shoot, $2.50 entrance, 6 birds, resulting as follows:

A New Club.

A Sportsman's club was organized last week in Yreka, Mendocino Co., by about twenty of the lovers of hunting and fishing. The object of the club is to procure game birds and fish that are foreign to the county and that would be the means of furnishing sport to all who are fond of hunting and fishing, also to see that the game laws of the State and county are strictly enforced. It has been a well known fact for years past that parties are in the habit of killing deer and antelope out of season, and particularly in the winter season, when they are killed for their pelts, and their carcasses left to rot. If this is allowed to continue, it will be only a few years before it would be almost impossible to find any game at all in our mountains, where in early days, it was no unusual sight to see deer and antelope in bands of hundreds, while now very seldom more than three or four can be seen at once. The introduction of a lot of fine fish for food will also receive their attention, and they have been promised 70,000 Eastern trout and Lake Tahoe trout to begin with. These could not be obtained before the State Commissioners were assured that the fish would be prevented from leaving the main streams and entering the irrigation ditches, which would be guarded against by the use of screens, probably placed at the head of all irrigating ditches. After some time and trouble, the Board of Supervisors passed a screen law with this object in view, and it is now the firm determination of the members of the club to see that the law is strictly enforced. It does not work any hardship on any one to obey the law, and it will be wise for all who have ditches of any size, to place screens at their heads and save themselves trouble and expense. This movement on the part of the sportsmen is certainly a good one, and it is hoped that all will do what they can to make it a success. The regular officers of the year have been elected, their by-laws and constitution adopted, and they are now ready for business or pleasure. During the year they will hold both rifle and shotgun shooting tournaments, to be participated in by members of the club, and at the annual meeting of the State Sportsman's Association, the club will have its representatives selected from those who have the best scores for the year. They will hold monthly meetings, or oftener as business may require.

In another portion of the paper Mr. E. T. Allen, sole agent for the Pacific Coast, whose store is at 416 Market St., city, advertises the original and only genuine Canadian Hunting Boots of the original high quality but at reduced prices. The original Canadian Hunting Boots were introduced by Mr. Allen nearly four years ago. They are made of oil tanned material. The leg is made of select alum tanned calf skin with bellows tongue, to lace. The bottom and uppers are in one piece like a moccasin. The boots and shoes are hand-sewed, neat, light and most comfortable; a man's boots weighing but 2½ lbs. per pair, ladies' but 1½ lbs. per pair. The shoes weigh but 2 lbs per pair. They are very highly recommended by the sportsmen and campers who have used them, and are most popular where they are best known. Mr. Allen has in stock many hundreds of pairs of new and improved styles, and those who wish a light, easy and practically indestructible boot or shoe of the sort will find their profit in examining the Canadian. At this season of the year when all the world goes abroad, a well-shaped shoe is a sine qua non, and those who use the Canadian will find that after a summering in the mountains where protracted pedestrian exercise is taken, their feet are in perfect condition. For children especially the shoes are most admirable since they can be laced around the ankle affording firm support while the youngsters are climbing about under unusual conditions and more than commonly exposed to sprains or wrenches of the extremities.

J. H. Philip, E. B. Batchelder and C. J. McDonald are building a house-boat at Hayward's landing near San Mateo for use this fall when hunting on the marshes. It is a scow eight feet wide, upon which a small house, 12x8 feet, is built with a four foot platform at each end. Inside are two double bunks affording sleeping accommodations for four men besides a stove and a table. The purpose of the boat is to furnish a rendezvous for the owners after a day's sport. It will be towed about the marsh by means of row boats. Similar boats are in use upon the Sacramento river and are known as "arks" The cost is about $60.

The other day Lum Mulkey, Geo. Grubb, Bobby Reis and Albert Amonsen visited Agency creek near Salem City, Or., for the purpose of capturing a wild horse that had been running there for some time. They were all well mounted and equipped for the trip, and as they were riding carelessly along they came upon a young grizzly, who ran from them at the first glimpse. They gave chase and soon overhauled and lassoed him, and after dragging him for some distance got him into the creek, where he was finally captured and placed in a sack and conveyed to George Yeariau's ranch, where he was put into a small enclosure for safe keeping. He would fight anybody or anything that went into the pen. The boys intend to keep and train him.

In response to our request for information about the suitability of Humboldt County as a habitat for wild turkeys, the Humboldt Times says:

"We can inform our contemporary that we are somewhat familiar with the habits and habitat of the wild turkey, or at least, were in the days of our blissful childhood, and also claim some acquaintance with Humboldt county. We can therefore venture the opinion that the prospects for its successful introduction here are good. It is not probable that the turkey would multiply so rapidly here as in Michigan or some of the wooded districts of the East, because there are so many enemies in the animal kingdom that would set about its extermination. But it would flourish in a fair degree, and the country abounds in food adapted to the needs of the wild turkey. A wild turkey that doesn't grow enthusiastic and become enthused with gratitude when placed among Humboldt acorns, grasshoppers, wild berries and cow peas, is certainly devoid of the true American spirit.

There may be some danger that the turkey would die from sheer gluttony if placed in the midst of Humboldt abundance, but of that our readers in the hill regions can better judge. Will some of them write us their opinion of the real chances of the wild turkey to run the gauntlet of coyotes, coons, wild-oats and poor marksmen in the oak forests of the back country?

Virtuous Indignation.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—There are several persons in this city who violate the fish laws to such an extent that some action must be taken now or it will be too late to accomplish any good. For the last three or four years, shad have been coming up Napa River, sometimes called Napa Creek, to spawn in large numbers. The fish up here including shad, pike, carp, trout and striped bass have suffered disastrously this season. There are four or five men who go netting daily with a large net which reaches from one side of the creek to the other, and as I said they have been netting almost daily since about the first of May. Although they claim to go out for shad they also get the other varieties of fish I have mentioned. There is strong talk against them, but nothing is being done to stop them or to punish them severely as they ought to be punished since they are common every-day vagrants and catch anywhere from fifty to three-hundred fishes daily, many of them being fish which are now spawning. One would probably be surprised to learn what they do with so many fish, and it is said with regret that they find a market for about all they can catch, even when they have no permission to catch or net them or any license to sell them. Hoping this rascally work may reach the ears of the Fish Commissioners and that the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN may denounce them in strong terms.

Silkworm Gut.

In a private letter one of the chief English gut importers tells me there is likely to be a "corner" on this indispensable material this next season. The new crop has just been gathered in Spain (Murcia), and is one of the smallest on record, * * * certainly the smallest since the dire cholera year, 1885, when one-third the population of the gut-producing districts either died or were mortally sick with the cholera scourge. It is said to be not equal to one-fourth of the crop of '88 or one-third of that of '89. Two months or thereabouts will elapse before any of it will reach the American market, and it is fortunate in one sense that salmon fishing will then be virtually over, for there is not more than about 20,000 strands in all of the best salmon gut. This means that next season the best salmon gut will be at least three times dearer than it was in 1889, and I presume I need not tell my readers that the pick of this gut will be retained over the water, notwithstanding the picturesque references of some of our home tackle-makers to "our gut factory in Spain." This anxiety and uncertainty about the "gut" crop should speedily have an end. Where is American enterprise? Why cannot it be made in this country? California has an ideal climate for it, and some of those thousands of "unspeakable" heathen Chinese could be pressed into congenial service in tending the worms and drawing the gut. Why not?—The Week's Sport.

[The suggestion as to establishing gut factories in California is one which was considered several years ago, at which time an exhaustive discussion of the methods of raising the worms and manufacturing the gut was presented in these columns. Our contemporary is quite right in believing that the climate of this State is suitable both for the growing of the mulberry and the worms. The tree flourishes wherever planted, and the experiments of the State Society for the fostering of the silk industry have proven that the worms grow to a large size, develope large silk sacs, and produce a fine, strong, lively gut when properly handled. There is a fortune in the scheme.]

To Fishermen.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—In accordance with the provisions of the act of Congress for taking the Eleventh and subsequent censuses, it is purposed to secure statistics concerning fish and fisheries. Mr. Charles W. Smiley has been appointed a special agent to take charge of this work. The special agent thus appointed has all the authority of a census enumerator under the act of March 1, 1889, and is empowered to conduct in his own name correspondence relative to this subject.

Obtaining statistics concerning the fishing that is carried on by people who devote only a small portion of their time thereto, and upon the various inland rivers and lakes of the country, is very difficult; but the subject is altogether too important to be entirely neglected. This office cannot, however, undertake to include fishing which is merely for sport or recreation, and which yields but small returns, nor yet those rare and occasional days of fishing which men indulge in to get a few pounds for immediate home consumption. It does, however, desire to obtain certain statistics concerning every one who, as an actual part of his daily toil, resorts to fishing as the best means of obtaining food or money. There are cases where farmers leave their farming, and, with horse and wagon, go to fishing places in order to obtain whole loads of fish, which they carry home and salt for use throughout the year. Such fishing should be included in our inquiry. Less than seven days per year devoted to fishing, and a total catch of less than 140 or 150 pounds, is hardly worth considering in the present inquiry.

The objects of fishing which are comprehended in this inquiry include not only fish used for food, but for all other purposes, such as making oil, fertilizers, etc., as well as clams, oysters, turtles, terrapins, etc.

If there is any part of this circular to which you feel inclined to return a reply, your kind attention will be greatly appreciated. If you would regard it as any return for your courtesy to have copies of the Fishery Bulletins sent to you when issued, your name will be placed upon the list.

Fish Commissioners Criticized.

There are always men who are willing to carp at those in public office and to decry the endeavors of all, as to whose motives and actual labors they know nothing, and the members of the State Board of Fish Commissioners do not fail to receive their share of the adverse criticism. Nor are the gentlemen of the California Board the only ones who have to meet quibblers, as is evidenced by the following notes from an exchange. The Albany Journal contained the following letter:

"The fish commissioners seem to have overlooked the highest interests of our citizens in the line of wholesome food and recreation at the same time; for they succeed in stocking our waters only too slowly, both for the lack of public spirit in raising the necessary money to pay the expressage. If our State were divided up into seven districts and a fish commissioner appointed for each and a hatching house was at his service, he might restock all the waters in his district once in three or five years, and so all our streams would abound with fish adapted to the location. The Legislature should provide for replenishing the fish in our streams, which in many sections are well nigh extinct."

The Journal comments upon it, saying: "Of what advantage is the wholesale stocking of the streams of New York if it only benefits the market fisher, the poacher and the trout hog? It would appear as if the authorities were doing all they could to stock our streams and the people not doing a single thing to protect them."

Our exchange adds, and its observations should be weighed by many of our own readers:

It is much easier to find fault with the acts of the New York Fish Commissioners than it is to improve upon their methods of conducting the Commission. The letter quoted above is a fair sample of the kicks at the Commissioners made by well-meaning people who really are not well informed about the subject of the kick. There is yet a vast army of fishermen who have an idea that in order to stock or restock a water it only requires that a large quantity of young fish shall be turned into it and the object is accomplished.

In the first place it should be understood that the New York Fish Commissioners give a lot of valuable time to the State, and to those who are benefited by their acts, without any return, except the consciousness of well doing, the approval of the majority of fishermen, and the kicks of the minority, for they serve the people without pay in dollars and cents. As fish rearing and fish planting is their business—a business to which they devote much thought, and to which they bring the best talent obtainable—it can be imagined that they know more about it, and the methods of conducting it to obtain the best results, than those who do not make it their business, and have but an imperfect knowledge of it.

The letter writer thinks the Commissioners lack system, and public spirit in raising money to pay express charges on the fish sent out. As to the first charge, we will say that the Commissioners are progressive men, constantly seeking to improve the service of the Commission, and if the letter writer will suggest to them an improvement upon their present excellent system—the outgrowth of twenty years' experience—we guarantee they will adopt the improvement; for that is what they all labor for. As to the second charge, is it not rather too much to ask of a business man to give his services to the people, and then ask him to pass his hat around that the people may be further benefited? Now, "honest Injun," could any sane man expect them to do it?

A HALF BROTHER TO
(2:15, trial 2:13 3-4).

JUANITO JR. is a beautiful bright bay, black points, with no white, foaled 1886. As a colt he has given much more promise than did Almont Patchen at the same age. Instead of being a pacer, he is a good square trotter, with every indication of great speed, and is so gentle and kind, that a lady can drive him. The owner's only reason for selling him is that business calls him away from this section of the State. He will be sold at a reasonable figure. This is a splendid opportunity for a gentleman to secure a first-class trotter at a very low figure.

The pedigree of Juanito Jr. is by Juanito (sire of Almont Patchen), dam Nettie Moore by Old Tom Moore. For further particulars, address

They have said, over and over, that the fish hatched by the State should be distributed by the State free. They have asked the State that furnishes money to hatch the fish to furnish, also, the money to plant them, claiming justly that the State had not finished its work until the fish were planted. The State has not seen fit to furnish the money to plant the fish, and, very properly, the Commissioners decline to pass their hats. They hatch millions of fish, doing the work as cheaply as possible that the State may get a good return for its money, and say to the fishermen: "We would send out these fish free to you to be planted in suitable waters, but we regret that the State has not furnished us with the means to do it; we know that the State should do so, but until it does we must ask you to pay the bare transportation expenses."

It was for the purpose of furnishing free transportation for fish fry that the Commissioners asked for a fish car last winter.

If there were seven Commissioners, one of them "might restock all the waters in his district once in three or five years, and so all our streams would abound with fish adapted to the location."

Then the millennium and sacension robes! What a simple affair it is to stock all the streams once in three to five years—on paper!

And the only place that we know of that it can be done is on paper. To stock a stream properly it should be planted annually for a number of years, and food must be provided for the fish, if it is lacking, and then the remark of the Albany Journal comes in very properly; for if the fish are not protected during infancy and, later, during the spawning seasons, the mere planting of the fish fry is money and labor wasted.

Fish protection is a matter of education and if it was in our power to influence the Fish Commissioners, we would say to them: In communities opposed to fish protection let this education go on while the streams are barren; send out not a single fish to a district where the fish laws are openly and persistently violated—where the sentiment of the people is opposed to protection. The Legislature and the Fish Commissioners may do their utmost to stock streams with fish, and their efforts will be utterly futile unless there is a determined effort on the part of the people to do their share of the work and protect the fish at times and seasons when they require protection to thrive and multiply.

Mile heats, 3 in 5; entrance $75, with $25 added for each starter over two and up to five head, and $10 for each additional starter up to ten head.

Payments: $5 must accompany the nomination on July 1, 1890; $5 on January 2, 1891; $10 on July 1, 1891; $10 on January 2, 1892; $10 on July 1, 1892; $15 on January 2, 1893; $25 on July 1, 1893.

CONDITIONS.

1—Neglect to provide payments on the dates stipulated will incur forfeiture of all previous payments.

2—When there is more than one entry to this stake by one person or in one interest, the horse to be started must be named by 6 P. M. of the day preceding the race.

3. The stake will be divided into four moneys, viz., 50 per cent. to the first, 25 per cent to the second, 15 per cent. to the third and 10 per cent. to the fourth horse.

4. If only three horses start in this stake, only the first, second and third money shall be paid; if but two start, there will be no added money the stake money paid in will be divided—two-thirds to the first and one third to the second horse.

5. A horse distancing the field shall only be entitled to first and third moneys.

6. The Board of Directors reserve the right to declare the stake filled or not filled without binding itself to any specified number of entries.

7. Otherwise than the above, National or American Trotting Association Rules—as this Society may select—will govern the stake.

Entries to close on July 1st with the Secretary.

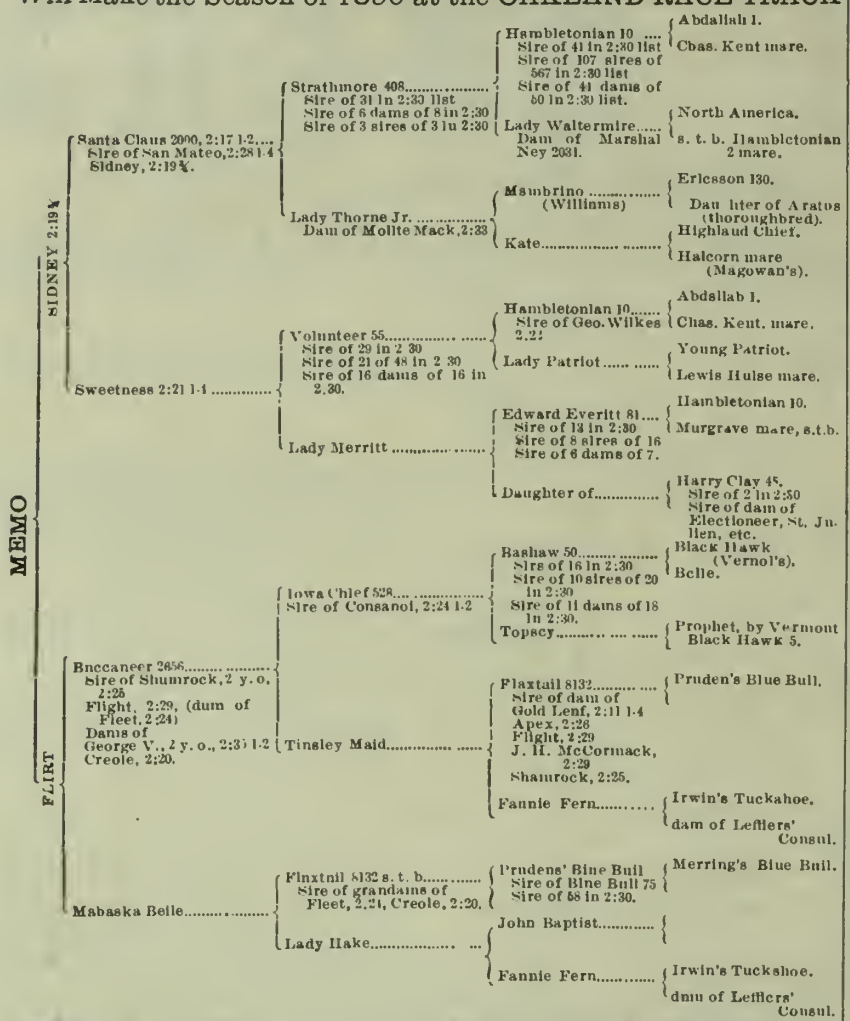
DR. THOMAS MACLAY, Secretary, Petaluma.

Memo.

The Best Son of SIDNEY

Will Make the Season of 1890 at the OAKLAND RACE TRACK



MEMO is, as can be seen at a glance, one of the best bred young stallions in service, having three crosses of Ryskyk's Hambletonian and one of Harry Clay, the sire of Green Mountain Maid (dam of Electioneer, etc.), while Long Island Black Hawk and Flaxtail also contribute to his blood. Sidney (Memo's sire) is universally known as the best young sire in the world, a producer of extreme speed at an early age.

PERFORMANCES.

MEMO trotted in public in his two year-old form, obtaining a record of 2:19, though he was close to Grandee in a race on the Bay District Track, the second heat of which was made in 2:31 1-2, the first in 2:32. He exhibited phenomenal speed when three years old, and had it not been for a slight strain of his fore fetlock, there is little question that he would have shown in public very close to the best record. On the Oakland track he was timed a mile in 2:20 1-2, and frequently trotted quarters in from 32 1-2 to 34 seconds.

As a four-year-old Memo only started once—at Sacramento—when, although out of condition, he showed great speed, and improving as he went on, great hopes were entertained of his going well down in the 'teens at the P. C. T. H. B. A. meeting, but after showing several very fast miles his leg filled and as was laid up for the season. He is sixteen hands high, and of powerful build throughout. His color is a glossy black, with both fore feet white. His disposition is all that could be desired, and his action superb. He is a sure foal getter, only one mare being reported not in foal during his last season.

TERMS, $100, with usual return privileges, for a limited number of mares. Season to close JUNE 15th, when he will be prepared for track purposes. Pasturage $5 per month. Have leased the cricket ground adjoining the track for pasturage, where there is fine feed. Reasonable charges if fed hay and grain. Best of care taken of mares in any manner owners may desire, but positively no responsibility assumed for accidents or escapes. For further particulars address

Silver Bow

Will make the season of 1890 at the Oakland Race Track.

PEDIGREE.

SILVER BOW 11708, two-year-old record 2:37, is by Robert McGregor 647, 2:17¼ (sire of Bonnie McGregor, 2:13¾, Earl McGregor, 2:21¼, Mac D., 2:30, McGregor Boy, 2:29¾, Mark Time, 2:30, Roxie McGregor, 2:29¾) by Major Edsall 2:1, 2:29, by Alexander's Abdallah 15—sire of Goldsmith Maid, 2:14—by Hambletonian 10—sire of Dexter, 2:17¼.

Robert McGregor's dam was Nancy Whitman by American Star 14, by Stockholm's American Star.

SILVER BOW'S first dam is Sadie by Hambletonian 10, sire of Geo. Wilkes, 2:22—sire of Guy Wilkes, 2:15¼—also Electioneer, sire of Sunol, three-year-old record, 2:10¾, and Palo Alto, 2:12¼; second dam Lady Wynne by Wm. Welch 341; third dam Elenora Margrave by Imp. Margrave.

DESCRIPTION.

SILVER BOW is a handsome bay, no white; 15-2¼ hands high; weighs 1075 pounds; of fine form, with the best of legs and a clean-cut, intelligent head. Is remarkably level-headed, seldom making a break; wears seven-ounce shoes in front. His record, 2:37, is no mark of his speed; he can beat 30 easy, and with his gilt-edge breeding, he is just what he ought to be, a trotter sired by a trotter whose dam was herself a trotter and his grandam the dam of two trotters. His dam Sadie being by Hambletonian 10, shows him to be bred from the cream of the trotting blood.

TERMS: $100 for the season. Mares not proving in foal returnable for the season of 1891 free of charge. Good pasturage and first-class care taken of mares for $5 per month. No responsibilities assumed for escapes or accidents. For further particulars, address

A Dry, Warm Place to Sleep,

No matter how stormy the weather. All Stock under cover when it rains.

VISITORS WELCOME ANY DAY EXCEPT SUNDAY.

How to Get Stock to the Souther Farm.

The Souther Farm is one and a half miles northeast of San Leandro and eight miles southeast of Oakland. The stables are about one mile east of the county road, which runs between Oakland and San Leandro. The place to turn off is at Stanley Road, where a large signboard of the farm is placed. Guide boards will be found at every cross road. In any ordinary weather the roads are very good, and they are fairly good after the unusually heavy rainfall of the past winter.

All stock sent from San Francisco may be brought over by Garcia's Express, No. 3 Market street, San Francisco. They also have an order box outside of Hawley Bros.' Hardware house on the corner of Market and Beale streets. The express leaves San Francisco on the Creek route boat, which starts at 1:30, but all orders should be in the order box at Market and Beale streets by 10 o'clock, or at the office, No. 3 Market street, by 11 o'clock at the latest. In the case of very young or very valuable horses, the Souther Farm will send reliable men to lead or drive over any stock that will not lead behind a wagon. A small charge will be made in such cases, to cover the extra expense incurred.

Horses are very easily taken from Oakland to the farm, and where it is inconvenient for owners to bring them or send them, the farm will send after anything that is to come. On horses that stay three months or over there is no charge for getting or delivering. Where a horse stays a short time the actual time and expense only is charged to him.

Horses can be shipped by rail from almost all parts of the State to San Leandro. Always notify the Farm several days before shipping anything, and then men will be on hand to receive stock on arrival. The railroad station is but two miles from the Souther Farm, and the agent invariably gives immediate notice of the arrival of any stock consigned to the above farm, but when word is sent to the farm in good season by letter or telegram, the animals sent are saved waiting a couple of hours in the car.

Passenger trains leave San Francisco (from the broad gauge ferry) and First and Broadway, Oakland, at frequent intervals during the day. There are several trains from San Jose to San Leandro on both the broad and narrow gauge railroads; the broad gauge, by way of Niles, is much more convenient for getting to the farm. There are trains each day from Sacramento, Stockton and Livermore to San Leandro. In ordinary weather it is a short and pleasant drive from Oakland to the Souther Farm or from San Francisco to the Farm by way of the Creek route ferry boat. Always notify the Souther Farm just when you will arrive at San Leandro, and some one will meet you at the station. If you do not recognize the farm conveyance ask the stage driver, who will point it out.

Write to the above address for references, circulars and price lists. Terms reasonable.

The Thoroughbred Stallion

Three Cheers

Will make the season of 1890 at Sacramento.

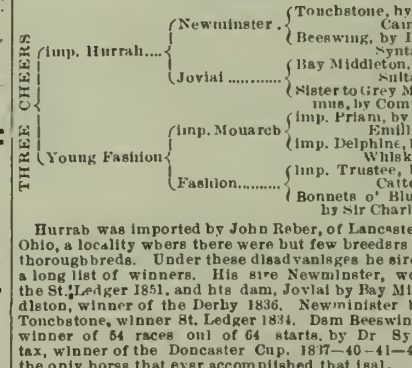
PEDIGREE.



Hurrah was imported by John Reber, of Lancaster, Ohio, a locality where there were but few breeders of thoroughbreds. Under these disadvantages he sired a long list of winners. His sire Newminster, won the St. Ledger 1851, and his dam, Jovial by Bay Middleton, winner of the Derby 1836. Newminster by Touchstone, winner St. Ledger 1834. Dam Beeswing, winner of 54 races out of 64 starts, by Dr Syntax, winner of the Doncaster Cup, 1837—40—41—42, the only horse that ever accomplished that feat.

On the side of the dam Three Cheers is equally well related. Young Fashion was the dam of Surprise, Scotland (the only horse that ever beat Asteroid a heat), Liverpool, Columbia, and Bonnie Kate, the dam of Little Butteroup, and the flying Bonnie Lizzie. His grandam, Fashion was the greatest race mare of her day and beat Boston in that historical match at four mile heats, which is recorded as one of the greatest events in the annals of the turf.

Horsemen who are qualified to judge, pronounce Three Cheers to be the finest type of the Newminster line in America.

LOCATION.

THREE CHEERS will be located at the Arcade Training Stable, Rancho del Paso. This place has been selected for the reason that first class pasturage has been secured there for the exclusive use of these mares, and the other facilities to be obtained there for the care of mares (especially mares in foal) are better than can be found elsewhere in the locality.

TERMS.

$60 for the season with the usual return privilges. Pasturage $5 per month. Mares cared for as owners may desire at bottom rates for grain and hay. All bills payable before the mare is removed.

Mares shipped care of WM. IRVINE, Pacific Stables, Sacramento, will be properly cared for and sent to the ranch without delay.

Three Cheers will be in charge of one of the most experienced and competent stud grooms in the State, who will exercise every care, but no responsibility assumed for accidents or escapes.

Alcona 730.

Sire of

FLORA BELLE - - - Record 2:24
CLAY DUKE - - - - - " 2:31¼

ALCONA will be a great sire, but four of his colts have ever been trained, and all have shown full miles better than 2:3', and two of them as good as 2:20. Two of his first sons each sired a colt as a two-year-old, and last season one as a four-year-old trotted a full mile in 2:23¼, and the other, a three-year-old, a mile in 2:31. With opportunities, Alcona is destined to be one of Almont's best sons Almont, for his opportunities, is beyond doubt the most prepotent sire of his age. He has 36 representatives in the 2:30 list; 49 sons and 22 dsughters that have alresdy produced 2:30 performers. Almont died five years ago at 20 years old. If he lived he would be but 25 years old.

PEDIGREE.

ALCONA sired by the great Almont (sire of Westmont 2:13¾, Fanny Witherspoon 2:16¼, Piedmont 2:17¼, and 34 others with records better than 2:30, and grandsire of Belle Hamlin 2 12¾, etc.); by Alexander's Abdallah (sire of Goldsmith Maid 2:14), he by Rysdyk's Hambletonian. Alcona's dam, Queen Mary, by Mambrino Chief (sire of Lady Thorne 2 18 1-4, and 5 others in the 2:30 list, and sire of the dams of Director 2:17, Piedmont 2:17½, Onward 2:25 1-4, Red Wilkes Almont, Belmont and many other noted sires).

DESCRIPTION.

Alcona is a beautiful chestnut 16 3 1-2 hands high, and weighs 1300 lbs. His colts possess speed, style, finish and beauty, and if they don't trot they command the highest prices for carriage horses.

$40 for the season. Usual return privilege.

Season of Alcona and Grandissimo ends July 1st, 1890.

Grandissimo,

Full Brother to GRANDEE, 3-year old record 2:23 1-2.

Sired by La Grande (son of Almont, and out of Jessie Pepper by Mambrino Chief; Jessie Pepper is the dam of Ione 2:17 1-2, Alpha 2:23 1-2, Sterling Wilkes 2:31¼, and others) dam Norma, by Arthurton (sire of Arab 2:15, Joe Arthurton 2 21 1-2, etc.)

Grandam Nourmahal, (full sister to A. W. Richmond, sire of Arrow 2:13¾, Romero 2:19, and sire of Columbine, dam of Anteeo 2:16¼, and Antevolo 2:19½ at four years old).

DESCRIPTION.

Grandissimo is four years old, will make a sixteen hand horse; he is a rich mahogany bay in color and perfect in style and action. $50 for the season. Usual return privileges.

"Grandissimo" with limited training last fall as a three-year-old, trotted quarters in 36 seconds and miles in 2:40.

I feel confident that he will trot fast this season, and will be a great sire as his colts this season are all grand youngsters.

The best of pasturage $4 per month. Mares taken care of in any manner that owners may desire, but no responsibility assurred for escapes or accidents.

DEXTER PRINCE.

This Royally-bred Stallion will make the Season of 1890 at the LIVE OAKS Breeding Farm, 2 miles from Lodi, San Joaquin County, Cal.

DESCRIPTION.

DEXTER PRINCE is a blood bay, 16 hands high, weighs over 1,100 pounds; has great power and substance, and the highest finish. When two years old, at Palo Alto, he was timed quarters by Gov. Stanford in 32½ seconds, and he was driven eights by Mr. Marvin at a faster rate of speed than that. He is a sure foal-getter, and invariably sires foals of good size, of fine form and finish, and the bigbest rate of speed.

PEDIGREE.

By KENTUCKY PRINCE, the sire of Guy, 2:10¾, Spofford, 2:18¾, Company, 2:19¾, Bayoune Prince, 2:21 1-4, Fred Folger, 2:20¼, and a score more in the 2:30 list.

First dam LADY DEXTER, full sister of the greatest of trotters, Dexter, and the greatest of sires, Dictator, the sire of Director, 2:17, Phallas, 2:13¾, in a fourth heat, and Jay-Eye-See, 2:10.

Second dam Clara, the dam of Dexter, 2:17 1-4, Dictator, Astoria 2:29 1-4, and Almah, 2:28¾. Clara was by American Star, that has 34 daughters that have produced 2:30 or better trotters.

Third dam the McKinstry mare, the dam of Shark, 2 27¾. HAMBLETONIAN, the grandsire of DEXTER PRINCE, has 40 trotters in the 2:30 list, 44 daughters that have produced 2:30 trotters, and more than 100 sons that have sired 2 30 trotters.

CLARK CHIEF, the grandsire on the sire's side, was the sire of performing and producing sons and daughters

DEXTER PRINCE has faster blood lines, on both sides, than any other stallion in the world—Guy 2:10¾, and Jay-Eye-See, 2:10.

KENTUCKY PRINCE is one of the best bred and speediest stallions in the world. David Bonner, in the presence of Governor Stanford, timed him when he trotted a 2:10 gait. He is by Clark Chief, one of The great broodmare sires; his first dam is Kentucky Queen by Morgan Eagle, son of Hale's Green Mountain Morgan, 2nd dam by Blythe's Whip, 3rd dam by Marlin's Brummier, 4th dam by Quicksilver 880, on through the strongest thoroughbred blood.

TERMS.

$100 for the season, with usual return privileges. Payable before mares are removed. Good pasture, and the best care furnished, but no responsibility assumed for accidents.

PREMIUM.

DESCRIPTION.

EROS is a rich seal brown stallion, bred by Hon. Leland Stanford at Palo Alto, and is the nearest living likeness of his celebrated sire, Electioneer. Stands 15.2 hands high, and weighs 1050 pounds

In breeding to Eros, the owners of mares will strictly follow the great rule of breeding, viz., breed to a stallion by a producer and out of a sire producer of great speed. Eros is by the stallion that has produced more 2:30 trotters that any living horse, and is also the sire of more 2:20 performers than any horse living or dead.

EROS is out of the dam of Sally Benton, four years old, record 2:17¾, Sport 2:22¾, and Eros 2:29½ in the sixth heat, against a field of nine horses. He is from a family that is endowed with great natural speed, trot fast at an early age, train on, throw trotters from all classes of mares, are of good substance, bone, style and action, and breed solid colors.

TERMS.

$100 for the season, with the privilege of return next season should mares not be in foal and horse and mare still remain in the same hands.

Good pasturage can be obtained at $5 per month, but no responsibility for accidents or escapes. There are a large number of box stalls, and animals can be kept up and fed on hay and grain at reasonable rates if required. Mares already in foal can be sent to the ranch for foaling, and will receive all the attention bestowed upon our own mares. Mares left with Mr. Peter Pomyea, Broadway Street Stable, Oakland, or with Mr. F. H. Burke, 401 Montgomery Street, San Francisco, will be forwarded to the ranch free of charge. GRAND MOOR, 2374.

Grand Moor 2374 — Moor 870 (Sire of Beautiful Bells, 2:29½; Sire of Sable (dam of Sable Wilkes), 2:18; Sire of Sultan, 2:24; Sire of Tommy Gates, 2:24; Sire of Del Sur, 2:24½; Sire of Sir Guy, 2:28½; Beautiful Bells is the dam of Hinda Rose, 2:15¼ as a 3-year-old, Palo Alto Belle, 2:22½, Chimes, St. Bell, 2:21½, Bell Boy (3 years) 2:19¾. Sultan, 2:24 (sire of Stamboul 2;12¼) has 19 in 2:30 list. — Clay Pilot 93 (Sire of 2 in 2:30 list. — Belle of Wabash.) — Vasiti (Dam of Don Tomas, who got a record of 2:20 in 1889. — Mambrino Patchen 58 (Sire of 14 in 2:30 list Sire of the dam of Guy Wilkes, 2:15¼; also sire of 20 stallions and 18 mares with get in 2:30 list. — Kate Taber By Mambrino Messenger, he by Mambrino Paymaster.)

Foaled 1876. Black. Sixteen hands high. Bred by L. J. Rose

A horse of bigbest form and quality; of great excellence in every point; a type of bis celebrated family; of marked individuality, spirit and endurance; never properly trained or raced, but shows the possession of great speed; perfectly manageable in the stable and on the road and track.

As he is sired by The Moor 870, a son of CLAY PILOT, out of Vasbti by MAMBRINO PATCHEN, be is a most valuable cross for mares of other families. THE MOOR sired Beautiful Bells and the dams of Sable Wilkes and Margaret 2:28 (dam of Regal Wilkes, 2-year-old record 2:20½).

MAMBRINO PATCHEN is regarded as the unsurpassed sire of broodmares, having, among many others, sired the dam of Guy Wilkes and of Wm. L (the sire of Axtell), and a son of his sired the dam of Axtell. The public sales this year have demonstrated with renewed emphasis the value of The Moor and Mambrino Patchen strains of blood. For combining particularly with the Hambletonians it may be called "the ready money cross."

GRAND MOOR will make the season of 1890 for a time at the Oakland Race Track and afterwards at my Ranch, fifteen miles from Oakland. Mares can be delivered at the race track to the groom in charge. Pasture at $5 per month. For other food, if requested, an additional charge will be made.

TERMS, $150 for the season, with privileges of return if the horse does not change hands.

Every care exercised, but no liability for escapes or accidents.

Admiral 488.

Foaled 1867—Sired by Volunteer 55, Son of Rysdyk's Hambletonian 10.

First dam Lady Pierson by Cassius M. Clay (Neaves') 20; second dam by Dismond; third dam a running mare said to be thoroughbred. He is fitted in an eminent degree to produce colts that will in all respects justify his patrons in their expectations.

Admiral is the sire of Huntress, record 2:27¾, Sister, 2:19¾, Perbellion, 2:25, Nona Y., 2:25, and others equally as promising, but have not had the advantage of track work. He will serve a limited number of approved mares at $50 the season, with usual return privilege. Season euding August 1, 1890. No liability for accidents or escapes.

KING DAVID 2576.

Bay Stallion—Foaled 1883.

Sired by Admiral 488, dam Black Flora (the dam of Huntress, 2:27¾, Sister, 2:19¾, Perbellion, 2:25, Nona Y., 2:25), by Black Prince.

King David is one of the best gsts of Admiral. He has a good dispositiou, kind to drive, smooth and even-gaited, and can speed fast. Barring accidents, he will trot in the twenties this Fall. His colts are large, rangy, and well finished. Will serve a limited number of mares at $30 the season, to end July 1, 1890. Every precautiou will be taken to prevent accidents and escapes, but no liability will be assumed. Pasturage $4 per month.

REMARKS AND CONDITIONS.

Nominations and entries to all stakes and purses must be made to the Secretary on or before the 15th day of August, 1890. Entries for the purses must be made two days preceding the race at the regular time for closing entries as designated by the rules. Those who have unfinished stakes must name to the Secretary in writing which they will start the day before the races at 6 P. M. Horses entered in purses can only be drawn by consent of the Judges.

Entries to all trotting races will close September 1st, with the Secretary.

Five or more to enter and three or more to start in all trotting races.

National Trotting Association Rules to govern trotting races. Pacific Coast Blood Horse Association Rules to govern running races.

All trotting and pacing races are the best three in five, unless otherwise specified; five to enter and three to start. But the Board reserves the right to hold a less number than five to fill, by the withdrawal of a proportionate amount of the purse. Purse to be divided pro rata. Entrance fee, 10 per cent. on purse, to accompany nomination.

National Association Rules to govern trotting; but the Board reserves the right to trot heats of any two classes alternately, if necessary to finish any day's racing, or to trot a special race between heats. A horse making a walk over shall be entitled only to the entrance money paid in. When less than the required number of starters appear, they may contest for the entrance money, to be divided as follows: 66⅔ to the first and 33⅓ to the second.

In divided purses no horse shall receive more than one money.

In all the foregoing stakes the declarations are void unless accompanied by the money.

Please observe that, in the above stakes, declarations are permitted for a small forfeit.

In all running races entries not declared out by 6 P. M. of the day preceding the race shall be required to start.

Where there is more than one entry by one person, or in one interest, the particular horse they are to start must be named by 6 P. M. of the day preceding the race. No added money paid for a walk-over.

Racing colors to be named in entries.

In trotting races drivers will be required to wear caps of distinct colors which must be named in their entries.

Each day's racea will commence promptly at one o'clock P. M.

All entries must be directed to C. H. Stoddard, Reno, Nevada.

Training
The Trotting Horse
BY CHARLES MARVIN.

This great practical horse book is a handsome, three hundred page octavo, bound in cloth, elegantly printed, superbly illustrated, and explains in every detail the remarkable success of CHARLES MARVIN and the whole plans and methods pursued at Palo Alto as to breaking, training, shoeing, gaiting, driving, keeping, racing and breeding trotters.

Read what J. C. Sibley, the owner of St. Bel, says of this book: "In this work Marvin has let out all the mysteries of the craft, and it is so simple and plain that any breeder, owner, trainer or rubber who has any relish for his business can take a colt as a yearling and develop to the highest and fullest extent that colt's capacity as a trotter. The work impressed me so strongly that I have ordered twenty copies, and shall place one in the hands of every rubber on our farm." Mailed postpaid for $3.50.

New and Improved Styles. All Hand Sewed.

The most Popular Hunting Boot for Ladies and Gents in the Market

Prices Reduced. Quality Maintained.

These are the original Canadian Boots introduced by us nearly four years ago. They are made of waterproofed, oiled tanned material, which is manufactured especially for our Boots. The leg is made of selected alum tanned calfskin, laced up with bellowe tongue. The bottom and uppers are one piece like an Indian Moccasin. The sole is sewed on by hand, to the sewed sole is added a tap sole and heel, studded with hunting hob nails. The Canadian Boot is very light. Ladies' and Boys' size being extra light and neat, and owing to its moccasin style is the most comfortable boot made. Men's boots weigh 2½ pounds per pair; Ladies' boots, 1½ pounds per pair. Men's high cut hoee, 2 pounds per pair. They are recommended by the hundreds of sportsmen and campers who use them The Canadian Boot is very popular.

Peruvian Bitters are made of the purest ingredients and compounded as carefully as any prescription.

Peruvian Bark, one of its principal ingredients, was introduced into Spain by the Countess, wife of Count CINCHON, Spanish Viceroy to Peru in 1630, who was cured of a fever by its use, since which time, no better remedy for Malaria and for Restoring the Natural Tone of the Stomach has been discovered.

On the Atlantic Coast they are used in the principal Hotels, Clubs and Restaurants, and sold by all Grocers and Druggists. We have sold them for the past three years WITHOUT ANY ADVERTISING and sales have constantly increased UPON MERIT ALONE, and we unqualifiedly recommend them to our friends and customers.

Our Fresno Letter.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:--The lete spell of intense werm weather hes had its effect npon man and beast alike. Fresno, you are aware, is among the southern tier of valley counties in which the temperature reveals during the snmmer months that it meane businese strictly, and still gives the mercury a fair degree of rest, reeting between 70 degreee and 90 degreee ae good average, although dropping occaeionally to 50 degrees, but aserting iteelf by mounting to 100 degrees. Within the past three weeke the thermometer has rarely shown lower than 65 degrees, and two or three days leet week the true reckoning was at midday 102 degrees, and at no hour of the entire day lower tben 75 degreee. Still, on account of the natnral salubrity of this remarkehly heelthful section, there has heen no actual diecomfort and not a single case of illness from overheating. The soil is eo light and active and tbe atmosphere eo clear and elastic, that the malarial influences which prevail in sectione of adobe soil and heavy damps, with frequent foge end earthy vapors, are quite nnknown in Fresno.

The residents of the valley regulate their labore and waye of life agreeehly to the changee of weather, and hence in the heated term of the eummer months they neither fatigue themselves nor forget their domeetic animals in the linee of every day bueineee and necessary toil. The cautious old dame of Miesouri who demurred in early years to emigrate to California beceuse she had learned enongh of the Pacific Coast to cause her to believe that it wae a "mighty easy country for men and dogs, bnt awful hard on women end horsee," would be converted to the better conviction in Freeno, and come here to pess the remainder of her daye in comperative ease and the comforte which promote happy longevity, while her sone and daughters could do hetter than in Miesouri in the refining influences of dulce et decorum.

As a matter of course yon do not expect much to he eaid of horsee and turf affaire in thie warm epell. Still things go on with good promiee for the fall meeting at the Fresno Feir grounde in late September and early October; also in the linee of high breeding and the bettering of graded stock. Besides the large and fine breeding farm of Mr. Straube in this county, there ie no other fully entitled to he cleeeed in that cetegory, yet increesed attention ie devoted to stock improvement in the county and throughout thie magnificent domain of San Joaqnin velley, in some of the expaneive grein fielde of which Rhode Island and Delaware conld be rolled np and hidden beyond the quest of the detectives of the Government to find out in which of the Valley counties the two miseing States were concealed.

Out at the Fair grounde are hetween forty and fifty horses in treining and keeping for the Fall races. The liete are already filled to ineure excellent sport—pacing, trotting end running. The horsee are worked very little this warm weather, and all are in good condition, in fine form, to begin the work when the time comee. Meneger Frank Baldwin, the veteran turfmen and Feir Superintendent, hes everything well arranged, with the determination that the ensuing Fair shall excel in the dieplay of agricnltnral products and objecte of intereet of articlee which delight the wives and deughtere of fermers, of the fanciers of art and adornment which please city damee end belles of society, and of tbe heauties of Flora'e cultnre, radiant and of delicione perfume, in which all find pleeenre and attraction. Landscepe gerdening, like that at Del Monte, ie among the beeutifying additione to the capacioue grounde, and dnring the Fair within the handeome Pavilion and about the walke will be the charm of mneic, the melody of choire, and the transports of the dance, heightened in effect by the brilliant illnmination of myriad incandeecent electric lighte. Of the sporte of the track better opportunity will occur for the definite recital.

Fresno is all the time growing and advancing. Rome was not built in a day, and during centuries continned to decline. As Silae Wagg had it, to the Golden Dustman, it was the decline end fall of the Rooehan Empire. Silas was a little off in hie knowledge of history, and hed for his display of ignorance the simple, honest Baffin. Freeno ie attracting the notice of the entire land, and of Europe besides, with her wealth of eoil and lnxuriance of producte—the choicest of ecriptural chronicles and moet favored of the luecione fruite of warm and genial climes—ae we read of the repose of the petriarchal household in the refreshing ehade of the vine and fig tree; and fancy the children of the Holy Land feesting on milk and honey in the temed region of Goshen. The dwellere of Freeno may read the Sacred Book in tbe midet of his family and friends, and for practical illustration of the integrity of the text, had them all into hie own grounde of bounteous enpply, to reet and regale after the manner of the patriarchal gatherings.

Nor does the gueet, though a wayfarer, have occasion to go without the gratifying comforts and delicious treate of appetite in Fresno, in caee he may not visit the teeming vineyerde of grapee for wine, for the teble or for raieins, or has not the opportunity to pluck the ripe figs or the luscious orangee from the laden tree. Freeno hee clear right to hecome famoue for her hotels. In a previone letter, mention of the Hughee Hotel wee mede. It would be invidious to neglect or omit mention of the Grand Central Hotel of Freeno, of which Mr. Fulton G. Berry is owner and landlord. The term hoet, in its complete sense, is fitly applicable. A pioneer, of ripe prime years, of large public epirit and great enterprise, conversent with the viciesitudes of life in Celifornia, and of the mettle which lifte men superior to depreeeing circumetences, he has made hie permenent home in Freeno; here preseed on from adversity to fortune, and, assured in the possessing substantial wealth, he directe his energies to plans and means that ehall further advance the place and estehlieh Freeno es the chief city of the valley of the Sen Joaqnin. The Grand Centrel is maintained in ectuelly first-claes style, not as the claseificetion ie in some instancee perverted, to the fatigued traveler, the gueet accustomed to the comforte of a cosy home and the good things in the way of living, and to the epicure, the uppermost desire and most satiefying realizetion centre in the enterteinment at the table, and in the after contempletion of the delighte of reet and refreshing sleep. At Berry'e Grend Central, theee comforte and luxnries ere assured and enjoyed, with the pleasing acceesoriee of excellent attendance at table, courteone treatment in every department of the hotel, and the closing reckoning which hetter invites the deperting guest to come again, than honeyed phrase and exceesive politenese can induce.

Fishing and hunting are eports yet to he better cultivated in Fresno. A Sportsmen's Club will in time he organized. Fine trout fishing is fonnd in King'e river, and over in the San Joaqnin I am told of selmon tront, which ere probably yonng selmon. Quail and grouse are in the mountains, and deer are plenty. There are good sportemen in Fresno and about, hut the thing needed ie organizetion. The Pacific Coast Field Clnh hae memberehip here, and for the trial Derby to come off at Bekersfield, for which entries cloeed June 1st, two fine dogs owned in Fresno will conteet: El Rey, setter, Goodstone—Enid, one-year-old; end Elite, litter brother to El Rey, owned by Senator Goncher. El Rey is owned by Frank B. Dexter, chief clerk of the Grend Central Hotel. He ie a genuine sporteman and clever gentleman, foremoet in promoting the sports of the field and gun, and of the rod and stream, an expert on the wing, skilled in engling, genial in the qnalitiee of companioneip, sturdy in the elements of menhood. As in Pinafore, the eong goes by the crew in trihute to Sir Joseph Porter, with all his addenda of titles, it is made very much to his credit that he is an Engliehman, similarly it can be underwritten to the credit of Mr. Dexter, that he is a zealous friend and an observant petron of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN. He files away the numbere ae he finishes the perneal.

Menager Frank Baldwin ie absent on a vieit to Coronedo Beach, where he is preparing the track for racing Fourth of July. He will return in a day or two and from him no donbt I can ohtain information which will make another letter interesting reading.

Fresno has an excellent Fire Department. Opportnnity to note the skill and courege of the firemen hae occurred, and I can conscientiouely commend them. They should be better eqnipped with enginee and with hoee and apperatns. The fire in the Expoeitor huilding two weeks ago was notahle demonstretion of efficiency of the department. They reserved from apparent certein destruction the lerge handsome hrick building and the more valneble fine printing office of the Evening Expositor, owned by Mr. J. W. Ferguson, the pioneer newspaper man of this section and an estimable leading citizen. Ferguson and hie assistants and printere displayed their grit and quality of getting out an extra edition —full size, eight pages—with good account of the fire during the morning. Fire can't destroy this order of newepeper. Tbey will develop the Phœnix quality. J. O. M.

FRESNO, June 9th.

Our Lakeport Letter.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—Since writing my last the track and grounds of the Lakeport Park Associetion have been nndergoing a thorough renovation at the hends of Mr. J. H. Walter, the new proprietor, an energetic, wide-awake, progressive gentleman, who in a very ehort time hae made a place of which Lake Connty ehonld be proud. A fine drive hae heen thrown np connecting with tbe county road, and winds picturesquely along the creek, ehaded by broad oaks and graceful willows. A large social hall is in course of conetruction, clnb rooms heve been put in, a hase-ball and cricket-field hes heen leid off, a eteem pump has been purchaeed for watering purposes, and lastly the treck is getting in good shape, and will, hefore Walter gete through with it, compere favorably with any track in the Stete. Horees from the outeide will find thie track and climete just ahout right, and cen ship by railroad to Hopland thence 16 miles over a good road to Lakeport.

There are now at the track 13 trotters and 6 bang tails. The trotters are in the bands of Tracy, Corcoran end Piner. Trecy hae two stars, viz., Alwood and a two-yeer-old Mambrino Wilkes filly. Alwood is ehowing in greet shape, far ahead of expectations, while the filly—well, we have to keep quiet, but when a two-yeer-old with three weeke driving can beat three minutee fer and away we cen sey safely she is an ordinerily good road animel.

Corcorene etring hae received an addition from Fred Shafer of Brentwood—a five-year b. s. by Beshaw, whicb is a very emooth goer and an nnusually handsome animal. By the way, epeaking of horees and horsemen, there is a good one going the rounds on "Doc" Aby. His friends noticed, on hie laet visit here, that he was not his nsual self, bsing especially sensitivs on the subject of trotters and Chinamen. This weakness was frsely commsnted on, but sssmsd inexplicsble until this rumor got ont, when everything was msds clssr. It sesms the Doctor was bowling along at a livsly rate behind his spanking bays, chssrily humming "Littls Annie Rooney," whsn hs observed a cloud of dust ascending the hsavens. The afternoon being warm and ths genial Aby being likewise, pecnliarly snsceptible to both heat and dust, he clucksd to his team, swayed thsm gently over to ons sids and was about to pass. But hs knew not what he did, neither did hs wot. That is, not till later. The parsonage was none less than One Lung, our Chinsse gardsner, and the way his old carcass of a horse can trot is a caution. After One Lung slowed up a little, Abs snng out to him, "Hi! yi! you sabe! Too muchee dusty. Gibbse you one dolla, lettse me go by!" Whereupon the thrifty Lung accepted, and Aby csme in town tirsd, covered with dust and dirt, and his voics husky with emotion, but the nams of Aby will he long rsmembered by the varions country urchins who watchsd the racs, as the ons man who could contest with One Lung and still be victorious. How Salvator Won the Suburban.

When the news cams across ths wires that Salvator had won the now classic Suburban, Californians were particularly well pleased, and around ths racing hsadquarters ths grsat race was ths only thing talked about. So that our readers may learn how ths race was lost and won ths following excellent report is taken from the Herald;

"Polo Jim," Starter Caldwell's dusky right bower, gives the horses thsir position, and down ths quarter stretch they walk in Indian file. Salvator is in commaud at the head of ths colnmn and steps quietly along like a perfect gentleman.

"That's whers he'll finish. Hell he in front all the tims!" cries ons enthusiast admirer of the Haggin colt, and thonsands feel thsir hsarts beat in echo of the sentimsnt.

Strideway, with Taylor riding, is next in the line and receives soms admiration, hnt the general fseling is that he won't do—that he has no business in such Titanic company. Evsn his owners havs not backed him and thoronghly appreciate the slimness of his chances.

Firenzi, the peerless mare of '89, is closs at Stridsaway's hssls and obtains some applause from those that fail not to rsmember her triumphs of past years. Ray rides her and is the canse of considerabls speculation, as few racsgoers are aware of his ability as a jockey.

Montagne, Longstreet and Cassius follow in the order named, and thsn comes Tenny. His thousands of backers ars cheerful now that thsy can see him, and well they may be, for the horss they have chosen is in the pink of condition, full of life and fiery spirit and impatient to go ont and run. As of yore he wears the hood and blinkers, but who dares to call them the badge of a rogue?

Raceland and Prince Royal bring up the rear, and after all have passed before the stand a bell clangs, the line is broken and off thsy gallop, singly and in pairs, up the stretch to the starting post, where Starter Caldwell is in readinesa to take them in hand.

As they paraded, so they line up aeross tha track, with Salvator having the best position hy the inner rail and Prince Royal last at the onter edge of the track.

This is a crucial moment, and the spectators anxiously await the falling of the little red flag firmly grasped in the starter's hand.

But there is a delay. Longstreet is fractious, Raceland is nervous and Salvator the most restless of all. All of them feel their oats and they give no end of trouble.

They break away, with Raceland, Longstreet and Montague leading, and quick as a wink Mr. Caldwell scans the track to see if all are in motion. Prince Royal is too far behind to have a chance, and it is no start. Back they come, and after a deal of kicking and cavorting they break away again.

"They're off!" yells a man in the grand stand, and he ia promptly denominated a falsifier, for the flag has not fallen.

One more trial and this time they're off in earnest.

Who's leading?

Cassius!

Yes, there he goes, like an arrow speeding from the bow, ready, willing and determined to asanme the responsibility and brave the dangers of making the pace in the great race. Strideaway is second at the falt of the flag, and after him come Longstreet, Prince Royal, Tenny, Salvator, Firenzi and Raceland in the order named. Montagne is in hia proper position—last of all the lot. Last he is and last he will be if he can't show more speed than he is exhibiting at present, for the others are running away from him at every stride.

Like a created wavs they move along the initial furlong past the lawn and to the judges' stand. It's a killing pace from the start and more than one will surely fall by the wayside, leg weary and heart broken. Taral has no waiting orders and gives Cassins loose rein till he has command hy the pols. Thsn he steadies his horse and sets out at an even gait on the long jonrney before him.

It's make or break with the Dwyers, too, for Bergsn pushes Longatreet into second place, close at the heels of the flying Canssius, while Strideaway falls back to thir l position at the head of the plunging clustsr of horses that thrsaten momentarily to run clsar over him, so furious are their movements.

Prince Royal is at Strideaway's outsr flank, while on the inside are the California team, Salvator and Firenzi, both tugging wildly against their riders' restraining pull. Garrison, strong armed, resists Tenny's impetuous efforts, and keeps Pulsifer's pride well back in the rear, where Raceland keeps him company.

Montagne maintains his humbls rearward position, and Mr. Galway's amile evaporates.

Cassius has only a length the best of it as they pass the judgea' stand, and Taral is not satisfied with this advantage. He is bound to maks a runaway race of it if he can and repeat the trick performed by Castaway II. in the Brook'yn Handicap. So, passing the paddock, he looseus rein once more, and in a twinkling there is daylight bstween Cassins and Longstreet, his nearest opponent.

"Oh, dear! look at Cassins! Tenny will never, never catch him." I hear a vision of female lov liness and lace cry out, close behind me in the grand stand. Nor are her feara groundless, if she has risked her little wager on the son of Rayon d'Or, for Caasius is opening a palpably big gap in front, while Tenny is laying further and further back in the rear.

Now they swing around the paddock turn, having traversed exactly a quarter of a mile. There's a mile still before him, but if Cassius can kesp up that soul stirring gait they won't be long in covering it. He's two lengths in the lead and going as easily as if he were ont for exercise. Longstrest retains second position, and like Cassins has dons something in the way of running away from the othsrs, for hs's a length and a half away in front of Stridsaway.

They're stringing out, for the pace is already having effsct Salvator's nose grazes Strideaway's tail, and Firenzi is a length bshind her stable companion. Princs Royal is in difficnlty, sven at this early stage of the game, for Anderson finds no littls difficulty in keeping up with the others. But the Belmont hopes are not centred on ths Prince, and as Raceland is close at his side the supporters of the "maroon and scarlet" as yet fsel no fear.

But what's the matter with Tenny? He's nsxt to last. Come, Garrison, this will nsver do. Don't wait too long.

The "Snapper" ssems to appreciate this fact, for as Cassins shows the way into the backstrstch Tenny begins to movs up with his adversaries. There's time yet for him to msks up all ths lost ground, but his backers would like it bstter if he was nearer the front:

Fastsr, faster and fastsr still, like a flying demon. Cassins continuss to increass ths pace, and there's a gap of three lengths between him and Longstrset now. The furthsr hs goes ths grsster his advantags, and Isaac Murphy, back in the rnck with Salvator, rscognizss that hs cannot afford to stay whsre he is. Isaac is a good judge of pace, and he knows what he is about when he lets out a link of his pull on the grsat colt's head.

Ths effect is instantansons, for ths moment they are all wsll straightened out on ths backstretch, Cassins' lead commencss to decreass. Not that he is going a hit slower, for he's not. Those behind him are going faster, all impellsd hy Salvator's movement. Strideaway movss np to Longstreet and he gains visibly on Cassins. Salvator has taken fourth place at Stridsaway's side and Firenzi is not far away. Raceland-and Tsnny havs begun to hurry and both are within striking distancs of thoss befors them. Prince Royal is no longer a candidate for Suburban honors, and Montagne is more ont of the race than evsr hefore.

"Longstrest's hurt! What can be the matter?"

Something is, indeed, wrong. The Dwyer's colt is falling back faster than ths others are going on.

Thsy are jnst starting arnnd the long turn for home, and the son of Longfellow is still second, ths position hs has gallantly maintained from the start. But hs's in tronble. Sse Bergsn's whip rise and fall, and almost befors we can apprsciate Longstrest has fallen back behind Stridsaway, Salvator, Raceland aud Tenny. That ends the "dark horse." He's a back number, and in a furlong more will surely be disputing with Montagne for last p'acs.

It's a gallant racs and in dsadly sarnest now. Cassius continuss to monopolizs ths forsmost position, but the giants are overhanling him at every stride. Will thsy catch him? That's what "Johnny" Campbell, his astute owner, asks himself. Strideaway's racs is ahout rnn, and hs is flying signals of deep distress as Salvator challenges him in the chase after the fleet footed pacemaker. It's an easy task for the Haggin colt to dispose of Strideaway, and Murphy now looks forward to gathering in the scalp of the single one in front of him. Garrison, too, watchful of Murphy, is coming along at a tremendons gait with Tenny, and black vissged Hamilton has Raceland close behind him.

Into the homestretch, with only a qnarter of a mile to go, Salvator is at Cassins' saddle skirts, and Tenny, passing Strideaway, takes third place, two lengths behind the leaders. Now for a finish. Look out for that stupendous spurt of Tenny's at the end. Garrison calls on his horse, hut Tenny is unmindful of whip or spur, or else nnahls to rsspond. He spurts not, neither does he gain an inch. It's all up with him, and "Dave" Pulsifsr's half a hundred thousand dollars is alrsady lost. Raceland is no better off, and Hamilton gives up riding him, disgusted and dispairing.

But the leaders, what are they doing? It's a magnificsnt contest between Salvator and Cassins for ths supermacy. A furlong from the finish Salvator's nose is on even terms with Cassius, but there he seems to hang. Never a gamer horse than Cassins has ever been seen. Trne, he is carrying twenty pounds less than the California giant, but it is no mean task to keep up such a tremendous pace. Gamely he does it, too, Taral using his whip and spurs meanwhile with desperate and crnel vigor.

Ride, Murphy, ride, if you want to win.

It'a a critical moment, and Murphy thus far has refrained from punishing the kingly Salvator. But Cassius is still on even terms with him, and extreme measures are plainly necessary. Up flashes Murphy's whip and again and again it falls, raising great welts on the magnificent colt's quivering flanks. Nor is this punishing in vain. Fifty yards from the goal Salvator puts his head in front, and then slowly increasing his advantage to a neck, dashes past the judges, winner of the Suburban of 1890.

Cassins takes second honors by three lengths from the disappointing Tenny, who pulls up as tirsd a horse as ever looked through a bridle. Strideaway is fourth, and then Racelsnd, Firenzi, Prince Royal and Montague, who at the end resigns last place to the fatigned and forlorn Longatrest.

The timer hangs ont 2:06 4 5 and a yell grsets the performance, for it is the fastest Suburban ever rnn, and only a fraction of a second behind the record, 2:06½, made by Kingston, five years old, and carrying 122 lbs. Salvator's performance is much the bstter aa he is only four years old and carried 127 lbs. The track was good, but not lightning fast, and turfmen who atood arnnnd the stand when the time was displayed said it was the greatest performance on record.

Of course Murphy was seizsd by the maddening crowd as aoon as he had weighed out, and being placed inside the monstrous floral horseshos, was carried to the jockeys' dressing quarters, whsre he was congratulated by all hia fellow knights of the pigskin.

A detailed summary of the race is as follows:

Salvator is a handsome chestnnt colt, four years old by imported Princs Charlis, dam Salina, and was purchased as a yearling in Kentncky for $4,500. In his two-year-old form he started six times. His maiden effort was the Junior Champion Stakes, when he finished fourth to Proctor Knott. In ths Futurity he was hsatsn half a length by Proctor Knott after a punishing finish Salvator's first win was the Flathush Stakes, at Sheepshead, and hs followsd it up by winning the Mapls Stakes at Gravesend and the Tnckahos and Titan Stakss at Jsroms Park. The colt's winnings that year amonnted to $17,000.

Last vear Salvator startsd sight times and won sevsn races, his total winnings amonnting to $71,000. His victories included the Tidal and Rsalization Stakss at Consy Island in the snmmer, the Lorillard Stakes and Jerssy Handicap at Monmouth, ths Septem'er Stakes at Shseps'head in the fall, and a sweepstakes and purss at Jsrome Park.

Including yesterday's Suburban, Salvator has won $95,000 in stakes and purses.

Cheating the Books.

The Third strset pool room peopls are very sore, and all bscanse, in ths vernacular of thsir more rsgular customers, thsy havs hesn worked. And the festurs of the affair that is most disagrseable to them is that they don't know just exactly how it was dons. They ars snre, however, that they are ont on the littls game they went against just $1,700, and that is material proof enongh.

Ths frand has been going on to the certain knowledgs of the pool room proprietors for two days, hnt the sad discovery was not made until yesterday afternoon, just b-fore the last race at Latonia—Ths Harold Stake—was run. Ths telegraph operators in the varions pool rooms had sach rsceived the message that the horses were at the post whsn a medinm sizsd, nsatly dressed young man of about 26 years of age, wearing a black monstache and closely cropped sidsbnrns, stepped up to Bookmaker Sattsrwhite, in the turf pool room, and, pulling out a roll of bills, said:

"Ons hundred dollars on Gsorgetown."

"I'll take fifty," replied Satterwhits.

"Make it fifty sach way," remarked ths young man.

"All right," was the reply, and in exchangs for $100 the bookmaker handed over a ticket calling for $450 straight and $200 place if the horss won, Gsorgetown being at odds of 8 to 1 and 3 to 1, first and second respectively. Ths bookmaker than changed the odds to 3 to 1, and even only to get, a'most immediately, another bet of $25 each way from a smaller and lighter complexioned man of about the same age, who, it was afterwards learned, had been seen in company with the larger man and heavier bettor. As soon as the Turf had nibbled the plunger went next door to the Newmarket pool room, and though Mike Flynn, the principal bookmaker had rubbed out his odds, and was in the cashier's office with his money, the stranger approached one of the books where only small hets are rsceived, and said he wanted to bet $100 on Georgetown. The bookmaker called Mr. Waddill, and the latter repeated the matter to his business associate, the famons Joe Burt.

"Take it," said Joe, and at odds of $600 to $100 the bet was made. "Monsy easy won" may have bsen Burt's mental commsnt, while Waddill probably thought "another sucker."

The bet had hardly been recorded, however, before it waa learned by an employe of Mr. Waddill that the same man had won $90 under similar circumstances on Ethel, in the last race of the previous day, from his house, and $300 from the Turf Exchange. This at once aroused the suspicions of Mr. Waddill, but liks Daniel when the king caught him, "It was too late—the laugh was on him."

"Off!" shouted Joe Burt, and then a few minutes later, "Gsorgetown first passsd the post." The young man stood around until the official rsault, and thsn collected his money.

Mr. Waddill, Mr. Burte and the other employes of the house also stood arnnnd. They were puzzled and mad. They felt that they had been defrauded, but they were not certain, and besides could not have done anything about it if they were, though it is said that aftsr the man walked coolly out, with a cigar between his lips and the boodle in his pocket, that Mr. Waddill wanted very much to go out and "catch him."

The money won in the turf was collected first. The young man had tried to bet in the Suburban, hut they would not take it, as they adhere strictly to the rnle not to taks a big bet after the horses are at the post. He did not tackle the Climax, Johnny Payne having had too much experience in this liue.

That the two men worked together thers was no doubt, and the coincidence that both are unknown, and have only msde two bets on the last race, under the aame unusual circumstances, satisfies the poolroomers that thsy had obtained the result before the bet was made. How, they cannot guess. Manager Smith, of the Western Union, said thst he could offer no theory. The tapping of wires was the only way he could suggest, and that he hardly thought feasible.

But no matter just how the fraud was practice l, the public doesn't care; it is glad some one got ahead of the races. The pool rooms hereafter will take no more bets after the horses have faced the starter.

The men got two $10 bets at 8 to 1 on with the small books in the Turf, thus running their total hanl for the two days up to $1,700. The Newmarket lost $690, the Turf; $1,010.—Louisville Commercial.

In regard to horss breeding in France, at pressnt there ara in the twenty-two national depots of France 2514 stallions (196 English thoroughbreds, 129 Arab thoroughbreds, 124 Anglo-Arab thoroughbreds, 1765 half breds. 302 train), to whom 180,000 mares are sent dnring the year. The commission sent last year to Syria rsturned with aix stallions and fifteen mares. Including all expenses, each stallion cost 5324 (£213), each mare 600fr. (£240). The amonnt annually expended for promoting the breeding of horsea in France is 8 000,000fr. (£350,000). of which 1,180,000fr. (£47,200) are for prizes, and 7,000,000fr. THE FARM.

Butter at the New Zealand Exhibition.

The Anckland Weekly News of the 28th of April says: The special representative of the Sydney Mail makes the following remarks upon a Chinaman receiving the grand prize for hntter at the Dunedin Exhibition:—This colony of New Zealand prides itself, among other things, upou ite ability to turn out really first-class dairy produce. It ,ie justified in entertaining the feeling. On the other hand, if it did not turn out thoroughly good cheese and butter, it would have ample reason for entertaining a feeling the very reverse of pride. This is a land of moist air and frequent rains, of succulent and practically perennial grass. New Zealand, with its fine farming population of old country yeomen from both sides of Tweed, would have to experience another sensation than that of pride if it did not turn out good dairy produce. Yet good farming old country folk and their off spring, though New Zealand does possess, they have had to acknowledge themselves beaten at their own work, on their own ground, by an unconsidered stranger from an alien land.

At the New Zealand and South Seas Exhibition there was an exhibition dairy produce show, open to all the colony. Tons of cheese and tons of butter were sent in. Men who had made hntter in Devonshire valleys, and othere who had done so in the mountains in Ayrshire, were amongst the competitors. The great exhibit—the great butter competition—was for the best half a ton of butter, snitable for ex port. No one supnoeed otherwise than that the first award would go to some one who hailed from the British Isles. It did not so go, however. Amongst the half-ton exhibite there came one from a Mr. Chew Chong, of Taranaki, in the Mount Egmont region of the North Island, 500 milee distant up country, and the pluck, enterpriee, and good work of this son of the Flowery Land were rewarded by his obtaining the first prize. I think I can see some of my old friends of the Illawarra, the Shoolhaven, the Ulladulla, and the Eden districts opening their eyes at this, and shaking their heads, as did their fellow-countrymen on this side. There is no nationally inherited gift in doing work, and one good result of this defeat will be that the New Zealand farmers will apply themselves with renewed watchfulneee and care to every part of their work, to win back the premier position which hae been wrested from them. As Mr. Chew Chong's poeition, as the best buttermaker in New Z aland, is somewhat unique, possibly a brief acconnt of his career and reference to his dairy may prove of interest. Born in the city of Canton, he received a good education, including a knowledge of the Englieh language. From there he went to Singapore, and served eight years in a merchant's office, then emigrated to Victoria, where, in Castlemaine, he was store keeping for 11 years. From there to Otago, N. Z., in 1867, again trading; and in 1870 he went north to the then new district of Taranaki, still as a storekeeper Here, thinking the hutter he bought of the farmers should he better than it was, he started a hntter factory with such success that he has now 120 milch cows, besides buying large quantities of milk of the surrounding farmers. Mr. Chew Chong ships large qnantities of hntter to Melhonrne and London, packing it in box s of his own invention. I add the following extract from the report of Mr. R. M'Callum, Government Inspector, on Mr. Chew Chong'e Jubilee Farm. He saye:—"This is one of the best hutter factories I have visited. The machinery is good and in first-rate condition, and everything about ie thoroughly clean. The machinery is driven by a wat r-wheel. There are two Danieh cream separators, each capahle of putting through 150 gallons of milk per hour, one large box churn, and a level butter worker. The water-wheel is inside of the lower part of the building. The butter, when churned, is taken to a space between the wheel and the ontside wall to be made np. When the wheel is in motion it causes a current of cold air in the place, throwing at the same time a spray of cold water in the air, which assists to cool it in hot weather, a method invaluable for huttermaking. The building of a tunnel to bring the water to the wheel and plant cost over £700." Mr. Chew Chong is a naturalized British subject, has married a European lady, and has a large family of sons and danghters.

A correspondent on May 10th writee to the News as follows:—In your last iesue of the Weekly News, yon reproduce an extract from the Sydney News which has heen going the round of the papers, anent the New Zealand Exhibition award for butter going to Mr. Chew Chong's factory. The subject affords exclamations of wonder, etc., at the expense of New Zealand dairy people who are of British descent. To think that Chinamen ehould beat them at dairying! All this makes a readable paragraph, and ie probably a sufficient represen'ation of fact for newspaper purposes. The truth, however, is that, apart from supplying the needful capital and showing judgment, ae well as having good fortune in selecting a good dairyman, for which be doubtless merits oommendation, Mr. Chew Chong has no more claim to be a competent dairyman than I have to he considered a competent bank manager, because I may happen to hold an interest in a successfully managed bank. The Eltham Factory is a small one, and probably has less ontput than the smallest of our local ones. Its design and arrangement was the work of an English-born dairyman, Mr. Sydney Morris, and the entire management of it, from beginning to end, has been in Mr. Morris' hands. The reputation of this gentleman as a successful buttermaker was established long prior to the advent in dairy circles of Mr. Chong. Mr. Chong rarely visits his factory, and knows nothing of its manufacturing workings, excepting, which is enough for him, that theee are in good hands. I do not know what may he the position of matters in the future. Possibly a time may come when a Chinaman may excel even the best of onr hntter makers, althongh, conaider'ng the wonderful interest which has been taken in dairying dnring the last few years, I do not fear the oompetition. Yet in dairying matters up to the present, and as far as New Zealand ie concerned, it is hardly fair to assume, as the paragraphist has done, that "the Caucasian is wiped out."

The immense building which hae been in course of construction as an addition to Armour & Co.'s immense establishment at Packingtown, was formally opened last week It is an immense structnre and will he used ae a beef killing house. It has thirty-two beds and is the largest beef house the firm has, the part known formerly as the new beef house containing only twenty-four beds. Alderman Johnny Kenney, who has been foreman of the old beef house has been placed in charge of the new establishment and will have 500 men nnder him. The house has a capacity of killing 2,000 head of cattle per diem, but for the present ahont 1,500 will be killed. It is fitted np with the latest appliances, and is a model house in every respect. This house was built to kill cattle for the export trade, into which line of business the house is now embarking—Chicago Drover's Journal.

Dairying in Sweden.

While in Sweden last year (writes Mr. F. K. Moreland to the American Agricnltnriet) I had occasion to pay some attention to the most recent practice and methode in the dairying of that conntry. There are two points in which the people of Sweden are not behind the foremost nations of the world, and these are inventione and dairying. The people of Sweden seem to have a natural talent for making inventions, and some of the most important of those, applied to dairy science, have come to ns from almost within the Arctic Circle. Theee comprise the entire range of utensils and machinery used in the different branches of dairying, and of late years leading dairy teachers have carried their studies still farther. It is the objective point with the Swedish dairymen, as with the American, to increase his income. Whether this increase comes from a higher price received in the market or from a cheaper manufacture, from a larger dairy product or a more profitable use of the refuse of the dairy, it is eqnally welcome.

A Swedish dairy instrnctor, Mr. Rhenstrom, has successfully dealt with the qnestion of profitably dieposing of all refuse material. In fact, under hie method there ceases to he snch a thing as refuse in the dairy. Whey to be run into the gutter, or skim-milk to be fed at little profit to calves or pigs, are, in Sweden, things of the past. In the most modern method of Swedish dairying, skim-milk, sweet and sonr, and whey become valuable raw material, which, properly handled, adds much to the income of the dairymen. The procese ie as follows: Skim-milk is handled as in the manufacture of "ekim-cheese," except more rennet is used and the precipitation is made at a higher temperature in order to be more complete. This product is pressed, dried and ground, and in this form, containing as it does a very large percentage of protein, ie nsed with milk-stuff in making componnd feeding-cakes for horses, cattle, doge, etc. The whey remaining after the cnrds have been removed, as above described, or in usual cheesemaking, is mixed with an equal quantity of ekim-milk and evaporated. When the evaporation is complete the product is dried in cakes, cut in small oubes, roasted and ground, ready for use.

It is hardly the province of a laymen to give the chemical values or elements of the products of the two processes described. It is more eatisfactory to etate that the product of skim-milk finds a more legitimate and profitable use than if the milk were fed to ewine and calves, or turned into "skim-cheese," and offered on a market where there is not nor never will be a demand for it. The process of evaporation makes useful absolutely all the solide of the ekim-milk and whey. There ie notbing wasted, while the point may be nrged that the digeetive functions of pigs and calvee ntilize all the nonrishment of skim-milk and whey in ite natural form, yet the fact remains that the several products of the processes described are available for more profitable uses. The skim-milk product may be etored up on the farm in the form of feeding-cakes for future nse, or shipped at slight expense to any available market.

The product of the evaporation process has a dozen profi table uses. Mixed with coffee or cocoa, it is used with satisfaction by the best Swedieh families. It is also used as a body for soups and sances. The manufactnrers of these goods in Sweden pays for the dry pressed curde and the evaporated product a price eqnivalent to about eix cents per gallon for skim milk. When it ie nnderstood that as a food for calves and pigs it can hardly be worth more than two cents per gallon, and that the cost of producing the preesed curde or evaporated cakes is at most but trifling, the importance of this innovation will readily be nnderstood. It is quite probable that this new method of disposing of ekim-milk will soon become an important factor in American dairy economy.

English Breeds of Sheep.

W. F M. V. asks the Rural New Yorker:—"Would a pure bred Hampshire Down ram make a good cross on pure bred South Down ewes? What is the difference between the Hampshire, Oxford, and Shropshire sheep? Which is the largest of the three? Would the Lincoln sheep be a good breed to raise for wool and mutton? Are sheep of this breed the largest?"

The Hampshire is a larger sheep than the South Down and the cross contemplated would increase the size of the cross bred sheep. As a rnle, cross breeds, the progeny of two different pure breeds, gain in size over either of the parents—(eee figures below). The difference between the breeds mentioned coneists in several points; they are all cross breeds and English in their origin, and all have South Down blood in them. The Hampshire originated 80 or 90 years ago, in a croee between a large white faced horned sheep of the county of Hampehire and the pure South Down. By selection and some crossing with the Cotswold this breed has been brought np to a large size and made to prodnce a valulong wooled fleece. The Oxfordshire sheep is a cross between the Hampshire and the Cotewold made eixty years ago. It ie a large sheep and has a fleece finer than the Cotewolds, and coarser than the Hampshires. Its fleece is not so black as that of the Hampshiree. The Shropshire is of rather mixed progeny. It came from a cross of the Cotswold on the Morfe-Common sheep, a black-faced, horned kind, small, but very hardy. This croes was further mixed with Leicester blood and finally with South Down. The breed is ahont 100 years old. It is smaller than the other two, but larger than the South Down, and has a longer, somewhat coareer fleece, but of the eame class of wool—"medium clothing." The relative eizes may he seen by comparing the following weights of the prize fat wethers and lambs under a year old at the English showe of tbe paet fall months. The common average weights of the sheep mentioned are ahout two-thirds of those of the fat wethers given below:

Breeds	Sheep	Lambs
Leicester	254	165
Cotswold	277	174
Lincolne	321	191
South Downs	217	163
Hampshire	269	198
Shropshire	241	148
Oxfordehire	293	183
Cross-breeds	288	213

The Lincoln is the largest of all sheep and its fleece is the longest. Fat wethers of this breed have reached a weight of over 400 pounds and the wool a length of 16 inches. The Hampshire, as the weight of the lambs will show, is remarkable for its rapid early growth and the size of the lambs. For the production of early lambs its quick growth and black face give it an advantage over all other breeds. The Lincoln breed has been imported to a small extent, hnt it has proved quite uneuitable to the American climate and conditions of feeding. It is rapidly retrograding in England and giving way to the Oxforde and Shropshires. If not loaded with fat it is nothing but "a bag of bones," and the taste for excessively fat mutton is disappearing even in England; conseqnently this breed would not be a good one for any American farmer for any purpose. The Shropshire is hardy, yields the best mntton and a very good fleece of excellent wool, rears its lambs well and is not particular abont the climate or locality. In theee respects its surpasses all the others named except the South Down, and it surpasses this in its size and the weight of its fleece.

White Rose-Combed Bantams.

It has been said on no less authority than that of Darwin, that white fowls are more delicate than their dark-hned brethren, but the experience of later years has shown that some of onr hardier hreeds are white, notably the White Leghorn. There can be no question as to the beauty of the white fowl. In this conntry, where we have so much pasture land, and where the well kept lawn and park is to be fonnd everywhere, their green makes a splendid background for the white plumage of fowle. Hence while white fowls will never become ae popnlar as dark, probably there is no country where so many are kept.

The Bantam family embraces many lovely varieties, and the two known as the Rose-combed are perhaps about the most perfect in shape and contour Their sprightly carriage, neat heads, and flowing tails are so well balanced that the eye has perfection before it in a good specimen. The black variety has already been dealt with, and now we turn to the white, which in most respects is an exact fac simile, the difference being chiefly in the plumage. Instead of being a metallic black, ehowing very dark green reflections, the variety under review is of a satiny white, pure and clear, hut with that sheen which satin bears. The head is small, and enrmounted with a neat rose comb, upon which much stress is laid, for a badly ehaped comb will spoil the appearance of any bird however perfect it may he in other respects. Upon the top the comb should be covered with what are known as points, and the more even these are in height and shape the better. Behind, the comb rnne to a point, known as a spike, and it shonld he of a bright red and well fitted on to the head. The wattles are emall, and with the face ehould aleo he of a hright red, the beak being white. In this country the ear lohe is white also, but it would be better if red as in the American Standard, for the red lobe on the white plnmage must be very striking and pleasing. White in the face shonld not he tolerated under any circumstances, and white ear lobes alwaye have a tendency in that direction. The legs and feet are white, and the entire appearance of the bird is sprightly and active. Of conrse eize is an important consideration, and some of the best hirde bred in thie country have not weighed more than 12 or 13 oz. In these miniature specimens every point is bronght out at its beet, for in Bantame it is undoubtedly true that "good stuff goes into little bundles," whereae those larger are very apt to get coarse. We must not omit to mention that the wings shonld drop somewhat, not enough to touch the ground, but below the line of the body, and the tail mnet be very full and the sicklee lsrge.

The following ie the standard of perfection adopted by the Englieh Poultry Club:

Cock—Comb rose, hroad in front and tapering into a long spike at the back, pointing elightly upwards, full of separations, flat on top and firmly set on head; head short, lively and smart; beak short and small; eye full; face smooth; ear lobe flat and nearly circular; wattles thin and well rounded; neck moderately long and arched, hackle very long and full, coming well over the shonldere; breast full and round; hack moderate in length, looking ehort owing to length of hsckle; winge large, neatly tucked up; tail carried npright. bnt not squirrel fashion; sickles and coverts broad, plentiful and sweeping; thighs slender, short and neat; legs, small boned, taper and medinm length; toes elender and well spread; general shape and carriage lively, graceful and strutting.

Hen—Comb as in cock, hnt not too large; head, beak, face, eye, wattles, hreast, back, wings and thighe ae in cock; ear lobe emooth and round, not wrinkled, fitting cloee to face; tail ample and hroad in feather, carried at a medium heigh'; legs short and taper.

Color—Cock and hen—Comb, face and wattles rich bright red; ear lobe pure white; eye bright red; heak white; plumage pure white; legs white. Stephen Beale

Notes.

In the firet four months of this year, the United Kingdom imported 124,976 heef cattle, of which 100,010 came from the United States, against 64,743 from this country in the same part of 1889 and 42,585 in 1888.

Australian live stock returns: Horses, numbers returned on January 1 1890, 430,777; on January 1 1899, 411,368; increase, 19,409. Cattle, 1890, 1,741 592; 1889, 1,622,907; increase, 18 685. Sheep, 1890, 50,106,768; 1889, 46,503,499; increase, 3,603,299.

President Thayer, of the Union Stock Yards and Transit company of Chicago, says that the sale of the business to the City of London Contract oompany, is practically assured; negotiations have beon in progress since last Februnary.

During the first five months of 1890 Chicago received over 5,190,000 head of all kinds of live stock, divided as follows; Cattle, 1,321,521; calves, 38,492; hogs, 2,911,296; sheep, 875,003; horsee, 46,100 Compared with receipts for the correeponding period last year these figuree exhibit an increase of 217,000 cattle, 584,000 hogs, and 201,000 sheep.

The present Stock Yards bank at Kaneas City will go into liquidation on July 1. A new bank, with a capital stock of $1,000,000, will occupy the field, to be known ae the Inter-State National bank. The capital is to be loaned in the interest of the live stock trade of Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska. The mansgement will have a special care to foster and build up the live stock interests of these states.

The bonds between the Texas Dressed Beef and Packing company and the Metropolitan Trading association of London, were signed and deposited today. This closes one of the largeet and most important contracte ever executed in Texas. To a representative of the Texas afternoon press, Charles Goodnight said: "Suppose the big four do come in here and buy up all the cattle and advance prices so as to defeat the carrying ont of this contract, we will then have accomplished more than we hoped to do by the fulfillment of the contract. To advance the cattle market to a point where the contract would not be profitable wonld mean $25,000,000 in the pockets of the stock raisers of Texas. That is juet what we want, and it will enable us to divide handsomely with our English iriends, who helped make a market for Texas meat."

TURF AND TRACK.

Mr. Hamlin is said to have made a very tempting offer to match Belle Hamlin against Sunol.

Cy Mulkey has purchased Tim Murphy, a roan gelding by Kyrle Daly, bam Maggie R., for $1500.

Rover was sold by L. J. Rose to W. Daly, and almost immediately turned up in winning form.

Col. North, the Nitrate King, is reported to have won upwards of £150,000 at the late Epsom meeting.

Kirkham, the Australian candidate for classic honors in England, finished absolutely last in the Derby.

Beaconsfield and Jim Douglass have both been retired and will be used for stud duties next season in Colorado.

D. A. Honig has purchased from Theodore Winters the chestnut colt Rascal, foaled 1887, Joe Hooker out of Mattie Glenn.

Reference 2:18 has been purchased by Matthew Riley, New York, and has gone to his new home instead of joining Doble's string.

H. C. Airhart, Secretary of the Coronado Beach Race Track Association, proposes to hold particularly interesting races next Friday.

When Father Bill Daly makes up his mind to buy a winner in a selling race the owner will have a hard time of it, especially if Father Bill owns the second horse.

The New York Sportsman of the 14th had on its outer cover a horseshoe encircling Tenny, Salvator, Raceland and Longstreet. There have been worse tips than that.

Guido has proved a very handy horse since Col. H. I. Thornton sold him as a yearling for $95 After winning three races at Portland, W. H. Babb is said to have refused $3500 for him.

The favorite stallion for getting horses, suitable for the army in India, is the Norfolk trotter. The Horse Breeding Department is strongly in favor of them, and all-round they are in great favor.

The weather at Westchester was all through the meeting exasperatingly hot, and the crowds at times so large that many would-be bettors did not care to face the crowd in front of the betting stands.

"How much will the yearling, if there ever is one, by Salvator out of the peerless Firenze bring?" asked a prominent turfman last Wednesday afternoon. $50,000 was the answer of our sporting editor.

To see George Barrett in breeches and gaiters, riding a bicycle through Newmarket, looking as scared as a stray cat in a strange garret, is one of the sights of the Turf Metropolis, says a London (Eng.) exchange.

Salvator should, according to the late Admiral Rous who is even yet the authority on racing, at least seven pounds better than Tenny, for there is no doubt at all it is a great disadvantage to make your own running.

Secretary Wheatly informs me that the horse Ballston, who was ruled off in 1889, has been reinstated to all the privileges of the turf by the action of the majority of the Board of Stewards of the Saratoga Association.

Guido won $910 for his owner at the Portland meeting. J. Dowd's Sunday won $520; T. H. Tongue's trotters pulled down $800, and the rest of the $5600 was split up in small sums of which the veteran Dan Dennison only obtained $110.

Greenville (Plumas Co.) Park Association have leased for fifteen years a large tract of land on which they will at once build a race track, and buildings necessary to make it the most elegant and complete in the North East of California.

Ed. McGinnis on Wednesday, and Al Farrow on Tuesday did not add much to the renown of California. Ed. (by Grinstead) was beaten by Bonita, (a cast off of E. J. Baldwin's) by Grinstead out of Maggie Emerson dam of Lucky B., one and one half miles.

The English Derby day was the wettest and dreariest since Mascaroni won in 1863. Nevertheless it was patronized by the Prince and Princess of Wales, their two married daughters, the Dukes of Cambridge and Clarence and Prince Christian, with Lords innumerable.

Uncle Bob will no doubt be the happiest man in America, as his namesake by his favorite Luke Blackburn readily accounted for the Chicago Derby last Saturday on a worse track than even when Volante won with that good mud horse Favor second, the rest nowhere.

Secretary Kock has made a great success at Westchester, and is now admitted to be the peer of any of the racing secretaries. It is strange that a man with no previous experience should within a year gain such a reputation, and must have been the result of many a day's hard work.

The supreme test of a brood mare is that when bred to any horse, she produces natural trotters, which in turn beget trottera. If in addition to this she happens to be deeply bred in potent and fashionable trotting lines, then indeed is she a pearl of great price, and her value is beyond computation.

Matt Allen, Senator Hearst's trainer, says that he is playing in the toughest kind of luck. His horses appear fit to run for a man's life, but something always happens to cause their defeat. Then his imported Japanese cock was defeated in a battle for $1,000 the other night, and altogether Matt is in doubt as to whether this world is worth living in or not.

W. L. Scott's Bolero by imported Rayon D'Or out of All Hands Around by War Dance, when in receipt of thirteen pounds from Russell, easily beat him in the Zephyr Stakes, six furlongs, last Tuesday. Vagabond, Bolero's stable companion, finished second three lengths back, and two in front of Russell, who was evidently overrated a few weeks ago.

A great brood mare is a mare that produces a 2:30 trotter; a greater one is one that produces two or more trotters; still a greater one is a mare that produces one or more 2:20 trotters; but greater than all these is the mare that universally produces to the embrace of any kind of horse, colts endowed with extreme speed, which, when put in the stud or harness themselves, produce first class trottera with uniformity.

Official statistics as to Russian studs show that in Lula, where horse breeding is chiefly carried on by the Government, there are altogether 103 studs. In fifty-five studs trotters are bred: in twenty-four, draught horses and coachers; and in the other twenty-four, only riding horses. The first category of studs possesses 182 stallions and 926 mares, the second category sixty-seven stallions and 375 mares, and the third class of studs 21 stallions and 158 mares. The total number of horses in all the studs is 336,850.

The one mile rule for races for three-year-olds and upward has been thoroughly tested at Latonia, and has given the amplest satisfaction. It was a failure at Lexington because of the scarcity of horses, and was by no means an entire success at Louisville, for the fields there were meagre in quite a number of races. At St. Louis they have been ample, numerous, as a rule, and a trifle unwieldly at times, but the contests they afforded have been so much more satisfactory than the short scrambles the public had been used to that there is no comparison between them.

Albert Cooper, the veteran colored trainer, had a slight argument on Suburban day with one of the Hough brothers and threw up the stable. Albert had done very well this year with the black three year old Burlington, Come-to-Taw and Drizzle. The probability is the Houghs will not do as well with their stable under different hands for the rest of the season. Cooper will have a public stable and should have lots of patronage, as at one time or another he has handled a host of cracks for J. B. Haggin, Santa Anita, Theodore Winters and other prominent turfmen.

The well known thoroughbred mare Huntress died on the 13th, from injuries received in the railroad accident. She was carefully nursed to the last, and when George Hankins was notified of her death he instantly telegraphed back, "See a physician and have Huntress' body embalmed; do this at any cost."

Huntress was by Springbok—Edith, and was the greatest handicap mare in the West. As a three-year-old she won both the St. Louis Fair Oaks and Charles Green Stakes. She won all three of the Kentucky Jackpot Stakes at Lexington; Louisville and Latonia this spring.

"Tunbridge Wells is justly famous," says a Kentish paper, "for the piety and propriety of its inhabitants, who comprise more than the average number of maiden ladies. The most respectable virtues, however, may be overdone, says the 'Pink Un' which is edited by the versatile J. Corlett. The owner of a well known stud horse (Evolution) in the neighborhood of Tunbridge Wells has been accustomed to send the horse weekly to the market in charge of a groom. The other day, however, the groom was stopped and sent back by the police on the ground that an animal of that character could not be allowed to show itself in the town. I presume that an edict will shortly be issued requiring all horses in Tunbridge Wells to be put into trousers."

English trotting has produced this scheme of handicap. In the Novelty Stake, at the Alexandra Park Trotting Club, for horses and ponies, the entries start from marks arranged according to the following scale, calculations being made from January 1, 1888:

15 hands or over	Scratch.
14 hands 2 inches and under 15 hands	25 yards start.
14 hands 0 inches and under 14 hands 2 inches	50 yards start.
13 hands 2 inches and under 14 hands 0 inches	75 yards start.
13 hands 0 inches and under 13 hands 2 inches	100 yards start.
12 hands 2 inches and under 13 hands 0 inches	125 yards start.
12 hands 0 inches and under 12 hands 2 inches	150 yards start.
Under 12 hands 0 inches	175 yards start.

In silent, patient, unresisting endurance of suffering from which he has not been allowed to fly, the horse has few equals, says the Sporting World. He plods patiently on from day to day suffering from heat, cold, starvation and thirst, until his bones start through his skin, and his wasted muscles can no longer raise him from the ground. He carries his rider without a groan or a pause with flanks heaving for life until he drops dead. No person can be prepared to deal properly with the horse who starts with the too common impression that he has to deal with a cunning, courageous obstinate animal. He has usually to deal with an animal simple as a baby, nervous as a lady, and timid as a partridge.

To Mr. Bybee or any other horseman—Dear Sir: If any of your friends have any doubt that everything is not all right in regard to our race meeting to be held at Tacoma, commencing July 1, you will do me a great favor by telling them that on account of the short time I had to get the track in condition I could not come over to the meeting at Portland and explain. Now, if you consider my word equal to the occasion, and that I am responsible, tell any horseman there will be $6,000 to race for put up by C. P. Chamberlin, as that amount has been agreed upon by the owners, and I will give security that the same will be forthcoming.

ORGEONIAN. C. P. CHAMBERLIN, Portland.

The third annual Rancho Del Paso sale was highly successful; 95 head were sold for $135,850, an average of $1,219. Last year 95 head were sold for $113,750, while in 1888, 64 head were sold for $112,795. The principal difference is in the Maud Hampton colt, which this year sold for $7,000 as against $22,000 last year, and $38,000 in 1888. Marcus Daly was the largest purchaser, buying twelve head for $31,500; Pierre Lorillard bought nine for $16,300, while L. J. Rose gave $11,375 for nine head. Of the stallions Sir Modred had much the best average, 24 (15 colts and 9 fillies), youngsters averaging $1919. Darebin's eight colts and seven fillies averaged $1533; Tyrant' four averaged $838; Warwick's nine, $761; Kyrle Daly's eight, $753; Joe Daniels, eight, $703; Tyrant, four, $838; Hyder Ali, eleven, $568; John Happy, eight, $563; Longfield, two, $600; Taliman two, $555; Milner, one, $450.

There is no doubt in my mind that the character of the colt is largly determined by the condition of the parents at the time of conception, an exchange says. If the sire's vigor be sapped by too much stud service, you can hardly expect the colt to be uniform with one begotten in a state of full vigor. I suppose the reader means, as a breeder, to aim at great results rather than numbers. To that end it is certainly enough to let a horse serve once a day; and, indeed, I would prefer that he is used only on alternate days if practicable. Certainly one good colt is worth ten ordinary ones, and if it be true, as I verily believe, that moderation in the use of stallions will result in better progency, then it is poor economy to yield to the temptation to overdo it. With all the care that can be exercised you will get enough common ones, but no one will doubt the sapped condition that over service produces must prove detrimental to a stallion's success as a sire.

Joe Courtney has left Mr. Winter's employ. Raecal has been sold, El Rio Rey turned out, and the rest of the stable turned over to John Davis, who at one time trained for Clifton Bell, winning for him, among other races, the Omnibus of 1882 with Harry Gilmore. Little Ruffin and John Davis were among the other more than useful horses trained by Davis for different owners during his long career as a trainer. Davis should soon win a race with the Winters' stable, which so far has been unable to catch the judge's eye first.

The love of sport is early planted in the mind of an English school boy, as the following story shows:

"A clergyman, whose vigorous denunciation of all kinds of racing and betting is well known, called at a school whose teacher he knew, and asked the young scholars several questions in Biblical history. Among other items he inquired: 'Who was Ishmael?' and was rejoiced to see the alacrity with which a bright faced boy held up his hands indicative that he was brimful of the required information. 'Well, my boy, who was he,' inquired the reverend gentleman. 'A jockey,' replied the youth. The clergyman was much shocked at the 'sporting' character of the answer, but had sufficient presence of mind to ask the reason for such a supposition. The urchin promptly replied that according to the verse 'Ishmael grew and became an Archer.' The examination in Biblical history was at once brought to a close."

Speaking of exercise for stallions, a well known English racing authority says: Although it will always remain matter for doubt in some minds whether Bend Or is Bend Or by Doncaster, out of Ronge Rose, or Tadcaster by Doncaster, out of Clemence, certain it is that Bend Or, as he stands at Eaton, is one of the loveliest specimens of horse flesh that the eye ever looked upon. His career at the stud without being unique, as in the case of St. Simon, has nevertheless been successful enough to be worthy of his great celebrity as a race horse, and most remarkable has it been how very few of the mares that have been sent to him subsequently proved barren, only two such being recorded in his last season. It is well within the bounds of possibility that this excellent record is in the main due to the fact that Bend Or does a hundred and twenty miles of walking exercise every week of his life, averaging twenty miles in each of the six working days, while the seventh is observed as a day of rest.

Messrs. Judson, Latta and the Old brothers have, says the Escondido Times organized the San Pasqua Horse Breeders' Association, for the purpose of improving the stock of horses in this part of the county. The fine imported pure bred Cleveland bay stallion, Goldfinder, purchased by them last month is the first move. In establishing a breed of fine horses, John Judson and B. B. Rockwood have had up to the present time some fine horses, and experience has proven to them that in no part of the State can be found better conditions, in way of climate, soil and feed, for the successful raising of fine horses, than are to be had in the San Pasqual, Valley Center, Escondido and the country—tributaryto this section. Hence at great expense they have organized the present company for the purpose of handling pure bred imported stock, crossed with our native horses. In a few years this section will become noted as producing as fine horses as are raised in any part of the State. It is one of the best signs of the new era of prosperity in this part of the State to find our farmers investing in this class of property.

The annual meeting of the Directors of Agricultural District No. 25, composed of the counties of Napa and Solano, was held in Napa Thursday of last week, the following Directors being present: L. L. James, Nathan Coombs, John Even, Napa: F. W. Loeber, St. Helena; L. G. Harrier, Vallejo; J. Hoyt, Benicia; E. Leake, Dixon. A. T. Hatch, of Suisun, was unavoidably absent.

Napa was again selected as the place for holding the next Fair, and the date was fixed for August 18th to 23rd, inclusive, making Napa second in the Grand circuit, San Jose preceding, Petaluma following, and Oakland succeeding Petaluma.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, L. L. James; Vice President, F. W. Loeber; Treasurer, John Even; Mr. McCullom, Treasurer of the Napa Co. Association, will however, perform the duties, Mr. Even turning over the business to him; Secretary, A. H. Conkling.

The following Committee on Premiums was appointed; Messrs Loeber, Coombs, Even, Harrier, Leake.

The local Association was empowered to receive and expend the State appropriations, and to take entire charge of the Fair.

A well known Eastern gentleman (at present stationed at Mare Island), endowed with sporting proclivities, slightly inclining to fox hunting, but still with a great love for the trotter, writes me in regard to the birthplace of the well known trotter Pilot Knox.

Down on the coast of Maine, in Knox County, there is a rugged little peninsula dear to the sportsman's heart, known as Bristol Point. This tongue of rocks, birdns and alders affords capital woodcock and ruffed grouse shooting, and when the bird season closes, no better ground for chasing sly reynard can be found. It was for this last sport that I found myself on the point during the frosty mornings of November a few years ago.

While returning one afternoon from a very exciting chase, in which a grand old red fox of sixteen pounds had been deprived of his brush, a young farmer who had joined in the chase, and was returning to the rendezvous with me, called my attention to an exceedingly dilspidated little barn, and marked that it was "in ther" that Pilot Knox first saw the light.

Of course, my curiosity was at once aroused, and a few questions elicited the following facts: Mr. Orville Clark, who owned the rocky little farm, tumble down barn, etc, had been the possessor of a very good road mare of local raising by Col. Elsworth 1769, dam unknown, and as she managed to pass all turnouts on the road, he was emboldened to breed her to a local stallion, Black Pilot 1797, who at that time had no particular reputation otherwise than being considered a strong, clean legged, strong backed horse, with every indication of "getting useful if not speedy" colts. The colt Pilot Knox came in due time, but showed no great form, and Mr. Clark being rather disappointed, sold him for a fair price for what he had shown. In new hands the colt soon developed speed, and promised so well that he was sold to some expert horseman, and eventually proved himself one of the greatest stallions in the country. When Mr. Clark heard how well the colt had shown up, he bred the mare again to the same stallion, and the next colt, Silver Knox, was eagerly sought for and brought a much better price than the first. Silver Knox, however, proved a disappointment, for though a good trotter in Maine, he did not develop speed enough to win any money out of the State, and Mr. Clark, in a fit of disgust, sold the mare, whose subsequent history was unknown to my informant.

Ells B. obtained a record of 2:26¼ st Patterson. She is by Guy Wilkes 2:15¼.

Miss Ford, once Santa Anits's crack marc , has fosled a grand looking youngster by ——.

J. H. Goldsmith expects to make a big bid for the Free-for-all at Detroit with Jene Smith 2:15½.

L. A. Davies, the owner of Roy Wilkes, says that the foal by Roy out of Jenny Lind 2:17 has reverted to pacing.

Highland May 2:26 by Pocahontas Boy has been sent from Canada to Terra Hauts to be bred to Roy Wilkes 2:12¾.

Mr. Long, the new owner of the king of pacers—Johnston, says after this season he will be retired to private life.

Racine, with 107 lbs, fairly romped home from Cecil B and a large field, running the mile in 1:41—never headed. Narvice rode him.

Great things are expected from Faustino, the two-year-old son of Sydney. The colt is showing up remarkably well in Dickerson's hands.

Yet another stable has been burned out. J. C. Rodemer, Gallatin, Tenn., last week lost nine horses valued at $4,500, and a large stable through fire.

"Considering what a demand there is for beauty in horse flesh." says a late writer, "it seems strange that more breeders do no try harder to produce it."

The Elmwood Stable has a large string of horses in training at San Jose, amongst them being the ex-Palo Alto horse. imported Brutus, who is confidently expected to earn his oats this fall.

Theodore Winters had some astounding offers from admiring Kentuckians who wished to breed to El Rio Rey. It is said they did not receive a very favorable answer to their liberal proposition.

Porter Asbe's speedy mare Geraldine showed her heels to the field in a scramble (Futurity course) at Coney Island last Wednesday. Ridden by Taylor she fairly smothered her opponents in 1:10.

The commissioners of German trotting societies have decided to found a central trotting stud from the receipts of trotting races. The Emperor will be asked to appoint a State Commissioner to co-operate with the trotting societies in producing good horseflesh.

The Emperor of Norfolk with two stable companions are now in Chicago. Mr. Baldwin says the big horse never was better. Ensenado, who was left at Albuquerque when the first contingent went East has since died. He was a two-year-old colt by Rutherford out of Aritta.

On July 15th, the Dowager Duchess of Montrose, will send a number of brood mares, yearlings, etc., to Newmarket to be sold by Messrs. Tattersall during the second July meeting. There will be a chance to obtain some regally bred mares if any enterprising Americans wish.

The Missoula Gazette says that Joe Nelson and Barney Mowry came down Tuesday morning of last week from the Marcus Daly's ranch with a carload of fine horses. They consisted of eight two-year-old thoroughbred runners, and the celebrated St. Patrick 2:19½. Mr. Nelson went East with the running horses the same day, and Mr. Lowry left the next evening with St. Patrick for California.

Although the horses Alcryon and Nelson, with their owners and the driver of the former, stand suspended by a resolution passed by the Congress of the National Trotting Association, the members of the Grand Circuit have determined not to be caught napping by any legal trick; they have therefore, by resolution, barred both horses, owners and driver from participating on any of their tracks during the season of 1890.

The board of stewards of the Grand Trotting Circuit met at Rochester, N. Y., and arranged schedules for the coming season. Pittsburg, Cleveland, Buffalo, Rochester, Poughkeepsie, Hartford, Springfield, Albany, New York and Philadelphia will comprise the circuit which will open at Pittsburg July 22nd. F. L. Noble, George Robins and C. H. Nelson, were barred from participation on any circuit track.

The Haggin stable followed up their grand victory of Wednesday, by winning the Coney Island Cup on Thursday with that grand old mare Firenze, who, like her stable companion Salvator, was in record beating form. Carrying 117 lbs., she ran the mile and a-half in 2:33. The previous record of 2:34 had stood since 1880, but had twice been equalled: in 1886 by Jim Guest (Supervisor), and in 1888 by Firenze, who was then four years old.

A New York morning paper says: It is amusing to note the warpt adoration of Pierre Lorillard for his love, the turf. Once in a while the master of Rancocas writes a letter to the newspapers protesting that he does not bet more than $500 on a race, and doubtless that is true, but it should be remembered that Mr. Lorillard plays what are technically known as "short horses." A "short horse" always has a long price. Mr. Lorillard is nothing if not enthusiastic, and it is due to his unquenchable enthusiasm that he attained his former great figure in the racing world. A sudden fondness for yachting, and later on a complete absorption in Tuxedo caused him some years ago to lose his faith in mankind in general and racing in particular. He left the turf with as much precipitancy as he had gone on it, but it was impossible for him to keep entirely away from his old love. He is the popular idol of a racing man—big, breezy, handsome, well dressed, friendly and strictly reliable. His stable has always been run on principles of absolute integrity. This year Mr. Lorillard has been on the track morning, noon and night. He talks horse until midnight, and is the first man around the following morning. A good many men have tried to get away from the fascination of racing, but the majority of them do not make any more of a success than that which has distinguished Mr. Lorillard's recent effort. The public is to be congratulated upon the return of an old-timer in this instance.

Mr. A. C. Dietz has already sent Ringwood to J. A. Dustin to be campaigned through the circuit. Longsworth 2:19, who has made a highly successful stud season in Ventura County, will be sent up to Dustin next week. Both are confidently expected to get very low marks before next year.

Senator Stanford has purchased from R. S. Strader, Lexington, Ky., Miss Rowett, brown mare, foaled '87 by Hyder Ali; first dam Ella G. by Colossus, second dam Estella (grand dam of Alcantara, 2'23; Alcyone, 2:27; Arbiter, 2:30) by imp Australian, third dam Fanny G. (Endorser's dam and great grandam of Palo Alto, 2:12¼, Gertrude Russell 2:23½, and Big Jim, 2:23) by Imp Margrave, fourth dam Lancess by Lance by American Eclipse. Hyder Ali's dam, Lady Duke by Lexington, is also the dam of Rysdyk, sire of Clingstone, record 2:14.

Also a bay filly, foaled '88 by Duke of Montrose; first dam Kitty Clover by Aristides, second dam Mary Taylor by imp Sovereign, third dam by Grey Eagle, fourth dam by imp Nonplus, Duke of Montrose by Waverly, dam by imp Bonnie Scotland, sire of Scotland, 2.22½.

The less important betting agencies have yielded to M. Constans' ordinance, which was published in the Journal Officiel to-day, but has not yet been served on those whom it concerns The London Daily News of June 4 says: According to the decree, bets can only be made on race courses, and for sums over 5f. There are 3 000 agencies in Paris, most of which are held at public houses, where drinking and gambling go hand in hand. The great agencies, however, which have offices of their own, intend to fight the Government before the Council of State. They will be represented by Maitre Demange, a Bonapartist advocate. Last night they elected a syndicate of defense. It appears that there is an arrete of the Court of Appeal of Rouen declaring betting agencies of the "Pari Mutuel" class to be legal. Fifteen agencies and sporting offices took part in the election of the syndicate. Some advise defiance, others propose simply to continue business in a disguised form as commission merchants, taking 5 per cent. on the bets. A movement is being started to transfer the business of the betting agencies to the race-course companies. The pretext is that the business would in this way be utterly disassociated from drink. But it is probable the public houses would spring up around the new agencies, perhaps , belonging to the racing companies. Racing and tippling in absinthe, beer, and other drinks which are now sold at bars, are brutalizing the male part of the trading classes, and the working population of Paris. I met a Frenchman to-day who has been thirty years in South America. He was at Chantilly last Sunday, and was horrified at the drinking and rowdyism which he witnessed there. In his time, people used to take coffee and eau sucree flavored with orange flower water, and never thought of a "nip" unless immediately before dinner. Civilians seldom took absinthe, which was introduced by officers who had served in Algiers.

Secretary Kock of the New York Jockey Club announces the following as the gross winnings of the stables that have raced during the Morris Park meeting. The money was distributed among sixty-seven different owners, Byron McClelland's victory in the Eclipse Stakes lifting him from a position among the small winners up to the second place, next to the owners of the race course. Quite a good story is told of how Isaac Murphy frightened millionaire Baldwin once so as to cause him to swallow a chew of tobacco. It was two years ago, and Murphy had the mount on Baldwin's horse Volante at Saratoga; just before the start he called Murphy into the grand stand and said, "Now Murphy, I don't want any monkeying about this race, none of your sensational finishes. You just cut the old horse loose, and send him from the fall of the flag to the finish. I've got a lot of money on this race, and don't want to be worried about the result." Murphy showed his white teeth in a smile of acquiescence, and then in a low tone impressed the ladies in Baldwin's party that he would make the old man faint away. When the flag fell, Murphy pulled Volante back to fourth place, and held him steady 'round the turn; going up the back stretch the leaders flew, with Murphy trailing along quietly as though out for a pleasure ride. Baldwin began to kick, and bit off a big chunk of tobacco and began to chew at a tremendous rate. As the horse rounded the lower turn and entered the stretch, Murphy began moving up inch by inch; it seemed an impossibility for him to reach the leaders, but he did, and one by one they surrendered, until when within a hundred feet of the wire Volante had disposed of all but one. Then with a magnificent exhibition of horsemanship, Murphy fairly lifted his mount up to even terms, and in the last bound landed Volante a winner by a nose. Before the jockeys dismounted, Baldwin turned to a member of the party and said: "George, I wish you would get these tickets on Volante cashed and bring the money to me at the hotel. I'm going home right away. I don't feel well; some fellow swallowed a chew of tobacco which I had in my mouth, when that black devil made that close finish."

The above story has been published in all—or almost all the Eastern papers, and as no credit is given is given one cannot tell who was the expert who manufactured it. The tale itself is very amusing and does credit to the original writer; unfortunately the most amusing portion of the production is hardly justifiable, for Mr. Baldwin does not chew.

The slander action which was some time ago instituted in Australia, in connection with statements made re Moorbank's running in the Caulfield Cup appears to be coming to a head at last. The Melbourne Sportsman says: The case came before Mr Justice Webb in the Supreme Court, on Friday last, in a preliminary form. The action is brought by Mr. Patrick Kelly against Mr. James B. Gill for the recovery of £5000 for slander, the alleged slander consisting of statements that the plaintiff had "stuffed" and "stiffened" Moorbank for the last Caulfield Cup. The defendant pleads that the words were true, and, furthermore, that they were spoken on a privileged occasion and without malice. Particulars of the defence were asked for, and the defendant then stated that what he had said was true, and that the words were spoken of by him as a member of the Victoria Amateur Turf Club and the Victoria Club, and a person pecuniarily interested in the running of Moorbank in the Caulfield Cup, in the course of an inquiry into the suspicious running of the horse, and for the purpose of carrying out the object of the club in regulating and managing horse racing in Victoria, and to persons interested as owners of horses and employers of the plaintiff in the conduct of the plaintiff as a horse trainer. Mr. Fink applied on Friday for further particulars. Mr. Duffy said that to give further particulars would be in reality furnishing the plaintiff with the evidence in support of the defence. His Honor agreed with this view, and refused the application.

During the past few days I have been, says a member of the Pink Un Staff, an interested listener to a good deal of information concerning the mode and manner of racing in Buenos Ayres, given by a gentleman well qualified to form an opinion, seeing that he gave it a practical trial of six months' duration, and "but for other ties at home would be very glad to have another turn over there." The now familiar tales of foul riding and general thieving amongst the contemporary jockeys over there was confirmed, as also to some extent the poor welcome given to English aspirants to fame and fortune. Extraordinary tales were told and instances cited of gigantic sums being given for horseflesh, young or old, merely through pique or jealousy among the would-be buyers, and this was remarkably so in regard to a yearling sale, when some thirty youngsters were disposed of on an average of a little over or under a "thousand." The demand for European blood was at its height last year, when as much as £24,000 was actually offered for Stuart, and half that sum was similarly rejected in the case of Amphion; and I believe I am right in adding that neither the one nor the other has since won a race.

It is, I believe, the rule, rather than exception—with a view, of course, of advertisement—to give free leaps in Buenos Ayres in a horse's first season, and this will account for the assertion that when Ormonde made his appearance in Buenos Ayres, M. Bocau, his owner, received no less than eight hundred offers of mares to send to the Eaton cast-off, whose plucky owner, however, declined graciously, on the plea that he had given £14,000 for the son of Bend Or and Lily Agnes with the sole aim and purpose of keeping him to serve his own mares exclusively. From all accounts, the Duke of Westminster's colt did not desert these shores without first leaving his mark, and the time may not be far distant when his late owner will wish him back again; for I am told by a competent judge of such matters, that two grander looking yearlings than his colts from Shotover and Angelica respectively have seldom been seen. The former, who will be remembered as winner of the Derby, has grown into a magnificent mare, that is certain to make a big mark, the more so, as I understand she is one of the privileged lot that have visited St. Simon this year. Angelica is the dam of Blue Green, and if the mare could throw such a useful youngster to Cœrnlens, she should surely produce something out of the common to so exceptional a horse as Ormonde. There seems now greater reason than ever to regret that Bend Or's best son should be in exile.

There has been as intimated in a previous issue a good deal of kicking anent the 1000 guineas. Vigilant and the Wizard, equally well known racing writers, say in the Sporting Times: "We are much surprised that no one has ventured to accuse the Duke of Portland of not being a sportsman for not having allowed Semolina and Memoir to be ridden out to the last ounce in the One Thousand. 'When a man makes a fool of himself, I always notice that there are plenty of people to cheer,' was the sententious remark of the "Old Castilian" on a memorable occasion, and we have no doubt that if the Duke of Portland had given the jockeys of Semolina and Memoir orders to ride irrespective of each other, loud would have been the cheering. The most remarkable occasions of one horse being pulled in order allow the stable companion to win were the Derby of 1827, when it was said that if the bridle had broken, Glenartney would have beaten Mamelnke; in the St. Leger of 1840, when Lord Westminster sacrificed Maroon to Launcelot; and in the Stewards' Cup of 1878, when the Duke of Hamilton's Lollypop had his head almost pulled off in order prevent him from running over Midlothian. At Shrewsbury, when Queen of the Chase beat Blue Beard, and almost broke the owner of Amsterdam, the declaration was made to win with the loser, the jockey of the winner, who, it transpired had a spite against his employer, pretending that he did not know that it was Blue Beard that was running second. This gave rise to a tremendous controversy, Admiral Rous writing letters to the Times declaring that to pull a horse under any circumstances was an act of brutality, and Mr. Chaplin, on the other hand, contending that where a public declaration was made of the owner's intentions, no wrong was done. The common sense of the argument, in our opinion, lay with Mr. Chaplin. We forget when Count Lagrange ran first and second for the Cambridgeshire with Palestro and Gabrielle d'Estries, whether any declaration was made. The most remarkable instance of two horses belonging to the same owner running home together in a great race was when Marie Stuart and Doncaster fought out the St. Leger of 1873, when every yard of the road was contested, and the filly eventually beat the colt by a head. Mr. Merry, who owned these animals, was then getting old, and was contemplating parting with his stud; and, moreover, the two animals had few engagements of any value. Under these circumstances he gave the public some fun for their money with a vengeance. He acted very differently over the St. Leger of 1858, when The Hadji, ridden by Aldcroft, interfered with the deep laid plan to win with Blanche of Middlebie in preference to Sunbeam. Luke Snowden watched Aldcroft as a cat would a mouse, and when he saw that The Hadji had taken the measure of Blanche of Middlebie, he pounced on him with Sunbeam and won the race, "Blanche" finishing third. The desire was to win with the latter, though financially it made little difference to Mr. Merry which won, he having backed them both. They were trained in different stables.

Trick McSorley has gone to Indianapolis.

Ebright is the heaviest man in the Frisco team.

Buchan is playing an elegant game at third now.

Pete Meegan is not a startling success as an umpire.

"Peek-a-boo Veach" is playing a grand first base for Cleveland.

It is said that both the O'Neills are devout Church members.

Hassamer is the name of Portland's new first baseman and captain.

Fielder Stewart of the Tacomas is also a school teacher by profession.

Goldie, recently released by Peoria, has been signed by Indianapolis.

Swett's work behind the bat for Boston, has been pronounced excellent.

It was reported that Finn is after Coughlin, who has been released by Chicago.

Josh Reilly has not been regularly signed by the San Franciscos, but should be.

Tacoma has signed a new pitcher named Stuart. He is said to be a good one.

"His Wind-mills" Hanley is hitting the ball out hard and frequently this season.

To reduce expenses, Catcher Stallings has been released from the Brooklyn League team.

The Sporting Life says:—"Peek-a-boo Veach has a voice like a whisper from a saw factory".

George Van Haltran is considered one of the best general players in the Brotherhood ranks.

Duane and Armstrong, Stockton's new catchers and outfielders are expected to arrive this week.

Radbourn says he wants no better backstop than "Pop" Swett, the young Californian.—Exchange.

Perrier, Barry and McCarthy have been released by Portland. Who will be the next to receive a document?

Charley Gagus is to officiate as umpire, and if satisfactory, will be retained by the League for the season.

The chances are that Wheile will be out here before long. Probably there is a greater incentive for the trip than an engagement with a ball team.

The Oaklands attended a German Opera in a body last Tuesday night. We can expect some coaching in classical German from the Colonels now.

Stockwell has not been worked very hard by the Cleveland management. In a letter to a friend he says he will return to the Pacific Slope this winter.

Harry Hulin or Howard who played last season with Stockton, has been released by Detroit, and has once more turned his footsteps toward the Pacific Coast.

Harry O'Day won't be able to resume his position with the Minneapolis team for a month, in consequence of the injury he received to his hand at Kansas City recently.

Pitcher France will undoubtedly be with the Sacramentos before long. His acceptance of the terms practically makes him a member of the Sacramentos, and consequently Louisville can not keep him. His only alternative if he does not come to California, is to join the Brotherhood.

Daly has struck his gait with the Senators and is putting up a wonderful article of ball. For a heavy man he is an exceedingly active one, and the hardest hit ground ball scarcely ever passes him. His throwing lately has been very accurate, and his general clever work and gentlemanly demeanor has made him a prime favorate with Frisco audiences. He also stands high in the batting averages, being considered one of the heaviest and most reliable hitters in the League. Daly is certainly an inestimable treasure to Sacramento.

Base-ball has taken a firm grip upon the inhabitants of the Hawaaian Islands, who now have a four club league of their own. Games are played every Saturday, and large crowds always assemble at the contests. The double-umpire system has been adopted, and the game is enjoying a big boom.

A spectator in the bleachere last Sunday said that "Reilly was so much surprised when he made that hit to right, that he kept on running out to the field to see if it actually was a hit". He certainly could have made second without much exertion, but that he did not we believe was the coacher's fault and not Reilly's.

The Senators have added strength to their pitching department in Hoffman. The new pitcher has showed himself to be a good one and has yet in reserve a few balls that will be puzzlers. In addition to a good out and drop ball he is said to possese one that fairly jumps and which is most deceiving and effective.

In the four games in which Stanley caught, he made an excellent record. He was sixteen times at bat, and made four hits, a percentage of .250. Of twenty-one chances he accepted fourteen put outs and five assists giving him a fielding average of .905. In the four games, he caught Kilroy, Perrott and Hapeman, all strangers to him and had but one passed ball.

The Pittsburg League Club has signed pitcher Zeigler, ex-manager of the Sacramento Club. Shouldn't wonder but what he may turn out to be a good man.—Sporting Life.

Well, if Zeigler can be termed a good man, why, we can just flood the Eastern market with a car load of amateur pitchers who can give the ex manager cards and spades and beat him easily.

Port Townsend is gathering together a strong team, and makes a very good showing in the exhibition games played against the Pacific North West League teams. Daddy Hayes and Dwyer, ex-manager and captain of the Portlands, have already been signed, the former to play at short and the latter second base. Billy Hulin, one of the best infielders in the California Amateur League, has also left to join the same team.

We are very much inclined to believe that the "very knowing, over flowing, easy going" Colonel has made a serious mistake in releasing Meegan. Steady Pete is in the "zenith of his glory" in the sultry days of July August and September, and these are the months in which the actual struggle for the pennant occurs. Possibly before the season is over, Robinson will have occasion to regret his hasty action, but then he has to keep up his reputation as "champion releaser" you know.

The Sacramentos are called the "Senators", and the Oaklands are generally known as the "Colonels". The Stocktons are referred to as the "Wind Mill", "Gas City" or "Slough City" team, while the San Franciscos have been without any special designation except simply the "'Friscos". A baseball writer on a daily paper has, however, dubbed them the "Goblins" which is a very appropriate appellation, goblin blue being the shade of the uniform worn by the team.

With the bases full, Haddock, at New York (P. L), made a fearfully wild pitch that went clear to the backstop. O'Day on third started for home, but Mack secured the ball on the first rebound from the backstop, and throwing it to Haddock, who was covering the plate, caught the runner, and Umpire Ferguson said he was out. Ewing immediately claimed that the ball had passed the catcher ninety feet, and consequently the runner was entitled to the base. Measurement showed that it was eighty-nine feet to the backstop. —Pittsburg Chronicle.

Jack Sheridan has tendered tendered his resignation to the California League, and has been appointed on the staff of the Playere League umpires. Sheridan was undisputably the best umpire ever seen on the California diamond, and it is doubtful if he has any superiors in the country. He has shown himself to be possessed of excellent judgment, is quick but cautious, and immovably decisive. Honest, fearless and capable he won the admiration of players and public alike, and who now stand as one man in wishing him every success in his new sphere of usefullness.

The following is from the Stockton Independent.—Stanley, the young amateur catcher, made a decided hit and was cheered every time he came to the bat, and the applause was deserved. He may be only an amateur, but so far as ability is concerned, if Sunday's game may be taken as an index, he outranks many professionals. He catches well, but his strong point is throwing to bases. At the commencement of the game, the Oaklands tried the experiment of running from first to second, but they found the ball and the second baseman waiting for them with such unfailing regularity, that they were taught wisdom by experience. Both the O'Neils and Dungan tried to steal second on Stanley, to their sorrow.

Bowman, the catcher of the Sacramentos, is a player that is "up to date". He is one of the prize gems of that constellation of Senatorial stars, and, clever as the remainder of the team are, with an inferior man in his position, the Sacramentos would not occupy the exalted station they hold today. Bowman is a player of the most finished style, knows every point of the game, never loses his head, and has wonderful powers of perception. Add to this his great reach, receiving and throwing abilities, and you have a thorough back stop in the fullest meaning of the term. Bowman is also a strong reliable hitter, is speedy on the paths, and tireless as a coacher. Without being offensive in the least, he can "jolly up" his own team (and "jolly down" the others) better than any coacher we have seen this season.

By the proposed transfer of the Stockton club to San Jose Stocktonians have at last awakened to the fact that they have not been giving the team that represents their city in the League the support it deserves. It was all very well while the team was winning games, but when it experienced a streak of hard luck such as is likely to visit any team, no matter how strongly constituted, the people withdrew their financial aid, and shifted the expenses of the team on the shoulders of the too good natured directors. Stockton has yet an abundance of time in which to recuperate, and if her new timber turns out favorably, good accounts may henceforth be expected. None of the teams are "out of the woods" yet, and Stockton's chances for pennant honors are almost as auspicious as those of any of them.

The following story is told by Frank Lane; actor, journalist and ex-umpire, about Harry Pitt, a Boston actor, formerly of the Daly company. Pitt is an American, but he is awfully "English, you know." There was to be a ball game between theatrical people for the benefit of a deserving charity, and Pitt was asked to add eclat to the occasion by officiating as umpire. He knew not the first thing about base ball, but he consented to officiate if it would help the charity. In the first inning a hit was made by the second man at the bat. He reached first, and danced off toward second. The batter knocked a liner to the short stop, who pulled it down and threw it over to catch the man at first. The first baseman touched the runner, who slid back to the bag, but it was a very close decision. "How is it?" he yelled appealing to Pitt for a decision. The latter, lost in admiration of the play, responded with: 'Bloody wonderful, my boy!"

An exchange says: "In private life, Anson is one of the most interesting and pleasant companions one can ask for. He is a good talker. There are four subjects on which he will argue with anybody—baseball, politics, billiards, and his trip around the world. He is a fine story teller, and can spin yarns as long as he can keep awake. He has been called 'the Rider Haggard of baseball', and as far as the ability to tell an interesting narrative goes the appellation is correct. On the field, Anson, in spite of his 'kicking', and his bulldozing of umpires, which is quite as notorious as that of Ewing, and oftentimes more to the purpose, is universally popular. His value as a player, captain and manager cannot be overestimated, as may really be judged by the able way in which he has, during the past three years, brought his almost experimental team to the front. His methods are more of the driving than the persuasive kind, and the rigor with which he holds players up to their duty does not make him over popular with them. And yet few men who ever worked for Anson have other feelings toward him than intense admiration and respect.

THURSDAY'S GAME.

JUNE 26TH AT HAIGHT STREET.

The Sacramentos came down with the determination of winning at least two of the three they play here, and if they play as well as they did Thursday, the chances are they'll come off with flying colors and win all three. Their team was in great form, Daly being back at short and Hoffman in the box. The new pitcher showed himself to be a good man, but did not exert himself to any great extent, relying more on hits in-field than his strike out abilities. His support was absolutely perfect. Young and Stevens were in the points for Frisco, and the strong armed pitcher did good service, barring an occasional wildness. The Senators did not hit him hard, but their hits were very fortunately bunched with out-field errors of the Friscos, and thie gave them the game. The Capitol City boys started off well in the first inning, Daley getting his base on balls, and then Godar hit safely to center, the ball passed Hanley and before fielded inside the diamond, both Daley and Godar scored. They tallied again in the fourth inning getting two runs, and in the fifth and sixth one each. The Friscos had been blanked till the sixth, in which inning they earned two runs on Sweeney's double, and Hanley's and Ebrights singles. In the seventh they earned another. Buchan hit safely to center and crossed the plate after two men were out, on Shea's double. This was the extent of the home team's run getting, and the score ended six to three. The principal features were the batting of Ebright, Godar, Shea and Bowman, and the magnificent playing of Stapleton, Daley, Godar, McHale, Reilly and Sweeney. Gagus umpired, and although the audience seemed inclined to guy many of his decisions, his judgment on bases was in every instance correct. On balls and strikes he was a little "off", but favored neither one side nor the other. The score.

THE STANDING OF THE CLUBS.

The three leaders are all now nicely hunched, with the Friscos having a slight lead. Sacramento has pnlled up wonderfully and has s firm hold on second with the possibility of being in first place before a fortnight. The Oaklands are a good third, and the Stocktons are still at the bottom of the list.

SAN FRANCISCO vs. STOCKTON.

FRIDAY, JUNE 20TH, AT OAKLAND.

Four hundred people were all that witnessed this game which was one of the best ever played on the Emery grounds. There was lots of good hard hitting, and the fielding was sharp and with few exceptions perfect. Both Young and Perrott were exceptionally steady and gave a superb exhibition of their art, neither allowing a base on balls. Frisco started off in the third inning scoring three runs on Steven's hit, Fudger's error of Shea's fly. Sweeney's hit and Hanley's triple. In the eigbt Stockton who had been playing magnificently got in four runs by hitting Young hard and timely and Ebrigbt's very costly error. In the ninth Frisco tied the score by tallying one on snccessive singles by Levy, Speer and Stevens. Tben in the tenth they won the game. Hanley hit safely again, Ebright ditto and Hanley scored on Levy's sacrifice, Ebright coming home also on a wild pitch. This ended the run getting and the score closed six to four in favor of Frisco. Aside from the heavy hitting the features of the game were base play of Buchan, Selna, Sweeney, Shea and Fogarty, the fielding of Cahill, Holliday and Levy and the splendid backstop work of Stanley. OAKLAND vs. SACRAMENTO.

FRIDAY, JUNE 20TH, AT SACRAMENTO.

This was an extra inning day and in the game at Sacramento the Senators lost a twelve inning game jnst by an "eye brow." It was a great game all throngh and the Sacramento boys should have won. A close decision by Meegan favoring Oakland gave them the viotory. Both pitchers did excellent work, Harper being very effective. Cobb was hit harder but kept the safe shots off him well scattered. At the beginning of the twelvth inning the score stood three to two in favor of Sacramento. For Oakland, C. O'Neill led off with a single. Stiokney hit to Harper, who threw to second, and Daly and Reitz, who were both covering the bag, allowed the ball to pass and C. O Neill scored, when there should have been a double play. Stickney went to third on the throw and scored the winning run on N. O'Neill's hit to Reitz. The score:

SAN FRANCISCO vs. STOCKTON.

SATURDAY, JUNE 21ST, AT HAIGHT STREET.

This was a very one-sided affair, with San Francisco getting the best of it throughont. But it was not a tame game by any means, and although badly worsted, Stockton played a plucky up-hill game. The Friscos certainly won on their merits. They batted heavily, ran the base scientifically, and fielded elegantly. But one error was made on their side, and that was a misplay by Sweeney. The Stocktons did not do near so well. Their hitting was light and their fielding was marred by some serions fumbles at critical moments. Hapeman was touched up very lively, and was wild. Stanley's catching was simply grand, and he saved Hapeman a number of wild pitches. Speer was suffering from a sprained ankle, and gave way in the fourth inning to Young, who did well both at the bat and in the field. The score:

SACRAMENTO vs OAKLAND

SATURDAY, JUNE 21ST., AT SACRAMENTO.

The Senators took sweet revenge on the Colonels in this game by shutting them out without a run. Hoffman made his first appearance for the Senators, and pitched winning ball. He was admirably snpported by Bowman and the remainder of the team. Carsey pitched a nice game for the Colonels, but their fielding was very rocky at times, and tbis contributed to Sacramento's victory. Stafford, formerly of the Altas, umpired very satisfactorily. Tbe score.

SAN FRANCISCO vs SACRAMENTO.

SUNDAY, JUNE 22ND., AT HAIGHT STREET.

This was a snperb game. It was full of snap and ginger, and both teams did some wonderful playing. The Senators, inspired by their victory of the day previons were in excellent form, and gave the six thonsand people present a sample of pennant winning ball. Harper was a "tower of strength" in himself, and allowed but two singles. The team back of him bunohed their hits nicely and fielded like "thoroughbreds". Young was also in excellent condition and pitched a masterly game. The fourth inning was a fatal one for him though. Goodenough cracked out a safe one, and Farrell sent out another. Then the quiet little third baseman—Godar met one squarely, and it sailed over to the right field fence on a line, Goodenough and Farrell scoring, and Godar breathing easily at third. This was two runs and a magnificent lead. Then Stapleton scored in the sixth. Ed took his base on balls, Bowman's hit advanced him to second, and then Roberts hit a hard one to Ebright. Tne short-stop gathered it in neatly and forced Bowman at second, but in attempting to complete a double he threw wildly to Sweeney and Stapleton scampered home. The Friscos never had a chance to come anywhere near scoring, their two hits being divided between two innings. Their fielding, though, was excellent, and almost on a par with that of the Senators. Tbe score-

STOCKTON vs. OAKLAND.

SUNDAY, JUNE 22D AT STOCKTON.

The Stocktons gained a most decisive victory in this game. Tbey had their team rightly placed again, Wilson being on third, Selna at his old position and Stanley behind the bat. Kilroy started off badly but soon steadied down and pitched a fine game. His snpport was clever. Tbe Oaklands played a good game but did not hit Kilroy hard while Cobb was landed out heavily at opportune moments. Prominent among the featnres of the game was young Stanley's magnificent work behind the bat. He captnred the crowd bnt throwing out three of tbe Colonels in the forepart of the game and then they hugged the bases closely. Cahill, Holliday, Fndger, Perrott and C. O'Neill were strong at the bat and McDonald, N. O'Neill, Cahill, Selna and Fogarty excelled in fielding. Meegan's umpiring was very unsatisfactory. The score:

SEATTLE vs. PORTLAND.

SUNDAY, JUNE 22D AT SEATTLE.

Three thousand enthusiastic spectators saw the Seattleites "do" the Portlands in this game by a score of six to five. The contest was full of ginger from the start and was anybody's game till the last man went out. Whittaker made his first appearance in the box for Portland, and barring wildness pitched an excellent game. Hassamer, the Portlands new captain played short and put up a wonderful exhibition. Rhue filled the first base position in acceptable style. The Portlands had a nice lead till the seventh inning when the Seattles tied the score and went one better. The Portlands failed to get a man across the plate after the third inning. The features of the game were the fielding of Howard, Zimmer's work at second, and Hernon's at first, Parrot's at third, and the remarkable game of Hassamer at short and at the bat. The score:

Games Played by the California Amateur League.

The teams are in the same rank as they were last week, but the averages show considerable change. Santa Rosa still maintains her good lead. The Reports, by doing some good work of late have pulled up very perceptibly. The Fincks are a very safe third, and the Vallejos firm in fourth place. The Burlingtons are still fifth, and the Allens continue to repose undisturbed at the bottom of the ladder. Record to date:

DAILY REPORTS vs E. T. ALLENS.

Sunday, June 22nd at Haight Street.

The Allens were not in this game at all, being outplayed at every point. But their being in a very crippled condition, will, to a certain extent, excuse the poor showing they made. They had Johnson in the box and the little fellow worked hard, but he was badly handicapped, Allen being unable to catch him effectively, and besides he faced a team of terrific sluggers. The Reports lost no time in getting to work, for in the first inning they pounded out four runs, which was one more than the Allens secured in the entire game. Monet was in good form, and the team back of him played splendidly. The Allens presented a zigzag appearance, with the players badly placed, and practically no catcher. Allen retired to right field in the fourth inning, Beckett going behind the bat, and his work was a vast improvement on that of his big predecessor. Monet, McIntyre, Sharp, Gormley, Reilly, Lewis and Evatt swelled their batting records considerably, each doing some powerful work with the stick. The short stop work of Reilly and Thompson, the base play of Evatt, Gormley, Buckley and Lewis, and the catching of Green and Beckett were the features. The score.

VALLEJO vs. WILL & FINCK.

Sunday, June 22d at Vallejo.

This game was a most complete walk over for the Marines. The Young Giants were scarcely in it at all and presented a very weak team. In the first inning Vallejo scored six runs which gave them a big lead and which they maintained till the close of the game. The Vallejos under new management, has now a very promising team, and if they can play as well from this on as they did on last Sunday, will surely have a mortgage on the pennant. Howell and Billings were the battery for the Giants and played their customary good game. The two Delmas brothers and Cusick were greatly missed, as their positions had to be filled in by raw material, and had the above named been on hand the base hit column would certainly have had a few more figures added to it. The Vallejos played almost perfectly, Balsz pitching wonderful ball and being accorded grest support from Hughes at the receiving end. The fielders had but little to do, all the put outs being confined to Hughes, Ryan, Maguire and Wise. For the Giants the battery, Leveque, Gately and Tillson performed the best work. The score:

SANTA ROSA vs. BURLINGTONS.

Sunday, June 22d, at Santa Rosa.

The Sonoma boys did the Rail roaders up in great shape last Sunday to the tune of twelve to five, It was not a brilisnt or even an interesting game although witnessed by alalmost a thousand spectators who remained till the last man was out. The Santa Rosas outbatted the Burlingtons while the opposite was the case in fielding. But the Burlingtons errors were nicely bunched with the hitting of the Santa Rosas in the third inning, and this inning told the tale. Callen pitched his usual strong game but was not well supported. Cook, Gimmel and Stultz did some very pretty fielding and Pace's record barring his error colnmn would have been an exceedingly bright one. The Burlingtons did not score till the fifth when one run came in, and in the seventh and eighth they added four more but they were too far behind to have any chance of catching up. Their fielding was far superior to that of the "country fellers," Bradley, Mulvey, Deane, Dunn and Fleming playing their positions in a finished style. McConville, as umpire, gave good satisfaction. The score:

Amateur Short Hits.

Green is a very clever back stop.

Advancing—Reports and Vallejos.

The Will and Finks need a "bracer."

McDonald has been given quite a rest.

Retrograding—Will & Fincks and Allens.

Strand is not a success as a third baseman.

The Reports are a very heavy hitting team.

When, oh! when will the Allens win a game?

The Merceds are having new uniforms made.

Kelly is now playing right field for Santa Rosa.

McIntyre is the safest hitter in the Report team.

Monet is pitching ball longer than any of the Amateurs.

Pace did some tremendous hitting in last Sunday's game.

McCarthy is as sure a fly catcher as either Gimmell or Sharp.

"Dutch" Allen gave a very rocky exhibition of catching Sunday.

Buick is the fifth pitcher the Burlingtons have had this season.

Evatt, Lewis and Buckley are the tallest men in the Amateur League.

Howell has pitched in every game except one this season, for the Will & Fincks.

Heron, formerly of the Alameda Maroons, and lately with Santa Cruz, played first for the Giants Sunday.

Dunphy has had fewer chances at third base than any other player in the same position in the League.

There was only one chance offered to the outfield of the Reports last Sunday which was accepted by Hearty.

Santa Rosa seems bound to win the championship, but Warren and Ashman say that the Sonoma boys aint going to have a walk over.

Jack Ryan, formerly the first baseman of the Greenhood and Morans, played that position very acceptably for the Vallejos last Sunday.

McGuire was an excellent addition to the Vallejo team. He has always been considered a fine in-fielder and heavy batter, and will be sure to do good service for his new team.

Little Beckett is the utility man for the Allens, and he is a good 'nn. He is active, clever and earnest, and although in speedy company, he is not behind any of them in playing.

Ashman has strengthened his infield considerably by securing Dave Creamer to play second, and placing John Thompson at short. Ashman is out for the pennant and intends to keep the leaders hustling.

The following are the Captains of the amateur teams: Will & Fincks—Charley Tillson. E. T. Allens—Scotty Evatt. Burlingtons—Alex Bradley. Daily Reports—Gray Gormley. Santa Rosas—Billy Hulin. Vallejos—Tom McGuire.

Manager Keller has arranged to take the Allens to Merced to play three games with the team of that place on July 3rd, 4th and 5th. The team winning two ont of three games will capture the stake amounting to $500 and 60 per cent. of the gate receipts.

A singular coincidence occurred in last Sundsy's game. The two short stops, Reilly and Thompson, each had thirteen chances offered, and each accepted eleven; and Gormley and Evatt at first had each seventeen chsnces and both players accepted sixteen.

Reilly showed he was possessed of good horse sense by playing with the Allens last Sunday. Although he has made a wonderful showing with the professionals, he has not been affected with the swelled head, and says he is quite willing to lend his services to the amateurs until regularly attached to a professional team.

The Young Giants had a badly patched up team to Vallejo last Sunday. First baseman Frank Delmas, third baseman Lonny and right-fielder Cusick were absent, and their places were hurridly filled in by back numbers. As the three players named are among the star hitters of the team it is no wonder the Giants suffered defeat.

Baltz has been making a great record for himself lately. In the game against Santa Rosa, on the 21st inst., he struck out sixteen and allowed only three hits, and last Sunday he struck ont the Giants fifteen times, and only allowed the same number of safeties. There is no use of the professional managers looking East for pitchers, when we have players of equal ability right at home in the amateur ranks.

The Burlington team have undergone quite a change, and are practically the old Franklin team now. Billy Buick is pitching again, and last Sunday did some excellent work. McKenzie is placed in right, and is a very strong man in that position, and young Kennedy is also a nice infielder. The team is a much improved one in every respect, and the "Rail roaders" are henceforth expected to give a good account of themselves.

Manager Keller is dissatisfied with his present team, and and intends securing some new talent. Tom Buckley will be made captain, and a new battery signed. Among the players who might be seen wearing one of their expensive uniforms shortly might be mentioned Burt Parker for catcher, and Southpaw Nolan, Rohan or Hyde for pitchers. Frank Loughran might also be induced to play, and will either be placed in the field or on first base. Ed Hammer would be another good man, and Keller wont have much difficulty in transforming his now tottering team into a winning one. With Parker behind the bat, and any of the above named pitchers in the box, Loughran on first, Buckley second, Evatt short, Lewis third and McCarthy, Hammer, Geishaker and Beckett as fielders, the Allens would then be conditioned to beat any team in the League.

Grant Goucher, for several seasons connected with the E. & O. E. team, has temporarily retired from the diamond, and is now undergoing a severe course of training preparatory to his entering the "paper weight" class of the Sparring tournament at the Olympic Club. The medal for this class has been successively held by Wave Thompson and Fred McWilliams. Thompson however, has now reduced to a "shadow weight", and as no member of the club cares to dispute his claim to this honor, the medal awarded him by his confreres will no doubt gracefully repose on his manly bosom for some time to come. With McWilliams and Goucher it is somewhat different. Both are aspirants for "paper weight" honors, and the outcome of this match is patiently awaited by hundreds of admirers of both parties.

ATHLETICS.

Athletic Sports and Other Pastimes.

EDITED BY ARPHIPPUS,

SUMMARY.

Friday next will be a gala day for the runners, wheelmen and oarsmen. The games of the Scottish Thistle Club, which will be held as usual at Shell Mound Park, Berkeley, will draw a very large crowd of people, while the friends of the club whose emblem is the flying O are sure to patronize its sports, which will take place on the afternoon of the same day. The wheelmen are bound to be well treated at San Jose, and as the regatta will be a free show, the oarsmen are certain to attract a large audience.

THE OARSMEN.

The Regatta Committee have finally decided to allow $500 for prizes for the Oarsmen on the Fourth of July. As stated in the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN some time ago, the regatta will hardly be as successful as in former years. Somehow or other, the Oarsmen this year do not seem to take a genuine interest in their training, and with the exception of the professional shell race, the contests are liable to prove tame. The Ariel crew stands a good chance of winning the amateur championship.

Peterson has been out of training for some months, and Charley Long should be in it at the finish in the professional scull race.

Growney and Sullivan have been taking practice spins right along, and they are also liable to be heard from.

The amateur barge race will probably be confined to the Pioneer and Ariel and the Olympic Club Crews, as the Lurline Club is hardly prepared to send out a crew that would do it full justice.

Sunday forenoon the weather was rather disagreeable and the water choppy, and but very few of the oarsmen mustered up courage enough to launch their shells. In the afternoon, however, there was a change for the better and several crews put out for exercise.

On Monday last, Stansbury of Sboalhaven, New South Wales, the champion oarsman of the world, defeated O'Connor, of Toronto Canada, champion of America. The race was for the championship and £500 a side, and was rowed on the Paramatta river. It was an unusually severe struggle for a mile, but Stansbury outlasted his man and won easily in the finish. The contest was witnessed by 40 000 people, and the betting was very heavy, the winner being a 6-to-5 favorite.

The race was rowed down stream from Ryde to Tbe Brothers, a distance of three miles. The start was by mutual consent, and for the first 600 yards the men rowed on even terms. At this point there is a slight bend in the river and around it the American showed slightly in the lead, at which his friends sent up a joyful shout. The champion, however put on more steam, and at the white beacon, a mile from home, had gnaged his opponent and had him practically beaten.

The record for every distance from a mile to three miles was broken. The whole distance was covered in 19:53, the previous record of 20:44 having been made by Beach in his race against Trickett over the same course.

O'Connor's backers feel very sore over his defeat, as they placed great confidence in their man and fully expected to bring the championship back to America.

Thomas Gibon, the veteran amateur oarsman of this city, has entirely recovered from his recent illness and was out in his boat at Tiburon on Sunday last.

The house of the Alameda Boat Club at the foot of Chestnut street has been comfortably fitted up and the club is now on a prosperous basis. It will hold its first regatta the latter part of next month.

C. W. Chauncey, president of the O-Wash-to-nong Boat Club, of Grand Rapids, Mich., has been recently elected president of the North-western Rowing Association.

The great Duluth-Superior regatta will be held on Superior Bay, situated between Duluth and Superior, commencing July 21 and ending July 26. It will undoubtedly be the greatest event of its kind ever held in America. Duluth is situated on the west side of Superior bay in Minnesota, and has a population of nearly fifty thousand. Superior is directly across the bay in Wisconsin, with a population of about twenty thousand. Between the two cities they have raised nearly $20,000, about $15,000 of which will be given away in prizes in the various events. In the professional events the prize money will be as follows:

Singles—1st prize, $1,750; 2d, $800; 3d, $400.
Doubles—1st prize, $1,000; 2d, $550; 3d, $350.
Four-oared—1st prize, $1,250; 2d, $600; 3d, $300.
Single quarter—mile dash—1st prize, $400; 2d, $250; 3d, $100.

The Mississippi Valley Amateur Rowing Association's regatta will be held during the same week. The Duluth Superior Association has subscribed $2,500 toward the prizes, expenses, etc.

It will be decided in a few days if any open amateur events will be added to the programme. If there are some of the Eastern oarsmen will doubtless be attracted to Duluth. The course that the race will be rowed on is situated directly between the two cities and is a fine piece of water, well sheltered from the wind, and even in the roughest weather there is hardly a ripple on its surface. It is undoubtedly the finest rowing course in America.

THE WHEELMEN.

The members of the American Bicycle Club had a run in full uniform to Mill Valley, Sausalito, on Sunday last. This was the sixth run of the club and was under the charge of Captain Sig. B. Morse.

The committee in charge of the League Meet at San Jose, Cal., have issued the following notice to all members of the League:

"DEAR SIR: The League Meet at San Jose on the Fourth will be the grandest one ever held in California. The track is excellent and the grand stand capable of seating 1,400 people. You will miss a rare treat in wheeling if you do not come. The programme will reach you in a few days, it having been unavoidably delayed.

Committee L. A. W."

The following circular recently issued by Chief Consul Ralph M. Thompson will be read with interest by all wheelmen:

OFFICE OF THE CHIEF CONSUL,
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 18, '90.

DEAR SIR: The renewal list of California Division, L. A. W., received June 4th, does not contain your name.

Allow me to call your attention to the fact that your membership expires on July 1st.

California Division is fast moving towards the front and is now in a position to offer far more advantages than ever before. The League meet to be held July 4th, will be the grandest celebration ever known to California wheelmen. Non-members will not be permitted to participate. Enough will be saved on this occasion alone, to far more than defray the cost of renewing your membership.

The Division hand book will be issued July 1st, free to members. It alone will repay you for renewing.

Many plans are being devised by the Division Board of Officers for giving members personal benefits during the coming year, aside from the general advantages with which you are acquainted.

We have just given a century run and it is the intention to give a series of shorter runs during the coming year, the expenses of which will be borne by the Division.

In order to carry out all our plans, however, it is necessary that our membership be kept up.

Applications are being received daily and the membership rapidly increasing, but we shall regret very much losing any of our old members.

Hoping that it you have not already sent your renewal East, you will see that it goes prior to July 1st.

(After that date it will cost $2 instead of $1.)

I am, fraternally yours,
RALPH M. THOMPSON,
Chief Consul, Cal Div., L. A. W.

C. C. Moore, of the B.C. W., has taken up riding again and can be seen almost any night on his "star."

Burke, of Los Angeles, is training at the Haight Street grounds. He is now in good condition and will show up well on the Fourth of the coming month.

Wheaton, formerly of the San Francisco Bicycle Club and Plummer, of the Bay City Wheelmen, are going to ride in the tandem race on Friday next.

Dr T. L. Hill, C. W. Hammer and C. J. Schuster, of the B. C. W, and several unattached men rode to the Garden City on Sunday.

George P. Wetmore and Sanford Plummer started on their wheels from this city on Saturday morning last at four o'clock with the intention of wheeling to Santa Cruz. They were compelled to walk from Saratoga to the summit on account of the rough state of the road which was covered with six inches of gravel. From Bonlder Creek into Santa Cruz they found the roads in better order. They remained over night at Santa Cruz and returned Sunday by way of Soquel, Hotel de Rulo and Alma.

The members of the Bay City Wheelmen are jubilant over the success of the bond scheme, which is now an assured success. Large sums have already been subscribed, and in the course of a couple of weeks the committee expects to be able to surprise the club by producing a long list of subscribers. The B. C. W. boys are deserving of their success for they have always worked hard and faithfully in each others interest.

Chief Consul Thompson rode to San Jose on Sunday to examine the condition of the recently constructed four lap track which is to be used by the wheelmen on Friday and Saturday next. The Consul had the men mix cinders with the loose earth and now the track is in tip top condition for record smashing.

A. D. Allen Jr, H. W. Spalding, W. F. Thompson and E. C. Landis rode from San Mateo to Spanishtown on Sunday. They report the roads in that neighborhood to be in fine condition.

The annual run of the 'cyclists of the Metropolitan District from Newark, N. J., to Philadelphia, came off on Saturday, June 14th, two hundred starting. The roads were found to be in a miserable condition, retarding the progress of the participants, and making them about two hours behind the schedule time. Out of the large number which started, only sixty had the pluck and endurance to complete the journey. The great effort made by the Century Club of Philadelphia, to secure the handsome banner offered for the best attendance, was successful, this club having the greatest number of men in at the finish. Among those who completed the journey were Mrs. Dalsen, captain of the Fairmount Ladies 'Cyclers; Miss L. Frehelberg and Miss G. Welch of the Wissahickon Wheelmen. Among the first ones to arrive were Captain Dalsen and several members of the Century Wheelmen, Dr. Finn, Kings County Wheelmen; F. M. Cossitt, Riverside Wheelmen; Mrs. W. Fuller, W. H. Meeter, H. E. Raymond, C. F. Quimby, N. Rogers, G. Warren, and W. J. Masterson of the Brooklyn Bicycle Club, and members of the Park Avenue and Oxford Wheelmen. The various 'cycling clubs of Philadelphia tendered a reception to their visitors in the evening.

The Elwell European party left New York June 7th on the La Bretagne of the French line. On reaching Havre they will begin a tour through France, spending the remainder of June in that country. Switzerland, Germany and Holland will use up July and part of August, and on August 17th they will sail from Rotterdam for London, where they will disband on August 19th.

The annual Catford race meeting in England was one of the most successful meets ever held, 10,000 people attending. The programme was phenomenal in size, there being 183 entries for the half mile novice's handicap in twenty-four heats, and 147 entries in eighteen heats for the open mile mixed handicap. The latter, the principal event of the day, was won by C. A. Murray in 2m 42 4-5s. The quarter mile scratch race was won by F. J. Osmond in 37 1-5s. and the quarter mile safety was captured by E. Leitch in 36 4-5s. The five mile team race, eight men a side, was won by the Catford team.

One of the latest additions to 'cycling accessories is an instrument looking something like a steam gauge, to be fastened to the front forks of a machine, which indicates at what speed per hour the rider is traveling.

An electric bicycle lamp has been patented in England which will burn for fifteen hours.

A ladies bicycle club, with a membership of 15 has been organized at Bridgeport, Conn.

The annual races of the Connecticut Division of the League of American Wheelmen, held in New Haven, June 9th, was attended by about 500 bicyclists. Four hundred of these took part in the parade at 10 o'clock. David J. Post, of Hartford, was marshal of the parade, and Fred Bailey, of New Haven, was adjutant. The aids were Dr. W. H. Emery, of Boston; Charles S. Davol, of Warran, R. I; L. A Miller, of Meriden; E. A. DeBlois, of Hartford; Fred Atwater, of Bridgeport, and Arthur Munson, of Stamford.

The Hartford Bicycle Club was awarded the prize for the largest number of men in line, and the Colt Club of Hartford won the prize for the best appearance. In the afternoon a tournament was held ot the Elm City Driving Park, the races resulting as follows:

One mile novice race—Charles G. Sage, Hartford, 1st, in 3:07¾, with Leo. C. Heir, Waterbury, 2d.

Yale Harvard two mile team race—Harvard won by 15 points to 5. W. H. Greenleaf, Harvard, was 1st, in 6:27½, with Philip Davis, Harvard, 2d.

One mile safety for State League companionship—C. E. Larom, New Haven, won in 2:09 4-5, with G. A. Pickett, New Haven, 2d.

One mile safety, club championship—C. E. Larom, New Haven, won in 3:10 4-5, with W. C. Palmer, New Haven, 2d.

Two mile safety, First District championship—Hoyland Smith, New Bedford, Mass., won in 6:28 3-5, with P. J. Berlo, South Boston, Mass., 2d.

One mile race, open—W. W. Windle, Millbury, Mass., won in 2:47 3-5, with E. C. Antony, Dorchester, Mass, 2d,

One mile safety, open—Hoyland Smith, New Bedford, Mass, won in 2:59, with R. H. Davis, Harvard and New York Athletic clubs, 2d.

One mile First District championship—W. W. Windle, Millbury, Mass., won in 2:06 1 5, with E. C. Anthony, Dorcester, Mass., 2d.

One mile safety, handicap—Hoyland Smith, New Belford, Mass, 1st, in 2:46, with T. J. Berlo, South Boston, Mass., 2d.

One mile tandem safety, district championship—Hoyland Smith, New Bedford, Mass., 1st, in 3:05, with P. J. Berlo, South Boston, Mass., 2d.

One mile consolation race—W. K. Murphy, Brooklyn, won in 3:05, with F. G. Brown, New Jersey Athletic Club, 2d.

A business meeting was held at noon prior to the races, and these nominations were made, to be voted on by mail:—For chief consul, Arthur Allen Dean, of Danielsonville; vice president, A. G. Froder, of New Haven; secretary and treasurer, E A. DeBlois, of Hartford.

The L. A. W. Meet.

The programme of the coming League meet has just been issued and it is a very neat and artistic piece of work. The following information is given in the book:

"The League of American Wheelmen is an organization to promote the general interests of cycling; to ascertain, defend and protect the rights of wheelmen (which are those of any driver of horse and wagon), to encourage and facilitate touring, and to regulate the government of all amateur sports connected with the use of the wheel.

Officers for 1890—Ralph M. Thompson, Chief Consul, San Francisco; Walter D. Sheldon, Secretary-Treasurer, 128 Davis Street, San Francisco.

Representatives.—At large: C C Moore, Stockton; Dr. J W Gibson, San Francisco; A C McKenney, San Jose.

General Committee. California Division, Fifth Annual Meet, of the L. A. W., on July 4th and 5, 1890, at San Jose, Cala.: Chairman, Arthur C. McKenney, 89 N. First St., San Jose; Secretary-Treasurer, Allan C. Wagener, 89 N. First St., San Jose; Assistant Secretary-Treasurer, Oswold Granicher, 15 S. First St., San Jose; Thos. L. Hill, San Francisco; Geo. F. Drake, Oakland; Alfonse Col., San Jose.

Committee of Chairmen—Transportation, Thomas L Hill, Odd Fellows' Building, S. F.; tones, runs and parade, W M Neeker, 713 21st St, S. F.; accomodation, Oswold Granicher, 15 S First St, San Jose; races, A C McKenney, 89 N First St., San Jose; entertainment, Ralph M. Thompson, The Oriel Hotel, S. F.; programme and printing, Allan C Wagener, 89 N. First St., San Jose; reception, Garden City Wheelmen, San Jose.

The General Committee removes a year's accumulated dust from its gold tipped Stylograph to pen a cordial invitation to its fraters in the League, and its friends among the uninitiated, to its Fifth Annual Meet; the former that we may take them by the hand in a healthy L. A. W. grip, and renew the jolly good fellowship of former years—and the latter that we may make the benefits of a membership in our organization apparent to them.

In selecting the "Garden City" for its '90 tournament, the members of the California Division feel that its easy accessibility, its good roads, the numerous pleasant spins in its vicinity, and the well known hospitality of its people, will combine to attract together a large representation of the Division. We would like to greet every devotee of the noblest of sports, "from Del Norte to San Diego, from the Sierras to the Sea," and hope they can all arrange to be with us on the Nation's Birthday. At this early date indications are good for a very successful meet.

Away up in the rocky confines of Milpitas, the rarified atmosphere already resounds with the soul stirring notes of the club bugler, scaring the fleet winged Willfwinkum Occidentalis with a startled wail from her lofty perch, and announcing that the wheelists of the metropolis are preparing to begin the perilous descent of the precipitous declivities to the plains of San Jose; while, with ear to the ground, the anxious chairman of the Gen. Com. hears a rasping sound, as the lone cyclist of Siskiyou saws off the unthawed legs of his winter overalls to make knickerbockers.

A letter just received from an intending "meeter," who evidently resides in the Murchison part of Los Angeles, says: "What is the special booking for cyclists to San Jose, don't you know? And is there a tavern in the beastly village? "As the secretary has fainted, we will tell you the rest at the party.

The League party will take place at the Hotel Vendome on Saturday evening, July 5th. The grand march is announced for half after eight, and carriages may be ordered for twelve. Wheelmen will appear in uniform, their friends in evening dress. Tickets, admitting gentleman and ladies, $1, to be obtained on presentation of invitation, of A. C. McKenney, 89 North First sreet, or Oswold Granicher, 15 South First street.

The St. James, the League Hotel is centrally located on First street, and prepared to accommodate a goodly number of wheelmen at the League rate, $2 per day. To secure the rate, please present your membership tickets. Further information promptly and cheerfully furnished by the Chairman of the Accommodation Committee, at 15 South First St., Kocher's jewelry store. By invitation of the Garden City wheelmen, the headquarters of the Division will be at club rooms, W. Santa Clara St, between the bridges, where visitors will register.

-GUARANTEED STAKE-

For Trotting Foals of 1890.

$12,500 To be Trotted for in 1894. Foals then Four Years Old, $12,500

TWELVE THOUSAND

FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS.

ENTRANCE: $10 with the nomination on July 1, 1890; $10 January 1, 1891; $10 July 1, 1891; $10 January 1, 1892; $10 July 1, 1892; $10 January 1, 1893; $15 July 1, 1893; $25 January 1, 1894, and $100 from those declaring to start on July 1, 1894.

The produce of mares not foaling by July 1st may be nominated. In nominating, give the name of the mare and stallion to which she is bred, and within thirty days after foaling, forward name and description of foal. In case of a dead foal the entrance will be refunded.

No nomination will be received unless the first payment of $10 accompanies the same. Nominations are only liable for the first payment, but failure to make any of the subsequent payments when due shall be considered a withdrawal from the stake, with forfeiture of former payments.

RULES AND CONDITIONS: THE HORSEMAN guarantees the total value of the stake shall not be less than $12,500. The Main Stake shall be $11,000, divided, $5,000 to the first horse, $2,500 to the second, $1,500 to the third, $1,000 to the fourth, with plate to the actual value of $1,000 to the breeder of the winner, and a Consolation Stake of Fifteen Hundred Dollars.

To be trotted for within four days from the date of decision of the first race, over the same track and under the same conditions and rules, open only to horses which start and win no part of the Main Stake. In case the stake exceeds in value the guaranteed sum, $12,500, the excess shall be added to the Consolation Stake, which shall be divided: 50 per cent. to first horse, 25 per cent. to second, 15 per cent. to third, 10 per cent. to fourth.

Should less than four horses remain eligible to the Consolation Stake, the fourth money shall be added and divided pro rata among the winners of the Main Stake, and should less than three horses remain eligible there shall be no Consolation Stake, but there shall be paid the fifth horse in the Main Stake the sum of $600; to the sixth horse the sum of $400, and the remaining money belonging to the Consolation Stake divided pro rata among the winners of the four moneys of the Main Stake.

The races to be mile heats, best three in five, in harness, and to be trotted between July 1st and October 15, 1894, over the mile track of a regularly organized association, to be selected by THE HORSEMAN. Date and track to be announced at least ten days previous to July 1, 1894, the date of final payment. Race to be governed by the rules of the association of which the track selected is a member. For further information and in making nominations, address

THE HORSEMAN, 323 and 325 Dearborn Street, Chicago, Ill.

Saturday, July 5th, owing to the variety of interesting points in the vicinity of San Jose, it has been deemed advisable to give visiting wheelmen their choice of spins, instead of calling a division run to some point which many may have visited before. In consequence, the committee offers the following list of desirable places to visit, with the names of local wheelmen who will act as guides, and to whom visitors will report, after selecting their tour, at the time and place named:

New Almaden Quicksilver Mines, round trip, 24 miles; Wm. R. Lipsett, G. C. W. Club Rooms, 8 A. M.

Los Gatos, Saratoga, Congress Springs, round trip 25 miles; Joseph Dssimone, G. C. W. Club Rooms, 9 A. M.

Santa Clara, Mountain View, Mayfield, Stanford Univesity, round trip, 40 miles; Geo. Owen.

Agnews Asylum, Santa Clara, Fredericksburg, round trip, 11 miles; W. Needham, G. C. W. Club Rooms, 9 A. M.

Alum Rock Springs and Penitencia Falls, round trip, 15 miles; S Allsy.

Hall's Valley, Smith's Creek, Mt. Hamilton, Lick Observatory, round trip, 54 miles, F. Larder.

Lantern parade. On the evening of July 4th the division will entertain the citizens with a Lantern Parade, the line being formed in front of the G. C. W. Club-room at 8.30 P. M. sharp. The order of parade will be precisely as in the morning. Participants will decorate their mounts with Japanese lanterns and flags; and the division will furnish fireworks. All are requested to turn out and assist in making this a most beautiful pageant.

The division's race tournament will be held on Friday afternoon, July 4th, at two o'clock sharp, on the track built for the occasion, situated on Julian Street, near the Guadaloupe bridge. Entries will close with Chairman McKenney, 89 North First street, San Jose, at 10 P. M. Saturday, June 28. The entrance fee, $1, will be returned to starters.

Our League members can compete in these races, and all League members will be admitted to the grounds free on showing membership tickets. The winner of the District Championship events will be sent East to the National Tournament at the expense of the League. Following is the programme of events:

1. One-mile novice. 2. Quarter-mile dash. 3. One-mile safety, scratch. 4. One mile district championship. 5. Three-mile handicap. 6. Half-mile state championship. 7. One-mile tandem safety, scratch. 8. Five-mile district championship. 9. One-mile handicap. 10. Two-mile handicap.

RUNNERS, WALKERS, JUMPERS, ETC.

Little, Kendall and McIntyre will meet again at Shell Mound Park on Friday next and one of the best races that has ever taken place in that park will be witnessed. The Scotchmen will back McIntyre while the knowing ones will take chances on Little.

On account of so many counter attractions, the Games Committee of the Olympic Club have decided to give only a small programme of events on the Fourth of July. Five of the events will be for members of the Club, while throwing the hammer, the running broad jump and the two mile run will be open to all associate members of the P C A A A. No special effort will be made to boom the meeting, as it is the intention of the club to hold its first grand outdoor meeting on Admission Day. The meeting on Friday next, however, should attract a fair crowd of sport lovers as some of the crack athletes will appear.

The two amateur races will bring out a fine field of runners, and with such men as Cooley, Scott, Moody, Garrison, Casady, Casidy, Hill and others, the job of capturing ten handsome medals will be a rather difficult one.

The amateur races will be run off in the forenoon in order to give the runners who have entered a chance to recross the bay in time to compete in the Olympic games, which will commence at 2 o'clock P. M.

It would be in order for the Directors of the Alpine Club to drop a couple of names from their membership roll, as the parties we refer to have most outrageously violated the amateur rules by competing in all kinds of professional races.

Last week we received a detailed account of a "fake" foot race which was stated to have taken place on the previous Sunday at San Jose between two well known runners. Apart from the account referred to, we heard so many contradictory statements that we decided to withhold the facts until something more definite is heard in regard to the true nature of the "swindle." Several amateur and professional athletes and oarsmen are involved in the affair, and when we do publish the account our readers can rest assured that it will be authentic.

Captain George W. Jordan of the Olympic Club has returned from a much needed vacation, and will start in to coach his men again.

Coffin and Jarvis will probably not go in the mile walk on Friday, and the club novices will have a chance to win some prizes.

Those who intend taking part in the road walk of the Alpine Club from San Mateo to this city on Sunday July 6th, will take the train which leavss Fourth and Townsend streets at 8:30 A. M. Field Captain John D. Garrison recommends the men to wear canvas shoes, straw hats, woolen shirts and light clothing. All outside amateurs are heartily invited to take part in the walk.

The U. C. athletes are now enjoying a vacation and will not take any active part in athletics until after their return to college.

Albert Perkins, of London, has lowered the roller skating record for one mile 7⅗s. He covered the distance in 2m 59s.

Frank Cooley, the well known athlete, is becoming popular as an amateur reciter. He appears at nearly all the leading entertainments.

V. E. Schifferstein will attempt to lower the American record for the running broad jump at his club's games on Friday next.

CLUB JOTTINGS.

If the application of the Lurline Club is not acted upon at the next meeting of the P. C. A. A. A. the application will probably be withdrawn.

On Wednesday last in this city Mr. DeWitt C. Davis, champion light weight wrestler of the Olympic Club met defeat at the hands of an opponent not so heavy as he by twenty pounds. It was a catch-as-catch-can match best of sixteen thousand two hundred and fifty falls, to be continued from day to day until one or the other quits. The victor up to this writing is Mrs. D. C. Davis, nee Miss Ruby Arey The happy and heartily congratulated pair left on a honeymooning trip to the fashionable resorts immediately after being married, and carried with them the best wishes of half a city full of admirers and friends.

A meeting of the P. C. A. A. A. was to be have been held on Wednesday evening, but owing to the absence of Walter A. Scott, the presiding officer, the meeting was postponed to next Wednesday evening, July 2d at 8 o'clock.

The amateur clubs are in a quandary on account of the law against boxing. If boxing exhibitions are to be prohibited in future some of the amateur clubs are likely to follow in the footsteps of the professional organizations and go under.

A boom is expected in wrestling, but the sporting men who have been used to witnessing bloody battles for the last couple of years will soon grow tired of this tame carpet sport and resign from the clubs to which they belong.

The members of the Alpine Club are complaining against the location of their club rooms and it is not at all improbable that a change will soon be made. There will be a special meeting of the members at 706 Powell St. this evening at 9 o'clock for the purpose of considering an offer made to the club by D. R. McNeill of Central Park. Should the club decide to move to Central Park a club house will be fitted up at once in the park and the members will have the full use of the grounds for training on. As the majority of the members are out door men the chances are that the club will foster only out door sports in the future.

Grim's Gossip.

On Monday next, Marvin and Hickok will leave Terra Haute with their horses and go to Detroit.

Intending competitors are reminded that all entries for the Los Angeles meeting close next Tuesday, July 1st.

The bangtails should he well represented at Los Angeles. The rnnning programme could hardly he improved on.

James Boyd of San Jose will have his stallion Billy Thornhill worked, so as to try and secnre a record for him this year.

The time for nominating in the 2:30 trot at Los Angeles has been extended until next Tnesday. The purse for this event is $1,500.

L. A. Davis and Orrin Hickok were interested spectators on Derby day at Chicago, botb of them making expenses on the day.

J. A. Dustin has had another addition to his stable. Mr. Theurkauf, of Gonzalez, has tnrned over to Jimmy the fast gelding Lee.

The Rural Spirit says that Cy Mnlkey has purchased the roan gelding Tim Murphy, by Kyrl Daly, dam Maggie R., paying $1,500.

The Ione track is reported to be in splendid condition and the horses now there are all doing well. Ione will have a good meeting this year.

The Governor has appointed E. C. Voorhees of Amador Connty and E. J. Gregory of Sacramento Directors of Agricnltnral District 26.

Who will win the 2:30 class trot at Napa? is an open question at present and is a sonrce of much speculation among horsemen throughont the State.

We have received number 5 of Goodwin's Official Turf Gnide and as nsnal it is "chock" full of information for those who patronize the turf.

Mr. A. C. Dietz of Oakland, has sent his trotter Ringwood to the stable of J. A. Dustin, who will handle the Sydney horse during the fall meetings.

Are yon going to Los Angeles for the opening meeting of the grand circuit? If not wby not? The purses are liberal. Do not fail to enter on Tuesday.

The Detroit Driving Club will this year again carry out the original feature adopted last year of not charging admission to their grounds on the opening day of the summer meeting.

Dan Honig has purchased from Theodore Winters the three-year-old colt Rascal by Joe Hooker, dam Mattie Glenn. He is a fairly good colt and should earn money for his new owner.

As was predicted in these columns some time ago, Arol, 2:24: will never again come up for the word. The injuries she received in transportation will prevent the mare being ever trained again.

Jack Hallinan has two fine Siduey foals at the ranch of Smith & Sntherland which are perfect beauties He also has a yearling Director which shonld prove a trotter if there is anything in good looks.

For the great Blue Ribbon stake at Detroit, it is generally conceded that Goldsmith will start Simmocolon. As Turner will have in Suisun and Hickok, Prince Warwick, the contest should be an interesting one.

Jimmy Goldsmith evidently has Richmond Jr. on edge as I see that he has entered him in a number of purses back East. Richmond Jr. is a fast horse and his mark of 2:22¾ should be reduced materially this year.

Fred Taral, by Frogtown dam Caller On by imp Leamington, has been bought by' R. H. Cole of Los Angeles, from M. Berry of St. Louis. The horse will probably make a first appearance at the Angel city dnring the coming fair.

Rnmor caused me to say last week, that Mr. Albright of San Lnis Obispo had leased the services of Alphens, 2:27. From headquarters I now learn that the horse was sold ontright to Mr. Albright, the price paid is said to be $5,000.

Jim L., 2:20, owned by Mr. Linscott of Watsonville, has been taken from the stud, and is now receiving preparatory work at San Jose; C. B. Coffin has him in charge, together with Mr. Montgomery's Boodle, and several other good ones.

Gnido has shown such exceedingly good form since leaving California for the north that Mr. Babb, his owner, has refused $3.500 for him. The colt is a good one and sbould be very valuable for a stock horse when his racing days are over.

F. A. Sprague has been in the city several days during the week working up the interests of the Glenbrook Park, Chico and Marysville meetings. Fred is an active hnstler and already many entries have been promised for all of these meetings.

Henry Sears, of Woodland, has sent his trotting stallion Harry Nutwood to Sacramento, where be will be prepared for track work by Worth Ober. The horse is five years old, by Fleetwood (son of Nntwood), dam by Gold Dust. He is right bred, and should prove a trotter.

The piratical journal, Parishs Referee of Chicago, after stealing a copy of Racine's picture from the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN and running it as Dan Honig's Cartoon, last week republished it as a cut of Salvator. Keep it Friend Referee yon may be able to nse it again as Firenzi or Cassius.

On the day that Marvin trotted Sunol a quarter in 31 1-5 seconds, Bonner offered Hickok $100, if he would send Adonis a quarter of a mile and heat 32¼. Orrin refused the offer as, by winning the "centnry" he might lose thousands by giving his horse too fast work at this early stage of the game.

Among the best known to Californian horsemen, of those who won money at the Portland meeting were, W. H. Babb, $910; Cy Mulkey $380; W. Whitmore $180; Dennison Bros. $110; and Jay Beach $50. The Meeting was a glorious success from start to finish, and the Directors are entitled to great credit.

In a letter from Leslie E. Macleod, he states that $25,000 will heal his wounded feelings in tbe Wallace matter, and that suit will be brought for that amount against the owner of the monthly. If the news telegraphed to this city is correct, Inspector Byrnes and the Safe Deposit officials should also be made parties to the suit.

A drawf among drawfs was foaled recently in the stnd of Mr. George Brnce, Secretary of the Northern Agricultural Society in England. It was a Shetland pony, weighing at birth only 16 pounds, and being 21½ inches high, otherwise complete from tip to tail. The dam stands 38 inches, and the sire, Paris, is 39 inches high.

Much of the crnelty practised upon farm horses (and it is nothing less) is the result of thoughtlessuess, and pages might he written on the snbject. How often are horses jerked and yelled at in cnltivating, only making them excited and incapable of performing tbeir work as well as they would if handled quietly and gently!

Owing to the Fourth of Jnly falling on Friday of next week, the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN will be issued one day earlier than nsual and correspondents must be guided thereby. I am always glad to hear from all sections with regard to borse news, and can always find room to chronicle the doings of trotters or runners in the various portions of the state.

When Marvin started East with the Palo Alto string he took with him the colt Electric Belle, by Electioneer—Beautiful Bells, which had been purchased some time before by Miller & Sibley of Franklin, Pa. The youngster has been inspected by G. H. Hopper, one of the owners of Bell Boy, at tbe time of his death, and rnmor now has it that the colt will surely change hands at the reputed price of $50,000.

On Tuesday, July 1st, entries close for the Spring racing meeting, to be held at Helena, Mont. The programme is a good one, and as many Californian horses are at present in Montana, the racing should prove both exciting and profitable. In another column will be found the advertisement of the association.

G. C. Owen, who was formerly employed at Palo Alto Stock Farm, bas opened a public training stable at San Jose. Already he has secured several promising youngsters from gentlemen in the neighborhood, and feels satisfied that when once his merits are known, that he will have all the work he can attend to.

Harry Starr has his hands full at Napa, having almost a score of promising good ones. I have heard favorable reports from more than one about one of bis string named Oakville Maid, owned by Mr. Crabb, and if Dame Rumor is correct in her surmises, this filly will be a thorne in the side of more than one owner this season.

W. M. Murray has disposed of two of his thoroughbreds in Kansas City. The first is the two-year-old bay filly, Lady Scoggan, by Little Ruffin, dam Hiawasse, who has been purchased hy J. T. Speaks. The second sold, is the two-year-old bay colt Parapet, by Bnlwark, dam Nettie Brady. This one was sold to the Paxton Bros.

Mr. Winters has evidently tired of the services of Joe Courtney as trainer, for he has disposed of Joe, and placed Tom Conley in charge of the stable. Rey del Rey has received no hard work since leaving Nashville as he has been nnder the weather, but is now recovering and he will at once be prepared for his engagements.

C. H. Corey has taken charge of the San Jose race track, and it goes without saying that everything will be attended to in first class shape. A horseman himself, "Charley" thoroughly understands the wants of others, and those who attend the Garden city meeting, will have cause for congratulation that a good man is in charge.

Charles Davids has in training at the Napa track Nona Y., 2:25; Gold Medal (pacer) with no record; Josie S. by Ha-Ha, 2.22¼; Capt. Anderson's b m Eva L.; Mountaineer by Whippleton, dam Nona Y., and a couple of green colts. Several of these are above the average, and Charley expects to get a slice of the money at more meetings than one.

One of Hickok's horses is thns spoken of by the Terre Haute Express: Prince Warwick, by Alcona (he by Almont) dam Warwick Maid, by Almont Mambrino, the 5 years old, entire horse owned by Hickok, showed up splendidly in his work. He is a green horse hnt is sweet gaited and is sure to give some of them an argument before the season is done.

The Directors of Glenbrook Park will spend a large sum of money in preparing their track and grounds for the annual meeting in August. They have decided to leave no stone nnturned toward making the 1890 fair the most snccessful ever held in Northern California, and if energetic pnsh can accomplish that feat, I do not fear but what they will realize their wish.

Dr. Richards, a homeopathic V. S. of Delavan, Wis., has taken the colts from several mares whose time for foaling had expired and who showed by infallible signs that maturity was nigh. In most cases where the dam had made no efforts to foal, he found the foal out of place. In less than forty minutes he has the colt alive, standing on its feet and nursing.

Matt Storn is a rare guesser, or he has exceedingly good judgment. To all of his friends he imparted the information that Salvator would win the Suburban and Cassius get the place, and for the American Derby, he played Uncle Bob straight and Santiago for place. His winnings will help pay expenses until the Glenwood Park meeting, where his colors will be seen on the opening day.

Frank Baldwin has accepted the management of the Coronado Beach Track, and in a note he states that there will one day's racing given on July 4th. Frank also says that after the Breeder's meeting Coronado will give a big meeting at which there will be liberal purses offered and endeavors made to secnre all the best horses in the state to attend. The buildings and track are not as yet completed, but when the finishing touches are placed on, Mr. Baldwin says he will have racing grounds second to none in the State.

B J. Johnson purchased a few days ago from Edward Brown (Brown Dick) the three year old filly Ruperta, by Prince Charlie, dam Marguerite. The price paid was $10,000 a pretty steep figure for a filly, but then Ruperta is one in a hundred. A good many believe she is the equal of English Lady, and that means a good deal. It is a question whether Mr. Johnson has purchased for himself or for somebody else, may be for the latter.

Mr. Gilbert Tompkins, of the Souther Farm, has bu patented a new style of foot rasp which shonld at once spring into popnlar favor. It is so constructed that the horse-shoer can fill a'e parts of the foot at once without touching the frog thus assuring an evenness of surface for the part that is to receive the shoe. Mr. Tompkins is a close stndent in matters tbat pertain to the equine race, and he is convinced that the invention will prove of great benefit to those that try to keep abreast of the times.

"Broadchnrch" is nothing if not original, in speaking of the St. Louis Derby he says: "It was not much of a race—the St. Louis Derby. Bill Letcher was not in form and ordinary horses could have beaten him, but the other two horses were not fit to run in a selling race. Bill Letcher is only an ordinary little borse; any good horse ought to give him ten pounds. It is true he beat Riley at Latonia, but that was no true race. Riley was pulled so his neck was almost broken and besides he was carrying a barrel of whiskey."

Talking over the article in last week's issue on Sam Purdy, Frank Malone tells me that after Mr. Keene purchased tbe Stallion he was given two heats of two miles each, one after-noon at the track, but as there were a large number of persons present, it was deemed expedient to take private time at some other point than from wire to wire. The driver was notified of the change in the timing place, and drove accordingly. The two heats were accomplished in the clever time of 4:41 and 4:41½, although as taken from wire to wire, the time was several seconds more. Purdy was a great horse, and his like may not be seen for many a day.

Did you ever visit a pool-room and watch the faces of the crowd as the caller announced the positions of the horses at the various dividing posts in the mile? A large majority of those present have a "wee bit" on the result, and as their choice happens to he in a favorable position or almost "ont of it," the facial expression vary according to the teller's report The modern pool-room would have been a grand place for Walter Besant or W. M. Thackery to study character, for surely "all sorts and conditions of men" can be found in that "Vanity Fair."

The Oakland folks have arranged a bill of fare for their patrons, which is sure to draw large entries, and is a guarantee of a "big gate." Secretary Diamond has worked indefatigably to secure good entry lists for the stakes already closed, and who can doubt but what the events that close on August 1st will be equally well patronized hy the horsemen from all sections of the State when they are arranging their circuits. The Directors are all "old hands" at the business, and their programme is of snch a character that there is no chance for them to be distanced in the race of competition.

I had a pleasant call this week from President Kimball and Secretary Hook of the Red Bluff association and they promise to have things in splendid condition prior to the opening up of their new track. Every attention will be given to detail, and those who may elect to visit the Bluff City may he snre of a hearty welcome. It is now many years since first I visited Red Bluff, and no doubt many of the old timers that used to frequent the old track have passed away, yet still there will be some to talk over the reminiscences of early days when money flowed like water on quarter races, and thonsands were won or lost on a single event.

In that great French remedy known as Gombault's caustic balsam American horsemen have the king of veterinary remedies for animals suffering from spavin, ringbones, curbs and all kinds of bony enlargements, as well as strains, rheumatism, etc. This balsam is specially prepared by Dr. J. E. Gombault, ex-veterinarian to the French Government stud, and is imported direct by Lawrence, Williams & Co., Cleveland, O, who are the sole American agents. It has been used in American stables for about a dozen years and has relieved thonsands of horses from the above mentioned troubles. As a counter-irritant it has the approval of our surgeons, and has the further advantage that it can be used with perfect safety, for it will not leave the slightest blemish on the animal. It is sold by all druggists, $1 50 per bottle. Send to Lawrence, Williams & Co., for circulars, testimonials etc.

When Mr. Winters left St. Louis for Chicago, the intelligent correspondent who is supposed to pick up news for distribution abroad, telegraphed ont the following.—"There has been considerable dissatisfaction with the management of the races, which culminated to-day in the semi-officiel announcement that Mr. Theodore Winters will be conspicuous hy his absence from the St. Louis track after this, as will also his stable. Mr. Winters claims that Starter Ferguson is deliberately giving bis horses the worst of the start at every opportunity. Winters has also had a falling out with President Charles Green. He complained to Mr. Green of Ferguson's poor starting, but his complaint was entirely disregarded. A popular idea prevails out at the Fair Grounds that Winters is "sore" because of the bad showing of his horses. He has not made a cent yet, and El Rio Rey, the most petted animal of his gilt edged stock will not run again this Summer."

Mr. Manly came to town last Friday with a four-horse load of wood, says the Fresno Expositor. He disposed of the wood to Jim Hudson, the north side grocer.

On Saturday afternoon he loaded up with provisions and started for home. Prior to doing so he watered his horses at the trough in front of Jim's store.

With a flourish of whip Manly pulled out homeward bound.

Just before reaching Ferguson's place, about 25 miles out, where he was to camp for the night, Mr. Manly noticed his near leader belching water from its mouth. He thought nothing of the occurance at the time.

Arriving at the station, the horse, a young bay eight years old, standing 16½ hands and weighing 1232 pounds, dropped down in the traces a moment later to be seized with violent convulsion.

Mr. Manly and others labored incessantly to relieve the animal, but without success. At midnight the horse, in a paroxysm of pain, died.

At the post-mortem examination held yesterday morning, Mr. Manly found a squirming catfish in the belly of the horse. Its horn had punctured the covering of the belly, and an aparture fully eleven inches long showed conclusively what had caused the painful death.

"There can be no doubt," said Mr. Manly to an Expositor reporter, "but what the horse swallowed the fish at the trough in front of Hudson's grocery. I did't water my team at any other place. Some time ago I read how Mr. Baker lost a horse in the same way, but I thought, to my sorrow now, that it was a newspaper yarn.

The Ione Meeting.

The first class programme arranged by the Directors of the Amador and Sacramento Association has brought forth favorable comment from all owners of thorough bred horses throughout the State, and as it is the only meeting that is given up almost exclusively to the "bang tails" it can readily be surmised that at this meeting beginning August 5th, there will be representatives present from all the principal stables of the State. Rules of the State Agricultural Society will govern the meeting, except when the conditions named in the advertisement are otherwise.

The Directors also announce that stable room, together with all necessary hay and straw will be free to prospective competitors. The various stakes and purses are so diversified both in regard to distance and for the different aged horses that almost anyone owing a thoroughbred can find some favorable race in which to enter. Entries for this meeting close on July 15th.

The Horseman Guarantee Stake.

The Chicago Horseman, through our columns this week, announce to the readers of the Breeder and Sportsman, that they have opened up the Horseman's Guaranteed Stake for trotting foals of 1890, A stake of $12,500 to be trotted for in 1894. While there have been many stakes instituted for thoroughbreds which far exceed this amount, still it is the largest sum of money ever offered by private individuals or association for trotting foals, and no doubt the breeders throughout the United States will heartily support this great stake. Although the guarantee is a very large one, the entrance is very small, and even then payable on the installment plan. Entries will close on July 1, 1890. at which time $10 must accompany the nomination; $10 is payable January 1, 1891; $10 on July 1, 1891; $10 on January 1, 1892; $10 July 1, 1892; $10 January 1, 1893; $15 on July 1, 1893; $25 on January 1, 1894, and $100 from those declaring to start on July 1, 1894. Like all other produce stakes, mares not having foaled by July 1st may be nominated, and the entry must give the name of the mare and stallion to whom she is bred, and within thirty days after foaling, name and description of foal must be forwarded. In case of a dead foal, the entrance fee will be refunded. Nominators are liable only for the first payment, and failure to make any subsequent payments when due shall be considered a withdrawal from the stake with forfeiture of all former payments.

The Horseman guarantees that the total value of the stake shall be not less than $12,500; the main stake to be $11,000, divided $5,000 to the first horse, $2,500 to second, $1,500 to third, $1,000 to fourth, and a piece of plate of the actual value of $1,000 will be presented to the breeder of the winner.

A Consolation Stake of $1,500 is also offered to be trotted for within four days after the date of decision of first race, over the same track and under the same conditions and rules. This Consolation stake is open only to horses who start and win no part of the main stake. In case the stakes exceed in value, the guaranteed sum of $12,500, the excess shall be added to the Consolation stake, which shall be divided into 50, 25, 15 and 10 per cent.

As there are so many breeding farms in California that depend upon Eastern markets for their sales, it is only natural to suppose that this stake will receive a bountiful support from the large establishments here. Those who are interested will find full particulars in the advertisement.

Guaranteed Purses at Stockton.

On the first day of July the entries will close for the six trotting and running events offered by the Stockton Fair Association. Attention has already been called to these stakes in a former issue, but so that owners of horses eligible for these purses may not overlook them, we deem it expedient to call their attention once more to them. Four guaranteed purses are offered of $1,000 each for the three minute class, 2.25 class, 2:30 class and the 2:40 class; the payment of each of these is the usual 10 per cent., divided in installments into three different payments, the horse having to be named when the final payment is made.

A district trotting race for four-year-olds or under, is open to Amador, Calaveras, Tuolumne and all the San Joaquin Valley Counties. The purse is $500, which will be divided into four moneys. The Amador stake is for the thoroughbred division for all aged horses open to Amador, Calaveras, San Joaquin and Stanislaus Counties. The entrance to this purse is $20 each for all starters, and the Association adds $150, the second horse to receive half of the entrance money, the distance being one mile. In both of these district stakes we anticipate a large number of entries, as the horse breeding industry of that particular district has gone forward with long bounds within the past few years. In the vicinity of Stockton alone there are many first class breeding farms, and the highly representative stallions that are now owned in that immediate neighborhood would be a credit to any breeding farm in the country.

Remember the entries for all of these stakes and purses close on Tuesday, July 1st.

The Los Angeles Association.

A note from the Secretary of the Los Angeles Association notifies us that the 2:30 trotting race, for which entries were to have closed last week, has been, by order of the Board of Directors, kept open until July 1st, as there are many other large purses in addition to this one that also close on the same date; horsemen should read the Los Angeles advertisement over carefully and then make their nominations. The Association this year has surpassed all previous efforts in preparing a first class programme and also in offering very large amounts in added moneys, and they are well worthy the support of all horsemen throughout this and adjoining States.

The Grand Coast Circuit.

San Jose, Napa, Petaluma and Oakland have joined in together, and this week present to the readers of the Breeder and Sportsman a full page advertisement containing each programme for their respective race meetings, which will take place in August and September next. There has never been a time in California when so much money has been offered in purses as the present year, and the horse owners who may be fortunate enough to have winners will be able to recoup themselves for all trouble and expense that they may have gone to in preparing their horses for the season's campaig . The Oakland Association has adopted the novel rule of naming the majority of their stakes after some prominent stallion, and it must not appear strange if a Guy Wilkes should win the Director stake or a Sidney win the Dexter Prince, while a Mambrino Wilkes is liable to carry off the honors in the Hawthorne purse; as Mountain Boy has been such a short time in this State, we can hardly expect him to win the Electioneer purse, but there is a possibility that a young Dawn may carry off the money offered in the Stamboul purse. Taken all in all, the programmes, as presented, are good and arranged in such order that horsemen will have no trouble in filling their dates at the different meetings. There are still a large number of purses which are open for entries so that horse owners in the State should make a careful examination of the programmes and enter accordingly.

For the Honor of California.

The smoke of battle had hardly cleared away from the great contest which occured on Tuesday of last week at Sheepshead Bay, before the wires notified us of the fact that a match race had been made between those great giants of the turf, J. B. Haggin's Salvator and D. T. Pulsifer's Tenny. The excitement in regard to the Suburban had run high and Tenny had been quoted for many days prior to the event as the favorite in the betting, but within the last forty-eight hours prior to the Suburban's being run, Salvator had improved considerably in the minds of the public and as a consequence the two were almost equal in the betting, the Californian representative having many staunch and true friends. The word "Californian" is hardly proper to use in connection with Salvator except that the honor he applied from pride of possession, a Kentucky bred colt, he has never seen the Golden State, for although bought as a yearling he was sent on to the Eastern stable of Mr. Haggin, and as yet has not made the overland trip. However, Mr. Haggin's ownership of the wonderful colt was enough to make all residents of this State pin their faith to what they recognized as their representative in the great contest and when he won the Sururban, as is only natural to suppose, great joy was expressed by all who are interested in horses. For two or three days prior to last Weduesday the principal topic of conversation in all the hotels, clubs and popular places of resort was the great race match that was to determine the merits of the two well bred stallions. That California supported Salvator to a man is only reasonable to believe, for while there may have been a few who believed in the great sprinting ability of Tenny, still Salvator had shown himself such a wonderful colt that it looked useless to place money against him, and that the many friends of the Haggin stable had good grounds for their judgment was evident in the result of the race.

Kingston's remarkable performance of 2:06¼ made last year was knocked completely in the shade and from the telegraphic account, it can be readily surmised that there was less than a quarter of a second difference between the two gladiators, although the mile and a quarter was compassed in the remarkable time of 2.05. Mr. Haggin may well be congratulated in the possession of such a horse for we know it has been his intention for some time to add Salvator to the already large stud at Rancho del Paso.

The Undine stable owned by Messrs. Williams & Ramsdell have also cause for congratulation as they have during the week tended to enhance the value of California productions by winning at Chicago with their first class colt Racine. It is true that for the class of company he was in, the Palo Alto bred colt was in at remarkable light weight, having evidently been overlooked by the handicapper; by winning his mile as he did, hands down, in the really excellent time of 1:41 we may presume that hereafter he will have to carry lumps of more weight.

Not to be outdone by other stable the Maltese villa colors were seen first past the winning post on Weduesday last at Sheepshead Bay. The wonderfully good mare, Geraldine, making the short three-quarter track in 1:10, and on the following day L. J. Rose's Fairy was second in a race, the time of which was 1:09 2 5. Following up the successes of her stable companion Firenzi on Thursday defeated a field of good horses at her own special distance, one and a half miles, winning in the record-breaking time of 2:33. This mare has been a good bread winner for soveral seasons for the Haggin stable, and as she has just come to herself there is every reason to believe that there is plenty of more dollars in sight which she will add to her credit on the right side of the stable ledger. The thoroughbreds have started off all right for California's honor a id glory, we can only trust that our trotting ropresentatives who are now in the East will do fully as well and repay the owners for the great trouble and large expense to which they have gone, in taking their horses to the Eastern States to compete with the best there is in the land.

The Sonoma and Marin Futurity Stakes.

In conversation with several prominent members of the Sonoma and Marin Agricultural Society within the past few days, we fiud that it is extremely probable that an exceedingly large list of entries will be made in the Fulurity Stake recently opened by that progressive association. While it is true that the stake is confined to a limited district, still there can be no doubt but what the counties named contain a larger number of first class horses than can be fouud in almost any other section of California.

The race will take place in 1893 for foals of 1890 and as the entrance fee is only $75, the payment of which is distributed over almost three years, there is no one but what can afford to enter for this prospectively large stake. As usual neglect to make payment on the dates stipulated incurs a forfeituro of all payments already made. Entries will closo on next Tuesday, July 1st., at which timo thoso making nominations must pay $5 for each entry. $5 will also be due on January 2, 1891, $10 on January 2, 1892, $10 on July 1st, 1892, $15 on January 2nd, 1893 and $25 on July 1st 1893. The associa tion will add $25 for each starter over two and up to five, and $10 for each additional starter up to ten.

The district from which entries will be received comprises Sonoma, Marin, Napa, Lake, Mendocino, Solano, Yolo, Colusa and Contra Costa Counties. The Board of Directors reservo the right to declare the stake filled or not without binding themselves to any specified number of eutries. We fully expect to see a very large entry list and look forward with great anticipation to a uote from Secretary Maclay assuring us that the stake has met with unqualified indosement from all horsc breeders throughout the district.

The Northern Circuit.

The Northorn California Circuit announoes through our columns this week that they have arranged for four consecutive weeks' racing, beginning at The Willows on August 12th, Red Bluff August 19th, at Chico August 26th and at Marysville on September 2nd; $18,000 are offered in stakes and purses, the entries for which will close with the various Secretaries on August 1st at 10 o'clock P. M. The events have been so placed on the different programmes at the four points of meeting that there will bo no clashing, and the horses taking part will have ample time for rest between races of a like class at the different points. We shall have occasion in the near future to speak something further of this Northern Circuit, but in the meantime would advise all horsemen to carefully examine the programme as published in this week's issue.

Hugh E. Deane.

A sudden and much to be regretted death was that of Mr. Hugh E. Deane, which occurred last week at his home in Oakland. Mr. Deaue was never of pronounced physique, but had been fairly well until about three mouths ago, when a general failure of vitality began and the courtly mau went day by day down to the grave. Mr. Deane was created of fine clay, in the shapeliest mould, and within him moved all those instinctive promptings which make the gentleman par excellence. Modest and retiring, generous alike to all, cleaving to friends through all exigencies, he will be sadly missed at all councils of those who fancy coursing in which sport he found his only recreation.

Change of Entry Date.

The Directors of the Nevada State Agricultural Society have seen fit to change the time of the closing of entries for their annual races from September 1st to August 1st. This is a very good move, as without doubt there are many horses now eligible to the slower classes which will before the 1st of September, have secured records for themselves, and this fact would probably deter many from crossing the mountains to take part iu the Nevada races. By closing at an earlier date it will give the owners a better chance to place their horses in the races where they now belong, and will also insure larger fields of horses for the annual meeting at the Nevada Fair.

Our Tennessee Letter.

GALLATIN, TENN., June 21

BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN—It is many weeks yet before the racing season of 1890 draws to a close, but after the running of the Brooklyn and Suburban Handicaps, the races for the older horses do not excite much interest, and the racing seems to lack animation, when it is compared with the enthusaism and speculation that has made the two big handicaps such famous events. True it is there will be a great deal of stakes offered for the aged horses, but after the Brooklyn and Suburban, that part of the racing drama is overshadowed by the big stakes for the two and three year olds; such as the Junior Champion, Matron and Futurity stakes, and the Omnibus, Realization and Lorillard Stakes.

I, for one, believe the Jockey Clubs would make a move in the right direction if they would announce more stakes with more added money for the older division. What can a first-class four-year-old win nowadays compared to the winnings of a two-year-old or a three-year-old? Take the racing season of 1888 as one example. Proctor Knott, as a two-year-old, won upwards of $69,000, while The Bard, who won all his races but one, and who started in every big all-aged event of the season except the Suburban, had less than $20,000 to his credit. The same season there were half a dozen three year olds that placed considerably over $20,000 a piece to their credit, Last season El Rio Rey and Chaos—the latter a very ordinary youngster—won $46,480 and $63,180, respectively, while the amount won by the six largest winning 4-year olds and upwards of the season did not amount to as much. So it will be this season, Russell will come near winning $100,000—provided he retains his form, and Salvator, the best horse of the year, will probably stop under $30,000.

Let's give the older horses a chance. Let's do not hang up a mint of money for five and six furlong sprint 2-years old races, but divide the thing and see such gallant turf heroes, as Salvator, Tenny, Riceland, Kingston, Firenzi, Prince Royal, Hanover, Los Angeles, Proctor Knott and horses of that ilk measuring strides for big money and over a distance of ground. The rapidly increasing amount of added money given each season by the numerous racing clubs forcibly illustrates that we are still on the ascendency in American racing, but pray do not let us ignore the champions of other years and give all to the younger division. I hope to see some club remember the "old guard" when the stakes for another year are opened, and every old turf man of the country would dance with delight to know that we were going to have, say a half a dozen, two-mile races with from $10,000 to $20,000 to the winner.

Mr. Winter's stable of horses are now at Washington Park, where his horses are engaged in all of the stakes. Jo Courtney no longer trains for Mr. Winters, and he has returned to California. The veteran trainer, John Davis, of Missouri, has been engaged by Mr. Winters, and he now has command of all the horses. Mr. Winters has sold to Dan Honig the chestnut three-year old colt, Rascal, by Joe Hooker, dam Mattie Glen, she by Imp. Glen Athol. He has given to some relative in Illinois the bay colt Barrett by Joe Hooker, out of Countess Zicka. Barrett is a full brother to Don Jose, whom Mr. Winters has given to Pat Grogan to train. So far none of the Winters' horses have shown winning form, but under the watchful eye of John Davis I expect the horses to begin to earn brackets.

At the recent Morris Park meeting, which closed last Saturday, the stables of Messrs. Baldwin, Hearst, Ashe, Rose and Haggin captured $14,020 of the money hung up for the bang-tails. The Californians made a good start at Sheepshead Bay the opening day when Porter Ashe was second with Geraldine in the opening scramble, and Mr. Haggin's great Salvator won the Suburban.

Brown Hal truly astonished the world with his remarkable quarter of a mile trial at Ewell Farm, and when it was read in the columns of the daily papers and turf journals of the country many old Grand Circuit followers shook their heads and simply said "it won't do." Well, it will do, and it has been done. To me it seeemed an impossibility, but now a note from Mr. Horace Polk, Secretary at Ewell Farm, tells me that it was an absolute fact, and that not only did he pace a quarter in 28 seconds, but that when he did so he was pulling a road cart. Of the performance Mr. Polk writes: "There can be no doubt of Brown Hal's going the quarter in 28 seconds, for there were four watches on him. Ed Geers who drove him caught the time in 28 seconds; Dr. W. E. Henderson of Sardis, Miss., made the time in 27¾; George Thomas made the time 273-5, and Major Brown made it either 28 or 28¼, I have forgotten which. He went a quarter for John Bostick in 27¾ seconds once, but we never mentioned it for no one would believe it." If Brown Hal can pace a quarter in 28 to cart, pray tell me how fast he would go at Cleveland to a sulky?

Mr. Polk also writes: "We had a pretty well bred foal dropped on the 8th inst. in a bay colt by Anteeo, 2.16¼, dam Alice Russell, by Lord Russell, 2nd dam Aline by Allie West, 2:25 (sire of Jewett 2:14), 3rd dam Coquette (dam of Nutmeg 2:23½ and Col. Stevens 2:28¼) by American Clay. This youngster will be entered in all the big stakes now open, and we expect to be able to get some of the money with him.

Mr. Charles Reed shipped from here to-day to New York 48 head of yearlings, the produce of Long Taw, Miser, Muscovy, Imp. Mr. Pickwick and Forrester, Mr. Reed's own stallion. In the lot is a half sister to the Bard, and a filly by Miser out of the great Thora. There is also a colt out of Henlopen, a filly out of Sarony, a colt out of Bonnie Wood and a filly out of Acquittal.

One would judge that ill luck is now a very close attendant in the Scoggan stable. Early in the season the horses of the Louisville turfmen fairly swept their fields before them, and now they are frequently numbered among the swept. The Scoggan's had great hopes of winning the Suburban with Knott, or English Lady, but when the horses arrived in the East Knott had developed a splint, and after English Lady had been given an easy mile and quarter in 2:15 she pulled up very lame, which necessitated her absence as a starter. Knott was left with Dr. Sheppard, who will fire and and blister the big gelding, and English Lady was taken to Chicago where they hope she will be able to fill her engagements. I am of the opinion that Knott, famous as the first Futurity winner, will never win another race.

We do not know the particular Anteeo Jr. to which you refer, as there are several named the same way. Write to Mr. Keating at Reno, and he can probably give you the information. Dexter Prince is standard bred, and is registered; his number is 11363.

A. G. A., Chicago.

Will you please give breeding of Lady Tolman or Golman and her record? I understand she paced at Chico or Red Bluff in 2:31½; also, who is she owned by now?

Answer.—Lady Tolman is probably the mare you mean. She has no record, although she has started. She is by Frank Tolman, dam untraced. She is now under the charge of S. Montgomery of Chico.

J. E. W.

Can you inform me through the columns of your paper the name of the horse which ran second to Cremorne for the Derby?

Answer.—J. N. Astley's Pell Mell ran second to Cremorne in 1872.

Subscriber.

The horse which was 3, 4, 3 is the one entitled to third money.

Will you please give me the breeding of the mare called Fannie Malone owned in Sacramento.

Answer—By Niagara dam Fannie Wickham by Herald.

A reader:

Please give me the pedigree, description and date of death of the standard bred horse A. T. Stewart.

Answer.—Brown horse, foaled 1872 by Mambrino Patchen 58, dam the Harris mare by Mambrino Chief II, second dam by Young's Pilot Jr. He died May 29, 1885.

O. M.

Anteeo is now eleven years old. You had better write to Mr. Simpson to decide the second question, as he is probably the only person that can answer it.

Knight's Landing.

Will you kindly inform me through the columns of your paper whether two colts by the same sire and different dams can be called half brothers or sisters, or should they both be out of the same dam and different horses?

Answer—While it would be proper to call them half brothers, if by the same sire, still common usuage determines that only those out of the same dam shall be so called, when by different horses.

Names Claimed.

I hereby claim the name SABLE CZAR for black colt foaled June 12, 1890, by Sable Wilkes 2:18, dam Olivette by Whipple's Hambletonian; also,

HARVARD for bay colt, foaled April 20th, by Ringwood (by Sidney), dam Sallie Pierce by Whipple's Hambletonian.

A. C. DIETZ.

I hereby claim the name Sydney Jr. for bright bay colt, two hind feet white to just above ankle; star in forehead and small white snip on nose. Foaled May 31, 1890, by Sydney, dam Maye by Newland's Hambletonion, he by Speculation, and he by Hambletonian 10; 2d dam by Langford; 3d dam full sister to Bell Alta. This is my Futurity entry.

OAKLAND, Cal. G. W. STIMPSON, V. S.

Foals of 1890.

At Pleasanton. The property of C. W. Welby.

On June 15th, chestnut filly by Guy Wilkes, dam Bay View Maid by Gen. Benton. The mare has been bred to Director.

THE GUN.

Annual Meeting—Sportsmen's Association of the Northwest.

The sixth annual meeting of the Association began at Riverview race track, Portland Oregon, Thursday July 19th. The weather was all that could be desired, and the attendance throughout most flattering, very many ladies gracing the grand stand and applauding the more brilliant performances of the notable experts present.

Portland, Seattle, Tacoma, Spokane Falls, Walla Walla, The Dalles and Eugene had representatives at the tournament, all told, there being about fifty shooters in attendance, including Major Kellogg and J. O. Cadman of San Francisco.

H. T. Hudson, secretary of the association, and Buell Lamberson, secretary of the Multnomah Rod and Gun Club, had made every preparation in the line of accommodations for the event.

A large tent was utilized as a sort of headquarters room, and also served the further purpose of making a convenient place for the ammunition, gun cases and other traps usually carried by nimrods. Sandwiches and liquid refreshments were served from the grand stand, and the shooting continued the entire day. There was no interruption from the time the first shot was fired until late in the evening, when it became too dark to see.

No live birds could be procured, and the Peoria blackbird was the only target used. The targets flew sharply but few were broken by the traps, and the targets met with general approval. All shooting was under American Shooting Association rules.

FIRST DAY.

The shooting did not begin on Thursday until half past ten, because of delays in listing the participants, and securing the proper adjustment of one or two of the traps. Mr. Buell Lamberson acted as scorer.

At 10 Peoria blackbirds, four moneys. A. S A. rules.

By this score it will be seen that Conley, Hughes, Barlow, Smith, "Hope" Moore and Long tried for first prize; Ellis, Cadman, Brigden, Doty, Bingham, Lewis and Dodge for second; Kellogg, McCoy, Cooper, Evans, "Oregon," Close, Strait, Stein, Tolles, Hungate and McNorton for third: and Eberly, Herrick, Meek, Stewart, Riley, Paquet, DuBray and Eckhard for fourth. The money in each class was divided with the exception of the third prize, the winners of that shooting it ont in the next match.

The second match was won by Mr. J. J Evans with a clean score. Mr. Evans will be remembered as the visiting shot who did such fine work at San Jose in October last. While not a graceful man at the traps he has the "get there" quality. Twenty-five Peoria blackbirds per man was the match.

Ellis, Barlow, Conley, Brigdon, Du Bray and Fish, each hit 24 birds; McNaughton, Smith, Long, Eberly and Lang, each scored 23; Hughes, Bingham, Dodge, Stein, Hope, Herrick, Howe, Oregon and Meek got 22; Lewis, Cooper, McCoy, Doty and Dowell, each 21; and "Oakland." Fields and Ranert, each made 20.

The others made various scores ranging from 12 to 19. The prizes in this contest were:

First prize—One Colt's rifle, 22-caliber, donated by James Caraher, and $100 cash.

Second prize—One pair shooting shoes, value $7, donated by Eggert, Young & Co., and $50 in cash.

Third prize—One hat, value $5, donated by Stuffum & Pendleton, and $25 cash.

Fourth prize—One banjo, value $25, donated by Hoyt's music store; 100 Standard "A. B" shells, value $3, donated by Selby Smelting and Lead Company.

Fifth prize—Chicago tin pigeons and trap, value $10, donated by W. D Close.

Third was the Ithaca Gun contest, and was more interesting because doubles were sprung as well as singles.

The prizes also were larger, making it worth while for each shooter to do his best. The contest called for ten single and five pairs of blackbirds.

Forty-three contestants entered the match with the following result:

The prizes offered in this contest were:

First prize—One Ithaca hammerless shotgun, to order, value $50; donated by the Ithaca Gun Company, and $35 cash.

Second prize—One road cart, value $25, donated by Staver & Walker, and $20 cash.

Third prize—Six fine shirts, value $15, donated by the Consolidated Shirt Warehouse, made to order; 100 Standard "A. B." shells value $3, donated by the Selby Smelling and Lead Company, and $10 cash.

Fourth prize—One pair cut glass bottles, value $10, donated by Woodard, Clark & Co., druggists, and $5 cash.

Fifth prize—One pair hunting boots, value $9, donated by Protzman & DeFrance; one pair bronze vases, value $10, donated by Forbes & Breeden.

Sixth prize—One hat, donated by A. B. Steinbach, value $10.

Seventh prize—One gallon best gun oil, value $2, donated by D. M. Dunne.

Messrs. Conley & McNaughton, who got eighteen out of twenty possible birds sold the gun on the premises and divided the money. All others who tied for second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh prizes shot them off in the next match.

SECOND DAY.

The second day's shoot of the Sportsman's Association of the Northwest opened promptly at 10 o'clock. The attendance was larger than on the opening day and the shooting owing to the importance of the matches were more exciting Match No. 4, postponed from Thursday, was first shot off. The Tolley gun contest and the champion banner matches followed. Match No. 7 was omitted and the Winchester gun contest (shooting at 5 singles and 3 triplets with Winchester guns only) closed the shooting for the day. The last contest was the most exciting. The shoolers tried their best to down three birds at a time, but most of them were in big luck in getting two.

The day opened with the match for the individual championship of the Northwest held by Mr. A. W, Du Bray.

At 20 Peoria blackbirds.

First prize—The champion gold medal, valued at $250; presented to the association by the Multnomah Rod and Gun Club, of Portland, and one 18x22 photograph of the winner; value, $15; donated by E. W. Moore, photographer.

Second prize—Fifteen per cent of entrance money.

Third prize—Ten per cent of entrance money.

Fourth prize—One box Schiller cigars; value, $10; donated by Sichel & Mayer; 100 standard "A. B." shells, value, $3, donated by Selby Smelting & Lead Company.

Fifth prize—One hammock, value, $5; donated by Zan Bros.'

Sixth prize—One gallon best gun oil, value $2, donated by D. M. Dunne.

In the match Cooper and Fisk each got twenty birds. They shot the tie off soon after and Cooper bringing down twenty more was the winner. Fisk got eighteen in the shoot. The other prizes were variously divided, some of the ties being shot off, lots being drawn for others, and the remaining ones were divided even.

The next match was the Tolley gun contest at five singles and three pair of blackbirds. There were forty-two entries, and the score was as follows:

Eberly, Doty, Barlow, Brigdon and Burgess, killing the full number, divided the first prize. The other prizes were variously divided, some pro rata and the balance were shot off. The prizes were:

First prize—One gun, value $100, donated by Parker Bros., and $50 cash.

Second prize—Three lots in Yaquina, value $125, donated by Charles Sliter, and $20 in cash.

Third prize—One Remington rifle, value $18, donated by Randlaub & Raubert; $10 cash, and one bat, value $5, donated by Arthur Kohn; 100 Selby loaded shells, value $3, donated by Selby Smelting and Lead Co.

Fourth prize—One silk umbrella, value $7, donated by A. Roberts & Co., and one gallon best gun oil, donated by D. M. Dunne, value $2.

Next came a team match participated in by twelve teams of two men each. The shooting was at ten singles instead of ten singles and five doubles as was announced on the programme. The following is the score:

Cooper and Doty bringing down twenty birds were awarded first prize, 60 per cent of the entrance money. The second prize was 30 per cent of the entrance money and the third 10 per cent. Besides these prizes there were prizes for the highest individual score—one bronze hunting piece, value $15, donated by A. Feldenhesmer, and 100 Selby standard shells, value $3, donated by Selby Smelting and Lead Company—and lowest individual score—one case claret, value $9, donated by Charles Kohn & Co.

All these prizes were divided, with the exception of one or two, which were shot for.

The most important match of the day was the Globe trophy contest. Instead of using ten live birds, the shooters shot at twenty-five Peoria blackbirds. There were twenty-eight entries, and the shooting was lively. The following is the result of the shoot:

Dr. Smith	18	Echardt	21
T. Bringham	24	Collins	20
Herrick	22	Muir	20
Du Bray	17	H. J. Burrell	17
Conley	21	Oregon, Jr	12
Fisk	21	Dolly	20
Eberly	24	Cooper	25
Barlow	22	Evans	23
Lewis	25	Cadman	22
McNaught	24	Howe	10
McCoy	18	Oregon	22
Ellis	23	Long	24
Dodge	21	Briggs	24
Gibson	16

Lewis and Cooper making a full score, were obliged to shoot off the tie. This gave the victory to Cooper, who brought down twenty more straight, Lewis missing his twentieth bird. The Globe trophy is presented by the Tacoma Globe and is valued at $350.

HIGHEST AVERAGE PRIZES.

The following highest average prizes were awarded at the close of the day's shooting:

First prize—Gold badge—W. A. Eberly.

Second prize—Three lots in Yaquina.—E. S. Barlow.

Third prize—Two gallons of whisky.—F. Conley.

Fourth prize—Silver cup and saucer.—D. Cooper.

Fifth prize—Ink stand.—A. W. McNaughton.

Sixth prize—Dressing case.—T. A. Bringham.

On Friday evening the annual election of officers of the Association occurred and the following gentlemen were selected: T. A. Bringham, Tacoma, president; H. H. Lewis, Seattle, first vice-president; H. A. Herrick, Spokane Falls, second vice-president; and Fred McBroom, Spokane Falls, secretary and treasurer. It was decided to hold the next annual tournament in Spokane Falls next June, the exact time to be decided later.

Gun Club.

The Gun Club held its regular monthly meeting at Oakland Trotting Park on Saturday last. The day was cool and the birds lively.

The match was at 12 birds, A. S. A. rules, for club prizes, and the scores were:

R. B. Woodward, 30 yards	2	1	1	2	1	1	2	2	1	2	2	2—12
H. Black, 30 yds	0	0	1	1	2	0	0	2	0	1	1	1— 7

F. H. Swett	1	1	2	1	1	2	2	1	0	1	1	2—11

After the regular shoot a pool was made up. The entrance fee was placed at $2.50, and five birds to be shot at, resulting in first prize being won by Mr. Hamilton. Following is the score:

Swett	1	1	1	1	0—4
Woodward	1	1	1	1	0—4
Tallant	1	1	1	1	0—4
Webster	1	1	1	1	0—4
Hamilton	1	1	1	1	1--5

The California Wing Shooting Club is to meet at Oakland Trotting Park to-morrow at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Rolla O. Heikes who shot with the Dimick aggregation here a few months ago is soon to shoot a match with Mr. J. A. R. Elliott at 100 live birds for $100 a side, 30 yards rise, 5 ground traps, use of one barrel only.

Fun at Grass Valley.

The Grass Valley Sportsman's Club, one of the oldest and most firmly knit sportsman's organizations on the coast has for many years held semi-annual rennions in the field. One in June when doves are plenty and one in the fall when quail shooting is at its best. The club throughout its membership is unexceptionable from the sportsman's standpoint, its members being not only good shots and very fond of sport but also considerate men, alive to all public interests tending to elevate sport and particularly awake to the necessity which exists that men who desire to shoot or fish, either upon public lands or upon the properties of their neighbors should recognize rights of ownership and should practice the amenities, lacking which man is but a savage. On Saturday last the club and its invited guests drove down to Ben. Van Slyke's fine foothill ranch, some fifteen miles below Grass Valley to hold its dove reunion and camp stew for the year. The season of course militates against the presence of many visitors from a distance. Most men who are able to leave for their vacations have already gone to the monutains or to seaside resorts, yet about 100 gathered at Van Slyke's and passed a day in such sport and jollity as only those royal Grass Valley men can afford.

Leaving Grass Valley at 4 o'clock in the morning the party by various roads reached the rendezvous in time for breakfast at 10 o'clock, some of them bringing doves, some cotton tails and one detachment which drove by Mr. Montgomery's having a sack of chickens which that free hearted man insisted were in his way. President Geo. Fletcher was there as usual. He always seems to be there, just why nobody has ever been able to determine. It certainly cannot be to kill game or else he would occasionally hit something. He is not known to be learned in the misoihility of lime juice, sugar and ice and tansy and cold tea and other fluids, although a legend of the neighborhood credits him like the Polar bear with having been known to "eat three tubs of ice, then call for soda water" on the morning after a day at Van Slyke's. Lots of people were there, Hon. Bill D. English and Dr. Matthews from Fresno were ubiquitons, they carried wood, stirred the camp stew, ate all the tid bits and cut up generally. Dr. I. W. Hays and Coon Seaman relaxed a little the stern morality which has held their Sunday-school classes for them for going on a few months. Sweet-faced Charlie Mitchell wandered about showing his familiarity with strange tongues and his newly imported whiskers. There was only one sad man present, Mr. Jim Shoemaker, and his sadness was because the heat was so intense and perspiration so profuse that he found it impossible to raise his spirits even though downing whole pints of the spirits of corn made perfect. Assessor Bond, Capt. Rapp, M. P. Stone and M. L. Elliott formed a guard of honor about a little booth in a shady spot where they seemed to be targeting pistols or something like that, if the popping noises were not misconstrued. That saintly man, Judge Dibble, tried to stand off unregenerate Geo. W. Starr in the matter of stew consumption, but after Starr had called for his fourteenth plate the Judge "smole a ghastly smile," rolled over on his back and was vacuous for the rest of the day. After breakfast Mr. Stokes, the caterer, drove everybody from camp in search of dover, and while they were gone laid the foundation for the thirty gallons of camp stew which suffices to feed the Grass Valley crowd and the special five gallon caldron which is always made for Mr. Tom Bonrne. The hunters began straggling in about 2 o'clock, and by 3 all had returned, bringing in in toto some fifteen dozens of doves together with many rabbits. The game was all cleansed and dumped into the caldron which was already simmering. After the seething mess had boiled and bubbled until the peppers and the onions were thoronghly disseminated, the game and chickens cooked just right, the bacon and potatoes done to a toothsomeness, fit for Rev. Mr. Bowman or any other connoisenr, the hundred hungry sportsmen grabbed each his pannikin and set about that stew in a way to recall the King of the Cannibal Islands. An hour of quiet munching and sipping and sighing and smacking and calling for more followed, until there was no more stew nor any bread, nor even tea or anything in the jugs, and a melancholy settled down over the outfit broken only by a consentaneous convulsive sob as Fletcher and two or three other jokers falsely so called attempted to say funny things. The evening shadows gathered and through them sportsman after sportsman stole silently away to assimilate stew until the fall when the club again will gather at Van Slyke's to pour other oblations to Diana.

The match between Messrs. C. B. Smith and C. J. Haas and Crittenden Robinson and Ed Fay is off.

The organization styled the Sportsman's Protective Association of California has issued a pamphlet, the central idea of which is to discourage the formation and maintenance of clubs of sportsmen which shall lease or acquire by purchase and preserve suitable tracts of ground or water upon which to hunt. The pamphlet is a rehash of what has been said from time to time by one or two rather thoughtless and inconsiderate sportsman's journals. There is no argument in it and the sentiment is rot. The Protective Association has neither sympathy nor support at the hands of sportsmen generally. Its animus is unworthy, its methods are questionable, and it is, altogether, a good thing to let alone severely.

In sending a report of the Portland Tournament, Major S. I. Kellogg, adds these characteristic notes:

"Oregon and Washington full of woods. Woods full of shooters. Shooters full of "get there" and enthusiasm. California boys here, full of "get left" and despair. Cadman shooting like a sky rocket. Your humble servant sampling local mud and soup with a big and varied stock to draw from.

Tournament a success. "Walk around" system used to everyone's satisfaction. No live birds to be had for love or money. Peoria blackbird used exclusively. Everybody asking "Where's that duffer Maynard?" We sympathize with friend Cadwallader in his trouble and miss him. Where's Dr. Taber and all the other California shots who ought to be here? This is a great country. You should be here to sample the strawberries and see the pretty girls. Du Bray says, "Come to breakfast" No more. Yours, ready! pull! !"

The supervisors of Lake County have changed the game law for that county so that the open season for quails is from August 20th to March 1st. For deer, from June 1st to October 15th.

Mr. W. J. Fox, the affable and popular book keeper at Messrs Clabrough, Golcher and & Co's. returned from his first wedding trip on Wednesday last. Seasonable compliments are offered to him and the favored help-meet.

Rarely indeed is it that the same photographic plate imprints the counterfeit presentment of an individual with an interval of fifty years between the pictures, yet such appears upon a photograph recently received by Mr. E. T. Allen of this City from John P. Lovell of the John P. Lovell Arms Co., of Boston. Mr. Lovell was born in Braintree Mass. on July 25th 1820. Commenced business in Dock Square, Boston, on June 13th 1840 on which day he had a daguerreotype made of himself, which shows a pleasant faced, bright-eyed shock headed, chokered young man in decidedly antique costume. He has remained in business in Boston ever since, and on June 13th 1890, just fifty years after beginning business, he was again photographed. The picture showing a portly, slightly bowed, bald-headed., firm jawed, shrewd looking old gentleman of seventy years. The employes of his firm feted him at the Quincy House in Boston, on the fiftieth anniversary of his business life, and presented to him a beautiful, gold-headed, ebony cane. He was then invited to the residence of his son, Col. Ben. S. Lovell, in East Weymouth, where forty or more of his associates of his early business life had gathered to do honor to their old friend. Such an occasion must have been one of great interest. Mr. Lovell is of that sterling type of business men now fast passing away, whose ambition was first to preserve business honor inviolate, second to deal only in articles of excellence, and thirdly to extend business connections only by legitimate means.

THE KENNEL.

Dog owners are requested to send for publication the earliest possible notices of whelps, sales, names claimed, presentations and deaths, in their kennels, in all instances writing plainly names of sire and dam and of grandparents, colors, dates and breed.

Muzzling Hounds.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—In your issue of 14th, I read an article on muzzling greyhounds. You are correct. It is just as natural for a hound to pick up a hare as it is for a cat to catch a mouse. Give it to the cranks when they go after legitimate sport.

Chorea.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—Would you kindly in your next issue furnish me a prescription for my eight months old English setter. He has had distemper for the past two weeks and now I notice that his muscles keep twitching most of the time. I believe they call this symptom by the name of Chorea, but I have been unable to find any treatment for it. Would you please furnish me with one through your next issue.

J. A. CANFIELD.

[Our correspondent prescribes no easy task when he desires specific instruction for the cure of Chorea. The constitutional condition of which Chorea is a symptom is one that too often has its origin in congenital weakness, excessive mentality, what might be called hyperæsthesia or excessive nervousness, with corresponding weakness of the digestive tract and excretories. It is a truism that a perfectly healthy dog will not be troubled by the twitching styled Chorea, but in a general way it may be suggested, as it has been in these columns from time to time that the feeding of proper food, including meats and bones, access to pure water, with a few doses of cod liver oil and hypophosphites, and perhaps the administration of some alterative and tonic such as strychnia, in combination with iron or quinia, are as likely to correct the general condition of the dog as any other lines of treatment. Success is more probable in the case of young animals than in those which have gone beyond a year in age. If in a litter the Choreaic tendency is manifested generally, it is probably the best course to destroy those dogs affected, and in the future breeding, select some other sire. Life is too short to make it worth while to tinker with a twitching, weakly, badly nourished beast that at best is only capable of slight exertion and is liable at any time to fits or utter failure of the vital powers. It seems hardly possible that if our correspondent's dog has been sick only two weeks he should have more than passed the acute stage of his distemper, and we strongly advise that the dog be taken to the infirmary of Dr. Masoero, at 811 Howard street, and left there for treatment.—KEN. ED.]

Mr. B. F. Seitner of the Idstone Kennels, Dayton, Ohio, sends his last catalogue and announcement which may be had on application to him.

Mr. J. Martin Barney still has two Pointer puppies by Tom Pinch—Galatea which he offers for sale. They should be pretty to look at and good ones to go.

Attention is called to an advertisement of native foxhounds which appears in another column. The dogs are young, of the black and tan sort, and very good looking.

The movement in behalf of a inter-state coursing meeting is going along smoothly. Mr. Dominick Shannon reports several hundred dollars already subscribed and is sanguine the amount will reach at least $3,000. The coursing will be done at Merced and if the stake money or purses are large enough, plenty of entries may be looked for from other States and there is little doubt that if invited, Col. North and some of the other leading English coursers would send over dogs. Why does not Mr. Henry Wormington import some of the grand dogs which he saw recently in England? Such an enthusiast is fairly entitled to the best dog to be had any where.

Kennel readers will regret to learn that the pointers expected by Mr J. M. Bassford, Jr., and Wm. Schreiber, from their brood animals, Beautiful Queen and Sal, did not appear. Queen had been bred to Mountain Boy, a nick which had produced Queen's Last, one of the best young dogs ever bred in the State a year ago, and Sal had been sent to Los Angeles to be bred to Mr. Vandevort's Billy V. It was hardly expected that Queen would produce another litter, being very old, but Sal was relied upon for some splendid youngsters. Both animals gave every indication of being in whelp.

Mail orders receive prompt attention.

It is proposed to initiate coursing at Coronado. Mr. F. B. Baldwin, manager of the Coronado Race Track, writes that there are about 5,000 hares on the island and that he proposes to organize a coursing club. He will find active co-operation at the hands of Mr. Babcock, of the Coronado Hotel, and other sport loving gentlemen in the vicinity.

Judge Peshall makes a long and labored statement in his own behalf in the last American Field as to his relations with and views about the American Kennel Club. The statement lacks the accuracy, clearness and convincing quality of most of the writings of that brilliant man. It is to be regretted that he remains at outs with the Kennel world.

The Spaniel Club is increasing its membership rapidly. Those desiring to join may send applications to H. P. Rennie, at 37 Sixth St., Oakland.

A letter from Bakersfield informs us that quails are exceedingly plenty this year; on the Field Trial ground particularly, bevies are large and numerous. Bakersfield is fast resuming its position as the banner town of Central California for energy, public spirit and general attractiveness. Its young business men are of the rarest excellence. One of them, Mr. Henry L. Borgwardt is to be made Sheriff for the coming term barring political mishaps. His determination, thorough acquaintance with Kern Co., absolute integrity and general popularity will go far to secure general support for him. We extend the heartiest wishes for his success.

Mr. F. B. Dexter, manager of the Grand Central Hotel at Fresno and owner of several fine pointers and setters, visited San Francisco last week, partly to attend to business affairs and partly to select a few new songs to be sung at the next Field Trial. One of the most touching sights we remember was Mr. Dexter as he marched up and down through the muddy streets at Bakersfield last January dressed in his best suit of clothes, and warbling Annie Rooney, without regard for the sanitary future of the city, the expostulations from the police or the evident terror of all the inhabitants within hearing. He spent an evening at Mr. Schreiber's while here with Mr. Linville, Mr. Sanderson and a few more, and we have not learned whether his remains have since been identified yet or not.

REMARKS AND CONDITIONS.

Nominations and entries to all stakes and purses must be made to the Secretary on or before the 15th day of August, 1890. Entries for the purses must be made two days preceding the race at the regular time for closing entries as designated by the rules. Those who have nominated in stakes must name to the Secretary in writing which they will start the day before the races at 6 P. M. Horses entered in purses can only be drawn by consent of the Judges.

Entries to all trotting races will close August 1st, with the Secretary.

Five or more to enter and three or more to start in all trotting races.

National Trotting Association Rules to govern trotting races. Pacific Coast Blood Horse Association Rules to govern running races.

All trotting and pacing races are the best three in five, unless otherwise specified; five to enter and three to start. But the Board reserves the right to hold a less number than five to fill, by the withdrawal of a proportionate amount of the purse. Purse to be divided pro rata. Entrance fee, 10 per cent. on purse, to accompany nomination.

National Association Rules to govern trotting; but the Board reserves the right to trot heats of any two classes alternately, if necessary to finish any day's racing, or to trot a special race between heats. A horse making a walk over shall be entitled only to the entrance money paid in. When less than the required number of starters appear, they may contest for the entrance money, to be divided as follows: 66⅔ to the first and 33⅓ to the second.

In divided purses no horse shall receive more than one money.

In all the foregoing stakes the declarations are void unless accompanied by the money.

Please observe that, in the above stakes, declarations are permitted for a small forfeit.

In all running races entries not declared out by 6 P. M. of the day preceding the race shall be required to start.

Where there is more than one entry by one person, or in one interest, the particular horse they are to start must be named by 6 P. M. of the day preceding the race. No added money paid for a walk-over.

Racing colors to be named in entries.

In trotting races drivers will be required to wear caps of distinct colors which must be named in their entries.

Each day's races will commence promptly at one o'clock P. M.

All entries must be directed to C. H. Stoddard, Reno, Nevada.

W. H. GOULD, President,

C. H. STODDARD, Secretary.

Alcona 730.

Sire of

FLORA BELLE - - - Record 2:24
CLAY DUKE - - - - " 2:31¼

ALCONA will be a great sire, but four of his colts have ever been trained, and all have shown full miles better than 2:3', and two of them as good as 2:20. Two of his first sons each sired a colt as a two-year-old, and last season one as a four-year-old trotted a full mile in 2:23¾, and the other, a three-year-old, a mile in 2:31. With opportunities, Alcona is destined to be one of Almont's best sons Almont, for his opportunities, is beyond doubt the most prepotent sire of his age. He has 36 representatives in the 2:30 list; 49 sons and 22 daughters that have already produced 2:30 performers. Almont died five years ago at 20 years old. If he lived he would be but 25 years old.

PEDIGREE.

ALCONA sired by the great Almont (sire of Westmont 2:13¾, Fanny Witherspoon 2:16¾, Piedmont 2:17¾, and 34 others with records better than 2:30, and grandsire of Belle Hamlin 2 12¾, etc.); by Alexander's Abdallah (sire of Goldsmith Maid 2:14), he by Rysdyk's Hambletonian. Alcona's dam, Queen Mary, by Mambrino Chief (sire of Lady Thorne 2 18 1-4, and 5 others in the 2:30 list, and sire of the dams of Director 2:17, Piedmont 2:17¾, Onward 2:25 1-4, Red Wilkes Almont, Belmont and many other noted sires).

DESCRIPTION.

Alcona is a beautiful chestnut 16 3-1-2 hands high, and weighs 1300 lbs. His colts possess speed, style, finish and beauty, and if they don't trot they command the highest prices for carriage horses.

$10 for the season. Usual return privilege.

Season of Alcona and Grandissimo ends July 1st, 1890.

Grandissimo,

Full Brother to GRANDEE, 3-year old record 2:23 1-2.

Sired by La Grande (son of Almont, and out of Jessie Pepper by Mambrino Chief; Jessie Pepper is the dam of Ione 2:17 1-2, Alpha 2:23 1-2, Sterling Wilkes 2:31¾, and others) dam Norma, by Arthurton (sire of Arab 2:15, Joe Arthurton 2 20 1-2, etc.)

Grandam Nourmahal, (full sister to A. W. Richmond, sire of Arrow 2:13¾ Romero 2:19, and sire of Columbine, dam of Anteeo 2:16¾, and Autevolo 2:19¼ at four years old).

DESCRIPTION.

Grandissimo is four years old, will make a sixteen hand horse; he is a rich mahogany bay in color and perfect in style and action. $50 for the season Usual return privileges.

"Grandissimo" with limited training last fall as a three-year-old, trotted quarters in 36 seconds and miles in 2:40.

I feel confident that he will trot fast this season, and will be a great sire as his colts this season are all grand youngsters.

The best of pasturage $1 per month. Mares taken care of in any manner that owners may desire, but no responsibility assumed for escapes or accidents.

For further particulars send for circular or call at stables, one mile south of St. Helena.

FRED W. LOEBER Prop'r.

Sunny Side Breeding Farm.
Admiral 488.

Foaled 1867—Sired by Volunteer 55, Son of Rysdyk's Hambletonian 10.

First dam Lady Pierson by Cassius M. Clay (Neaves') 20; second dam by Diamond; third dam a running mare said to be thoroughbred. He is fitted in an eminent degree to produce colts that will in all respects justify his patrons in their expectations.

Admiral is the sire of Huntress, record 2:27¼, Sister, 2:19¼, Perhelion, 2:25, Nona Y., 2:25, and others equally as promising, but have not had the advantage of track work. He will serve a limited number of approved mares at $50 the season, with usual return privilege. Season ending August 1, 1890. No liability for accidents or escapes.

KING DAVID 2576.

Bay Stallion—Foaled 1883.

Sired by Admiral 488, dam Black Flora (the dam of Huntress, 2:27¼, Sister, 2:19¼, Perhelion, 2:25, Nona Y., 2:25), by Black Prince.

King David is one of the best gets of Admiral. He has a good disposition, kind to drive, smooth and even-gaited, and can speed fast. Barring accidents, he will trot in the twenties this Fall. His colts are large, rangy, and well finished. Will serve a limited number of mares at $30 the season, to end July 1, 1890. Every precaution will be taken to prevent accidents and escapes, but no liability will be assumed. Pasturage $4 per month.

RINGWOOD

THE FINEST SON OF THE NOTED SIDNEY,

Will make a Season at Oakland, commencing March 1, and ending June 1, 1890.

DESCRIPTION.

RINGWOOD is a dark, rich colored bay, black points, 15 1-2 hands, weight 1100 lbs., and a pure gaited trotter. Has shown great speed. He is now five years old. As a four year old he showed a trial in 2:19 1-2, and but for an accident would have received a record as a four year old of 2:18 or better.

PEDIGREE.

RINGWOOD is by Sidney, record 2:19 3-4, and is half brother to Gold Leaf 2:11 1-4, Adonis 2:14, Fleet (two year old) 2:24, Longworth 2:19, Sister V. 2:27, Faustino, yearling, 2:35. Fleet, yearling, 2:35 Memo, three year old trial 2:20 1-2.

Sidney is by Santa Claus, record 2:17 1-2; he by Strathmore, sire of 31 in 2:30 list; he by Hambletonian 10, the greatest of all producers; he by Abdallah. Sidney's dam, Sweetness, record 2:21 1-4; she by Volunteer, the sire of St. Julien 2:11 1-4.

RINGWOOD'S dam Alma; she by Dashway, thoroughbred; he by Belmont, he by American Boy; he by Sea Gull; he by imported Expedition. Alma's 1st dam, Fanny Cobb, was a great road mare, pedigree untraced.

  - Kate Taber (By Mambrino Messenger, he by Mambrino Paymaster.)

Foaled 1876. Black. Sixteen hands high. Bred by L. J. Rose

A horse of highest form and quality; of great excellence in every point; a type of his celebrated family; of marked individuality, spirit and endurance; never properly trained or raced, but shows the possession of great speed; perfectly manageable in the stable and on the road and track.

As he is sired by The Moor 870, a son of CLAY PILOT, out of Vashti by MAMBRINO PATCHEN, he is a most valuable cross for mares of either families. THE MOOR sired Beautiful Bells and the dams of Sable Wilkes and Margaret 2:28 (dam of Regal Wilkes, 2-year-old record 2:20½).

MAMBRINO PATCHEN is regarded as the unsurpassed sire of broodmares, having, among many others, sired the dam of Guy Wilkes and of Wm. L. (the sire of Axtell), and a son of his sired the dam of Axtell. The public sales this year have demonstrated with renewed emphasis the value of The Moor and Mambrino Patchen strains of blood. For combining particularly with the Hambletonians it may be called "the ready money cross."

GRAND MOOR will make the season of 1890 for a time at the Oakland Race Track and afterwards at my Ranch, fifteen miles from Oakland. Mares can be delivered at the race track to the groom in charge. Pasturage $5 per month. For other food, if requested, an additional charge will be made.

TERMS, $150 for the season, with privileges of return if the horse does not change hands.

Every care exercised, but no liability for escapes or accidents.

Training

The Trotting Horse

BY CHARLES MARVIN.

This great practical horse book is a handsome, three hundred page octavo, bound in cloth, elegantly printed, superbly illustrated, and explains in every detail the remarkable success of CHARLES MARVIN and the whole plans and methods pursued at Palo Alto as to breaking, training, shoeing, gaiting, driving, keeping, racing and breeding trotters.

Read what J. C. Sibley, the owner of St. Bel, says of this book: "In this work Marvin has let out all the mysteries of the craft, and it is so simple and plain that any breeder, owner, trainer or rubber who has any relish for his business can take a colt as a yearling and develop to the highest and fullest extent that colt's capacity as a trotter. The work impressed me so strongly that I have ordered twenty copies, and shall place one in the hands of every rubber on our farm." Mailed postpaid for $3.50.

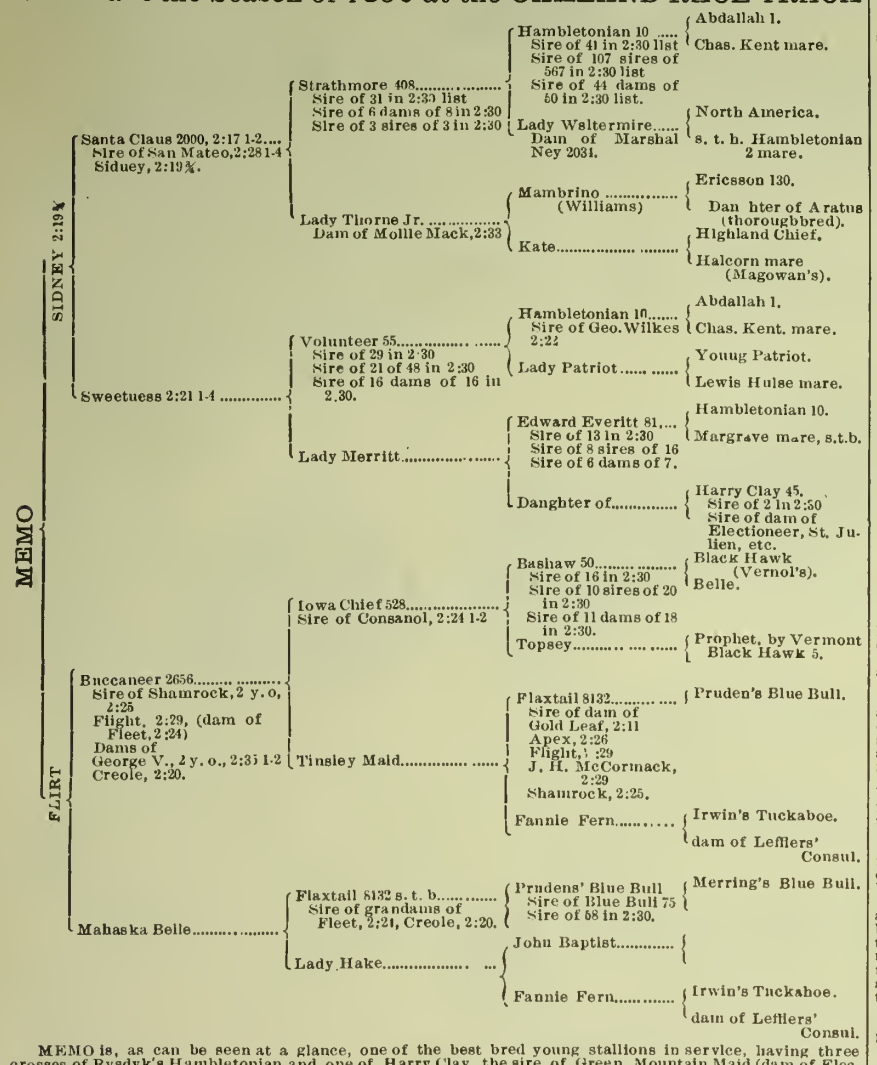
Memo.

The Best Son of SIDNEY

Will Make the Season of 1890 at the OAKLAND RACE TRACK



MEMO is, as can be seen at a glance, one of the best bred young stallions in service, having three crosses of Rysdyk's Hambletonian and one of Harry Clay, the sire of Green Mountain Maid (dam of Electioneer, etc.), while Long Island Black Hawk and Flaxtail also contribute to his blood. Sidney (Memo's sire) is universally known as the best young sire in the world, a producer of extreme speed at an early age.

PERFORMANCES.

MEMO trotted in public in his two year-old form, obtaining a record of 2:49, though he was close to Grandeeio a race on the Bay District Track, the second heat of which was made in 2:31. 1-2, the first in 2:32. He exhibited phenomenal speed when three years old, and had it not been for a slight strain of his fore fetlock, there is little question that he would have shown in public very close to the best record. On the Oakland track he was timed a mile in 2:20 1-2, and frequently trotted quarters in from 32 1-2 to 34 seconds.

As a four-year-old Memo only started once—at Sacramento—when, although out of condition, he showed great speed, and improving as he went on, great hopes were entertained of his going well down in the 'teens at the P. C. T. H. B. A. meeting, but after showing several very fast miles his leg filled and he was laid up for the season. He is sixteen hands high, and of powerful build throughout. His color is a glossy black, with both fore-feet white. His disposition is all that could be desired, and his action superb. He is a sure foal getter, only one mare being reported not in foal during his last season.

TERMS, $100, with usual return privileges, for a limited number of mares. Season to close JUNE 15th, when he will be prepared for track purposes. Pasturage $5 per month. Have leased the cricket ground adjoining the track for pasturage, where there is fine feed. Reasonable charges if fed hay and grain. Best of care taken of mares in any manner owners may desire, but positively no responsibility assumed for accidents or escapes. For further particulars address

Silver Bow

Will make the season of 1890 at the Oakland Race Track.

PEDIGREE.

SILVER BOW 11708, two-year-old record 2:37, is by Robert McGregor 647, 7:17¾ (sire of Bonnie McGregor, 2:13½, Earl McGregor, 2:21½, Mac D, 2:30, McGregor Boy, 2:29½, Mark Time, 2:30, Roxie McGregor, 2:20¾) by Major Edsall 211, 2:29, by Alexander's Abdallah 15—sire of Goldsmith Maid, 2:14—by Hambletonian 10—sire of Dexter, 2:17¼.

Robert McGregor's dam was Nancy Whitman by American Star 14, by Stockholm's American Star.

SILVER BOW'S first dam is Sadie by Hambletonian 10, sire of Geo. Wilkes, 2:22—sire of Guy Wilkes, 2:15¼—also Electioneer, sire of Sunol, three-year-old record, 2:10¾, and Palo Alto, 2:12¼; second dam Lady Wynne by Wm. Welch 311; third dam Elenora Margrave by imp. Margrave.

DESCRIPTION.

SILVER BOW is a handsome bay, no white; 15-2½ hands high; weighs 1075 pounds; of fine form, with the best of legs and a clean-cut, intelligent head. Is remarkably level-headed, seldom making a break; wears seven-ounce shoes in front. His record, 2:37, is no mark of his speed; he can beat 30 easy, and with his gilt-edge breeding, he is just what he ought to be, a trotter sired by a trotter whose dam was herself a trotter and his grandam the dam of two trotters. His dam Sadie being by Hambletonian 10, shows him to be bred from the cream of the trotting blood.

TERMS: $100 for the season. Mares not proving in foal returnable for the season of 1891 free of charge. Good pasturage and first-class care taken of mares for $5 per month. No responsibilities assumed for escapes or accidents. For further particulars, address

Limited to 15 approved mares.

Season to end June 1st, 1890.

A Dry, Warm Place to Sleep,

No matter how stormy the weather. All Stock under cover when it rains.

VISITORS WELCOME ANY DAY EXCEPT SUNDAY.

How to Get Stock to the Souther Farm.

The Souther Farm is one and a half miles northeast of San Leandro and eight miles southeast of Oakland. The stables are about one mile east of the county road, which runs between Oakland and San Leandro. The place to turn off is at Stanley Road, where a large signboard of the farm is placed. Guide boards will be found at every cross road. In any ordinary weather the roads are very good, and they are fairly good after the unusually heavy rainfall of the past winter.

All stock sent from San Francisco may be brought over by Garcia's Express, No. 3 Market street, San Francisco. They also have an order box outside of Hawley Bros.' Hardware house on the corner of Market and Beale streets. The express leaves San Francisco on the Creek route boat, which starts at 1:30, but all orders should be in the order box at Market and Beale streets by 10 o'clock, or at the office, No. 3 Market street, by 11 o'clock at the latest. In the case of very young or very valuable horses, the Souther Farm will send reliable men to lead or drive over any stock that will not lead behind a wagon. A small charge will be made in such cases, to cover the extra expense incurred.

Horses are very easily taken from Oakland to the farm, and where it is inconvenient for owners to bring them or send them, the farm will send after anything that is to come. On horses that stay three months or over there is no charge for getting or delivering. Where a horse stays a short time the actual time and expense only is charged to him.

Horses can be shipped by rail from almost all parts of the State to San Leandro. Always notify the Farm several days before shipping anything, and then men will be on hand to receive stock on arrival. The railroad station is but two miles from the Souther Farm, and the agent invariably gives immediate notice of the arrival of any stock consigned to the above farm, but when word is sent to the farm in good season by letter or telegram, the animals sent are saved waiting a couple or hours in the car.

Passenger trains leave San Francisco (from the broad gauge ferry) and First and Broadway, Oakland, at frequent intervals during the day. There are several trains from San Jose to San Leandro on both the broad and narrow gauge railroads; the broad gauge, by way of Niles, is much more convenient for getting to the farm. There are trains each day from Sacramento, Stockton and Livermore to San Leandro. In ordinary weather it is a short and pleasant drive from Oakland to the Souther Farm or from San Francisco to the Farm by way of the Creek route ferry boat. Always notify the Souther Farm just when you will arrive at San Leandro, and some one will meet you at the station. If you do not recognize the farm conveyance ask the stage driver, who will point it out.

Write to the above address for references, circulars and price lists. Terms reasonable.

A HALF BROTHER TO

ALMONT PATCHEN,

(2:15, trial 2:13 3-4).

JUANITO JR. is a beautiful bright bay, black points, with no white, foaled 1886. As a colt he has given much more promise than did Almont Patchen at the same age. Instead of being a pacer, he is a good square trotter, with every indication of great speed, and is so gentle and kind, that a lady can drive him. The owner's only reason for selling him is that business calls him away from this section of the State. He will be sold at a reasonable figure. This is a splendid opportunity for a gentleman to secure a first-class trotter at a very low figure.

The pedigree of Juanito Jr. is by Juanito (sire of Almont Patchen), dam Nettie Moore by Old Tom Moore. For further particulars, address

The most Popular Hunting Boot for Ladies and Gents in the Market

Prices Reduced. Quality Maintained.

These are the original Canadian Boots introduced by us nearly four years ago. They are made of waterproofed, oiled tanned material, which is manufactured especially for our Boots. The leg is made of selected alum tanned calfskin, laced up with bellows tongue. The bottom and uppers are one piece like an Indian Moccasin. The sole is sewed on by hand, to the sewed sole is added a tap sole and heel, studded with hunting hob nails. The Canadian Boot is very light. Ladies' and Boys' sizes being extra light and neat, and owing to its moccasin style is the most comfortable boot made. Men's boots weigh 2½ pounds per pair; Ladies' boots, 1½ pounds per pair. Men's high cut boes, 2 pounds per pair. They are recommended by the hundreds of sportsmen and campers who use them. The Canadian Boot is very popular.

Peruvian Bitters are made of the purest ingredients and compounded as carefully as any prescription.

Peruvian Bark, one of its principal ingredients, was introduced into Spain by the Countess, wife of Count CINCHON, Spanish Viceroy to Peru in 1630, who was cured of a fever by its use, since which time, no better remedy for Malaria and for Restoring the Natural Tone of the Stomach has been discovered.

On the Atlantic Coast they are used in the principal Hotels, Clubs and Restaurants, and sold by all Grocers and Druggists. We have sold them for the past three years WITHOUT ANY ADVERTISING and sales have constantly increased UPON MERIT ALONE, and we unqualifiedly recommend them to our friends and customers.

How Salvator Beat Tenny.

Although mention was made last week of the marvelous time made when Salvator beat Tenny in the match race for $5,000 a side at Sheepshead Bay, still further comment was deferred until we could get the report sent out by our New York correspondent, and although drawing on us for space give it in its entirety, so that our readers may understand how the race was viewed by the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN representative.

A day of yellow sunshine, almost without cloud; a day of soft sweet breezes that tempered the heat; a day when water ruffles and wrinkles, but does not wave; a time when trees are moving aloft without scorch of sun on the leaves; an occasion too warm for spirits, but not warm enough for ices; a June day when a worker in-doors, though comfortable, would yearn to clear out and go away where there might be waters, and foliage, and shadows—such were the conditions this afternoon down at Sheepshead Bay track, where the great match race between Salvator, the 4-year-old Prince Charlie and Salina, and Tenny, the 4 year-old son of Rayon d'Or and Belle of Maywood, was decided, and where Salvator was returned the victor.

And thousands of men who work in doors and out, had yearned and had gone down there by the sea where the waters wrinkled coolly; where there were big trees that made great blotches of shadow, and where the soft west breezes caressed the back of the grand stand while the crowds fanned and perspired on the benches on the other side.

Yes, women too—hundreds and hundreds—came down to see Garrison and his black colleague, Murphy, ride good horseflesh for a toothsome prize.

Two or three books opened on the race before the first event, but there was not much speculation, as betting men preferred to hold off for better odds. Only 2 to 3 was offered on Salvator and it was not until Jake Shipsey stuck up 65 to 100 against Salvator that they began to be interested. Shipsey's slate did not bear these figures long, however, as a batch of five $100 bills were handed up and he took the bet. Still the figures remained and the same man took $500 more. Then Shipsey concluded he was getting in deep water, and he hauled down his flag.

The big match was set for 4:15 o'clock. As soon as the winning numbers in the third race had been hung up there was a rush for the betting ring, and in a few moments the lawn was almost deserted. Betting men and bookmakers alike fought shy of each other. The bookies posted up 3 to 5 against Salvator and 6 to 5 Tenny, and still the betting was held aloof. Some small fry invested some $5 and $10 bills, but the big investors would not bite. Finally an adventurous bookie offered 7 to 10 Salvator. That was all the Haggin party wanted, and they fell on the bookies like chunks of lead. The bookmakers held out for a little while longer, and then cut the price to 65 to 100. Tenny's price was lengthened to 13 to 10, and although no big money went on the little swayback, the bookies were chary of offering more odds against him. Most of the Tenny money went on at 13 to 10, and when the bugle sounded for the post 7 to 5 could be had all around the ring against him. The best at that time was 3 to 5 against Salvator, and barrels of money were poured on him at that price.

In the meantime the horses that were to take part in the great race were getting their preparation. Salvator was taken on the track and with a stable boy on him was sent out for a warming up gallop. He looked in grand shape, and the general verdict was that he was fit to run for a man's life. His sides glistened under the rays of the sun, and as he galloped past the grandstand he was greeted by loud applause.

Tenny was not deserted by any means, but his toilet was made at his stable, and the public did not have a chance of inspecting him.

When the bugle blew, the expectations of the crowd were raised to the highest pitch. Race-goers came down to see a horse-race, and their expectations were more than realized; and as each awaited the start, and glanced at their cards, they saw in the place of fourth event these conditions:

The conditions—Match $5,000 each, with $5,000 added by the club; to carry 122 pounds; good track, the stewards to decide; one mile and a quarter. Salvator 122 (Murphy), straight 3 to 5, place out; Tenny, 122 (Garrison), straight 6 to 5, place out.

As the pair cantered upon the track, thousands of eyes follow the magnificent animals, and the admirers of each horse cheer them wildly. Grand specimens of horse-flesh they are, both of them, and their riders appear like part of the animals, so perfectly they are fixed in their seats.

Garrison, on Tenny, appears to be confident of winning, for he nods and smiles in a satisfied way at some of his admirers who chaff him.

Murphy, like the sphynx he is, looks neither to the left nor right as he gallops past the stand, but he wears a "do or die" expression on his face. He smiles grimly as some one shouts: "No grandstand finish to-day, Isaac; the Snapper's a hard one when it comes to a fight."

Now the racers are at the post. Mr. Caldwell with a bit of red bunting in his hand, is waiting impatiently for them to get on even terms, so that he may come in for no share of condemnation from the losers. He has not long to wait. There is a sudden flash of color and a strip of red flashes perpendicularly through the dusty air.

"They're off" comes in a chorus from thousands of throats and then a deep silence ensues as the noble racers sweep by the grandstand with Tenny on the inside.

"Phew, how they are going;" says a looker-on. The dusty track seems fairly to fly under the horses, so terrific is the speed. Salvator is in front, and Murphy is just rating him along. Garrison keeps Tenny at the hind-quarter of the Suburban winner and watches his dusky rival with an anxious eye. Around the first turn they sweep in a cloud of dust, and the same positions are kept. Murphy is seen to urge Salvator as they enter the back stretch, and like a flash, the long, rangy chestnut, opens the least bit of daylight between him and his swaybacked pursuer.

"Look at Salvator leave him," shouts a hundred enthusiastic Salvator partisans.

"Not much," answer Tenny's admirers as Garrison lets out a link and resumes his old position at Salvator's saddle girth.

The pace is getting hotter. Faster and faster the swift racers travel, and the far turn is reached with the pair still running so close and steady that a blanket would have covered them. Now the battle royal is begun. The stable boys lining the fence on the turn can see the crack jockeys take a firmer wrap on the rein. A grim look of determination settles on both their faces and they grasp their whips firmly in their hands.

On and on they sweep. Neither shows any signs of weakening yet, and the enthusiasm of the spectators is aroused to a boiling-over point. The spectators, men and women, mount chairs and railings to get a view of the grand struggle. On the far turn Murphy lets out a link on Salvator and the gallant chestnut opens up a gap and his partisans shout that all is over, but Garrison begins to ride hard.

"Look at Salvator go away," shout the delighted backers of Haggin's horse. Garrison redoubled his exertions, but as they sweep into the stretch Salvator has three pounds the best of it.

"Salvator wins in a walk," was the cry, but it was a trifle too soon, for under the Snapper's vigorous riding Tenny commenced to gain as they swung into the stretch. Crash! came the catgut on Tenny's side, and he went forward like a shot out of a gun. Murphy saw the move and drew his whip in readiness, but he did not use it yet.

"See him come, see him come," shouted the crowd as Tenny came up the centre of the track.

Soon the sound of the flying hoof beats could be heard by the thousands in the grand stand by the finish. Men's faces were blanched white and hard with sympathy and money interest; women sobbed hysterically and laughed and shouted. Then came a time when people held their breath, when they lived only in the eye and ear, when the lungs were strained and still, and when the heart ceased its pulsing and hammered the brain with quick, hard blood beats.

That patter of hoof beats growing louder finally helps to loosen the tension. It is an audible evidence of the great race, and the hush that hung on the silent struggle at the far turn is broken as the splendid animals come thundering home.

Garrison, the white jockey, is riding like a devil, and now the multitudes can see him plunging the wicked spurs into the heaving flanks of the willing brute he bestrides. With a bound the game colt starts forward, and as he does not collar the leader fast enough, Garrison goes to the whip. Up to this time Murphy had been sitting like a statue, but as Tenny began to gain slowly on the chestnut, Murphy began to ride. At the last furlong pole Salvator was two lengths in front. Garrison was riding like a crazy man. He dug his spurs deeper in Tenny's side and the switch of his rawhide on Tenny's flanks could almost be heard above the frantic yells of the crowd. Inch by inch Tenny gained on Salvator. Murphy has redoubled his exertions on the latter, and is riding for all he knows how; but, ride as hard as he might, Tenny still gains, and a great shout goes up that "Tenny wins." Garrison is riding one of the grandest finishes ever seen on a race track. He fairly seemed to lift his mount to the winning post. Twenty thousand people are yelling like mad as the horses sweep under the wire.

"Dead heat, dead heat," the shout went up as the horses heads go by the finish together. Salvator had won, however, by the shortest of short heads, and had the race been 20 yards further Garrison's magnificent riding would have landed Tenny a winner.

A wild, glad shout went up as the time was put up. The record of 2:06¼ was beaten one and one-half seconds, and the judges hoisted 2:05 as the time. The fractional times were as follows: First quarter, 25 seconds; half mile, :49¾; five furlongs, 1:02½; three-fourths, 1:14¾; seventh-eighths, 1:28¼: mile, 1:39¾; mile and an eighth, 1:52¾, and the mile and a quarter in 2:05. Mutuals paid $8 20.

Much has been said and written about the ownership of the American Derby winner, and how he passed through many hands before becoming the property of the Chicago Stable. And now a story comes from the East that shows how easy it is for the shrewdest of horsemen to be mistaken and overreach a little in a trade. Last fall when Sam Bryant had an auction sale of his horses at Jerome Park, among which were Come to-Taw and Uncle Bob, he placed a reserve price of $4,000 on the latter. The gelding was knocked down at that figure to a bidder for Sire Bros., but on their being asked for the money they denied he was bought with their sanction and authority. Sam Bryant afterward saw them before his return to Kentucky, and they offered $2,000 down and $2,000 this spring, providing he was of any account. To use Sam Bryant's words: "No, you don't, young gentlemen. You are very nice, and I'm pleased to have met you, but I don't quite see why you should pay $2,000 for a colt which next year might be worth $15,000." The deal was not closed, and by their own sharpness the Sire Bros. missed possessing this year's Derby winner.

Examination of Horses for Soundness.

The following is from an excellent paper by Roscoe R. Bell, D. V. S., pertaining to very thorough examinations for deciding as to the soundness of horses, read before the Long Island Veterinary Society at the April meeting:

I know of no branch of veterinary science in which there is more clashing of professional opinion, nor one upon which careful study and observation will yield more satisfactory results, than that very profitable department of our peculiar calling, known as "Examinations for Soundness." I can only give you a rough outline of the views of some of the many writers who have had occasion to discuss this subject interspersed with a limited amount of original thought gained in the course of a short practice.

Each year I have become more and more convinced of the value of this branch of our profession to the community, and judging by the increased demand for such services, I am led to believe that the public are imbued with the same estimate of it. Very few gentlemen in the large cities will now purchase a valuable animal upon their own judgment or upon the representations of the dealer. They want to know from a veterinary surgeon, not only if a horse is sound, but they seek his opinion upon the conformation, disposition, and general traits of the beast. I do not wish to be understood as saying that these latter points have anything in common with our duties; but I know that our clients invariably wish our judgment upon these matters; they lean upon us for guidance in their equine purchases, and often force us to an estimate of the horse's monetary value—a thing we should avoid wherever it is possible this side of actually offending our client. If the animal cannot pass a clean examination, they often make the issue definite by asking in so many words: "Will he do my work?" They want to know if the horse is serviceably sound. I am sorry that this is so, for I am of those who do not believe that it is an easy matter to say of this horse, "he is sound," of that horse, "he is unsound." This could be done if we had certain laws laid down for our guidance; certain things always constituting unsoundness; other defects to be classed simply as blemishes. We all know that a certain defect in one animal may render him unfit to perform work, while the same apparent trouble in another may be no worse than an eyesore. It requires a fine discretion, an acute judgment, and long observation to do justice to the animal and to the buyer. Nothing makes more enemies for the practitioner than examination for soundness. A dissatisfied dealer can often prove to any intending purchaser that this veterinarian's opinion is valueless by procuring a certificate from an equally reliable source, having a contrary verdict upon the animal's bodily condition. And each certificate may be honestly given, based upon conscientious belief. This comes from the fact that different men view the animal from different standpoints, and estimate differently upon certain conformations and conditions. A writer in the March number of the Veterinary Journal exemplifies this assertion by pointing out that a man who has more particularly devoted himself to the study of physiology would be more inclined to first familiarize himself with the state of the animal's health. He would inquire into the condition of the circulatory apparatus by noting the effects upon the visible mucous membranes; observing the character and speed of its movements as denoted by the pulse; he will auscultate the respiratory murmur, and note any physiological or structural abnormalities there to be met. He will look into the functional activity of the principal glands of the system; carefully take note of the character of the intestinal secretory gland, by watching the condition of the faces; of the sudoriforous and sebacious glands, by observing the effects of exercise for the former, and examining the condition of the coat for the latter. He obtains an idea of the quantity and quality of the renal excretion to speak for the condition of the kidneys. He will not admit to make a thorough examination of the organs of special sense, not only viewing the eye from every angle, but will bring his ophthalmoscope into requisition, to determine if there is complete transparency of the crystalline lens; if the vitreous humor is devoid of foreign floating bodies; if the retina is luminous and normal, and if there is turgescence of the choridal vessels. But, on the other hand, we find a man equally as conscientious, though more practical, who deems these details, if not absolutely non-essential, of very minor importance. He is spending his time in a much more practical way. He moves about the animal with a studied grace, and touches with a systematic and theatrical show and grave composure, his educated hand, making a few quick strokes of the neck, down the front fore legs, over the fetlocks; slipping back to the rear, he dexteriously manipulates the hips and the hocks. He brings down the admiration of his audience of the usual stable contingent, by a single glance at the incisor teeth, a fillip of the fingers in font of the eye to test the visionary powers of the wonderful beast, and with a dig in the side he is prepared to pronounce the animal not a "roarer." With a trot up and down the street he is then ready to give his opinion to the owner as to the soundness of the animal. So these two men observe the same defect, but it will have a different significance to each in many cases.

Again, personal experience with certain structural affections will influence an individual estimate of their significance. Those who have never met a case of sidebone, producing lameness, would be disposed to undervalue its importance, while the practitioner, observing hygroma of the hock only as a blemish, would not feel justified in sending its possessor back to his master; or he who has only found splents cool and located on the rudimentary metacarpel bone, would hesitate in dealing harshly with one situated a little anteriorly. But conversely, an examiner who is fresh from a poor result in treating such an affection as any of the foregoing, would pronounce severa judgment on such abnormalities. So there are very many reasons why two practitioners examining the same animal may differ in their estimate of the horse's worth.

We will not speak now of that veterinarian who becomes so expert with his "practiced eye" and "educated touch" that a careful examination is not necessary for a thorough knowledge of the horse's condition. The time has passed when a hurried glance over the stall door will reveal to the intuitive mind of the "born veterinarian" a perfect insight into the anatomical structure and physiological functions of the salable soliped. We have no patience with a man who can see in his "mind's eye" this same horse ten years hence, performing his work to the perfect satisfaction of his trusting client.

But, to the careful, painstaking, intelligent veterinary surgeon, who goes about his task in a systematic, professional manner, allowing no point to escape him, testing every function, and using every precaution to avoid overlooking any defect, carefully weighing everything which has a bearing upon a correct and conscientious opinion upon the condition of the animal he is called upon to examine, we desire to address ourselves, and try to assist him by an interchange of views.

Our time is too limited to discuss the many definitions of "soundness" which are as various as the writers upon the subject are numerous. I am not willing to deny that the definition given us many years ago by Mr. Percival is not as good as any that have preceded or succeeded his contribution to veterinary jurisprudence—so far as it goes. He says: "Any horse which is lame, or has that about him which is likely to render him lame, is unsound." But surely a horse may be absolutely unsound, and yet free from lameness. I should not employ the second time a doctor who allowed me to purchase an animal affected with pulmonary emphysema simply because he was not lame.

Professor Liautard makes a decided improvement upon this qualifying definition when he says: "An animal to be sound must be as near perfection as possible; must be free from disease likely to render him useless. We may find remains of disease, and yet he may be perfect enough to be a useful animal." I do not like that portion of his definition which says "likely to render him useless." He need not be useless to be unsound. He may be able to be useful, and yet his usefulness may be of an unsatisfactory character; and if he find "remains of disease and yet a useful animal" he is not necessarily a sound one. Possibly we may be able to arrive at a definition later on which will be the legal standard the world over.

To examine an animal thoroughly, we should see him at rest and in action; we should see him hot and see him cold. When at rest in the stall we are permitted to watch how he deports himself; what he does and how he does it; and especially should we note his first movements when being backed out into the gang-way, for I need not tell you the significance of the symptoms which may here be displayed. Examine him in the full light. Place him squarely on his legs, devoid of every vestment save the halter. Look at him from every side, carrying in your mind whatever irregularities you may detect. From this position there are many points which you will be enabled to note. You will measure with your eye how he stands upon his legs; their contour and the conformation of important joints and sections; in a minute you have seen if there exists a curb; if he knuckles at the fetlocks; if he "goes over" at the knees; and many other points of value to be remembered when you begin to look into the details. The more experience one has the more he becomes impressed with the value of a system in examinations. Begin at one point and dissect the live body, with care and with system, using all of our special senses. Starting at the labial muscles, examine everything of importance about the head, mouth, age, pulse, intermaxillary space, eyes, ears, parotid gland and temporal fossa. Passing down the neck, mark its junction with the thorax, the withers, the shoulders, the anterior extremities, the vertebral column, the chest, trunk; then do for the hind legs what you have done for the front ones, the hips, the stifle, the hock, and so on to the foot. Examine the inguinal region, feeling the condition of the scrotum, and terminating with tail and anus.

Your animal may have stood this examination with credit, and now you order him to be taken into the street. Though he may have shown no unsoundness at rest, he may develop it when thrown into action. He should be led by the halter, with possibly a foot of liberty, and handled by a hostler who knows his business. He should be trotted toward you, away from you, and in front of you, and displaying a regularity of action which only comes from the perfect working of every joint. If the defects be not in his gait, it may exist in his respiratory apparatus, or there may be abnormalities in his circulatory system. And we should not consider any examination where palpable unsoundness has not been found complete until the horse has been cooled off, after having been well heated up, and again submitted to an examination in action. Many imperfections are brought out thus which otherwise would escape our observation.

Now, what will we look for to constitute unsoundness? As stated, we will begin at the head, and look for malformations or diseases, employing all our special senses to help us. You are standing directly in front of the animal and you will note his age, which will display the natural or the artificial incisors; if he is a crib-biter; necrosis of the inferior maxilla at the interdental space, or caries of the teeth. Peering into the nostrils, we may find the pathological lesions of acute or chronic inflammation of the Schneiderian membrance; suppuration of the maxillary sinuses, necrosed bones, the ulcerations of glanders, or the petechiæ of purpura hemorrhagica. Dropping the hand into the intermaxillary space, we feel its bony walls for evidencee of osteo-porosis or other diseases or abnormalities, and running along the bottom of the hyoid space our hand may come in contact with the hot and painful fluctuating abscess of rhinoadenitis, or the indurated, nodulated adherent swelling of glanders. While stopping a moment here, you have an opportunity of getting the movement of the pulse as the glosso-facial artery turns around the rami of the inferior maxill. Standing there we will examine very carefully each eye, comparing one with the other, and if our ocular inspection be not absolutely satisfactory the opthalmoscope will be indispensable, especially so if there is suspicion of periodic ophthalmia, noting the changes in the lens, the vitreous humor, and the circulation.

Mounting to the occiput, one finger will slip into the ear for foreign bodies, or neoplasms and pass back over the poll for fistula or the cicatrix of a past one. The hand then seizes the larynx in search of anatomical imperfections, and by a gentle squeeze we test its walls for ossification of the cartilages, and, at the same time, will be rewarded by an involuntary cough, which may reveal much that will assist us in determining the philosophy of the lunge and throat. A look at the parotidregion may reveal marks of setons, cicatrization of evacuated abscesses, or traces of blisters, which would give you the history of a part larnygitie. Pressure of the finger in the jugular groove will dam the blood in a normal vein, and if the dilatation be bassilated in character we would suspect that our animal had been the subject of repeated bleeding, which may have been necessitated by such an unwonted affection as head staggers, or, if dilatation does not take place, our vein may have become obliterated from previous phlebitis. It may be that the trachea is irregular or angular, which might have been produced by fracture of a ring or from the operation of tracheotomy, which we know is often followed by the complication of roaring. It would not be out of place here to feed the animal just enough to determine the absence of a jabot, and to see if mastication and deglutition are performed in a natural manner.

The hand and eye passing carefully over the withers would convince us of the absence of fistuta, cysts, abscess, or diseased bone in this region; and keeping on down the vertebral column, and pressing with the fingers on arriving at the lumber region we would expect to see our animal yield gently as do all horses who are enjoying immunity from renal affections or whose spinal bone may have become ossified. A gross inspection of the sides of the chest may show marks of blisters, the rhythm of respiration or the double movement of heaves. While the ear, placed against the thoracis walls, will give the music of the vesicular murmur, as the air-cells fill in the whole extent of the surface of the lungs.

At the umbilicus we may find marks of hernia, and at the inguinal opening we look for the complications of castration; or if he be a stallion our mind would be at rest if we made a rectal exploration and found the internal openings of the canal alike on each side, thus doing away with the possibility of his being subject to intermittent hernia.

By scrutinizing the penis, or vulva, the tail and the anus, we are then prepared to go into a detailed examination of the extremities.

As a general rule, any lame animal is unsound; and as a rule we will not discuss whether the lameness is acute or chronic. If he is lame at the time we examine him, he is unsound. There are many pathological lesions and structural changes found upon the legs of horses which will not interfere with their action, and it is just here that judgment, reason and experience will stand us in well. It would be unjust to condemn horses for defects which we known will not interfere with their usefulness, or their perfect performance of the work exacted of them.

First we will examine the front legs, and in doing so we will not be hasty. We will observe his general mode of standing; whether his legs are on a plumb-line, in advanced of it, or behind it; if too wide apart; or the elbows abducted. At the scapulo-humeral articulation we would look for traces of setons or blisters giving us the history of a past lameness; and while examining here the hand drawn over the spinatus fossa and shoulder joint, would discover small tumors from collar-pressure. Possibly we have an atrophy of the muscles of this section, or malformations in the scapular region. The arm will very seldom be found the seat of disease; but at the point of the elbow we find cysts or neoplasms, which are unsightly if not unsound.

Arriving now at the forearm and knee joint, we scrutinize more closely to reinforce the opinion formed while viewing him from the side, and are careful to note if there is a tendency to weak knees, if not absolutely "sprung," and while manipulating this region we may find on the inside of the carpal joint an osseous or fibrous thickening, reminding us that at some time the animal has inflicted speedy cuts or blows, and storing this point away we are careful to note his manner of traveling to see if he has overcome that interference. Around the front of the knee the hand may feel a cicatrix from broken knee, telling us how, at some time, he had fallen upon them, but not necessarily denoting that he is a stumbler. We will find here too, enlarged bursea, constituting a carpal thoroughpin. We have now descended to the digital region, and along the metacarpals we find splents, which are unsoundness in some cases, calling into functional activity the examiner's judgment and knowledge. At the back of this region we find the important tendons which bear the whole weight of the anterior two-thirds of the trunk at certain times, and are very liable to disease, and should we discover sprains of the tendons, ligaments or sheaths, or indurations from previous inflammations, we know that sooner or later they will give way and the animal will not conform to our definition of soundness.

At the fetlock we will find dilations of tendinous and articular bursea. Much will depend on their dimensions, and it is always policy to direct the attention of the purchaser to them. The region below the fetlock is fraught with many defects, and requires the closest scrutiny and judgment, for here we find that most serious lesion, ring-bone, the simple presence of which requires an unqualified condemnation. Here, too, we will find on the inside, marks of old or recent interfering, while just above the fetlock on both the inside and outside may be found the small cicatrices of neurotomy; or possibly the new operation may have placed the scars below the fetlock. Careful examination of the front foot is one of the most essential points in the examination, and it is best teated by the hoof searching forceps for bruises or corns, or weak soles; while with the hand we will examine for side-bones, and having the foot raised from the ground we note if the plantar surface is flat or pumiced; if the heels are contracted; if toe or quarter-cracks be present; and our examination is not complete if we have not looked for thrush or canker. All of these diseases or conditioue are likely to produce lameless, and our judgment must be formed according the our knowledge of their condition when we are making the examination.

Passing now to the rear in our detailed examination, we glance at the general position of the animal. From the hip to the thigh on each side, noting variations in the size of the two members; the shape of the hocks, and the obliquity of the fetlocks. Standing behind the animal, with one hand on each hip, looking first at the external angle of the ilium on one side, then the other; noting if they are on a level with each other; and at equal distances from the sacrum. Here, too, we may find atrophy of the gluteal muscles of one side, not an unsoundnese of itself, but possibly connected with former lameness. At the coxofemoral joint evidences of counter-irritation having been applied to overcome positive or fancied disease of this region. Passing the hand down the femur, we reach the stifle, and failing to find anything abnormal, we proceed to that seat of dissention known as the hock. We will remember just here that a healthy hock consists of skin, bone and a few tendons; anything superfluous is abnormal. Around at the internal and anterior aspect of the region, we may discover a dilation of the synovial membrane of the tibiotarsal articulation, constituting the ordinary blood or bog spavin; or the lesion may be of the tendinous sack of the tendo-Achillee, forming a thoroughpin. At the posterior surface we will look for exostoses and curbs. There is a little unanimity of opinion among veterinarians upon the soundness of horses possessing these defects as there existe among astronomers as to the distance of the furthest fixed star. It is, of course, unnecessary for me to speak of exostoses on the internal aspect of the hock joint, as I think the profession is a unit in condemning every animal possessing such an addition to his anatomy. Personally, I not only reject an animal when they are present, but will not tolerate the suspicion of such a condition. There is another thing to be carefully watched for, and that is the presence of stringhalt. Whatever the pathological lesion may be, it is an unsoundness, and it is sometimes so slight in its incipiency that we may overlook it. Therefore the first movements of the animal in backing out of the stall are of special importance to us, and a quick turn of the animal may produce the symptom where it is latent in the forward movements.

If chronic scratches of the front of the hook is not an unsoundness, it is a great nuisance, and it should be condemned along with chronic greasy heels. Below the hock we have about the same conditions as met with in the anterior extremity, only that interfering is better characterized. Puffy swellings may exist at the fetlocks, and the foot should be examined, especially to note if shod for interfering or over-reaching.

THE FARM.

Feeding Swine.

When a young sow has farrowed and is in condition to feed and care for her pigs, her rations must be liberal and of high quality, says James Cheesman in the Farm and Home. The following will be a fair provision for a gilt with a litter of ten pigs, but none too much to keep her in good flesh: Skim-milk, 25 lbs: corn or barley meal, 2 lbs.; bran, 1 lb.; peas and oats ground, 4 lbs; a total of 31 lbs. This will give her about 7½ lbs. of dry matter per day. If there is no skim milk to be had, try the following (in either case carefully scald and feed in a slop state) three to four times a day: Corn or barley meal, 2 lbs.; bran, 2 lbs; peas and oats, 2 lbs.; oil meal, 2 lbs.; making 8 lbs. Cut clover and corn ensilage may be fed in the proportion of 2 lbs. of the former moistened, to 6 lbs of the latter, or still better, 1 of clover and 3 of ensilage mixed. These mixtures are merely suggestive, and not intended to be rigidly adhered to, as the market prices of foods will vary much in different places. It is very essential that the food of the sow should be well prepared to render it suitable for the young pigs. At 20 or 25 days old they take to eating with their dams, and if skim-milk forms a part of their ration they will begin still earlier Remember that a sow at 12 months old will likely weigh 340 to 360 lbs., and her maintainance and provision for a daily growth of 3 to 4 lbs. in the litter demands liberal feed at this period.

Sow's milk is the richest of that of any farm animal, containing from 17 to 18 per cent. of solids; it not only contains double the solids of skim-milk from cows, but five times as much fat as will be found in Cooley creamer skim-milk, and five and one-half times as much as seperated milk. The mineral matter or bone growers will be one-sixth to one-fifth greater, hence the urgeucy of full supplies of cut fodder and grain to supply the phosphoric acid and lime. A young sow, when properly fed, provides in her milk a larger amount of dry matter for the growth of her young, than a dairy cow three times her weight. Professor Manly Miles found by experience that Essex pigs consumed 3½ lbs of milk each per day the first week, and double that amount the second week, if the demands of their growth were properly supplied. Such facts claim from pig breeders great attention and careful observation to enable them to satisfy the requirements of the sow suckling a large litter. No wonder the less observing men fail to rear large litters when in too many cases they are unable to comprehend the power of early growth in young pigs. There is no greater test of knowledge and sound judgment in the farmer than ability to understand and provide for the wants of plants and animals during the most critical period of early infancy. A great secret of success is centered here, and no amount of food supplied during later growth will compensate for what is lost in the first three weeks.

The Swine Diseases of the World.

The following correspondence, recently passed between M. Jose Benito Perez, one of Cuba's most prominent swine breeders, and Dr. F. S. Billings of Chicago will, says the Breeder's Gazette, be read with interest. M. Perez has been purchasing some high-class pure-bred pigs from American herds and is naturally solicitous as to the health of the swine of his country.

THE INQUIRY FROM M. PEREZ.

SANTA CLARA, CUBA, JUNE 1st, 1890.—Frank S. Billings, Esq., Chicago, Ill.—Dear Sir: As I am the President of the Breeders' Association of the Province of Sta. Clara, and have read in the Breeders' Gazette concerning your swine inoculation, I would like to know all about it, and at the same time find out if it could be brought to my country, since we suffer greatly from a swine plague, but I do not know if it is the same as the one you have in your country. Now I wish you would answer the following questions at your first opportunity: What sickness does your inoculation prevent? How do you do it? How do we have to treat the sick pigs after inoculation?

Please send your circular as soon as possible and let me know what food I must give them when they are inoculated.

Yours truly, JOSE BENITO PEREZ.

THE REPLY FROM DR. BILLINGS.

M. Jose Benito Perez, Santa Clara, Cuba—My Dear Sir: Your esteemed favor of June 1 is at hand. We send you circular to-day. You are at such a distance that according to our experience it would seem futile to endeavor to send virus to you as we find it even suffers changes in transportation occasionally in this country, if kept too long, and then being fluid we do not know that we could ship it any way; but were we sure what disease you had we would gladly try it simply as an experiment.

The study of the infectious diseases of swine is still in such an embryonic and uncertain condition the world over that it is somewhat difficult to judge of them. To my mind there are at present but two diseases which can really be called plagues or pests. The hog cholera or real swine plague of this country (swins fever of England and swine pest of Europe) is the one really widespread and the true plagne, and the other is the rouget, or mal de rouge, of France and Germany and some other parts of Europe, but not existiug in this country. Then there is the disease known as schweine seuche in Europe, which is neither one of the above, and according to my present view of the matter consists of two or more distinct diseases, one long known as wild seuche, getting its name from the fact that it attacks the wild animals—deer, wild hogs, and cattle in Royal preserves, and another a local pen disease; and I also think the Germans include in the name the real swine plague—our hog cholera.

The lost named and rouget can be easily distinguished:

1st. Their germs are very different.

2nd. The rouget is characterized by a copper red color of the skin (which sometimes does not appear until shortly after death), and by its very rapid course and failure of pneumonia. Hog cholera has a different germ, a very variable course, no distinct lesions, unless you take the disease in hundreds of cases when a general picture will result. Sometimes the animals die very quickly, and again linger from twenty to thirty days. There are little patches of redness of the skin, but not constantly present. Sometimes—and most always when the disease lasts over eight or ten days—there is pneumonia, and again it may be absent. Then again there are two varieties of lesions in the large intestine, both of which are not absolutely necessary to the disease, and which are more frequently absent than pneumonia. The one is an ulceration, covered with a dryish yellow friable material and varying much in size and amount; the other is a so-called button-like lesion, blackish, bluish or whitish in color, hard and generally made up of rings, as when you drop a pebble into still water. Clinically speaking, this disease sometimes presents diarrhœa, and at others the animals are constipated; sometimes pieces of skin or an ear drop off. All this has made farmers think they had a variety of diseases.

There is in this country, in the Eastern portions, a pen disease, due to some germ which develops in filth and may be connected with feeding city refuse, to which our government has lately given the name of "swine plagne," which is manifestly wrong, as the word "plague" means a disease which sweeps over a wide extent of country. I have as yet, after three years' search, been unable to find it in the West, where I have worked entirely and where hogs are not penned as they are in the East and Europe, and it has not yet been found in England, which is not to be wondered at as they have very few investigators in that country. I am at present of the opinion that that this disease is included in the diseases named by the Germans schweine-seuche (swine plague) but do not believe it to be even the real swine plagne of Germany, which to my mind is either the wild-seuche, or our hog cholera; though where hogs are penned and fed on house refuse there will be much more of it than in other places. This disease is said by the Germans to be more of a pneumonia than anything else, though what it is in this country I am at present unable to say, some authorities claiming it, as the Germans do, to be a pneumonia only, while others claim there are intestinal ulcerations accompanying it. The trouble is they are trying too hard to find it identical with the German schweine seuche, which I am pretty sure is a collective name for several diseases. The wild-seuche generally kills in twenty-four to forty-eight hours, and is characterized by enormous deforming swellings of the body, out of which, when cut oozes a reddish, watery fluid, but if, as occasionally happens, the course is prolonged, then pneumonia sets up from disturbances in the circulation in the lungs. Ulcerations have not been reported in the intestines.

I have answered your letter the best I can, and would gladly aid you further if you can describe to me the disease you have, but recommend your trying to interest the Government Laboratory in Havana in your trouble. If they would investigate it, and send me cultures of the germ, perhaps I could aid them in deciding which, if any of the above diseases, afflicts your hogs. Very respectfully yours,

F. S. BILLINGS.

Sheep Shearing.

A few remarks on sheep shearing. The best method of sheep shearing has been imported from North Cumberland, England, and there it is known as the cullying method. To practice it grasp the sheep by the wool on near shoulder and off flank and turn him onto his rump; then set him up so that his back rests against the shearer's knees. Now take the shears in the right hand and with the left turn the sheep's head around to the left and clip all the wool from back of head, coming around to line of windpipe in front. This done, continue clipping until all of the right side of the neck has been bared and the wool on the breast opened out clear down to the brisket. Now let the shepherd take the shears in his left hand and the sheep's head in his right. Bend the latter down to the right over the thigh and commence shearing from the shoulder left to right, ending at the backbone. When the fore leg has been passed the shears may be taken in the right hand and the wool on the belly removed from right to left. Then resume the left hand shearing on the ribs as far as can be gone by stooping down with the sheep's head between the legs. When the most of the side has been shorn, the sheep may be laid down on its unshorn side, the shepherd kneeling on his right knee, with his ankle across the sheep's neck, thus holding the head down. Sweeping the shorn portion of the fleece around behind the sheep, the shearing may be continued until the hind leg is reached. In clipping from right to left over the rump, the shear marks should be made to turn forward into the nick over the tail, following the rounded shape of the hams. The remainder of the belly wool should now be removed, care be taken not to injure the scrotum or udder, as the case may be. The tail having been bared the fleece may be rolled out of the way, and the sheep again placed in a sitting position on the shorn side of his rump. The wool on the near side of the body may now be removed with the shears held in the right hand, and each shear mark or rib should join nicely on the spine with the correspondiug one previously made in removing the fleece from the other side of the body.—Field and Farm.

Veal.

French people, or some of them at least, know both how to feed calves for veal, how to cook veal, and how and when to eat it. By a certain process of feeding they produce what is considered a superlative quality of veal in from six to twelve weeks. At the first named period they bring calves up to 200 lbs. and over, and at three months make them weigh over 400 lbs. The average weight under the best management of the veal producing districts of Champagne and Brie will reach 350 lbs., and bring from £9 to £15. It would, indeed, be difficult to find similar rapid increase of weight in as short a time in any other country. This is their method of feeding. They feed nothing but milk, beginning with six quarts a day for a few days. The calves are muzzled to prevent the possibility of their eating anything else but the milk. The calves are kept in warm, darkened stables. The milk is gradually increased to what the calves will take with avidity. After six or eight weeks, to make the meat white and inviting, from two to six eggs are given in the milk The color of the meat may be ascertained during the life of the calf by looking at the color of the blood vessels of the mucous membrane of the eyes. If of a delicate light pink, the veal will be clear and white; but if of a dark color, the meat will be of a reddish-yellow color. The meat of calves slaughtered too young will be dark red, and feel slimy when handled. The meat of strangled calves is of a bluish red color.

Washing Butter.

Washing butter at too low a temperature will, says Professor Robertson, carry off the volatile oils. He recommends washing in a granulated state, with water at from 50 deg. to 55 deg. A lower temperature leaves too much water in the butter, and injures it. Salt butter by mixing the salt in the butter when in granulated state. A temperature of 55 deg is the best to work butter. Butter should be worked as little as possible. It can be injured by over-working. Churn the cream at as low a temperature as possible. Sweet and sour cream will not work together. By churning sweet cream, twenty-three per cent. goes into the butter milk. Cream from open setting of milk does not require so much time for ripening as that of submerged milk. Cream should be stirred frequently while ripening.

High Prices for Dairy Products Necessary to Success.

Success in dairying does not so much depend on high prices of butter and cheese as it does on cheapening the production of feed. A rich soil ordinarily produces large crops; large crops provide for an increased number of cows. An increased number of well kept cows furnish the means to buy the nitrogenous feed to mix with the cheap food produced on the farm, and thereby make it profitable. It might as well be admitted now that no man is smart enough to make money keeping a summer diary on pasture grass alone in summer. and mostly on meadow hay in winter. These methods belong to a past age, cheap land, and are slowly passing away, and the new and improved system of dairying taking its place, substituting intelligence in place of ignorance, profit in place of loss.

The combination essential to successful dairying will consist in enriching the soil with nitrogenous food taken through the cow, and the manure taken from the stable daily and spread upon the plowed land, instead of piling it in the yard to remain until the next autumn, and then plowed under eight inches deep to wait until the resurrection for any returns. Also to change the combination of cow feed from the expensive pasture grass, meadow hay and carbonaceous corn meal, to cheaper soiling, silage and nitrogenous bran, oil or oat meal, and by so doing make it possible to extend the milking season from eight months to eleven months of the year. Also to change the practice of producing the greatest flow of milk when it sells for 50 to 60 cents per cwt. to such time as it sells for $1 30 to $1.60 per cwt., with no increased cost of production. Also in removing out the antiquated notion that any beef cow is a dairy cow any more than the dump cart makes the best sulky, because you can use it on the race track one day and haul manure in it the next. Also exchange the cold stable, ice water and a hunt in the frozen corn fields for the noon meal, to a warm stable, warm water, remaining most of the time in the barn to chew the cud of comfort. The modern improvement in dairy farming stated above is no untried theory, but has been worked out in practice by hundreds of living witnesses that have come up through great tribulations, from the old methods, into a successful practice of the new.—Hoard's Dairyman.

Where the Cattle Are.

"There are simply no native steers east of the Mississippi river," was the remark a gentleman made to the writer the other day after an extended trip in that country. The same is true of Iowa, Nebraska and part of Kansas if we include those now in the feed lots eating corn preparatory for the shambles. There are many of these, but we doubt if more than common this time of the year.

The question then presents itself, where will the steers come from that are to take the places made vacant when these ripened cattle are gone? Montana, Wyoming, Colorado and the territories west cannot supply 200,000 this year, if all shipments are sold for feeders. This is less than 30 days' supply for the Chicago market alone. Arizona, New Mexico and the Indian territory, and Texas are the only resources. Kansas has absorbed 150,000 from these countries already this spring to feed on grass and grain, designing to market them for Christmas or into the spring and summer of 1891. Those sections still have a few steers unsold, but if the local papers tell the truth the number is comparatively small. It is universally admitted in Texas that the steer crop is smaller than it was a year ago—there has been a cutting down year by year since 1887.

In the southwest is our main reliance for beef steers; if the number there is smaller than the past; if the corn states are out of steer cattle does it not begin to look as if the time had come when stockmen and farmers should husband their cattle resources?

The supply will continue liberal until the steers now eating corn are disposed off and under a decline in the foreign markets prices may stiffen slowly. But when these are gone, then what? Prices must advance even without a foreign demand, for the simple and very good reason that the fattened pens can only be filled up to the present standard of numbers by the purchase of yearlings. Make money by feeding to ripeness the cattle you now have in your lots if it takes until March, 1891. The future is bright with hope, notwithstanding a break in the foreign market. Hold on.—Cheyenne Live Journal.

A deputation from Scotland visited Henry Chaplin, minister of agriculture, and asked him to modify the restrictions against the importation of American cattle. The chief arguments in support of their request was scarcity of store cattle in Great Britain and the absence of pneumonia in America. Chaplin said that as the bulk of the farmers in Great Britain favored the restriction, he was unable to hold out the slightest hope of any modification of the present regulations governing the importation of cattle, even if the cattle in America were entirely free from disease.

At the annual meeting of the American South-Down Association of Springfield Ill., May 29th, it was resolved to offer special prizes this year at the Illinois State Fair, the Detroit Exposition, and the Chicago Fat Stock Show; and officers were elected as follows: President—J. H. Potts, Jacksonville Ill. Secretary—S. E. Prather, Springfield Ill. Treasurer—D. W. Smith, Bates Ill. Directors—T. W. Harvey, Turlington Neb.; J. H. Potts, Jacksonville Ill.; G. J. Hagerty, Hanover O; C. M. Clay, White Hall Ky.; John Jackson Abingdon Ont., Can.; Levi P. Morton, Rhinecliff N. Y.; D. W. Smith, Bates Ill.; Phil M. Springer, Springfield Ill.; C. F. Mills, Springfield Ill.

Much discontent exists in France in regard to the virtual embargo on American pork, which has raised the price of meat considerably throughout the country. The American product is discriminated against by vexatious and unnecessary inspection on the pretense that disease may be lurking in the meat. The working classes in the city are indignant over the discrimination, which they regard as intended for the benefit of the peasant farmers of France at the expense of consumers in the industrial centers. M. Delayne, who was the French representative in the Berlin conference for the benefit of the workingmen, expresses himself very plainly against the policy of excluding foreign meat, and declares that it is one of the grievances that is likely to strengthen the Socialists by promoting agitation. However, in this respect France is not alone, and Germany is preparing to increase the severity of the laws which are supposed to protect the public health, but really protect the farmers and cattle raisers.

TURF AND TRACK.

Proctor Knott is in Dr. Shepard's infirmary.

Nutwood 2:18¼ stands at $500 and turns mares away.

The Coney Island Jockey Club will enlarge their premises this fall.

Dave Pulsifer's grand little horse Penny cost $210 as a yearling.

The Montana racing contingent still swear by Roly Boly up to six furlongs.

Pierre Lorillard says he will run his two-year-olds on straight tracks only.

Marcus Daly has four two-year-olds at Washington Park, Chicago, which will be raced in the West.

Russell has had too much of it in the mud and has lost his great speed. He will probably have a rest.

B. C. Holly is working the pacer St. Patrick at Vallejo, and will take him through the California Circuit.

The race horse George Oyster died at Brighton Beach of lockjaw. At one time he showed great promise.

Longfellow stands at $500 with no return privileges, he is the highest priced thoroughbred in public service

Percy Williams will have a stable of runners on the circuit this fall. Among them will be Bettie B, and Tycoon.

'Buster' McConnell has quite a large string of horses at Stockton, among them being several very promising ones.

Messrs. Kohrs and Biellenberg of Deer Lodge Montana, have a foal by Regent out of Ordnance, the dam of Warpeak.

George Engeman has gone to Saratoga to enjoy a few days' rest before the hurly burly of the season begins on Thursday next.

Bravo, the Melbourne cup winner, was specially bought to win the Viceroy's Cup in India, with what luck time alone can tell.

The brown gelding Gumbo, by Sultan, fell dead on the track while being driven by Sanders in a race at Fleetwood last week.

One might almost compare Firenzi to "a regular, regular, REGULAR royal queen," as she holds her usual levee in the paddock.

The Baker County Stock and Agricultural Association will hold their annual fair at Baker City, on Sept. 30th and following days.

J. H. McCreery, who was for some years with Pierre Lorilliard, has been engaged by Hough Brothers as trainer in place of Albert Cooper.

Guy Clingstone, and five other trotters belonging to W. J Gordon, of Cleveland, Ohio, have arrived at Fleetwood Park where they will be trained.

Conrad by Flood out of imported Goula won his first race last Saturday at Coney Island. The two year old was purchased from Palo Alto by L. J. Rose.

Mr John Hunter has adopted the famous magpie colors of Lord Falmouth, (black, white sleeves, red cap). Mr. Hunter's old colors are now used by his son.

John Porter, the owner—until a while previous to the Derby—of Sainfoin had £10,000 to £100 in Sir John Willoughby's Yearling Book, about Orwell who finished third.

Dr. Sargent and Percy Williams purchased two yearlings at the Haggin sale, a filly by Darebin out of Glendora, for $850, and the filly by Sir Modred out of Shasta for $1,000.

Mambrino Abdallah, a bay stallion 17 years old, by Mambrino Patchen-Lady Agnes, by Rehnaud's Abdallah, died last week at Williamstown, Ky. He was owned by George Yancey.

The Hardwicke stakes 1½ miles at Ascot was won by Gen. Byrne's Amphion by Speculum or Rosebery out of Suicide, Sainfoin (the winner of the Derby) finished second and Surefoot third.

A Newmarket correspondent on June 12th says Donovan has not been seen out since he pulled up lame last Saturday. His lameness is said to be caused by his foot being bruised on a stone.

Dowd Williams is training the Santa Anita Stable in Chicago during Bob Campbell's trip to New York with Sinola II. It is just possible that Campbell will leave Mr. Baldwin's employ.

By Holly says that St. Patrick, the Montana pacer, who arrived last week, is in good trim, but will want a good deal of time before he is ready for a race as he has had a big season in the stud.

The Duke of Portland did not draw both Surefoot and Sainfoin in the Turf Club but drew Surefoot and agreed to divide with Lord Cadogan who had drawn Sainfoin. The Duke was in luck.

Senator Hearst's speedy pacer Homestake, is showing all his old speed, but it is doubtful whether he will stand a hard preparation; if he does, he will have a big chance among the free for all pacers.

Al Farrow 123 and Ed McGinnis 110 ran unplaced to Hamlet 103 in a mile and a quarter at Washington Park. Hamlet is by Regent out of Nannie Holton and was formerly owned by B. C. Holly.

Marvin and Hickok were among the spectators at the Chicago Derby. Both had gone over from Terra Haute for a couple of days. Hickok while in Chicago consulted an oculist, the son having slightly affected his eyes.

Richmond Jr. started in the 2:22 class at Charter Oak Park, Hartford on the 24th of June, he was driven by Jas Goldsmith who is training him, but could only finish fourth with four starters, time, 2:25¼, 2:21¼, 2:23, 2:23.

W. F. Freeman, the courteous Willows' secretary, says that there is every indication of a grand success at the forthcoming meeting. He has received innumerable inquiries from horse owners wishing to participate in the sport.

Huntly and Fruit's Red Boy is being trained on the Helena race track. Red Boy is now fourteen years old and is the sire of several well known race horses among them, being Ahi the long tailed mare which raced in Col. Thornton's colors last season.

Racine broke the mile record last Saturday at Washington Park, Chicago, carrying 107 lbs. The three year old ran the mile in 1:39½, and did it with such ease that he would evidently have had a big chance in some of the three year old stakes if he had been left in.

The District fair held in Ione last year proved so successful that the Directors have again decided to be thoroughbred, and the management may rest assured that they will have plenty of entries for everyone has a good word for them and all the running horse men will be there.

Mr. Belmont has announced his intention of disposing of all his yearlings in the paddock at Monmouth Park on Tuesday, July 7th. He will retire from the active scenes of the turf for a period, but it is probable that his devotion to racing will induce him to make the period as short as possible.

St. Simon was the sire of the first, second and fourth in the Epsom Oaks, which performance makes him rank almost equal to the famous Birdcatcher who sired Songstress, Bird on the Wing and Gossamer, who were one, two and three in 1852 and Stockwell, whose sons Lord Lyon, Savernake and Rustic ran one, two, three in the Derby of 1866.

Riviera, one of the most promising three year olds in England, a winner of ten races out of thirteen as a two year old, fell down while at exercise and broke her back. Riviera was a royally bred filly, being a full sister to Seabreeze by Isonomy out of St. Marguerite by Hermit out of Devotion by Stockwell. She was the property of the Dowager Duchess of Montrose.

Four horses belonging to the Australian sportsman, Mr. James White, have reached England, and been placed under the charge of Matthew Dawson, at Newmarket. Three are two year olds, by name Nepean, Wentworth, and Mons. Meg, well engaged next year; while the other is a yearling. Mr. White's pluck and enterprise deserve reward, even if he is not fortunate enough to secure it.

When Sainfoin was sold one of the conditions was that he should not leave Porter's stable until after the Derby. A horse cannot be trained at Porter's says the 'Man of the World' without the permission of the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Westminster. This permission may possibly be given in the case of Sainfoin but the original intention was that he should leave the stable directly after the race.

Quite a number of thoroughbreds will be found on the circuit, despite the fact that Messrs. Baldwin, Haggin, Williams, Rose, Smith, Kelly & Samuels, Hazlitt and others are in the East. Among the owners who will be represented on the Coast Circuit are Palo Alto, Percy Williams, W. Boots, Matt Storn, Owens Bros, H. D. Miller, L. U. Shippee, H. I Thornton, W. Appleby, H. Howard, P. Sichenthaler, and F. De Foyster.

The National Association of Pacific Horse Breeders held its first annual meeting at Cincinnati, O., on June 6th About forty delegates were present and a permanent association will be formed to keep an authentic register of pedigees of pacing horses. There officers elected were: President F. B. Buford, Buford, Ky; secretary, J. W. Neal, Indianapolis, registrar, T. C. Parsons; treasurer, F. G. Germain, Scotland, Pa.

The Stewards at Newmarket recently decided not to permit a competitor to change his position, on the grounds that he would only try when on the off side instead of the near side of his opponents. Jousiffe wished Surefoot to have the outside position in the Derby but the precedent was against him and Surefoot who is said to be meaner than Hades had to take his position fourth at the start—as a matter of fact he finished fourth.

The £2,000 stakes at Milan early last month was won by Fitz Hampton, by Hampton out of Lady Berks, who was bought for 400 guineas by the Chevalier Scheibler at the sale of the Queen's yearlings in 1888 Several French horses ran, and it was fully expected that one of them would win, and the field also included three animals recently brought from England, one of them being Merry Monk, for whom Lord Dudley gave 2,250 guineas as a yearling, but he won nothing last season except a private sweepstakes

It is interesting to note that the winner of the Two Thousand in England has succumbed in the Derby to a horse he had beaten in the Two Thousand on eight occasions, viz.—in 1861, 1870, 1872, 1873, 1877, 1881, 1883, and 1889.

The favorite has won thirty-nine times, run second twenty-four times, third fifteen times, and unplaced thirty-two times since 1780. It is also remarkable that the only occasion on which the first favorite has won the Derby three years in succession was in 1788, 1789 and 1790.

A curious incident happened during the race for the Manchester Cup. In making the turn at the seven-furlong post Bert, who was amongst the leading lot at the time, ran wide and lost his place. In being straightened he cannoned against Oxeye, who was knocked onto Ringmaster, whereupon the Australian bred horse seized Oxeye by the ear, and the two ran in this position for some distance before Ringmaster released Mr. Glover's horse, whose ear was badly torn and his chance destroyed by the savage attack on the part of the Australian horse.

A dairyman in England has been giving his horses buttermilk to drink instead of water. Each horse gets his ration regularly throughout the year and the system having been continued for eighteen months, and found to answer in a most satisfactory manner, is not likely to be abondoned. There can be no doubt, a contemporary remarks, that the valuable solids in butter-milk do the animal a great deal of good, and prevent the necessity of such large corn-feeding as some practice, while there is at all times a healthful smack about the article which leads many people to drink it.

The Salinas Journal of the 27th, says: "Erwin Davis, the famous old trotting stallion by Skenandoah, died in this city yesterday morning. He was the property of Jas. H Harris, and had reached the advanced age of 26 years. He was the sire of two in the 2:30 list, and left a number of his get in this valley that are uniformly good roadsters and fine 'all round service' horses."

Erwin Davis 5558, foaled 1865 by Skenandoah 926—dam Lost Diamond said to be by Hambletonian (Harris')—was the sire of Carrie F., 2:27¾, Ed, 2:26, and the dam of Florence R, 2:26¼.

The members of the Irish betting ring have passed the following resolution, which will be the rule of "ready money merchants" in Ireland:—"That all ready money or ticket bets shall be paid on the horse that comes in first, unless an objection is lodged against the winner within one quarter of an hour after the race is decided. Any subsequent objections cannot be entertained." Some of the English layers tried a regulation of a similar description nearly eighteen months ago.

Mr. Joseph Osborne, who, under the signature of "Beacon," has for many years been known as the most able English writer on the subject of the racehorse, is at present suffering from a severe attack of bronchitis. One of his most valuable contributions to turf literature, the "Horsebreeder's Handbook," has been enlarged by the addition of twenty new sires, with an obituary of all the celebrated stallions since 1723, and further embellished with fine portraits of St. Simon and Bendigo.

A member of the English Jockey Club, speaking against short races, said, among other things: "It was evident to all members of the club that one effect of the extraordinary increase in short races had been to seriously interfere with the capabilities of our jockeys, but any one who had paid attention to the start for such races would have noticed that horses' tempers were sorely tried there, and they would also have noticed that a large proportion of short races were won more at the start than at the finish."

William Day's article in the Fortnightly, favorable to the introduction of the totaliastor on to English racecourses, has been freely criticised in Australia, where the instrument is in use in some parts of the colony. The Australasian, in concluding a leading article on the subject, says; "Racing is a sport that can stand up against many abuses, but there can be little doubt that the grand old sport would be improved even in Victoria, where Mr. Day's denunciations do not apply in their entirety, by the introduction of the totalisator."

Father William Daly has been getting quite a surfeit of his own game recently in the matter of running up the winner of selling races, and it is generally believed that were it not for family pride's sake the sage of Hartford would gladly cry quits with the strong combination that has been formed against him. Of course it is a hard matter on general principles to beat a man at his own game, but Messrs Abe Garson, Charles Sattler and one or two others appear to have devined the secret, and the owner of all the fast selling platers might do worse than to retire gracefully.

Mr. Rose, the California millionaire, one of the recent converts to the running turf, is, says the Sporting World, one of the most enthusiastic owners of the present day. He works just as hard as if he was training himself, and personally looks after the hiring of jockeys, etc. Col. Washburn is another enthusiast, and it is almost amusing to see him bustling around the paddock as if his bread and butter depended upon it. "I had heart trouble," said he, "and I bought a few colts to occupy my attention. Now, sir, I don't know that I have a heart. Oh, I tell you, if you want to be a healthy man get a few colts and fuss about with them as I do.

Every humane person, says a contemporary, will sympathise with the objects sought to be accomplished by the institution of a system of registration of farriers throughout the kingdom. It is notorious that shoeing smiths very often, by ignorance or carelessness, occasion the animals they have to deal with a good deal of suffering, and not infrequently lame them. It was stated at a meeting held in London that large numbers of horses are incapacitated from work owing to the ignorance of the smiths who undertake to shoe them. The Farriers' Company have recently made a move in the direction of bringing about an improved state of things, which promises to be productive of good results.

The hold the pari-mutuel system of betting has gained on the inhabitants of Paris has led to the growth of a large number of betting agencies conducted in a manner not altogether free from dishonesty and common welching. The small shopkeepers, whose trade is being ruined by the "universal providers," run into these agencies whenever they have a few francs to bet with, in the hope of making up for business losses, and offices where honest business is done are not the most numerous. At the same time, M. Constans, the Minister of the Interior, proposes to allow some of the racing companies still to carry on the system if they will give guarantees for their proper management The result of this further experiment will be watched with considerable curiosity.

Rover did not prove a very cheap horse to W. C. Daly. Although he won the first time he started, the N. Y. Times says: Rover was given out as the particularly good thing for the last race, a run of a mile and a sixteenth on the turf, for which Tattler, on his form, was naturally the favorite. The race was entirely one between the pair, and Rover won it by a length. Tattler, who finished second, being four lengths in front of Cast Steel, who led the rear bunch home. Rover is a recent purchase of your Uncle William Daly from Millionaire Rose of California, and Uncle Bill had entered him to be sold for $500, so as to get light weight upon him. After the race "Abe" Garson and Charlie Sattler both began bidding for the horse and ran him up to $1,200. A further bid of $5 saved him for Daly. The net value of the purse to Daly was but $585, so that it really cost him $120 to win it, and he smarted and swore about being given a dose of his own medicine.

A case somewhat interesting to ready money layers and backers in England was tried at the Melbourne County Court at the beginning of April. The plaintiff was a bookmaker of the name of Webb, and the defendant Ellin a punter, and the dispute arose over a race won by a pony called Wallace. As the pony had been wrongly described as a horse instead of as a gelding he was disqualified, and the stakes were awarded to Mamma, who came in second. Webb, who was betting on the race, laid Ellin 50 to 5 against the winner Wallace, and as it was a cash wager Ellin drew his money immediately after the race. When Wallace was disqualified Webb asked for the return of his money, but Ellin refused to disgorge; hence the action. Webb sought to recover £50 from Ellin on the ground that he had paid the money to Ellin under a mistake of fact. The judge however, held that there was no mistake of fact, because at the time Webb paid the money the objection to Wallace had not been lodged, and on Webb's part it was a voluntary payment. He therefore returned a verdict in favor of Ellin, but so satisfied was he that Webb was morally entitled to the money that he ordered Ellin to pay his own costs.

Judge Rider, 2:28¾, is a four-year-old son of Billy Wilkes, by Harry Wilkes, 2:13½.

It is doubtful if Aubine will be started in any of the stake races in single harness.

Jas. E. Kelly, the champion of the betting ring, won $10,000 on Salvator in the match.

Early Bird, the four-year-old son of Jay Bird, is expected to trot in 2:20 this season.

Electryon and Pure Wilkes have been taken to Mystic, July 1st, and fitted up for a record.

Grimes received $100 from the owner of Jersey Wilkes for putting Hussar into the 2:30 list.

A foal out of Urhanna Belle, 2:20¼, and her next produce by Gov. Stanford, has been sold for $2,000.

Two blooded stallions on the farm of Captain Prester, of Aurora, Ind., recently fought to the death.

A Kansas mare was bred to a horse and afterwards to a jack and foaled twins, a mule and a horse colt.

On June 18th, Jou Jou, by Monday, out of Plaything, dropped dead at the conclusion of the last race at West Side, Chicago.

Pittsburg re-joins the grand circuit this year. Trotting was discontinued there because legislation was made inimical to pool selling.

The Breeze Hill Stock Farm Company has been incorporated under the laws of the State of New York with a capital stock of $100,000.

C. H Nelson expects to put three of the get of Dictator Chief in the 2:30 list fall. He has a two year old that he that he thinks can go in 2:20.

Dan Dennison is in Tacoma, W. T., with Prince's First, Hotspur, Dave Douglass and Mohawk. He will probably return in time for the State Fair.

Pacers will be very speedy this year, and plenty of them. The boss pacer will earn plenty of money, but it will be a hard tussel before he gets through.

It is not so many years since a band of poisoners went down the grand circuit, and it is a widely known fact that Rarus was got at in 1874 at Hampden Park, Springfield, Mass.

At a meeting of the English Jockey Club held on June 11th it was voted that every horse be considered as having started which is under the starter's orders when the advance flag has been raised.

Mr. Leopold Rothschild, the well known racing member of the family, said at a recent meeting of the English Jockey Club that there were 500 less horses running in England than twenty years ago.

It is now decided that Gertrude Russell, 2:23½, sister to Palo Alto, 2:12¼, will be bred to Jersey Wilkes. The mare who was expected to lower a few records at 2, 5 and 10 miles went wrong and being lame was left at Warren Park.

The bay gelding Oro by Norfolk out of Golden Gate, after winning a selling race at Kansas City was knocked down to Scoggan Bros. for $1200 ($200 over the entered price). Ed Corrigan subsequently purchased the gelding at an advance on $1200.

When Sainfoin went to Epsom to run for the Derby he was stabled at Bob I'Anson's, and was led out for the fray by Mrs. I'Anson. Five Derby candidates have been led out by Mrs. I'Anson at different times, and only one has been beaten, and in previous years there was no talk of hypnotzing.

The well known stallion Kingfisher, died last Tuesday in Kentucky. Kingfisher was foaled in 1867; by Lexington, out of imported Eltham Lass by Kingston out of a daughter of Pyrrhus the First; he was the property of Mr. Belmont and besides being a good race horse was the sire of several good performers.

'The Sinner' by Barabbas out of a daughter of Windischgratz died last month. He never recovered from the effects of his fall in the Monmouth Hunter Steeplechase at Sandown last April. The Sinner in his best day could beat all the Saints—Galmier thrown in, in a race for hunters and was a leviathan among runners,

The mile dash at Salt Lake on the opening day was won by Lew Carlisle, Joe Hoge second, Sympathetic's Last third, time 1:47. On the third day Joe Hoge won the six furlong scramble in 1:20. Joe Hoge was sold last January by Col. Thornton to Mr. Skagg and ran in the latter gentleman's name, he is by Joe Hooker out of Viola R.

Silver Spray, American Wilkes, Claud Bassett, Cohannet, Granite State, Athenian, Sinolair, George Wilkes Jr., J. J. Connelly, William Tell, Archie Comstock, Thorndale Echo, Lancer Northcote, Sultana, Pembrook, Simmocolon and Pamlico were exhibited at the stallion show at Mystic Park last week in connection with the races held there.

The correspondent of the Chicago Horseman is evidently "a little off" when he says that Racine had never been heard of until the spring meeting of the Blood Horse meeting at San Francisco in 1889, when he won the California Stakes. Racine won two races at San Jose a few weeks previous to the Blood Horse, running five furlongs in 1:02½ and six furlongs in 1:16½, without being pressed.

"Dan Mace had a peculiar experience with the bay gelding Sensation, 2:22¼" writes "Veritas" in the Horseman. "After a deal of trouble Dan got him going level by using an old-fashioned leathern pocket weighted with lead distributed all around the foot, instead of a concentrated metal toe-weight as now in vogue. For a heat or two Sensation was trotted with this attachment, and then after a bit Dan would remove the weight and put on an ordinary strap in its place buckled up pretty tight, and the old gelding, fooled by this, would square away just as if he had on his weights. But started without them in the first place he would shuffle, pace, mix, roll and go all manner of gaits."

One feature in Club life in London is the Annual Derby Sweep. The Turf Club Sweep was won by Lord Cadogan, The Garrick by Henry Irving, the well known actor. while the Devonshire was won by Edmond Routledge who drew the winner last year. In the Press Gallery in the House of Commons, G. Bussey, Chief of the Hansard Corps drew the winner. Mr. Bussey is said to have drawn the winner on 17 occasions.

It is evident that Bergen holds first place in public favor, so far as the jockeys of the present day are concerned. When his name is posted on the telegraph board to ride, the messenger boys who make regular laps from the stand to the betting ring find that the name of his mount will be written on their order slips, regardless of its merits, a greater number of times than any three horses in the race combined. When Bergen passes the grand stand on his way to the starting post, he is invariably noticed and applauded. Each of the old time riders have had their day when they held first place in public favor, and this season Bergen is having his turn. Backers seldom complain when he fails to land the money for them, as they show a willingness to overlook any mistakes which he may occasionally make.

In view of the first great German Horse Show, which is being held at Berlin, it may be interesting to record the fact, says the "Telegraph," that great numbers of Teutonic steeds are sent over annually to the farms round London. After having been fed on English provender and shod by English smiths, they are returned to the Fatherland and sold as "English" hunters.

The Agricultural Society of Hanover is about to despatch a commission to England to select 40 Shire colts and fillies (yearlings and two years old) out of the principal studs for the members, as Shire horses are now in great demand in this part of North Germany.

"Did yon back dot colt, Jake?" shouted an excited German who stood on the lawn after the first race at Sheepshead yesterday to a friend in the stand.

"No, William, I did not."

"Well, dit your wife back him, Jake?"

"No."

"Ah, mine gracious, it was the surest way to get money to back colts like dot."

A little later in the day, however, our friend wended his way home sadly.

"How did you quit them?" asked a fellow passenger on the train.

"I don't know nodings about dem," murmured he plaintively. "Dey was like Jack's in de boxes. Just when you tinks you have 'em, why den you haven't."

A rumor was going the rounds at the track yesterday that the Jockey Club would abandon the matinees after Saturday. Since the regular meeting the attendance has been very light, and the management has not taken in enough to pay the purses. The rumor was corroborated by the fact that the superintendent notified George Bennett, who was putting up fixtures preparatory to selling pools on Chicago and Eastern races, to hold off. Right on the heels of the above comes another rumor that Dan Honig would lease the track and continue the matinees all summer. To a Republic man Mr. Honig stated that he had not seen President Green or any of the Jockey Club people with reference to the leasing of the track, but that he was seriously contemplating doing so, as it was reported they would quit. It is probable that he will call on President Green shortly for the purpose of talking the matter over and if satisfactory arrangements can be made the matinees will be continued without intermission.

Sir George Chetwynd has published a long letter on the subject of Lord March's proposals for the lengthening of the distances of races. The Sporting Chronicle says: He opposes the suggestions of the Jockey Club stewards. He opposes the suggestions, "That there are many horses that get five furlongs with brilliancy now who could be trained to win races at a mile." 'The Duke of Beaufort," continues Sir George, "says rightly that his experience is that staying powers are born in a horse, and that a horse cannot be made to stay by training, and that the speed of a horse would be destroyed by training him for long races." "It is a great pity," he adds, "that a racing club cannot be formed to consist entirely of owners of horses. Then, when the Jockey Club propose important alterations in their rules, a meeting of owners could be held to discuss their projects, and the result might be forwarded to the Stewards, who would thus at a glance be able to tell the views of owners, which now and again might be of help to them in their decisions.

The report of the Royal Commission on horse-breeding presented to the English Parlament a few weeks ago is said to be a very hulky document, for though the report itself does not cover more than four pages, it is followed by the whole of the evidence which the Royal Commissioners took last autumn, and as the 32 witnesses comprised such shining lights as the Duke of Beaufort, Lord Portsmouth, Colonel "Jack" Thompson, Mr. John Usher, Captain Fife, Matthew Dawson, John Porter, Generals Ravenhill and Thornhill, and Lord Harrington, it need hardly be said that such evidence will be read with the deepest interest by all who are concerned in horse-breeding All of the witnesses were agreed as to the good effect which the system of awarding premiums to thoroughbred sires suitable for the getting of hunters and other half-bred stock was producing, and, fortified with this consensus of opinion, the Royal Commissioners have asked the Government to increase the grant in aid, so that they may work upon a rather larger scale.

Queensland has says the Manchester Sporting Chronicle, long been the home of turf scandals, and the one I am about to refer to is not a jot worse than some others that have come to light now and again. This was in a selling plate at Brisbane, in connection with the Queensland Turf Club, the leading racing institution in the northern colony. A couple of horses performed in such a barefaced manner that the stewards could not for shame's sake withhold some sort of an inquiry, but nothing came of it. The general body of the members, however, were determined not to let the matter drop, and the result was a special general meeting, at which a vote of censure on the two stewards who adjudicated was carried by a large majority. They were also called upon to produce the minutes of the evidence heard before them, but declined to do so. When, however, the minute book was procured it was discovered that the leaves containing the evidence of the inquiry had been cut out. To wind up with one of the stewards has resigned, but the other brazens it out. The Queensland papers, it is pleasing to say, have spoken their mind freely on this shady piece of business.

Thomas French Wallace, one of the oldest and most respected men in the west end of London, died a short while ago. He was one of the old school, born in 1818. The Field says: "Never was there consigned to his last long home a straighter, more honorable and kinder-hearted man." He was buried in that Campo Santo of racing men, Kensal Green; near him rest the ashes of General Anson, Admiral Rous, George Payne, The Marquis of Hastings, and many others.

Speaking of the accident that had befallen the beautiful mare Riviera, the Pink Un says: Although she was vanned away from the exercise ground, and immediately subjected to all that veterinary skill and science could prescribe by the eminent practitioner, Mr. Barrow, small hopes were indulged of saving her for stud purposes, while it was at once seen that her racing career was at an end. Paralysis supervened an injury to the spine, and all hope having been abandoned, the "friendly bullet" was brought into requisition on Monday, when the daughter of Isonomy and St. Marguerite was freed from her sufferings. A winner of something approaching £13,000 in stakes as a two year old, Riviera might have been sold at about Ascot time for the enormous sum of £20,000 had Mr. Milner cared to accept the offer; but, like Chevalier Ginestrelli, who refused a similarly tempting bait in respect of Signorina who, it may be feared, may, after all, fail to realize her marvellous two year old promise, for the latest reports from Newmarket are unfortunately not too flattering concerning St. Simon's peerless daughter. Much sympathy is felt for all concerned in the untimely fate of Riviera in the racing world, and it can only be hoped that a real flyer may be found in the Chesterfield House team worthy to take the place of the bonny bay mare deceased.

"The other day." says Mr. Labouchere, the well known proprietor of Truth, "I received the prospectus of a National Anti-Gambling League, accompanied by a form of pledge for my signature. I do not know to whose interest in my welfare I am indebted for this attention, but I strongly resent his benevolent interference, and so I take it will most persons similarly favored. Shortly after this there reached me a pamphlet, entitled 'A Plea for a New Crusade,' by a Reverend C. F. Aked. The crusade pleaded for is a crusade against 'betting and gambling,' which the author thinks is to be accomplished by 'prohibiting the publication in any journal or newspaper of intelligence of race meetings.' If this gentleman and his associates had in mind a crusade against the speculative spirit which permeates the commercial system of the present day, and seriously injures legitimate trade and industry. this aim would be well meaning and useful, though chimerical. The National Anti-Gambling League, however, proposes no interference with commercial speculation as a means of livelihood. It only concerns itself with those forms of speculation which are pursued for private amusement, and which, unless indulged to excess, as any amusement may be, are not open to rational objection. I, therefore, regard the National Anti-Gambling League as another impertinence of too exuberant virtue."

One of the shrewdest bettors at the Eastern tracks this year is a young Australian, a devoted admirer of Sir Modred, which he declares most emphatically was the greatest, grandest, noblest racehorse the world ever saw. His eulogistic praise of this horse extends even to its descendants, including the unfortunate Tournament. He still believes that Tournament, properly trained and ridden with force, skill and determination, could give Burlington five pounds and a beating at any distance, at any weights and under any conditions But that has nothing to do with the subject in hand. Concerning his system of betting, which has been highly successful, he says: "I go on the theory that all races are run honestly. Of course I know that as a matter of fact they are not. I know there is fraud, but I know also that there is far less of it than people imagine. If I were continually looking for it my judgment would become so warped as to render me utterly incapable of picking a winner. I should lose all idea of public form. I speak from experience, as I have been backing horses for ten years in England, Ireland, France, Australia, New Zealand and America. I am not a heavy bettor. The bookmakers do not wipe off their slates when they see me coming, yet many of them cannot help knowing that I am a little ahead of the game. I invariably back what I think is the best horse in the race. regardless of the thousand and one paddock rumors that fly around to knock men off their balance. If I were to listen to half the rumors set afloat for one purpose or another I am sure I should go crazy"

David Gideon is a conspicuous example of the waiting sort, says a clever Eastern turf writer. He can live ten days or two weeks without making a bet. Mike Dwyer with all his hard horse sense and judgment couldn't do that. He would die of ennui. Phil might. But then Phil is a rare philosopher. John Kelly asserts that he has quit betting, but his "How 'bout it?" is still heard in the land. He is the willing recipient of more information than any ten men that go a-racing. He usually gets a tip on every horse that starts, but never was known to back any brute that stood at a better price than 2 to 1 on. Mr. Kelly dearly loves, that is, he once dearly loved, to put up $1 000 to win $200. You can not pull him on a 10 to 1 chance with a log chain. His favorite system of betting is to play a favorite one-two three. He would like to play it one-two-six. Mr. Kelly is a victim—a victim of popular affection. Whenever an owner or trainer has a "good thing" he must let the victim know it, and the victim is forced to suffer from an embarrassment of riches. Henry Clay Ditmas, who is reported to have won $100,000 last year, made a large part of his money by place betting. He invariably backs his horses three ways—straight, place and one two-three, usually investing enough one-two-three to save his other bets. "Dit," who is one of the best fellows in the world, has not been as lucky this year as formerly. He seldom bets less than $1,000 when he has a "good thing," and has nerve enough to put up $10,000. Moore, of Brooklyn, the young man known to the racing world two years ago as the "Ghost," is at it again, after a year's retirement. He is another of the patient sort. And he "salts down" his winnings in real estate, so that the ring cannot get them back. The "Ghost" is a very wise young man. "Pittsburg Phil" is still plunging away, though since he has turned bookmaker no notice is taken of him. "Luce" Appleby was wrong on Sallie McClelland both times, but he rarely makes a mistake when Tristan starts. Twice or three times this year he and Tristan have made his brethren of the ring very sick. His luck of late has not been phenomenal, more's the pity, as he is much liked. He is a good loser, but would rather win. Still, when he loses, his book wins, so it is all right. J. E. McDonald, M. J. Corbett and Mahony are the plungers of the ring. Throw in David Johnson for good measure. Jones is said to have won $15,000 on his horse Bellwood the first time he started at Brooklyn, $12,000 the second time and $8,000 the third.

Sacramento now leads.

There has been a change.

Vogt has fallen off in his hitting.

The San Franciscos are receding.

Perrott is Stocktou's winning pitcher.

Borchers has been suspended for two weeks.

Duane has not yet been signed by Stockton.

Andy Smith has been released from Stockton.

Hill is the weakest hitter in the Oakland team.

Holland replaces Nick Smith in the Kansas City team.

"They never speak as they pass by"—Cobb and O'Neill.

Whitehead and Nick Smith are expected to arrive shortly.

The fielding of the Friscos lately has been very "yellow."

McSorley has been signed by the Jamestown N. Y. Club.

Tommy McCord saw the Oakland-Stockton game last Sunday.

Paul Hines has been signed to play center field for Boston.

Pitcher George Zeigler was released by Pittsburg after but one trial.

Vonder Ahe has released Pete Sweeney from the St. Louis Browns.

Stapleton has not yet made an error on the Sacramento grounds.

Selna makes a very youthful appearance with his moustache shaved off.

It is reported that some of the Frisco players' days are numbered.

Jack Wilson's work at third base this season could scarcely be improved on.

The Gas City boys are improving in fielding, hitting and general team work.

Lohman is not a success as a short stop. The trouble is Pete is too anxious.

Goodenough's base running is one of the big features in the Senators' playing.

Many new and "old familiar faces" may be seen on California diamonds before long.

It is a question as to whether the professional or amateurs are paid the most for their services.

Silent Bob Blakiston was out at the grounds Sunday just to see how his old friend Gagus got along umpiring.

The season is about one third over, the war is still raging, and the prospects are very bright for a heavy financial loss.—Eastern Exchange.

Five players from Waco, Texas, have signed with the Portland team. They are Hassamer, Rhue, Land, Whittaker and Scatchen.

Billy Cooney has been suffering from a sprained finger and badly bruised leg, and has in consequence been unable to play regularly with the team.

In the four games in which Baltz pitched for Vallejo, but nineteen hits have been made off him, and he struck out fifty-eight batsmen. Quite a record.

The Oakland grounds are yet in a wretched condition, the outfield being covered with a dense growth of weeds, which greatly interferes with the fielding of the game.

Why some one of the different managers dont sign Purcell we are at a loss to understand, unless it is that they intend importing more "cheap labor at reduced rates."

Dick Belcher, ex Amherst, ex E. and O. E., and ex Tacomas is frequently seen at the Haight street grounds accompanied by two or more charming and beautiful young ladies.

Ebright is an awful hard kicker when one of his men makes a misplay, but Buck should remember that he himself can contribute to the error column pretty near as fast as the next man.

Fudger who seemed totally disheartened by the poor showing the Stocktons had been making has now braced up and is hitting the ball with telling effect and also fielding his position in capital style.

Roscoe Coughlin recently pitched for Evansville against Terre Haute, and was hit safely eleven times, including a "homer" and two three basers, and the Terre Hautes earning four of their five runs.

Harris failed to fulfill his prediction that the Portlands would be "the people" by July 4th. As yet they are so far down in the race that the Northwestern papers frequently come out with the head line "Portland Not In It."

Ed Reeder, whowill be remembered as the first baseman of the old Californias, and who has until recently been playing with the Austin, Texas team, is now with Indianapolis.

Catcher Earle has accepted the terms of the Tacoma Club, of the North Pacific League. The Cleveland Players' League team is after him, and he is on the fence, for Tacoma has not sent a ticket, as telegraphed.

Four of Robinson's Colonels of last season are now playing in four different teams of the Atlantic Association. They are Long, with Baltimore; Dooley, with Jersey City; Wehrle, with Wilmington; and Stallings, with Hartford.

In Zimmer the Cleveland Club has a treasure, and he has done more catching this season than any catcher in the base ball arena. They never hear a murmur out of him either, and he is always ready and willing to go behind the bat.

In the eight innings last Sunday the Oaklands were retired on three pitched balls. C. O'Neill hit to Fogarty and was thrown out at first. Dungan hit to Fudger and went out the same way, and Meegan hit to Wilson and followed suit.

Dungan has not yet got over his grand stand playing. It is said the Colonel has threatened to fine the big back-stop $25 the next time he catches him looking to the grand stand in search of admiring glances. The Colonel wants all these for himself.

McHale has developed into a rattling fine outfielder and has also been doing hard service with stick. Although Bowman has done the bulk of the catching for Sacramento in an emergency Mac can be depended on to make a good showing in the backstop position also.

We are sorry to learn that Billy Farrell has been indulging in "big steams with the collar round the bottom." Billy has a snug berth with the Sacramentos but as the management are strict disciplinarians it behooves the "utility man" to walk the straight and narrow path.

The following are some of the players familiar to California patrons whose heads have felt the weight of the axe already this season: Stallings, Brooklyn; Nick Smith, Kansas City; Trick McSorley, Peoria; Roscoe Coughlin, Chicago; Hughey Smith, Hartford; Goldie, Peoria; Howard, Detroit; Whitehead Denver and Perrier, McCarthy and Barry, Portland.

A man cannot remain on the top of the heap forever, even if he does have a fine run of luck while he is properous. John Clarkson knows a thing or two about this business. Last year he was a king in his line, and even this year he is drawing the largest salary of any pitcher in the world, although he is losing games now as fast as he won them last season.—Critic.

When Bug Holliday politely asked the umpire if he was quite sure he saw a certain play, he was rudely informed, "Just as sure as I am that it will cost you $5 for asking me." Mr. Holliday's feelings, as well as his pocket, were hurt, so he took a vacation and sneaked over to the players' bench to ponder over the many nice things he could have bought with that unfortunate five-dollar note.—Exchange.

Ed Stapleton has released "Scotty"—Zeigler's little bow legged mascot. Ed says "Scotty" brought good luck to Zeigler, but just the opposite was the case when he assumed the management. In Sacramento the Senators need no mascot, but while here a "little ragged urchin," who thinks the big first baseman is the best player in the profession outside of Buck Ewing, has been signed to help pave their way to victory.

There is no player in this League that is oftener the recipient of applause than John Patrick Parnell Cahill. Patsy has long been a universal favorite and deservedly so. From the time "play ball" is called till the last man is out, Cahill is every moment "in the game." Always reliable at the bat, speedy and foxy running bases and an intelligent outfielder Cahill comes pretty near to being what many of his warm supporters claim for him—the best general player on the Coast.

Col. Tom Robinson, the "unaffected, undetected and well connected" manager of the Oaklands made a great big mistake when he said Stickney played ball "like an old woman." May be the Colonel thought the term "old woman" as applied to Stickney was synonymous with clever, "out of sight" and other popular expletives used to denote excellence when used in reference to ball playing, but whether this is so or not, we wish there were more "old woman" players of Bill Stickneys calibre in the Oakland team to-day.

Wouldn't Reilly have been a good man for Finn to have taken on his last trip "up country"? When Young was batted out of the box and Sweeney substituted, the team was without a capable player who could be spared to play first. Had Reilly been with the team, Ebright who can play a very acceptable first base, could have been placed there, Reilly at short, and Speer in right field, and with this arrangement it would be a safe bet that their run column would not present such a dismal contrast and that their error column would also contain fewer figures.

In the St. Louis-Toledo game, June 10, at St. Louis, Pitcher Stivetts, of the home team, is credited with winning the game by making a home run in the ninth inning with three men on the bases. His record for that game was three runs and four hits, including two home runs. Besides, he retired ten of the visitors on strikes.—Exchange.

Here is the record of Armstrong, the new Stockton player, while with the Texas League till its disbandment this year. Armstrong's name is sixth in the hitting list of sixty-one players, having a batting average of 290. As a second baseman he ranked fourth among nine players of the same position with a fielding average of 921, and of twelve third baseman he was third on the list with 926 per cent to his credit. Judging from these figures one is warranted in saying "He's all right, etc."

It is difficult to understand why the Stockton management did not hold on to Matt Stanley. The team has practically speaking but one catcher—Vogt—as Duane is not coming and Armstrong scarcely fills the bill in the back stop line, although it is said he is a very clever in and out fielder. For the team to win games they should certainly have at least two reliable catchers on the roll and Stanley has demonstrated the fact that he can catch along with any back stop on the Coast. Armstrong could be used most advantageously in left field and would be of much benefit to the team if played in every game on account of his strong hitting and versatile fielding abilities. Then with the pitchers and catchers paired off good battery work could be expected which is a powerful factor in the success of a team. We would most strenuously advise the Stockton team to add young Stanley to their regular pay roll, feeling confident that he would be a most valuable acquisition to the team and knowing that our belief in his capabilities is shared in by some of the best Eastern critics and players who have witnessed his work as an amateur.

The following combination of "Don'ts" are offered as advice to players and patrons by the Boston Globe:

Don't eat heartily before a ball game.
Don't sleep after 7 A. M. if you want to keep in good condition.
Don't roast the poor umpire when you are getting the best of it.
Don't try to throw before you get the ball.
Don't give it away when you feel nervous.
Don't try to slide on your spikes.
Don't be too anxious to hit the ball.
Don't play in the same spot for all batsmen.
Don't try to kill a baseman with hard throwing.
Don't hold the ball in the outfield.
Don't think the game is won until the last man is out.
Don't get rattled if the papers criticize your playing.
Don't be afraid to soil your clothes in sliding.
Don't expect to win games without team work.
Don't forget that many of the spectators were players when schoolboys, and can appreciate good work.
Don't play for the grand stand.
Don't drink too much water in a strange town.
Don't wait for a slow bounding ball to come to you.
Don't look for perfect players or umpires.
Don't fail to keep your eyes on the coming champions.

From the present outlook of the Stockton-San Jose deal, it would appear as though one of the local dailies was rather premature in making the statement that the "Stockton Club's franchise had been sold to San Jose." The following extract from the Stockton Mail of June 30th, puts the matter in a very different light:

"As to the transfer, that will not be made if the people want the club to stay here and will subscribe the necessary amount of money within the next fifteen days. If two of the Directors had their say the club would perhaps be San Jose's property immediately, but there are three who will stand by this city and who are now (instead of laying back and letting the club go to San Jose by default) actively engaged in aiding the work of obtaining subscription.

The Director who has made the assertion to more than one person that the club would certainly go to San Jose by the 1st of July if $300 per month was not subscribed, and the one who said sarcastically, "we will see," when told that he could not do the same thing, are discovering that their desires in the matter and their power are two entirely different things. The people will retain the club, if they want it.

The leading dailies of San Francisco have taken the opportunity to hit Stockton a blow in the matter, and assert that the sale has surely been made and that the club will certainly go to San Jose by the 1st of next month. They are not aware of the fact that one Director cannot slip over to San Jose and sell the team there on the quiet. Whatever arrangements he may have made, they amounted to nothing, and the city of San Jose is in a position to receive considerable ridicule for her too sudden enthusiasm.

The Dubuque Club had a pitcher of the name of Keas, who was a pretty tough nut. He did about as he pleased until it became necessary to call him down. The club officials talked the matter over and it was decided that Manager Mc Caull should put the bell on the cat. He mustered up his courage and now, as bold as a lion, informed Mr. Keas that he had been fined. Keas was very much surprised, but he did not fall into a fit. He simply said: "You have fined me, have you? Well, I'll give you something to fine me for." And in less than a minute poor Manager McCaull was a sad looking spectacle. Keas, having a few minutes to spare, just put it in to the best advantage and wiped up the earth with his manager. The directors found it advisable to release Mr. Keas.—Exchange.

Henry Chadwick on Scoring.

Why do not official scorers when they send reports to the press give the number of innings each pitcher pitches in when more than one pitcher is employed on the team? Looking at a score in the papers, one finds the names of two pitchers on each team, without any figures on the score to show how many innings each pitched in. The summary score of a game should include the following pitching record:

Bases on balls—By Jones 5, by Brown 3, by Robinson 1, by Walker 0. Wild pitches—By Jones 2, by Brown 1, by Robinson 1, by Walker 0. Hit by pitcher—By Jones 1, by Brown 0, by Robinson 0, by Walker 0. Struck out—By Jones 4, by Brown 3, by Robinson 0, by Walker 0. Base hits—Off Jones 8, off Brown 4, off Robinson 2, off Walker 0. Innings pitched in—By Jones 4, by Brown 5, by Robinson 6, by Walker 3. Earned runs—Off Jones 3, off Brown 2, off Robinson 0, off Walker 0.

Here we have a complete pitcher's score. In the batting summary the record of extra hits, which is simply offering a premium on record play at the bat, should be left out, and runs batted in by safe hits, the criterion of team work at the bat substituted,

THE STANDING OF THE CLUBS.

Sacramento has at last "got there", and the chances are she will be a "stayer". Good team work conpled with clever captaining and efficient management cannot but be prolific of good results and this is what has placed Sacramento in the lead. The Friscos are bnt a shade behind but it looks as though they had lost their grip and are certainly much in need of some new talent. Oakland has a very firm hold on third position, and Stockton, though still last, has shown a decided improvement in games won for the past week. The score.

SACRAMENTO vs. OAKLAND.

FRIDAY, JUNE 27TH, AT OAKLAND.

There was a mixed base ball element in the twelve hundred spectators that viewed this game at Emeryville and the Senators evidently had a goodly number of warm supporters in that throng. But there was a very large number of the Colonel's constituents on the grounds also and consequently much enthusiasm was voiced. The Oakland team was a sort of impromptu one, Captain O'Neill receiving a severe bruise to his right hand in the preliminary practice which incapacitated him from playing. Lohman was therefore placed at short, Dungan behind the bat and Carsey in right field. The Sacramentos had out their strongest team but did not put up the game they are capable of. Harper was not at his best, Bowman was slightly off in his throwing and even the "king pin" Reitz was credited with two errors which were partially excusable. But their was some excellent hitting and the game was such as to keep every one guessing as to the ultimate result. The errors made were of a most costly character and of the sixteen runs made but three were earned. McDonald, Dungan, Reitz, Daly and Bowman's hard and timely bitting was much appreciated as was the exceptionally clean and clever work of Stapleton, Roberts, Daley, Goodenough and Carsey. The score:

SAN FRANCISCO vs. STOCKTON.

FRIDAY, JUNE 27TH, AT STOCKTON.

Good, honest hitting in the sixth inning brought in five runs and won the game for Stockton. Lookabaugh had been pitching a magnificent game up to this inning, when with two out and Selna on first, Cahill landed a corker in right field. Then Holliday's wagon tongue came in contact with another of Look's curves, and a very timely two-bagger was the result, Selna tallying. Fudger was not to be outdone by any of his predecessors, and banged out a healthy three-baser, Cahill and Holliday walking home. Fogarty hit to Buchan, and but Sweeney dropped the ball on which misplay Fudger scored. Fogarty then stole second, and on Wilson's fly to center, which Hanley dropped, Fogarty gained the plate. This great advantage completely knocked the steam out of the Goblins, and they played a weak game after this disastrous inning. The Gas City boys played elegantly, Wilson, Holliday, Fudger and Selna distinguishing themselves. The hitting was remarkably light, Fudger's stickwork alone being worthy of any special mention. Donohue's umpiring was very satisfactory. The score:

SACRAMENTO vs. OAKLAND.

SATURDAY, JUNE 28TH, AT HAIGHT ST.

It was a "raw and gusty day" and not at all in accordance with the salubrious climate in which the Senatorial aggregation are accustomed to make their marvellous pickups, wonderful throws, brilliant catches and corking long shots. They played a very ordinary game and the Colonels had little difficulty in winning. Hoffman was in the points for the Senators and was hit rather freely. Bowman gave him fine support. Young Carsey did the twirling for Oakland and his work was more than clever. The Oaklands fielded their positions in great shape making but three misplays, one of which proved very costly. The Sacramentos took a nice lead which they kept till the sixth inning, but the Colonels made four runs at this stage of the game on Hoffmans wildness, a hit, a passed ball and a few mellow errors. It looked as though the Senators had a chance to make things very warm in the seventh inning for with two out and one man scored, Goodenough hit safely and stole second. Then Daly smashed out another, Goodenough sprinting homeward. O'Neill made a fast field and throw to the plate and the next instant there was a collision and Dungan was rolling over and over amid volumes of dust but still holding the ball. It was a question as to whether Goodenough was out or not but Gagus said so and what Gagus says on the ball field "goes." The particular features were Goodenoughs, Bowmans, Reitzs, Dungan and Isaacsons general playing and Carseys work in the box. The score:

SAN FRANCISCO vs. STOCKTON.

SATURDAY, JUNE 28TH, AT STOCKTON.

Young and Kilroy were the opposing pitchers in this game with the Philadelphian having the best of it. The hitting was light and the fielding generally good. Armstrong from Texas made his debut, but did not prove himself a wonder in his position. On the other hand, Stevens backstop work was excellent. In the fifth inning Kilroy hit for a triple; Cahill foltowed with another hit of the same quality, and Selna's sacrifice brought home Cahill, making two earned runs. Prominent among the features of the game was Cahill's stick work, Selna's first base play and Ebright's base running and work at short field. Donahne's decisions were unquestioned The score:

OAKLAND vs. STOCKTON.

SUNDAY, JUNE 29TH, AT HAIGHT ST.

The Stocktons have struck a winning gait, and never played a prettier game than they did last Sunday. Every man in the team seemed "chuck full of glory," and they just dashed through the game in the style of the pennant winners of '88. Perrott was in the box, and his work was something beautiful to witness. For eight innings, four hits were all that were secured off him, and he was very steady throughout. Armstrong was his catcher, but his work was not by any means first class. Cobb was in the box for Oakland, and was hit hard. His support was not good, Lohman being in very poor form, making three bad misplays; but some of the Oaklands did play ball, and wonderful ball, too. Bill Stickney at third brought down thunders of applause, and his stops and throws were something amazing. In the eighth inning he made the greatest catch of a high line hit ever witnessed on the grounds. It came from Fudger's bat, and looked as though it was a sure double, but "Mobile" nimbly jumped fully four feet from the ground, struck up his paw, and the ball rested there, but only for a moment, for the next instant the ball was landed safely in McDonald's hands, Holliday being doubled up by this wonderful play.

The fielding of the Stocktons was gilt edged, it being impossible to improve on Cahill's, Fogarty's Fudger's or Selnas' work. Armstrong showed himself to be a heavy batsman, and in this line Selna, Holliday, Wilson, McDonald and Isaacson kept pace with him. Gagus umpired his first Sunday game to the satisfaction of all. The score.

SACRAMENTO vs. SAN FRANCISCO.

SUNDAY, JUNE 29TH, AT SACRAMENTO.

Fully four thousand people were attracted to the grounds, and all were hopeful that they would see the Senators landed in first place, and also that it would be a brilliant game. In the first instance their hopes were most fully realized, but in the second they were doomed to dismal disappointment. The Friscos seemed totally unprepared to play their game of the season; in fact, their playing was a most perfect burlesque on how the game should be played. They were as full of errors as a mosquito net is of holes, and every player excepting Stevens gave an exhibition of how base ball should not be played. Young was to be the pitcher, but he was wild as a "Texas steer," and in three innings gave six bases on balls, hit Daly, and was touched up for seven hits. Sweeney was then substituted, and considering the ragged support accorded him, pitched a good game. "Toreador" Harper was also very wild in the third inning, but otherwise did well. Bowman's work behind the bat was exceptionally fine, as was the fielding of Stapleton, Reitz, Godar, Roberts and Stevens. Other features were the base running of Goodenough, and the hitting of Reitz, Godar, Stapleton, Goodenongh, Shea and McHale. Stapleton, who got his base on balls four times, signalized his first chance to hit the ball by banging out a home run. Godar also made a four baser in the second inning. Donohue's decisions on bases were in every case correct, but the pitchers could not get a strike called unless the ball travelled over the center of the plate. The score:

BURLINGTONS vs WILL & FINCKS.

Sunday, June 29th, at Haight Street.

The above teams played an intensely interesting and exciting game last Sunday, snd which the Yonng Giants lost through some stupid base running in the seventh inniug. Walcott pitched for the "Railroaders" and his work was exceedingly clever. Mulvey at the receiving end gave hiru almost perfect support. Howell, the "two year old," wss iu the points for the Giants, aud was a trifle wild at critical times. The backstop work of his partner, Billings, could not be aurpsssed. The Burlingtons scored twice in the third inuing on McKenzie's base on balls, Bradley's force hit and Mulvey's siugle to right. In the sixth Bradley took first on halls, stole second and scored ou Kennedy's triple to left, Kennedy coming home on Walcott's single; Walcott tallied on Tillsou's error of Dunn's hard grounder. In the aeventh they added another to their string. Bradley, who had heen very fortunate in rnn getting, took his base on balls, stole second, and crossed the plate on Mulvey's second single. The Giants tallied one in the first on Cusick's base on balls and steals of secoud and third and Conway's out at first. In the second Leveque was safe on Dnun's error and came home on Frank Delmss' triple. They tallied one more in the fifth and their chances for winning the game looked hright in the seventh inning. Tillson led off with a double to left, stole third and scored on Leveque's single, Joe taking second on the throw in. Frank Delmss was given first on hall's and pilfered second. Howell had mean while struck ont and Cusick, the most reliable hitter in the tesm was at the hat. Delmas then did some monkey hase rnnning which retired the side. He followed close up to third forcing Leveque to leave the bag and take deaperale chances of scoring and the resnll was that Joe was caught between third and home. There were some pretty and smart playing done by both sides. Noteworihy of particular mention was the fielding of Kennedy, Bradley, Fleming, Strand and F. Delmas; the hitting of Leveque, Mulvey, Tillson, F. Delmas and Kennedy, and the base runnlng of Cusick, Bradley and Leveqne. The score:

SANTA ROSAS vs. REPORTS.

Sunday, June 29th at Santa Rosa.

Santa Rosa lost the first game on tbeir own grounds to the Repoits last Snnday. It wss not a hard fought battle for the "News Circulators,' both out batted and out fielded the Leaders. Callen was hit out hard and frequently and the Sonoma hoys evinced a tendency to help the visitors slong hy condescending to make errors when their opponents were doing their hitting. But between lhe errors was sandwiched some hrilliant playing. Young Gimmel wss a host in himselt, and captured the crowd and some very difficnlt fly halls as well. Cook also took an active part in the fielding and Hen Stnltz's work at first was reminiscent of the manner in which he covered the initial when with the Trihunea. For the Reports Monet and Green worked well together, and the infield exhibition hy Gray, Creamer, Thompson and Dunphy conld acsrcely he improved on. McIntyre and Sharp pnt np a pretty fielding game also. Sharp, McIntyre, Green, Van Haltran and Pace did some telling work with the stick. Umpire Cate gave good satisfaction but found it uecessary to tine Gray for hack talk. The score:

VALLEJOS vs. E. T. ALLLENS.

Sunday, June 29th, at Vallejo.

Last Snnday was a memorable occasion for the "Sports" for by an arrangement entercd into by the mansgera of both teams before the gsme, It wss decided that the issne of the contest would also decide which team was entitled to the tie game of May 30th. The Allens brought up a strong team and went in to play hall, while the Vallejoa seemed content to lower their fielding records hy making nearly as many errors as they had chances. Tne Allens made six runs in the first inning, principally on errors, and augmented their score by one run in the fonrth and three in the seventh; while the Marines, who hit hard, scored one tally at intervals of the first, sixth, seventh and eighth innings. Baltz pitched another of his wonderful slrike out games, but his support, with few exceptions, wss wretched. Farrell's work behind the bat was fairly good, aa was the first base play of Jack Ryan, taking into consideration lhe "sky rocket" throws he was expected to receive. Tbe remsinder of lhe team played like a lot of Turks who had never seen a hall before. The Allens gave a pretty exhibition. Stanley handled McDonsld's erratic pitching to the Queen's taste, and Reilly made some extraordinsry stops and picknps of hard grounders. He was given an error on which play the hataman should have been credited with a base hit. Burt Parker made his appearance with the team and was slightly "off" in throwing, otherwise his general work was first class. Magnire, Baliz and Reilly excelled at the bat, and Parker and Magnire did some good hase rnnning. McConville's decisions were often disputed by the Vallejos who, besides giving a rank exhibition of base ball, also gave a sample of rowdyism. The score:

Amateur Short Hits.

Johnson has been relessed.

McGuire is a good captain for the Msrines.

Dave Cresmer lost his temper last Sunday.

Lewis is now playing second for the Allens.

The city teams were all winners last Sunday.

Bradley has developed into quite a base runner.

The Santa Rosss lost last Sunday's game by wild throwing.

Sharp and McIntyre are the safest hitters in the Report team.

John Thompson is playing great ball at short field for the Reports.

Stanley caught another magnificent game for the Allens Sunday.

Jack Ryan's work at first base last Sunday was not up to the standard.

Josh Reilly's work at short stop last Sunday is said to have been simply wonderful.

Sullivan, Dave Levys old twirler, has been signed to play second base for the Chronicles.

Joe Leveque has regained hia batting eye and is hitting the ball out frequently and hard.

Cartright, formerly pitcher of the Burlingtons is now playiug in the field for the Francis Valentines.

Last Sunday "the little demon" Gimmel played the finest fielding game ever witnessed at Santa Rosa.

Last Snnday the defeated teams, Santa Rosa, Vallejo and the Will & Fincks made four runs each.

Judging from the score of lhe Vallejo-Allen gsme, Hughes does not appear to be much of an improvement on Broderick.

Umpire Cate docked Gray, the first baseman of the Reports, five dollars for nsing insulting langnage in the Report Santa Rosa game.

Lippert of the Francis Valentines is said to he a fine pitcher. He has grest speed, deceptive curves and very fair command of the ball.

Thst hoy Sharp has heen doing some pretty tall hitting this season for the Reports. If the averages were compled, the chances are Sharp's name would ornament the top of the list

Mansger Grsce hss secured Chsrley Van Haltran to play second base for the Santa Rosas. In the great pitchers brother, Grace has a good reliable infielder and hitter and one who will certainly give good satisfsctiou.

Why dont some of the teams negotiate for Agnews serviaes. He is probably the best smateur pitcher on the Coast, with tremendons speed, curves and command and wonl t be a "corker" for the tesm who is lneky enough to get him.

The following is the team Mansger Keller will take to Merced to play that team on the 4th 5th and 6th. McDona'd pitcher; Stanley, catcher; Evatl, first hase; Lewis, secoud base; Van Haltran, third bsse; Reilley, short stop; and McCarthy, Buckley and Geishaker, fielders.

Tom Buckley is now stationed in center field with the Allena at his own request. Not hnt that he is fully capable to guard the second hag in A 1 style but heing thoronghly conscientious he knows that to play the position to the hest advantage requirea constant practice and being unable to do this he prefers playing in the ontfield.

Keller showed where he was level headed in siguing Burt Parker. Here is a rattling hard worker, one who entera into the spirit of the g me body and soul. Burt may he a kicker and a hard loser, hut he is withsl a clever ball player and can fill any position except thst of pitcher. When with the Clevelands—one of the strongest amateur tesma ever organized—Parker did slmost all the catching and was a lightning thrower to baaes. He was slao atrong with the willow, and fast on the paths. Keller has decidedly improved his team with the new addition thereto.

Gene Broderick who has played third for Vallejo since the heginning of the season has been released. Gene appears to have been badly trested at the hands of the Vallejo management. Thc arrangements made when he aigned was that he was to be retsined throughont the entire seasou and tbat he was to be provided with a good position. The promised position was almost a myth, for in three months he secured hut ten days work, and a very few dollars besides his board and lodging would cover his gross earnings with the team. From certain reports it would seem that the tesm is heing rnn hy a clique, and if their emuity is incurred no stone will remain unturned nntil the object of their maliciouaness is removed. From a personal knowledge of the player in qneation we csn cheerfnlly say that he has always appeared as a thorough gentleman, and from a cnrsory glance at the scores believe that be ranked very high in the team as a batsman, and was way above the average as a third baaeman. We regret to hear of his release, but nndoubtedly some of the other teams will qnickly negotiate for his aervices.

ATHLETICS.

Athletic Sports and Other Pastimes.

EDITED BY ARPHIPPUS,

SUMMARY.

The Fourth has come and gone and the out door athletes may take a reat for aeveral weeke to come. The wheelmen are looking forward to some good road races and the oaramen are anxiously awaiting new inducements in their line of business. The year is not half over yet and many important ont door sporting events may be expected to take place before its close.

THE WHEELMEN.

On account of the holiday we were compelled to go to preas one day earlier thia week and in consequence we must omit our acconnt the San Jose meet nntil next Saturday, when full particulars of the tournament, parade, ball, etc., will be given.

The hond committee of the Bay City wheelmen is doing splendidly and that flouriahing club will shortly be able to erect a handsome and costly clnb honse.

Several wheelmen took long spins into the country on Sunday. For three days previous to the Fonrth but little exercise waa taken by the local men that they might feel all the atronger and fresher when called upon to spuit.

The ball which will be given at the Hotel Vendome, San Jose, this evening, will be largely attended by the fair women and brave men of the Garden City and it is expected that not a few of San Francisco's fair msidens and youths will uae the invitations which they were fortunate enough to secure.

The Bay City Wheelmen in conjunction with aome of the other bicycle organizations will probably make a big effort before long to secnre good training grounda with a suitable track for the use of the local wheelmen. It is certainly a disgrace that a city like San Francisco with a population of 300,000 people shonld be without a good bicycle track, especially when the number of riders in it is so large.

It ia claimed that the Alameda scorchers will reorganize this summer.

The membership of the Oakland Bicycle Club of '89 is increasing rapidly and there are several first-class men now in the club.

AT THE OARS.

A resume of the regatta which was held yesterday will appear in onr next issue.

The oarsmen were out in full force on Sunday and many of them looked as it they had been training hard for some time past.

The South End'a amateur four launched their barge at 7 o'clock in the morning and rowed to Milbrae.

Sullivan, Heenan, Stokes and Long of the Pioneer Club appeared in their ahells.

The following well known scullers were also ont for practice in their ahella: Henry and Charles Peterson, Billy Growney, Val Kerhlein, James Cochrane, Dan Dougherty, Lou Moore and G. W. Van Gullpen.

On Monday last Stansbury of New South Wales again de feated O'Connor of Canada; when the race was rowed for the championahip the previous Monday Stansbury won, bnt O'Connor claimed a foul which the judges disallowed. Stansbnry, however, knew he held hia man safe, and agreed to row the race over again sooner than have any claim of foul play. The race was again rowed on the Paramatta and is easily deacribed. The men got away together, but Stansbury shot ahead. After that do what he conld, O'Connor could not get on even terms with him. Stansbury won as he pleased. O'Connor's friends are very despondent, as they lost heavily on both races. Stansbnry was given an ovation by the Sidney people on Monday night.

CLUB JOTTINGS.

The Alameda Olympic Club will shortly give a "ladies' night" exhibition, when some of the best amateur and professional talent on the Coast will appear.

Since the new grounds of the Olympic Club of this city have been opened several new members have been proposed. The inducements offered hy this snccesaful organization are too hard to withstand, and many gentlemen are deserting the professional clubs to identify themselves with the Olympic.

The Willows Athletic Clnh gave a fine exhibition last evening. Several local amateurs lent their aid.

The road walk of ihe Alpine Club will take place from San Mateo to-morrow. If the tramp turns out a success Captain Garrison will probably announce a walk from San Joae to this city in the course of a month or so.

The Olympic Club will hold another cross country run in a week or two.

An important meeting of the P C A A A waa held at the Olympic Cluh rooms on Wednesday evening last.

The Scottish Thistle Clnb deaerves the thanks of the amateur athletes for the interest it takes in their welfare.

The married and single members of the Burnaby Cricket Club will play a match game at their grounds in Alameda tomorrow.

The Alpine Club will shortly place cricket and football teams in the fields. There are half a dozen fine cricket players in the club and the balance of a team can easily be picked from amongst the rest of the members.

A general dullness prevails at the present time in professional circles, and the Amateur clubs are being generally benefitted by the fact.

Several members of the Pacific Swimming Clnb are away in the country and only a few of the swimmers were seen at the Terrace Bathe on Sunday.

A CROSS COUNTRY RUN.

Some of the Athletic members of the Lurline Clnb enjoyed a run across the country from the Rosa Villa, Sanaalito, to the Lime Point, Fog Station, and return on Sunday laat. The following men started on the run: C. Stutz, Peter A. Gay, S. Vincini, D. Suppel, C. Farrell, G. Robinaon, P. Hurlinan, F. Bollinger, F. Galvez and W. M. Schwartz. F. W. Taufenbach acted as atarter and J. Lynch kept the time. Yonng Stutz proved himself to be the champion long diatance runner of the club hy winning the first gold medal, his time for the full distance being 34 minutes. Dr. Suppel won the second silver medal, time 36 minutes; F. Galvez third medal, 36½ minutes; Peter Gay fourth medal, time 37½ minutes; G. Robinson fifth medal, time 38½ minntes. The medals which were handsome were distributed to the lucky winnera, on Tuesday evening after the installation of the new officers.

RUNNERS, WALKERS, JUMPERS, ETC.

We will print a lengthy accounnt of the Olympic games which took place yesterday, in next weeks issue.

The Alpine Clnb will probably hold a field day in August, and the O. A. C. will give a fine meet on the 9th of the following month, Admission Day.

President Walter A. Scott of the P. C. A. A. A. has just returned from an extended trip into the interior.

Prof. Miehling and Eugene Van Court of the O. A. C. are enjoying a couple of weeks vacation in the country.

Hand hall appeara to be the favorite pastime with some of the Olympic Club members, and the ball alley at the new grounds is constantly filled with the lovers of that game.

On dit that P. D. Skillman, the well known Eastern Amateur runner is abont to visit this city. He was to have competed in the Olympic games yesterday.

Robert A. Ward, the amateur champion half-mile runner of the United States, died snddenly at his home in Millsdale, Mich., Wednesday afternoon June 19. He was a member in the Detroit Athletic Club and took the half-mile event in the A. A. U. championships at Travers Island last September.

We take the following regarding the wonderful English jumper, Joseph Darby, from The Dnblin Sportsman:

I have touched on athletic topics for the purpose of alluding to a performance, or a series of wonderful feats, which I have witnesaed dnring the week in the Star Music Hall. A reference of the kind in an article snch as this may wear the appearance of a mere puff, but I have no such intention. I merely wish to allnde to what has come nnder my own no.ice, and to record my snrpiise at what I saw. Joseph Darby is advertised as champion jumper of the world; but this scarcely conveys an idea of what he accomplishes, for most people would suppose that he did nothing beyond ordinary broad and high jumpa. How mistaken they would be may he gathered from the followlng, which are but a fraction of his feats: Standing high jump, 5ft. 6in., with ankles tied; two standing jumpa, 26ft. 7½in.; three standing jumps, 41ft. 7in.; four standing jumps, 50ft. 4in., clearing 15ft. 5in in last jump; aix hackward jumps, 54ft.; jumping from an ordinary brick, end up, over hedroom chair, on to another brick, end up, thence over bar, 5ft. 6in.; three jumps clearing chair atanding on table in last jnmp; jumping from brick over two horses; clearing eight chaira in jump, clearing 23ft. 8in, in two jumps, jumping over chair on to a man's face without hnrting man. As I have said these are only a few of a list which inclndea all sorts of extraordinary jumping antica, some of which are accompliahed from no more snbstantial take off than an ordinary tumbler. The point in the brick and tnmbler jumps is that the jumper must not upset either the brick or tumbler full of water, and in this Darby did not fail once. In the face of things of thia kind, where are our 'champions,' who scramble over 5ft. 6 or 8, and perhaps clear 20 or 21 feet? I should mention that this wonder was rather hampered by the smallneas of the atage, which was bnilt before jumpers of this kind were raised. If he had room enough it is hard to know whst, in reason, would stop him. I should say he could jump Jim Crow, and the cow that jumped over the moon would have to look to her laurels. Darby goes through no exceptional training unless for a special conteat. He keeps himself in trim by a little boxing, carefnl dietary and keeping clear of alcohol almost to the extent of teetotalism. He jumps in clogs tipped with steel, the most nnsnitable foot gear, the uninitiated might snppose, for the purpoae.

At Grass Valley, Cal, yesterday, a Cornish wrestling tournament was held. Several well known men participsted.

What was probably the most accessful field meeting ever held by the Athletic Clnb of the Schuylkill Navy came off at their new grounds at Stenton (Wayne Jnnction), Philadelphis, on Saturday afternoon, June 14. The spectators numbered abont three thousand, and seventeen different athletic and 'oycling clnbs were represented on the path and in the field. Of the latter many were from New York and vicinity, and they were snccesaful in winning nine of the fifteen first prizes and several of minor valne, the New York Athletic Club continually carrying off five firsta and three seconda. The Schuylkill Navy Cnp, for tug of war teams, was won by default hy the Berkeley Athletic Clnb squad, the Swarthmores failing to materialize. This is the second year that the Berkeleys have taken thia event. The weather was rather dull with threatening clouds overhead, hut the rain held off, and a very pleasant afternoon was passed, the events, almost without exception, producing excellent contests. The management was admirable, and the programme, handled hy experts, was worked off in good season. A summary follows:

One hnndred yards run—First heat: A. L. Copland, Manhattan Athletic Clnh, acratch, first; M. Stratton Jr. Athletic Clnb of the Schuylkill Navy, 7½ yds., second. Time, 10 1 5s. Second heat: E. S. Ramsdell, Athletic Clnb, Schnylkill Navy, 4 yda., first; F. M. Allen, Yonng Men'a Christian Association, 6 yds., second, Time; 10 1-5s. Third heat: S. Jonea Jr, Warren Athletic Clnh, 8½ yds., first; H. A. Smith Jr., Athletic Clnb Schuylkill Navy, 8 yda., second. Time, 10 3-5 a. Fourth heat: J. C. Devereanx. Manhattan Clnh, 6 yds., first; T. J. Lee, New York Athletic Clnb, 1½ yds., second. Time, 10 2-5s. Fifth heat: George Schwegler, New York Athletic Club, 2 yds., first; C. S. Amwake, Athletic Clnb S. C., 4 yds., and W. H. Morgan, New Jersey Athletic Club, 1½ yds., ran a dead heat for the place. Time 18 2 5s. Trial heat for second men; Lee first, in 10 1-5s; Allen second. Final heat: Lee first, in 10 1-5s; Ramsdell second by a few inches; Jonea third, close np.

Qnarter mile rnn—W. B Adamson, Young Men's Christian Association, 32 yds, first; W. H. Wright, New York Athletic Club and Harvard College, 3 yda., second, hy less than a yard; S. M. Goucher, Athletic Club of the Schnylkill Navy, 30 yds., third. Time, 50 3 5s.

Rnnning High Jnmp—David C. Clegg, Ridley Park Athletic Clnb allowed ½ in; first, jnmping 5 ft. 5¾in; Z. H. Lofland, Warren Athletic Club, allowed 4in., second, 5 ft. 4 in.

One mile bicycle race—Firat heat: W. F. Murphy, Kings Co. Wheelmen, scratch, first; A. A. Zimmerman, New Jeraey Athletic Club, scratch, second, by a qnarter of a wheel. Time, 2m 57 3-5a. J. H. Draper, Athletic Club, fell and broke hia collar hone. Second heat; W. H. Taxis, Athletic Clnb of the Schuylkill Navy, scratch, firat; S. B. Bowman, New Jersey Athletic Club, scratch, second. Time, 3m 25 1-5a. Final heat: Taxia first in 3m 12s; Murphy second by three inchea; Bowman third.

Hurdle race, 220yds.—Firat heat: E. Lentilhon, New York Athletic Clnb and Yale College, 5 yda. atart, first; D. L. Cheaterman, Athletic Club of the Schnylkill Navy, 9 yda, second. Time 27 4 5s. Second heat: E. M. Barnes, New Jersey Athletic Clnb, 6yds, first; George Schweigler, New York Athletic Clnb, acratch, second. Time, 26 4-5s. Final heat: Barnes first, in 25 2-5s; Schwegler second, Lentilhon third.

Running long jump—C. S. Amwake, Athletic Club, Schuylkill Navy, allowed 2ft 3in, first, clearing 20ft 3in; D. L. Chesterman, Athletic Clnb Schuylkill Navy, allowed 2ft 6in, second, 19ft 8in; J S Roddy, Mahhattan Athletic Clnb and Princeton College, 1ft 6 in, third, 20tt 4in.

One mile walk—E. A, Schofield, Young Men'a Christian Association, 45s start, first, C. H. Bucktey, Young Men's Christian Association, 40s, second; J. B. Keating, New Jersey A C, scratch, third. Time 8m 1s.

Tug of war, Schnylkill Navy Cup—The team of the Berkeley Athletic Club—W. H. Hanley, W. H. Martin, W. N. Bavier, and G. M. Elliott (anchor) won through default of the team who were to represent Swarthmore College.

One fnrlong run—First heat: M. Stratton Jr., Athletic Clnb Schnylkill Navy, 7yds, first; C. T. Buckholtz, Athletic Club Schuylkill Navy, 9yds, second. Time 23s. Second heat: T. I. Lee, New York Athletic Club, 2yds, first; W. H. Morgan, New Jersey Athletic Clnb, 6yds, second. Time 22 4-5s. Final heat: Lee first, in 22 2-5s; Morgan second, by 2 yards and a half; Buckholtz third, aix feet behind.

One mile run—W. S. French, New Jersey Athletic Club, 85 yds, first, James B. Reilly, Athletic Club Schuylkill Navy, 85 yds, second; Alexander Grieve, Young Men'a Christian Aasociation, 80 yds, third. Time 4m 32 1-5s.

Two mile bicycle race—First heat: W. C. Seeds, Wilmington Wheelmen, 180 yds. start, first; F. B. Elliott, Warren Athletic Club, 230yds, second. Time, 6m 6 2-5s. Second heat: W. F. Murphy, Kings Connty Wheelmen, scratch, first; F. G. Brown, New Jersey Athletic Club, 40yds, second. Time 6m 5 4-5s. Final heat: Murphy first, in 6m 6 4 5s; Brown second.

Throwing the 16lb hammer—J. D. Douglass, West Side Athletic Club, scratch, first, 104 ft 5in; E. J. Giannini, New York Athletic Clnb, acratch, second, 89ft. 9in.

Pole vault—D. L. Chesterman, Athletic Club Schuylkill Navy, allowed 1ft 3in, cleared 9ft 3in; A F Schwartz, Young Men's Christian Association, allowed 9in, cleared 9ft 9in, the tie on 10ft 6in being tossed off, and Chesterman winning.

Hurdle race, 120yds.—George Schwegler, New York Athletic Club, first; L C Lewis, Athletic Clnb of the Schuylkill Navy, second; Fred C Puffer, New Jersey Athletic Club, third. Time, 16 2 5s.

Half mile run—H E Billinga Jr., New York Athletic Club, 25yds atart, first; W H Morris, Athletic Club Schuylkill Navy, 10yds, second; W H Wright, New York Athletic Club and Harvard College, atretch, third. Time, 2 3 5s.

The following are the winners of the athletic games of the Acorn Athlettc Association at Brooklyn, New York, on June 14th.

One hundred yard run—Won by F M Reilly, A A C.

Eight hundred and eighty yards run—Won by J D Hope well, Acorn A A, with F Booth, Pastime A C, second. Time 2min.

Quarter of a mile run—Won by V C Rothsch, Harvard A A with M Cohen, Titan A C, second, and H A Thompson third. Time, 59 4-5sec.

Two hundred and twenty yards run—Won by C L Nicoll, Manhattan A C, scratch, with W W Scott, New Jersey A C, 30sec, second. Time, 15min, 5 4 5secs.

Two hundred and twenty yards run, handicap—Final heat won by F M Reilly, Acorn A A, with J M Glen, National A C second. Time, 24¾sec, Eight hnndred and eighty yards, handicap—Won hy H H Morrell, New Jersey, A C, with Conrad Marks, Richmond Connty, A C, second. Time, 2min 8 2 5sec.

Running high jump, handicap—Won by Ira Baird, Varuna Boat Clnb, 3in Hia beat jump waa 5ft 4in. W G Lipseyi St. George, A C, 4in, was second, with 5ft 2in.

Putting the 16 ponnd shot, handicap—Won by J Van Honten, West Side A C, 5ft 6 n. His best put was 40ft 9¼in, F Lambrecht, Manhattan A C acratch was second, with 4 feet 4¾in.

The World's Greatest Shot-Putter.

Putting the shot ia considered the lightest ot the standard weight-throwing competitions. This means that it prodnces less atrain upon an athlete's muacles than throwing the hammer or the 56-ponnd weight. It is not a question of brute force so much as the two heavier games, for althongh great atrength is needed to make a big record in the ahot, science is about equally as necessary The best amateur the world has ever seen at this game is George R. Gray, of the New York Athletic Club. Gray is not a massively built man, snch as J. S. Mitchell or C. A. J. Qneckberner, both of whom weigh over 220 pounds in athletic clothea, but he is very well put np, weighing in the neighborhood of 185 pounds, and standing 5 feet 10 inches in height. These dimensions represent a big man compared with average humanity, but Gray is a midget alongside many of the heavy weights he continually beats at his favorite event.

Gray hails from Coldwater, Ontario. His first prominent appearance was at the Canadian championship gamea of 1885 at Toronto. He was bnt 19 years of age then and weighed 165 ponnds. He defeated W. J. M. Barry, the Irish giant, who stood 6 feet 5 inches tall and weighed 245 ponnds. Barry was making a visit on the Irish team which invaded Canada and America that fall. The sturdy Queckberner took second place to the young athlete then, and the aurpriae was great when the smallest man in the half dozen competitors won the contest with the very good put of 41 feet 5½ inches. Gray at the time, when questioned concerning his wonderful ability, said that he had been putting the shot ever since he was 12 or 13 years of age, and that impromptn ahot contests were held in the road in front of his father'a store very often.

Although Gray is a very strong man now, he puts the shot way beyond his weight compared with other weight-throwers. The reason of this is that he has a style that is simply perfect. In other words, he gets about every onnce of strength under the ball that he is capable of exerting. The delivery of putting the shot conaists of a direct push of the arm from the ahoulder. The steadier and straighter this push can he given, just so much more strength can be put behind the shot. He follows it out as far as he can without loaing his bslance and falling over the front half of the 7-foot circle. The major part of the circle consists of an iron wheel tire, and for two or three feet in front of it is a raised block, cut to fit the circle. Thia block is called a toe-board, and aervea as a permanent mark to keep the athlete from stepping over the line, for in the act of delivering the momentum of the athlete's body is considerable, and atriking the toe-board with the foot, helps materially in keeping him back.

The movements of putting the ahot are very simple after one learns the principle of the game, bnt novices experience difficulty in acquiring the correct style. The pointa to bear in mind are to put yourself in a position thet when you wish to deliver the ball you are able to use many muscles of the body. It is not simply an arm motion, but the waist and legs play important parts. To prepare for a put, Gray steps to the back part of the circle with his left side toward the front or toe-board. He holds the shot in his right hand, close to his shoulder. His left arm points in the air at about forty-five degrees. In giving the first hop he does not commence with a sweeping motion, and he makes very few preliminary movements, such as many putters do, but that first hop brings his left foot to the toe-board and his right foot at about the middle of the circle. This leaves his legs about 3½ feet apart. His left arm is still in the air, but the position of his body has materially changed from the way it was previous to his giving the hop. He has stooped, thrown back right shoulder down, and a trifle around further toward his back as it were. He is now in a position to come up quickly on his legs, indulge in a quick motion forward from the waist in straightening his body from its leaning position, and last of all to give a vigorous push with the arms. He does all this so quickly that it is difficult to notice just how it is done, but the combined movement of his waist and arms with the jump of the legs, puts more force behind the shot than one would imagine.

The jump is made with the left foot at the toe-board with the right still about in the middle of the circle, but shoving the right arm around and out in delivering the missile brings the right side of the body to the front and throws the left side back, as he lands on the ground. Gray is still a young man but if he improves in proportion to his age as other amateur weight throwers have, his ability half a dozen years hence will be considerably beyond his present wonderful figures.

Gossiper has again developed lameness and has been taken out of training. Jud Wilkes, the son of Ira Wilkes, is in the same boat. Atto Rex is now expected to be able to stand up, although he has not been sent any fast miles. Chino ranch is to have one of the best tracks in Southern California.

San Diego is to have a meeting at Coronado on the Fourth. Ventura will also have a day's sport on the day we celebrate.

QUARTER STRETCH GOSSIP.

Gladietor will be a starter at the coming meeting.

A two year old Stamboul—Dido colt is showing up well in his work.

The impression is very general here that "Lucky" Baldwin would have captured the American Derby if the track had been good and fast. DAGWORTH.

The Portland Fall Meeting.

The Directors of the Portland Speed Association are so much encouraged from the success of the spring meeting that they already announce that $12,000 will be hung up in purses for the fall meeting and have formulated the following programme:

Trotting entries close August 1st, 1890. Running entries close September 1st, 1890.

Shetland Ponies.

The ponies are not an agricultural but a domestic necessity. In Shetland, as in part of Ireland, every family depends for its supply of fuel on peat, and as the peats is seldom found near at hand on shore where the horses stand, but on the hill behind them—there is always a hill in the rear in Shetland, every island consisting mainly of a hill, with a patch or two of "smooth" land in a few snug nooks by the shore—and as it often is at a distance of several steep and stony miles, each house requires several ponies, the number depending on the distance and character of the road. A family living "convenient" to the peat may require only two peat carriers, and another family may require half a dozen. The material, after it has been dug and dried in the usual manner, is carried home on the backs of the ponies in blankets called "cessics." It is obvious that the back which has to perform this kind of service should be broad and strong. The Shetland pony is a striking example of development; for generations past he has been bred and reared and trained with uniformity which could not have been secured in any other part of the United Kingdom. Hence his physique and general character, his hereditary instincts and intelligence, his small size, and his purity and fixity of type. A pony belonging to a breed which has had to pick zigzag way down a steep declivity during many generations must be sure-footed.

By the same rule a pony whose grooms and playmates include a dozen juveniles—the children of the neighborhood, who roll about underneath him or upon his back—must be gentle; and the pony living on the scathold, on air sometimes rather than on herbage, must be hardy. The pony of the Shetland Isles is, in fact, the offspring of circumstances. He is the pet of the family, gentle as the Arab's steed under similar training. He will follow his friends indoors like a dog, and lick the platters and the children's faces. He has no more kicks in him than a cat and no more bite than a puppy. He is a noble example of the complete suppression of these vicious propensities that some of this kind exhibit when they are ill-treated, and of the intelligence and good temper that may be developed in horses by kindness. There is no precedent for his running away, nor for his becoming frightened or tired, even when he has carried some laird from Lerwick to his house, many Scotch miles across the hills. He moves down the rugged hillside with admirable circumspection, loaded pannier fashion with two heavy "cassies" of peat, picking his way step by step, sometimes sideways. In crossing boggy spots, where the water is retained, and a green carpet of aquatic grass might deceive some steeds and bring them headlong to grief in the spongy trap, he carefully smells the surface, and is thus enabled to circumvent the danger. In the winter the Shetland pony wears a coat made of felted hair, and specially suited for the season. His thick winter garment is well adapted for protecting him against the fogs and damps of the climate. It is exceedingly warm and comfortable, fits close to the wearer's dapper form, and is not bed looking when new. But when the coat grows old, towards spring, at the season when the new one should appear, it becomes the shabbiest of the kind you often see. Its very amplitude and the abundance of the material render it the more conspicuous when it peels and hangs for a while, ragged and worn out, and then falls bit by bit till the whole of it disappears. No horse looks at his best when losing his coat, and the more coat there may be to lose the worse he looks.—London Field.

Grim's Gossip.

Fleet 2:24 has been bred to Baron Rose.

It is expected that Mr. A L. Whitney's two-year-old Dawn filly Anna Bell, will go into the 2:30 list this year.

When referring to Mr. Ijams. the noted trotting horee man of Indianapolie, Ind., yon shonld not say Mr. Eyejams, but prononnce as if spelled I-m-e-s.

A match race will take place on Saturday at the Oakland Trotting Park, between Mr. Andereon's horse Pete, and Mr. Pumyea's Jasper. The amonnt posted is $100 a side.

Edgwood Stock Farm has sold to Miller & Sibley, Franklin, Pa., the two-year-old bay colt Thornbel, by St. Bell, 2:24½, dem Snsie Thorn by Romulus, consideration $2,500.

Do not forget to send in items about the horses in your neighborhood. The publio want to know what is going on abont the various stables, and they want to hear from all over the S a .

P. A. Finigan is credited with having a two-year-old that he will show against any trotting horee of the same sge in tbe State. He is not only a handsome looker but shows good speed at the trot.

Alfred S., I am pleased to say, has almost recovered from his injury, and Hickok has given him a mile in 2:25. Prince Warwick has also been given some fast work and is nearly ready to meet hot company.

Nothing succeeds like anccess It is now claimed that Axtell's book for 1891 is full, and it is safe to say that if he lowers hie present record that before the 1st of January the one for 1892, will be full also.

Guide 2:28¼ is moving up in his work and Mr. Sutherland feels sure that he has a great horee this year. I have already predicted a low mark for Guide this season and shall feel disappointed if he does not tonch close to "twenty."

L. J. Rose has purchased from W. C. Daly the bay mare Little Barefoot by Tom Ochiltree, dam imp Allie Slade by Typtroens. In 1888 this mare wou a few good races and it is likely that Mr. Rose will keep her for breeding purposee.

It may not be uninteresting to let our readers know that Mr. Shults who purchased Gold Leaf last spring is having her worked as a trotter, and the great daughter of Sidney can ehow a mile in much better thau 2:30. She has been bred to Baron Rose.

The Directors of the Petaluma Fair have made arrange ments with the Street Car Company, and the latter will rnn the care directly up to the Grand Stand. This ie a great improvement, and will be appreciated by those who patronize the gronnds.

John L. Day, of Chicago, writes mo that his wife has been honored by Mr. James Long of Georgetown, Ky., who hae named a well bred filly, Ida F. Day. The filly is by Petoskey, dam by Forrest Glencoe, 2nd dam by Mambrino Pilot, 3rd dam by Tom Hal.

The Antevolo colt owned by Mr. Requa of Oakland, that is now being handled by Steve Crandall at Petaluma, gives promise of extreme epeed, and so he should, for matiug Nutwood blood with a first-class son of Electioneer is almost sure to get performers.

I take pleasnre in saying that when my horses were sick with what was called lung fever last Spring. I gave Simmons Liver Regulator (liquid) in one onnce doses, twice a day. They all recovered speedily.—E. T. Michener, Proprietor Michener's Express, Jenkintown, Pa.

In our Los Angeles letter published June 21st, the correspondent eaid that J. D. Young owned the only Monroe Chief stallion in the southern portion of the Stats. J. B. Palin writes me that he also has one named John H. Thompson, the dam being Eva P. by Ben Wade.

A telegram from New York sent on Wednesday afternoon says that Robert L. Wallace and Ignatz Blotz who p'eaded gnilty to the larceny of $50 000 belonging to J. H. Wallace, uncle of the former, were that day sentenced to State Prison for eight years and eleven monthe each.

The reason that Gertrude Russell was bred to Jersey Wilkes was because she had become lame owing to an unbalanced hoof and Marvin threw her ont of training. Palo Alto Stock Farm has been very unfortunate so far with their Eastern contingent but we hope to see them attain great results yet.

All of the Dawn colts that are being worked show up well and that fact has encouraged a number of owners of good brood mares to send their animals to the harem of Nutwood's best son. Mr. Whitney has had a very successful season with him, and now almost regrets that he has sold the great horse.

The Terre Haute Express ie quoted as saying that: Gertrude Russell, 2:23½ (full eister to Palo Alto), by Electioneer' dam Dame Winnie. was bred to Jersey Wilkes last Saturday. Nothing could better illnstrate the high estimate placed on this great son of George Wilkes than the fact that the Palo Alto farm should send one of ite best mares to him.

Arol, brown mare, 2:24½, by Electioneer, dam Aurora, 2:27, that was injured in shipment to Terra Haute from Palo Alto farm, died at Drs. Knowles & Thompson's hospital in Terre Hante last week. Prior to her shipment, she had shown her ability to beat her mark by many seconds, and Marvin confidently expected to get a much lower record for her

Frank H. Burke and William Vioget his trainer will have a gala day to-morrow (Friday), owing to a dispute that has arisen between them respecting the epeed of two trotting horees, now quartered at the Bay District Track, in the La Siesta string. A wager had been posted on the result, and thoee who attend at the track may expect to witness a sharp contest.

On the steamer that started for Australia last Saturday, there was shipped, a full brother to Yolo Maid, he having been bought by Mr. Foster, of Sydney. The purchase wae conditional on the horse being able to show two miles in five minutes or better and as the feat was accomplished in 4:51, the sale was consumated.

Oro, the property of J. R. Ross, won a selling race at Kansas City, on June 12th, the entrance price being $1,000. The Scoggan Bros. bid the winner in for $1,200 and again sold him to Ed. Corrigan at a considerable advance. Oro was bred the property of Theodore Winters, and finally passed into the hands of Owen Bros. of Fresno, who last year sold Oro to Mr. Ross, and was by him taken East a few months ago.

Secretary Campbell of the Detroit Association writes me that eighteen of the original subscribers to the Merchants and Manufacturers Stake of $10,000 have come up smiling and made the third payment, thereby assuring ae fine a field of starters in the 2:24 claee as ever left the wire. July 7th is the date for the final psyment and the naming of the horses, when it will be in order for the knowing ones to pick the winner of this vsluable etake.

Jo. D. Sproul, Secretary of the Chico Association, informs me that Hon. Chris Green, of Sacramento, will act as the starting judge in all the trotting and pacing racee at that point. I am glad to see Chico secure the services of such a capable starter, for then the public will feel assured that all of the races will be on the square. One good man in the judge's stend alwaye makes the crooks afraid to carry ont any fraudulent schemes they may have concocted.

Another of the better known race horses has passed awsy, Jon Jon, falling dead in a race at West Side Park, Chicago, on June 18th. By many the old gelding was supposed to have been one of the fastest horeee ever raised in this state, and to thie day there are those who assert positively that while in work in the Oakland Track, he was timed a mile in 1:38. Be that as it may, he wae a fast horse and generally had a large following whenever he was announced to etart. Jou Jou was by Monday dam Plaything by Alarm.

As one or two mietakes have already taken place thie yeer in regard to making entries, envelopes not being postmarked properly, we would like to impress on all onr readers the importance of making their entries in time so that the post-mark of the day intended may show. This intimation is necessary, as there are many of the smaller towns where letters put in the box after the train errives are not poet-merked nntil the following day, and as a consequence payments and entries are liable to be thrown out. Make your entries early.

Col. Harry I. Thornton is the proud and happy possessor of two Director foals from thoroughbred mares that are reported to be far above the average. Both of the youngsters are natural trottere, and before leaving for the East Mr. Salisbury expressed a desire to purchase them both. It is extremely probable that he will do so as there is only a small sum difference between the price named and offered, and still the figure is up in the thousande. One is out of Aurora, the dam of Guido, while the other is out of Lugena.

Mr. Gilbert Tompkins and his trainer Peter Woode are sanguine that Glen Fortune will turn ont to be a snre enough trotter. The colt is four years old and was purchased from the Palo Alto Stock Farm at the eame time that Mr. Tompkins bought El Benton. Glen Fortune is by Electioneer dam Glenne by Messenger Duroc; 2nd dam Glennella by Woodward Star; 3rd dam Shanghai Mary, dam of Green Mountain Maid, dam of Electioneer. Glen Fortune from his blood lines should be able to trot fast and in Wood's hands will nndoubtedly do so.

The yearling Sable Wilkes colts are highly thought of by those who have seen them work, and John A. Goldsmith has an idea that the son of Gov Wilkes will make a great name for himself in the stud. There is no reason why he shonld not do eo, possessed of great speed himself aud as the repreeentative of two speed prodncing families, he shonld snrely he able to transmit the same in a marked degree The public will have a chance to see what they can do as several of them will be started this year.

Friend McNabb of the Petaluma Argus, seems to think that the Sonoma and Marin Society have not offered money enough for local horses in the speed programme, evidently forgetting the fact that where a Board of Directors restrict themselves almost entirely to home horses, that the population will not turn ont to see Speed contests. It is the horses that come from a distance that are the drawing cards, and those who have tried both plans find that the "open to all" are the best paying as far as "the gate" is concerned.

Now that Washington has taken on Statehood, ehe rises to assert her rights and by our exchanges learn that the good folks of the late territory will hold a State Fair during the preeent year. To further that end the Washington Fair Association has been incorporated with the following board of officers and trustees: B. F. Shabut. Preeident; J. W. McLeod, first Vice-President; J. McNaught, second Vice-President; S. Baxter, third Vice-President; J. H. McGraw, Treasurer; T. B, Bearman, Secretary. The capital etock is $50,000 and the first meeting will be held on Jnly 11th, 12th and 13th.

L. H. McIntosh, of Chico, one of the Directors of the P. C. T. H. B. A., wae in the city during the early portion of the week and reports his crop of foals as being eqnal to any found on the coast. In Arthur Wilkes he hae a firet clase stallion and to test his speed Mr. McIntoeh will have hie son of Guy Wilkes trained, and is satisfied that he will win a place for him in the 2:30 liet. With the many good etallions now in the vicinity of Chico, the day ie not far distant when that section of the State will be able to turn out as many, and as fast trotters, as any other in California.

During the week just passed, Mr. Lafayette Funk of Farmington has been in the City looking after his intereete, and in convereation he stated that within a few weeks he would in all probability ehip down to the Bay Dietrict Track all his horses now in training. The Funk Bros. have many well bred youngetere at their farm, and from among the many we fully expect to see one or two fast trottere crop up before the season cloeee. John McConnell (Buster) will train and drive their horsee through the circuit, he having been domiciled at Farmington for the past three months.

Tke etatement that Jennie Lind 2.17 pacer, hae given birth to a trotting foal by Roy Wilkes, pacer 2:12¾, is still being copied and commented upon by many turf papers; and as the statement first appeared in the Breeder and Sportsman, it is only juet thst we shonld say that in a letter lately received from Mr. L. A. Davies, owner of Roy Wilkee he eays that the fosl has taken to pacing.

The fact that Stover was expelled or suspended from the Fresno track does not eeem to make any difference to that slick individual as he has been cutting a wide swath on the Eastern tracks. A short time ago he bought the aged horse Hamlet for $1,800 at Kansas City and won $3,000 with him in his first race, and then eold the horse to A Simon for $2,200. How it must have tickled the fancy of this individual to see himself called "a shrewd California horseman," when the real facts of the case are, that there is hardly a Directorate in the State bnt what feels better satisfied with his absence, than p'eased at his presence.

The trotters in foreign parts sppear to be unusually busy. At the spring meeting at Vienna, May 11th, the famous Praterpreis, free for all, for 2,500 florins, divided, was won by Mr. Ehrich's brown mare Polly, 1ste Utopis, in seven heats of 1,100 metres each, or about 5½ furlongs. Polly's fastest heat was made in 1:36, and represents a 2;27 gait per mile. Inquiry has been made abont the selling price of the gray mare Kensett F. The preeent owners, Messrs. Allergaert and D. B. Goff, aek 80,000 francs, $16,000. The mare undertook the Sunday following the races to beat Mollie Wilkes' record on the Vienna track, made last summer, of 2:20¾ per mile, but was not qnite succeseful. The first attempted mile wae trotted in 2:28, then a running horse was put in reqnisition, and ehe trotted the two following miles in 2:23 and 2:21 respectively.

Arthur Simmons hae a Texas pony on his farm at Chokee whose ability as a jumper cannot he surpassed. He is a diminutive specimen of that breed of horse-flesh and a day or two ago was put into a big box or crate for ehipment to Americns, there being no stock car convenient at the time. The pony and box were placed upon a flat car and the train pulled out. The little sample of Texas cyclone soon got tired of his close quarters, and while the train was running at a speed of thirty miles an hour. kicked the box into a cocked hat and made a leap for liberty. He struck terra firma right side up with care, and when the train men csme back to view his cold remains the said remains were quietly nibbling at a ke of iron spikes on the side of the road, and it took four men and a boy an hour to run down and capture him. At least that is what the conductor eaid.—Americns (Ga) Times.

A peculiar fight has taken place in the County Board of Eqnelization at Terre Hante over the figures that two stallions should be assessed at. It seems that Mr. Ijams returned Axtell and Jersey Wilkes in his assessment blank at $100 each, bnt the Farmers' Alliance appeared by represcntatives, and asked that the Township Assessor'e return aesessing the etallions at $75,000 eech he approved. By a vote of four to three—Axtell wae assessed at $8,000 and Jersey Wilkes at $3,000. The Farmers' Alliance petition that the animals be assessed at $75,000 each was beaten by a vote of five to two. The fight has attracted much attention among horsemen, and the Alliance is not satisfied. It claims that Axtell cost $105,000, earned $40,000 in the stud the past season, and that $75,000 ie his fair cash valne. Axtell's owners threaten to remove him from Terre Haute if the assessment ie made high.

That Axtell and Sunol will meet in one race and possibly three before the close of the eeason, ie almost an aseured fact, says the Horseman. The champion stallion will not be in condition before September, although Doble finds that he etill poseeeses hie wonderful hurst of speed, while Marvin gave the public a line on Sunol last week when he sent her a quarter in 31:1-5 seconds. All of the parties controlling the pair of four-year-olds are enxious that they should meet, so that the only barrier between a meeting is one or both of them losing their form before the eutumn monthe. A race or series of racee will settle the Wilkes-Electioneer race war, and stir up a greater interest in trotting. On paper Axtell ehonld defeat the California filly, ae he finished ten heats as a three-year-old over mile tracks at an average of 2:16, while Sunol averagee a fraction nnder 2:18 for twelve heats. A glance over Axtell'e performances also shows that as a three-year-old he trotted four miles over half-mile tracks and that the average for his fourteen heate is 2:17¾.

It is with a great deal of pleasure that I finally have a chance to record a winning for the Hearst stable. Although starting many times this year, if memory servee correctly, and without turning up the Guide, the stable has won only once, until Wednesday last, when for the great Realization etakee the now celebrated horseman had the pleasnre of seeing his horee Tournament carry the green and gold to victory. Salvator was the winner of last year's Realization stakes, the first ever run for, and it is rather a strange coincidence that the time made this year wae exactly the same ae thet made last, 2:51, the distance being a mile and five-eighths. There ere so many different accounts of the race in the San Francisco dailies that it is an extremely hard matter to tell how the race was won, as one of the morning papers saye he won by twenty lengths, another says he won by thirty lengthe while an evening paper eays he won by only ten lengths; be that as it may, nndoubtedly it wae a hollow victory and one without a struggle. I sincerely trust that the Senator's colors may be seen in the lead many more times before the season closes.

At the very commencement of the betting on the Loantaka race on Thursday, eays Roundabout in the Sportsman, a rotund booky at the lower end of the ring was seen to mark up even money against that speedy sprinter's chances of running first, second or third. The crowd almost carried away his stand in their first wild dive at him, but he did not weaken. He stood up there in the midst of that Octopus-like conglomeration of racing arme for the full half hour, and never manifested the slightest inclination to go to the chalk. The lncky holders of the big tickets against him osme back to his stand after the race in the firm belief that they would find him over his head in the slough of despond. Instead they found him smiling like a whole lumber yard of chipe. His next neighbor unveiled the secret of his unexpected jocundity. He had bet every dollar placed with him on Loantaka to rnn firet, second or third npon Loantaka to win. Thie was the way in which he had reasoned ont hie play; If Loantaka hae bottom enough to stay the route he'll have speed enough to win; if he has not that bottom he'll not be one, two, three. Great and big was his rotund head!

The Breeders' Meeting.

A meeting of the Directors of the P. C. T. H. B. A. was held at the rooms of the Association on Tuesday last, to canvas the best possible means of having a meeting which will surpass in brilliancy the one that was held at the Bay District Track last fall. As many favorable reports had been received from various sections of the State in regard to free-for-all pacers, it was decided to offer a purse of $1,200, for the side wheel brigade, the entries to which will close on August 1st. The entrance fee will be ten per cent. of the purse, but not payable in installments, although the purse is a nomination one. Another meeting of the Directors will be held on Tuesday of next week at 2 P. M. sharp to finish up the programme for the year, and also to take some action as to where the Association will have the annual meeting. It is understood that several of the District Associations are anxious to secure the honor, and the majority of the Directors are in favor of receiving sealed proposals and selecting the track whose Directors will give the largest bonus. However, their plan of action will be determined on Tuesday and those who are interested should attend the meeting.

Racine 1-39 1-2.

Again have Californians cause for congratulation, as on last Saturday afternoon the wires flashed the news that at last the long-standing mile record, made by Ten Broeck, of 1:39¾ had been beaten by a California horse. Beaten, not on a track especially prepared for extremely fast work, not in an effort made to beat time alone, but in a hardly contested race in which there were many starters, and it was only on account of his marvellous speed that Racine was able to carry off the palm of victory. We can remember distinctly when Ten Broeck's record was made and how almost every turfman in the country said that no man living would ever see that wonderful performance beaten, but in this fast age there is nothing that surprises us now, and within a week we have seen three California owned horses beat three different records, and all of them with time to spare. Racine is beyond doubt one of the best horses that ever faced a starter, and in his two-year-old form there were many who predicted that if he should meet El Rio Rey in a race that the Palo Alto representative would be sure to beat the unbeaten son of Norfolk and Marion; owing to the circumstances, it is now extremely doubtful whether the two great Western cracks will ever meet in a race, as there seems to be no doubt but what Mr. Winters will relegate El Rio Rey to the stud, and that he will never race again.

Racine's first appearance before an audience occurred at San Jose on Saturday, March 30, 1889, in the Debut Stakes for two-year-olds, in which there were only three starters. Pliney, the stable companion of Racine, won in the exceedingly good time of 49¼ seconds, beating Guido by half a neck, Racine being two lengths behind the second horse. On the following Tuesday the subject of our sketch started again in the Motor Stakes, in which the same three horses started, and also Mr. Ashe's Mirope; the five-eighths of a mile was negotiated in 1.02½ Racine winning from Guido by three-fourths of a length. On Saturday, April 6th, the same year, he started for the Lick House Stakes, three-quarters of a mile, the contestants being the same as those in the Motor Stakes. Racine won handily by a length, Pliney also carrying the Palo Alto colors being a good second, in 1:16¼.

The next appearance of Racine was at the spring meeting of the Pacific Coast Blood Horse Association on April 20, 1889, in which he started for the California Stakes, distance one-half mile. Six promising two-year olds faced the flag, but again Racine had everything his own way, winning in 48½ seconds.

On Tuesday, April 3d he was again seen, this time as one of the entries for the Select Stakes, five-eighths of a mile. By this time he had stamped himself such a favorite that 25 to 100 was the best that the bookmakers would lay against him, and that their judgment was correct was amply proven in the fact that he won by six lengths from a field of good horses, the time being 1:02. On Thursday, April 25th, he was a contestant in the So So Stakes for two-year-olds, the stake to be named after the winner, if So So's time of 1:14¾ was beaten; the best the bookmakers would put against him in this race was $10 to $100, and he won by four lengths in 1:14¼, that being the time given out by the judges, although scores of watches made the time 1:13¾. After the good work performed by him in his spring form, he was given well merited rest, and did not again appear until the State Fair where on September 13th he and four others fought out a spirited race for the Introduction Stakes. The three-fourths of a mile was easily completed in 1:15¾, Racine's runner up being Flambeau, from the same stable. He made a second appearance at the same meeting on Wednesday, September 18th, the California Autumn Stakes being the prize. There was only three starters and again Racine won in 1:15, Flambeau again being the runner up.

At Stockton, on September 24th, in the five-eighths of a mile sweepstakes he won handily in 1:01¼. On September 27th at the same place in a sweepstakes he was again successful, Flambeau being second and Jessie C. 3d, time 1:14¾.

At San Jose on Saturday, October 5th, he had no difficulty in defeating Marigold and Capt. Al, the three quarters of a mile being completed in 1:14¾.

His last race in his two-year-old form was at the fall meeting of the Blood Horse Associaton, in which he started for the Autumn Stake; defeating a large field of two-year-olds, distance one mile, in 1:44. It will thus be seen that during the season of 1889 he lost only one race, and that the first in which he started, and from the wonderful speed shown by him afterwards, there are many who to this day believe he might have won even his initial race.

As a three-year-old his first appearance was at San Jose at the Spring meeting held there, his competitors in the one-mile sweepstakes being Senator Hearst's Baggage, Palo Alto's Muta, and the Owen Bros.' Capt. Al. Racine won the event by four lengths in the remarkable time, for that season of the year, of 1.42½. During the Spring meeting of the Blood Horse Association, he was started as one of the contestants for the Tidal Stakes, but the Palo Alto stable decided to win with Flambeau, and consequently Racine had to take a second place, but to do it his rider had to see-saw the grand young colt all the way down the homestretch. For the Pacific Derby the same thing occurred again, the stable desiring to win with Flambeau as before, Racine having his head almost pulled off to prevent his beating his stable companion.

At the Spring meeting at Sacramento he was started for the Weinstock-Lubin Stakes, the distance being one mile, and he won in a canter by six lengths, the time being 1:42¼. After the last performance mentioned, the running qualities of Racine were leased to the Uudine stable, and when that establishment started East, Racine accompanied them. Unfortunately for his new owner, Racine had been stricken out of all his stake engagements, consequently he is only good for the small purses which are hung up over night. His debut was made at Chicago almost two weeks ago, he beating a good field of horses, distance one mile in 1:41.

The story of his remarkable race made on Saturday last is still fresh in the minds of all our readers, and therefore it is unnecessary to give the details of that wonderful performance. As the matter stands to-day Racine has the acknowledged mile record of the world, and until beaten, will stand as one of the fastest horses of his age.

The following are the blood-lines of Racine:

Racine by Bishop, dam imp. Fairy Rose by Kisber; 2d dam Hippolyta by King Tom; 3d dam Daughter of the Star by Kremlin; 4th dam Evening Star by Touchstone; 5th dam Bertha by Rubens; 6th dam Boadicea by Alexander, etc.

A Day With the Cranks.

A few days ago word was received from the East by one of the editorial staff of this paper, asking that particular attention be paid to a young player in one of the League teams, and as more or less prominence has been given to the national game in the Breeder and Sportsman of late, we thought an afternoon spent with the wielders of the bat would be as a holiday taken from the constant drilling of pedigrees and horse notes. With that object in view, and also to please the Eastern gentleman, a visit was paid to the Haight Street grounds on Saturday afternoon to see the Oakland and Sacramento clubs take part in a game that many years ago was a source of great pleasure to us.

While the boys were out practicing on the nicely kept grounds, the mind reverted back to the old days when the Mutuals, Atlantics, Athletics, Unions and Nationals of Washington were considered the principal clubs in the country. In looking at the pitchers in last Saturday's game, reminiscences flooded the mind thick and fast of old Dick McBride, Zettlin, Wolters and others of those old veterans who originally brought base ball into the prominence which it has to-day, and yet it must be confessed that when watching the first-base men, there was little or no difference between their reliability and that of old Joe Start, Gould or Wes. Fisler. Al Reach, Smith or Fergy Malone might have given the youngsters that we saw the other day, a point or two on bow to play second, yet still a comparison between three such well known men of the olden times, and the two that we saw playing at the Haight Street grounds is hardly a fair comparison, because there is plenty of time yet for the two we saw to improve and become fully as good as our old friends.

Sitting around and about us in the box were several of those whose memories were carried back to their youthful days, for every now and again one could have heard the remark: "Doesn't he put you in mind of Birdsall," or "Geo. Wright couldn't have done better than that," and as the names of old players from time to time were brought to notice, it carried us back to the days when the Capitoline grounds at Brooklyn and the Union grounds at Williamsburgh were in the height of their glory, and when it was no unusual thing to see 15,000 or 20,000 interested spectators watching the battles between the base ball giants of those days.

In looking over the spectators, but little difference could be seen between those who attend at the present time and those who patronized the ball field a quarter of a century ago. There was the same enthusiastic applause whenever a fielder made a brilliant play, and the same amount of cheering and clapping when a favorite player stepped to the bat, the shouting was just as prolonged and the interest just as intense, for while we have seen many better games played, still taken in its entirety, it was well worth the trip, and amply repaid us for the time taken.

Base ball at the present day is a great institution, and is so well patronized by the lovers of that sport, that it seems as though on this coast, that the day is far distant when the interest will die out. The pleasure arising from one visit is likely to tempt us to repeat it, especially if we could have the same familiar faces sitting around us with whom we passed such a pleasant afternoon on Saturday last.

Simmocolon.

While the California thoroughbreds are adding reputation and dollars to their owners, we must not forget that one of California's most progressive breeders is also meeting with a just and full measure of success in the East, although he is represented by only one horse. We allude to Mr. Valensin, who sometime ago sent on to the stables of Jas. Goldsmith his exquisitely bred chestnut stallion Simmocolon. Already he has captured three races and started in four, in the other event receiving third money.

At Dundee he had no trouble in beating a good field of horses in three straight heats making a record for himself of 2:23¼. At Albany, as stated before, he only received third money but at Boston and Hartford he had no difficulty in gaining first money in each of the events for which he started. We have had no communication as yet from our Eastern correspondent in regard to the Hartford race but Mr. Valensin has received a telegram from Mr. Goldsmith in which it is stated that Simmocolon won the race, the best time being 2:23¼. Word has also been sent out that Mr. Goldsmith will start Simmocolon for the $10,000 purse at Detroit, and although there are many very fast horses who will compete for this magnificent sum of money, Mr. Goldsmith feels confident that he has at least an even show of being able to get off with first honors.

The State Board of Agriculture.

The Secretary of the State Board of Agriculture sends us notice that there have been several changes made in their premium list by the Board of Directors at a meeting lately held. In addition to the prizes already offered there will be a silver pitcher or money to the extent of $60 given for the best herd over two years old, to consist of one male and four females owned by one person, and also a silver pitcher or money to the extent of $30 for the best young herd under two years, to consist of one male and four females owned by one person. Heretofore the Durhams were the only class in which was offered two herd premiums, one for the elder and one for the young herd; this change gives all classes these premiums the same as the Durhams. They have also decided to devote the morning of Wednesday, September 17th, to athletic sport, to be under the management of Geo. W. Jordan of the Olympic Club. And on Monday morning, the 15th of September, a genuine old Californian time custom of roping and handling brouchos will be had in a most complete and expert manner with genuine vaqueros; there is no doubt but this novelty will be interesting to many of the old residents who are thoroughly familiar with this character of breaking horses and doubly interesting to our younger population who have never seen anything of the kind accomplished. The Board of Directors have also completed arrangements with Liberati's monster military band from New York, consisting of fifty artists, who will furnish a series of six grand concerts at the pavilion during the second week of the Fair. That this treat for the music loving community will be thoroughly appreciated goes without saying, as it is but very rarely that there is an opportunity given to listen to one of these monster organizations, with a reputation like Liberati's on this coast, and we feel assured that this expense gone to by the Board will be returned in full by the large attendance that will be on hand, while these concerts are being given, as it is justly acknowledged that there is no more music loving people in the United States than there is in California.

No News, Good News.

The telegraph has as yet given us no news in regard to what Mr. Salisbury is doing with his horses at Jackson, Mich., notwithstanding he was to have started for a purse on Tuesday last. The Breeder and Sportsman has a correspondent with the stable, who will write all the news concerning the events in which the California horses take part, but time enough has not elapsed to enable us to receive word from him.

The Kentucky Stock Farm says that "Simmocolon will doubtless be Goldsmith's entry to the Detroit Blue Ribbon Stake. Turner will start Snisnn. From the work being done by the Western horses it will indicate that neither one of the two will be in it for a moment. It is going to be a great race, and as both of the above are not in love with a hard finish, the saving of entrance money is about all they can expect. Turner and Goldsmith are both great and shrewd drivers, and when they start it is not generally without some chances of getting a piece of the money."

The Salt Lake Meeting.

The meeting at the Mormon City which began last week was very successful both in point of numbers and also in speed display. The judges, Messrs. Webb, Pratt and McKimmons, were the right men in the right place, and made those interested fully understand that no foolishness of any sort would be allowed. The first race of the meeting was for a purse of $500, in which there were five entries. Otho took the first and second heats in 2:32 and 2:29½, the third heat going to Lonis S in 2:29, while Florence R won the fourth, fifth and sixth heats in 2:32½, 2:33 and 2:36, the California bred mare, Maud Singleton, was distanced in the fifth heat.

The pacing race, the second event of the day, was not particularly interesting, Riley K winning the first, second and fourth heats, the third heat failing to Lydia Allen.

The runners had not been forgotten on the programme, and for the mile dash those that came to the post were Lew Carlisle, Joe Hoge, formerly owned by Col. Harry I. Thornton, and Sympathetic's Last. Lew Carlisle won easily in 1:47.

The first day's card was brought to a finish with a half mile dash for a purse of $300, the winner turning up in Green Pruitt, The Jew coming in second.

There was a very fair attendance for the second day, considering that there was a very strong southerly wind blowing which made it extremely disagreeable for those present. Notwithstanding the inconvenience arising from the great clouds of dust, the racing was fairly good; the pool box was liberally patronized, and the day's events were run off as quickly as possible.

The three-eighths of a mile dash for a purse of $300 brought to the starting post Green Pruitt, Roanoke and The Jew.

The winner of the last event on the first day acted very badly, and it was only with extreme difficulty that the horses were finally started, the fractions one and Roanoke getting in almost together, while The Jew was fully forty feet in the rear; owing to the extremely bad start, and especially as the horses came under the wire in almost the same positions that they were in when started, the judges declared it no heat and ordered it run over again; eventually the purse was won by Roanoke in 36 seconds, The Jew being well up.

The 2:24 pacing race had only four starters, and even with that Elder Lewis was distanced in the first heat, which was won by Don Angne in 2:26, he also winning the 3rd and 4th in 2:26 and 2:29, while Blonde won the 2nd in 2:29¼.

The trotting race of the day was for the 2;50 class and had three starters, Lico winning the first heat in 2:38¾, Ben Williams won the fourth heat in 2:36, while Bell won the second, third and fifth in 2:32, 2:34 and 2:37.

The third day's amusement was commenced by the three-fourths of a mile dash for a purse of $300, the starters in which were Joe Hoge, Brown Bread, Roanoke and Librarian, Joe Hoge winning handily in 1:20, Librarian 2nd.

The 2:26 trotting purse brought out I. J. S., Marquis, Louis S. and Florence R. Marquis won the first heat in 2:28½, while the horse with the initials, I. J. S., carried off the 2nd, 3rd and 4th in 2:32½, 2:26¾ and 2:27¼.

The purse of $300 for three-year-olds brought out the well known trotters Silver Bow, Martha and Miss Fox, Silverbow winning as he pleased in 2:38½, 2:37 and 2:37, Martha taking the second heat in 2:36½. The winner stood in California last season and it is confidently expected by those who have seen him work that he will trot to a very low record this year.

On the fourth day it was estimated that fully $30,000 passed through the pool box in addition to the money that was bet in the books. The mile and a quarter dash had as contestants Governor Adams, Ali Benjamin and Sympathetic's Last. For some reason which your correspondent failed to learn Sympathetic's Last was withdrawn before the start, leaving the other two to contest for the purse. Ali Benjamin won a good easy race in 2:24, notwithstanding the rider on Governor Adsme attempted to make a grand stand finish.

The Free-for all pacing race brought out Argus, Bawley, Pomp and Linderman and necessitated six heats being paced before the conclusion was reached. Bawley won the first and second heats in 2:23 and 2:24, Pomp taking the third heat in 2:28, Argus won the fourth, fifth and sixth heats in 2:28¼, 2:31½. 2:32, Linderman being distanced in the first heat.

The fifth and last day of the meeting had for the opening event a half-mile heat race, the starters being Green Pruitt, who was favorite, the Jew and Brown Bread. The Jew managed to win the first heat by a nose only, in 50 seconds, Pruitt being the second horse. Brown Bread was away behind the flags, but the judges decided that he was not distanced owing to the very bad start given to the horses. Pruitt won the 2nd heat in exactly the same time in which the first was won; the Jew 2nd. In the 3d heat Pruitt't rider evidently did not care about winning, and that was so plain to the judges they finally declared that although the Jew came in first in the deciding heat, the pools be declared off as well as the race; Pruitt,s owner was fined and his rider ruled off.

The free-for all trotting race brought to the judges' stand five starters, McLeod winning the first heat in 2:31 while Marquis took the 2nd, 3rd and 4th heats in 2:29, 2:30 and 2:30¾.

In the race for 2:30 class there was necessity to trot seven heats before a decision could be given. Bell won the 1st and 5th heats in 2:30¾ and 2:32½. Otho winning the 2nd heat in 2:30, Maud Singleton the 3rd heat in 2:32½, while Ben Davis captured the 4th, 6th and 7th heats in 2:32, 3:33½ and 2:34¾.

VETERINARY.

Conducted by W. Henry Jones, M. R. C. V. S.

Subscribers to this paper can have advice through this column in all cases of sick or injured horses or cattle by sending an explicit description of the case. Applicants will send their name and address that they may be identified. Questions requiring answers by mail should be accompanied by two dollars, and addressed to W. Henry Jones, M. R. C. V. S., Olympic Stables, Sutter Street, San Francisco.

R. A. H:

Will you kindly give me your advice through the Breeder and Sportsman about the following case. A grey four-year-old, has lately shown a disposition to swell on either side of the jaw, and also between the jaws, she coughs slightly and discharges at the nose. Otherwise she appears to be well.

Answer—Judging from your description I should think that your mare will be affected with strangles. I would advise you to apply a strong liniment to the parts that are swollen and in all probability, abcesses will shortly form which when ready, open them at the lower part, with a sharp knife. Steam her head with hot water twice daily, and feed on a soft and succulent diet; keep the body warm and put bandages on the extremities. If you have any more young stock I would suggest that the mare be isolated from them. I have no doubt that the mare will make a speedy recovery.

L. G. I.

A cow of mine, some short time ago, met with an accident and broke one of her front legs below the knee. She now goes on three legs. Her condition is falling off, and she apparently suffers considerable pain. Can you suggest any thing to ease her sufferings, and bring about a union of the bone?

Answer.—I would suggest that you place the beast in slings, and let her remain in them for some time. If the swelling is great and the pain intense, foment for some hours with hot water until such time as they subside. Then apply a plaster of paris cast to the limb, having first brought the fractured parts in opposition; place an ordinary linen bandage next the skin and then put on the plaster. You must remember that the substance soon dries and becomes hard, so that you must be carefnl not to mix too much at once. Put sufficient on, so that the covering will be about half to three quarters of an inch thick. See that she is kept quiet and fed on a soft diet; if in milk, withdraw the fluid as usual.

Answers to Correspondents.

Answers for this department must be accompanied by the name and address of the sender, not necessarily for publication, but as proof of good faith. Write the questions distinctly, and on one side of the paper only. Positively no questions will be answered by mail or telegraph.

Will you please let me know how to lay out a mile track?

Answer.—To lay out a full mile track, select a level field of 42 acres; draw through the center of it a straight line of 440 yards (a quarter of a mile). On each side of this line, and an exact distance of 140 yards two inches from it, draw parallel lines of equal length, so that the space between the two outer lines will be 280 yards four inches. This being done, a stake should be driven at each end of the center line; a cord should be fastened thereto; extend the cord at right angles for 140 yards two inches, until it touches the end of the outer line, and then discribe with the extreme end of the cord an outer curve or semicircle between the ends of the two outer lines. There will be a continuous outer line, being exactly a mile (1:760 yards) in length, and requiring an enclosure of 46 acres of ground. From this outer line or track set the fence of the course three feet in on the straight sides and curves. In this way an exact mile (as near as may be) is preserved for the actual foot track of all the horses. The first distance post is 160 yards from the judges' stand, the second at 240 yards and the stand is 60 yards before entering the turn. The track should be graded around the turn like the track of a railroad or circus, the outer portion highest, so that a horse can extend himself at full speed.

Names Claimed.

I claim the name of The Princess for my bay filly, white feet behind, star in forehead and white spot between nostrils; foaled May 5th by Dexter Prince, dam Bellita by Bell Alta, son of Belmont; 2d dam the Claus Spreckles mare by Belmont. H. Latham.

I claim the name of Meridian for my bay colt, star in forehead, foaled June 5th by Noonday, dam Metamora by Duke of Orange; 2d dam Viella by Cassius M. Clay Jr. Also

Shasta, for brown colt, foaled April 15th by Mountain Boy, dam Pansy by Cassius M. Clay Jr (22); 2d dam Lady Richelieu by Richelieu, son of Mambrino Chief. Also Danville, Cal., June 30, 1890.

A valuable horse of mine was taken with colic, and, after using all means available, the thought struck me (as I had no salts) to use Simmons Liver Regulator. One-half hour after giving it he had an operation and was cured. I think it valuable information to ourselves and stock raisers. W. A. Jessusville, Ga.

THE GUN.

The Recent "Original Package" Decision and Our Game Laws.

The recent decision of the United States Supreme Court in the case of Leisy & Co. vs. Hardin, in what has been styled the "original package" case, has created considerable speculation as to the effect the decision will have on the game laws of the several States, says The Weeks Sport. Briefly the facts in the case were that a marshal of Iowa seized a quantity of beer in barrels and in bottles under certain provisions of law of the State. The seized property was imported into Iowa from Illinois in sealed packages namely, the barrels and bottles, and when offered for sale it was in the original packages with unbroken seals. With varying decisions in the lower courts, the case was carried to the Supreme Court on the ground that the Iowa State law in virtually prohibiting the import of the beer controverted section 8, article I, of the Constitution, which vested in Congress, the power "to regulate commerce with foreign nations and among the several States." In a most exhaustive opinion the Chief Justice sustains this point and only one of his associates dissents. The court holds that the power to prescribe the rule by which inter-State commerce is to be governed is in Congress without limitations. It is a power not ceasing at the external line of the State, but one entering within and controlling the disposition of the articles it also protects, until they are mingled with the "common mass of property within the territory entered." That by the act of sale alone could the property become mingled in the common mass of property within the State so as to be subject to local statues. That any State statue which "inhibits directly or indirectly the receipt of an imported commodity or its disposition before it has ceased to become an article of trade between one State and another, or another country and this, comes in contact with the Federal power and is void."

This decision is one of the most important promulgated in many years. It strikes prohibition laws vitally, as one has to but sell in original packages and the local law is powerless. However, of that we are not dealing, but of the game laws. Under this decision it is only necessary for game to be sent here at any time from other States and sold in "original packages," and the present State law which prevents sales during certain seasons is inoperative. In recent years the tendency of game preserving legislation has been to prohibit export of game from the State at any time, and the exposing of game for sale in the State during the close season. These means were found most effective in compelling observance of the game laws by limiting the market both in point of time and place that was open to professional hunters. Now, the marketman has but to claim it is an "original package" and the burden of proof is shifted to the person seizing the game to prove the contrary. The laws of the several States vary considerably in the time of open and close seasons. It is to be apprehended then, that the effect of this decision will be to practically make in the large markets of the country an open season for sale of game as long as the extremes of dates of open seasons on the game in the various States will permit. It is a question even whether the "original package" would have to come from a territory where it was then lawful to kill the game It is possible the decision might be construed as to protect game once in transit as an export though killed in violation of local law. As to regulating commerce the Supreme Court decision is very broad What is held true of imports would undoubtedly be held true of exports, and our non-exporting game laws reached and these provisions rendered void. To kill only within a specified time is a matter of State regulation but once the game is in possession lawfully, it becomes the property of the individual, and under the present decision the individual has the protection of the general government in exchanging his property between the States, irrespective of State statutes.

At present the practical effect of this decision will be to see game exposed in our markets as long as an open season elsewhere remains on that particular game as an excuse to an "original package" claim. To the game from that section will be added that of a like kind killed in other districts whether the season is open or closed. Market hunters who have been leaving their business at the close of the open season because of a lack of a market to sell in will secretly continue their work by the aid of the "original package" case. If the decision reaches exporting, of which there is little doubt, then the game will suffer by the exporting from one bountiful district to another not so well supplied, a matter hitherto held in check by local acts. A careful network of statutes for game preservation is overthrown. For many years spasmodic efforts have been made to establish uniform open seasons in the United States as far as the various climatic conditions of our country would permit. Possibly now this will be the only recourse left to those favoring game preservation.

The decision of the Supreme Court raises serious questions. An attempt is now being made to legislate upon the result growing out of the decision by providing that liquors when once their actual and continuous transportation shall have terminated to at once become subject to the laws of the State But if this is done where, in the future, will the line be drawn? If liquors are virtually exempted from being articles of commerce, we can ask why not game, and some one else why not salt or tobacco? Uniformity of legislation is imperative. It is one of the most perplexing constitutional questions that has arisen in years, and constitutional lawyers will differ on the remedy possible. Should Congress decide to enact prohibitory legislation as regards liquors, then the sportsmen could have the same recourse; if, on the other hand, our Federal legislators leave the matter as it is, I can not see but what was predicted earlier in this article will happen as regards our non-exporting laws and the necessity for uniform close seasons. A case in point has already happened in Pennsylvania where a local marketman was arrested at the instance of the Western Sportsman's Club, and claimed on the trial that the quail came from Minnesota, where it was lawful to kill them, and he sold them in the "original package." While the local justice refused to accept this plea and imposed a fine, there can be no doubt but what the higher court on appeal will reverse this decision and follow that of the Supreme Court. That the game will suffer severely from this decision cannot be questioned. The very provisions it overthrows were most effective in game preservation in the past. Like prohibition, game laws depend on the moral sentiment of the community, but unlike prohibition game preservation has an universal sentiment behind it that is growing in strength every year. It is a question that merits more space than can here be given it, but sufficient has already been written to warn sportsmen of the new danger which suddenly threatens their recreation.

Warning to Trap Shots.

The Peoria Target Company has been in litigation for some months about the ownership of the patent covering the way of attaching the target holders to the arms of the traps used in throwing the Blue Rocks, the Keystone targets and others of the sort. On May 31st, the United States Circuit Court for the Eastern Division of the Northern District of Ohio finally decided that the Peoria Company owned the patent and that all users of traps having the holder attached to the arm by a pivot were liable in damages. The case was brought against the Cleveland Target Company and the essential portions of the decree are these:

That reissued letters patent No. 10,867, issued September 13, 1887, to N. Grier Moore, administrator of Charles F. Stock, for new and useful improvements in target traps, the original of which patent is dated March 16, 1884, and numbered 295,302, are good and valid letters patent in law, and that the exclusive title to the invention therein disclosed, and in and to said letters patent, is vested in the complainant .....herein as.....alleged in the bill of complaint.

That the said Charles F. Stock, the patentee, was the first and original inventor and discoverer of the invention described and claimed in said original and reissued letters patent, and in the specifications annexed thereto, and that the said reissued letters patent, is for the same invention disclosed and described and partially claimed in the said original letters patent.

That the defendants, the Cleveland Target Company, (and J. M. Taylor, Edward L. Day, C. J. Shiffield, Franklin L. Chamberlain, J. Palmer O'Neill and J. H. Webster as Directors, but not with any individual liability as such Directors), have infringed upon the said letters patent. by making, using and selling traps for throwing targets containing or embodying the invention claimed in the 1st, 3d and 4th claims of the said reissued letters patent, and have infringed upon the exclusive rights of the complainant thereunder.

It is further ordered, adjudged and decreed that a perpetual injunction issue out of and under the seal of this Court restraining the defendants, their agents, clerks, attorneys and workmen from making, using, selling or giving away any apparatus or machine, for throwing or sending targets, having any kind of target carrier or holding and releasing device pivotally connected to the throwing arm of any such apparatus or machine containing or embodying, in any way or manner whatsoever, the inventions or improvements mentioned and described in the 1st, 3d and 5th claims of said reissued Letters Patent No. 10,867, and from manufacturing, selling, using or giving away any parts of machines or apparatus adapted to be attached to target-throwing or sending machines, or apparatus which, when used in connection with said machines or apparatus, will constitute or embody the inventions or improvements, mentioned and described in said claims 1, 3 and 4 of said reissued patent.

Unseasonable Deer-Slaying.

A correspondent of the Record Union, writing from Bartlett Springs, Lake County, under date of June 16th, says;

"The hunters are killing deer right and left here. They claim that the Supervisors have a right to fix the game laws to suit each country. I believe they changed the season so that the close season ends the 1st of June. Please let us know through the columns of the Record Union if such is the law. It is a burning shame that any kind of game should be killed before the 1st of July, particularly deer or does."

Section 4036 of the Political Code, in prescribing the powers and duties of Boards of Supervisors, says they may "make regulations for the protection of game" etc., and that "when such regulations are made * * * the laws of the state for the protection thereof (game and fish) are suspended in such country."

It depends, perhaps, on how this section should be construed, as to whether or not Boards of Supervisors have the power to shorten the close season for game, or, in other words, to permit its destruction at an earlier date than prescribed by the state law. The latter fixes the date of commencement of the open season at July 1st for deer, which is certainly as early as deer should be killed—too early, in fact, as many of the fawns are then quite small.

The section quoted says that Supervisors may make special regulations for the "protection" of game in their counties, but it does not give them authority to make special regulations for the destruction of game. To permit the killing of deer before the 1st of July and after the 1st of November means nothing less than license to destroy the species of game, and if a test case were made it is doubtful if the Supervisors of Lake County could justify their action in the courts.

It has been of little moment to Lake County in the past, however, whether or not there were any such things as game laws in existence. It is a notorious fact that market and hide hunters have killed deer in that county at any and all seasons of the year, and that the local officials have been too cowardly to interfere. The Supervisors might just as well have declared that deer could be killed in January and February as in June for all the effect the latter restriction has in preventing the indiscriminate slaughter of that species of game in Lake County, where any law on the subject would be utterly ignored.

Lake County aspires to become a popular resort for pleasure seekers, tourists and travelers, and yet her officials have not had the foresight to see and appreciate the fact that when the deer in her forests shall have been exterminated by a few lazy hunters, and the trout streams robbed of their fishes, Lake County will have no more charms for pleasure-seekers than are now possessed by Contra Costa, or the sand dunes of the San Francisco peninsula. The time was, a few years ago, when Lake County was a perfect sportsman's paradise. Her hills and dales were well supplied with deer and other large game, while her mountain streams fairly teemed with the choicest of brook trout; and men travelled hundreds of miles for the pleasure of hunting in her forest or whipping the brooks with rod and line. Where now are the glories of those forests and streams? Who ever hears of anybody now adays going to Cobb Valley, or Big Valley, to get a day or two of sport with the trout?

The truth is, the officials of that county—like those of many other mountain counties—have paid no heed to the game laws. They have allowed the deer and other game to be slaughtered for their pelts, and the streams to be robbed of their precious wealth, until now Lake County has little left to attract the tourist but her picturesque mountain scenery. If the Supervisors of that county really desire to protect what fish and game they have left, and to have the supply increased, let them do as El Dorado has done—prohibit the killing of deer at any season for a term of years—and then let them see that the laws regarding trout protection are respected.

The Northwest Tournament.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—The Sixth Annual Tournament of the Association of the Northwest, held under the auspices of the Multnomah Rod and Gun Club of Portland, O., has come to a close and reflects the greatest credit upon the men at the helm, particularly Messrs. Buell Lamberson and E. W. Moore at that place.

The attendance was large while the shooting was brilliant beyond comparison. There were three magnificent badges and one championship banner—the latter to be shot for by tesms of three men from every club—and it is a most remarkable fact that all of these were won by men using Parker guns and Selby Standard cartridges.

Further comment as to guns and ammunition seems unnecessary, while the men who steered the one and selected the other showed the grand form they were shooting in.

An Epitaph.

Though Tommy's ever careful sire
In caution oft had drilled him,
Poor Tommy did a rifle fire
And then the bullet thrilled him,
He now has joined the heavenly choir,
And never knew what killed him.
—Shooting Times.

Mr. Buell Lamberson kindly sends from Portland, Or., the score of the final match of the Northwest Tournament, in which a San Franciscan, Mr. J. O. Cadman divided the honors and coin with one of the local men.

The match was at Peoria blackbirds, five singles and three pairs, $3 entrance, A. S. A. rules, and the scores were:

Selby Medal Contest.

A shoot for the Selby Blue Rock Medal occurred at Alameda Point on Sunday last, ten men competing.

The conditions of the contest were thirty single blue rocks and ten doubles. The grounds being in good condition and the weather favorable, some excellent sport was had. Bruns made the best record by breaking forty-two out of his fifty "birds," and will carry the medal until the next contest for its possession, which will be held on Sunday, July 27.

The shooting was fairly above the average, as the appended score will indicate:

California Wing Club.

The California Wing-shooting Club held a meeting on last Sunday at the Oakland race track. It was the fourth contest for three medals. Live birds were used in this match, which resulted as follows; Robinson 10, Haas 12, H. C. Golcher 9, Slade 9, Fay 9, Schroeder 8.

This gave the first medal to Hass on 12 birds and the second to Robinson on 10.

Golcher, Fay and Slade having made a tie, killing 9 birds each, a second match was shot for the third medal, which was won by Golcher on 10 birds.

W. A. Eberly of Tacoma won the "Best Average Standard Medal" given by the Selby Smelting and Lead Company with 74 out of 81 birds, artificial and live.

Mr. Eckhardt a distinguished trap shot of Spokane is in San Francisco buying a set of double harness, as he intends to travel hereafter with a matrimonial running mate.

Mr. C. Mellish has challenged Mr. J. Bruns who won the Selby Blue Rock Medal on Sunday last and the match will be shot on Sunday, July 27th, at the Lincoln Gun Club grounds, Alameda Mole.

Mr. Jeff Walker was down at Willows from the mountain ranch of Milt French the other day. He says deer are very scarce; that they either died during the hard winter or that they have left the country.

The Supervisors of El Dorado County have prohibited the killing of deer within the county for a term of years, an ordinance which was urgently demanded since hide hunters and slaughterers generally have about exterminated the deer in that once abounding section.

A shoot for the Peter's medal will be held on Coronado Beach, on July 4th, Mr. W. J. Morgan, of San Diego, having challenged the present owner of the medal, Mr. Martinez Chick. We shall receive a full and interesting report of the match from our correspondent at San Diego. The other match is at 26 singles and 12 pairs of blue rock targets, $3 entrance, birds extra; other matches will also be shot, sweepstakes and pools to suit the desires of those who attend.

Many of the men whose popularity has advanced them to the gubernatorial chair in California have been more or less fond of sport but none of them have been distinctively and aggressively sportsmen as the word is now understood. It appears however, that the highest post within the State may soon be graced by a man in whom among many other admirable qualities, the love of sport afield is a distinguishing attribute. Mr. Jas. V. Coleman, whose desire to be Governor is generally known, is esteemed among sportsmen for his undeviating devotion to the preservation and introduction of game and fish as well as for his skill in all manly exercises, including the use of the gun, dog and rod.

The Rocky Mountain Sportsman's Association with the aid of excellent Sports Afield has reached a position of prominence most flattering to the public spirit of the sportsmen of Colorado, and to the wise counsel of Editor Claude King. In his last issue the editor says: In consequence of the annual meeting being made attractive by a trap shooting tournament many lose sight of the fact that the main object of the society is the prosecution of offenders against our fish and game laws. The prosecution of law breakers by volunteers interested in only a general way, is always a thankless and unpleasant task, and for these reasons too much credit cannot be given the active members of this association. Experience has taught that there is but one way to found these societies and keep them alive. The R. M. S. A. has struck the key note, and prospers accordingly.

Henry A. Bassford of Vacaville, when driving home from Suisun the other day, saw a large bull snake stretched across the road and he thought it would be a good joke to run the wheel of his cart over the reptile and did so, and the next instant the wriggling, squirming, five foot monster was in his lap, brought up from the ground by the revolution of the wheel. Henry kicked and frisked about, and the snake hissed and struck at everything in reach. The situation became so uncomfortable that he decided to throw himself from the cart and in an endeavor to do so he became entangled in some manner, when the horse became frightened and ran a considerable distance, dragging Mr. Bassford and bruising him up quite severely; however, he managed to check the horse, but his snakeship was missing.

With an apology to our readers, who may chance to see the Morning Call newspaper, for dignifying that publication by repeated mention, we again feel it right to point out the persistent refusal of the Call to inform itself as to certain matters of general importance and interest. Its course for a long time with reference to the game and fish interests has been one of misrepresentation. Its reports of the work performed by the Board of Fish Commissioners and the Deputies have been directly at variance with fact. Such influence as it has, has been exerted persistently to destroy and to subvert the results of the efforts of gentlemen and sportsmen in the way of creating and fostering a healthy public sentiment about the preservation of fish and game. The Call insists that the Deputy Fish Commissioners generally are in receipt of compensation from the State. In fact, but two Deputies receive salaries. The other Deputies when they make arrests and secure convictions are entitled to one-third of the fines just as any citizen is and to no further reward. The Call implies that the Commission has improperly used funds given to it by the State with which to import game birds, an implication which could only have its origin in malice, since the books and vouchers of the Commission are open to the public at every monthly meeting held in this city on the first Tuesday in each month and inspection will show that such money as has been expended has been judiciously spent. The correspondence of the Commission will also show that it has made all reasonable efforts to secure other and further supplies of game birds and the fact that it has failed to do so is due only to the inability of those who live in sections where the game birds are plenty to procure them.

Major Kellogg, two gun cases, three grip sacks, a sample box of Selby Standard Cartridges, a gingham umbrella, and a downcast air, returned to this City from Portland on June 29th by the steamship Columbia, of which that inveterate and superb shot, Jno. B. Maynard has for so many years been purser. Major kellogg is almost weaned from his first love, San Francisco. He exhausts superlatives in telling of the friendliness of Buell Lamberson, "Boss" Schenck, H. T. Hudson, E. W. Moore, H. H. Lewis, and all the other shooting cracks of Portland. The City, its surroundings, its business character, the potentialities perceivable in it, everything about it won the Major. From Portland he travelled with Mr: Harvey McMurchy to Seattle, Tacoma, and Walla Walla; in every place meeting the most cordial reception and the most generous entertainment. At Walla Walla, Arthur W. Du Bray took Maj. Kellogg in hand and with Hungate, Straight and one or two other invincibles of that burgh made a little party at the Du Bray mansion, the incident of which next to the charm cast over the affair by the hostess, was the trotting out of three young Du Brays, pretty much of a size, and if Kellogg is to believed, sweeter than peaches and cream. Mr. Du Bray or "Gaucho" as he is more generally known, gathered up all the live birds in the town, nine in number, and the boys went out for a little shoot in which Major Kellogg swept everything because he shot all the birds. In Seattle, Messrs Hardy and Hall took the wandering San Franciscan into camp and did for him what only a warm-hearted sportsman of the untrammeled north-west would be likely to do. Through all these experiences the guide and mentor of the peripatetic Major was that citizen of the world, Mr. Harvey McMurchy, a man who knows more specifically and says less generally, than any man we ever saw. After conquering the north-west Maj. Kellogg was fortunate in meeting the steamship Columbia and its popular purser, Maynard, who did not leave a moment of the Major's time unoccupied, affording one little entertainment after another and making the trip from Portland all too short because of its delightfulness.

THE KENNEL.

Dog owners are requested to send for publication the earliest possible notices of whelps, sales, names claimed, presentations and deaths, in their kennels, in all instances writing plainly names of sire and dam and of grandparents, colors, dates and breed.

It is stated that Sir John Lester Kaye has brought to his ranch in the Northwest some Belgium and French wolf hounds, which do great work in killing coyotes.

A coursing match with the artificial hare is announced at Gilroy for July 6th. Really good dogs are rarely turned down with the artificial hare. It soon makes them cunning or takes all spirit out of them.

On Friday of last week Mr. William Lumbard of Wheatland lost his pointer dog Ponto, a full brother to Mr. Austin B. Sperry's Count Dick. The dog was run over by a railway train while crossing the bridge below Wheatland. Ponto was whelped on October 4, 1888, by James K (Bow Jr.—Mollie Ashe) out of Donna (Eldon Don—Fursdon Juno), and was a dog of rare form, much beauty and high field promise. He won first at the Pacific Kennel Club Show in 1889 But two dogs of the breeding are alive, Mr. Sperry's at Stockton and Mr. Sam Enoch's at Wheatland.

The dam of Ponto was poisoned a few months ago, so that the cross cannot again be made.

That most excellent bench show judge and considerate writer, Mr. James Watson, who visited San Francisco in '88, says in Forest and Stream: "There is quite a kick among the Pacific Kennel Club members over the admission of the California Kennel Club to membership in the A. K. C. They should not be unreasonable, but remember that they are not likely to hold a show this year at least, and exhibitors should not be deprived of the opportunity of getting a show if another club desires to give one. I will guarantee to say that if a club in any Eastern city announced that it would not hold a show in 1891, and another club from the same city appeared for membership, it would be elected by the A. K. C."

The following circular has been sent to members of the O. C. C., and we hope may meet generous responses:

San Francisco, June 15th, 1890.

Dear Sir:—At a late meeting of the Occidental Coursing Club, Mr. S. L. Abbot Jr., proposed that the club start a voluntary subscription list, to purchase a trophy, to be contested for at the next fall meeting of the club, as an incentive to members to purchase and keep good greyhounds. The amount the club can afford to offer for prizes, out of the small revenue it derives from initiations and dues, is poor compensation (even to the winners) for the expense and trouble of getting greyhounds in proper condition to win. The above gentleman's proposition seemed to meet the ideas of all present; for, in a few minutes after the list was opened, the following members subscribed five dollars each: S. L. Abbot Jr., T. J. O'Keeffe, J. B. Lincoln, H. Wormington, H. Boyd, P. D. Nolan, Col. S. O. Gregory, J. F. Carroll, and two others—total, $50.

If you feel disposed to subscribe to the above fund, you will please notify the Secretary as soon as possible.

Subscriptions payable on or before November 1st, 1890.

The Memphis and Avent Kennel is about to be sold at auction, or rather to the highest bidder, bids to be mailed to J. M. Avent, Hickory Valley, Tennessee. Col. Arthur Merriman and Mr. W. B. Gates retire absolutely from all connections with dogs and kennel interests, except as they may own dogs for their private shooting. Mr. Avent will continue to breed English Setters and to train and run them at the Field Trials. The combination has been the strongest in the English Setter world. Mr. Avent is a trainer of the rarest intelligence, patience and faithfulness, and it is to his marvelous appreciation of the various methods of development suited to different dogs that the unparalleled success of the kennels at the Field Trials has been due, although it cannot be denied that the deep study of blood lines and the practical knowledge of breeding which alone could have resulted in such grand dogs as have represented the kennel, have been as much shown by Col. Merriman and Mr. Gates as by Avent. We regret the change, not alone because the warmest personal liking is cherished for all the gentlemen named, but also because English Setterdom is likely to feel severely the altered condition of things.

Editor Breeder and Sportsman:—In reply to an article of Mr. Peshall, alluded to in a recent issue, regarding the Auditing Committee appointed to examine the accounts of the Secretary-Treasury of the American Kennel Club, in which he says: "Now as far as the Auditing Committee that was appointed is concerned, permit me to now state to the dog men and breeders of this country, that the accounts of the American Kennel Club have not been audited by the said committee, that is, they simply signed the statements made out by the secretary and treasurer. Two of the committee have so said to several parties, and one member of the committee, I believe, has written a letter to that effect." We desire to say that every statement contained in above quotation is unqualifiedly false, as we did examine the accounts as directed, and that we made out and signed our own statement, Mr. Vredenburgh taking no part in the examination except when called upon to give any needed explanation of entries, and that he took no part whatever in preparation of our report. We individually deny having made any such statements as are contained in above article personally or by letter.

A. Clinton Wilmerding,
J. M. Taylor,
New York, June 19th. Geo. W. LaRue.

Editor Breeder and Sportsman: In Mr. Poshall's slanderous letter alluded to in your issue of last week, he saw fit to accuse me of fraud, dishonesty and trickery in manipulating the funds of the American Kennel Club, and of submitting an untrue statement of the finances of the club for the year 1889 The charges contained in this letter are too ridiculous and absurd too answer. To all who know me personally as the secretary of the American Kennel Club, I desire to state publicly that it is only a short time ago that Mr. Peshall urged me to accept a position of trust and confidence under a high railroad official (the president of the Lehigh Valley R. R. Co.), to whom he (Peshall) had recommended me as a person not only competent, but one who would be valuable to him. On consultation with Mr. Belmont I decided to remain with the American Kennel Club At the time of this high recommendation by Mr. Peshall, he knew as much about my method of transacting the affairs of the club as he does to-day, and this is sufficient proof that he does not really believe his own statements. He has coined absolutely, and without one particle of truth, phrases and statements never used by me, and the very idea of which never crossed my mind. This is done to build an argument known to him to be false, malicious and without a shadow of foundation, but serving at any cost his hatred of the American Kennel Club and its officers. Mr. Peshall vilifies me and the officers of the club I represent. He maligns and insults the auditing committee, knowing full well before his letter is published that at least one member of the committee had protested against that portion of his statement referring to the personal examination and certification of the correctness of my books and accounts. Therefore, in order that this matter may be sifted to the bottom, I have preferred charges against Mr. Peshall and have asked for his permanent disqualification.

A. P. Vredenburgh.
New York.

Pursuant to the call of Major J. M. Taylor, a number of English setter men gathered at the rooms of the A. K. C., 44 Broadway, on Tuesday, June 24th, to organize the new club. Those present were: Messrs. J. Tredwell Richards, Percy C. Ohl, Thomas H. Terry, J. C. Long, Wilson Fiske, W. Tallman, Major Taylor and Dr. H. Clay Glover. Mr. J. T. Richards was made temporary chairman. The officers appointed so far are: President, Pierre Lorillard Jr.; Vice-Presidents, J. Treadwell Richards, —the other appointment being left vacant till the English Setter Club of America can be communicated with, and if consolidation is agreed upon, a member of their club will be given the office. Secretary, Percy C. Ohl; Treasurer, Dr. H. Clay Glover. Executive Committee—The five officers named above, together with Major Taylor, T. H. Ferry, J. C. Long, —. Graham, P. H. Bryson, J. E Dager, Wilson Fiske and another from the Massachusetts club as agreed upon. The name chosen for the new club is "The English Setter Club". The following committee was appointed to formulate a standard and report to the Executive Committee: Messrs. Taylor, Bryson, Lorillard, Tallman and Fiske. A committee was appointed, consisting of Messrs. Taylor, Ohl and Vredenburgh, to consider means and confer with the English Setter Club of America, with a view to consolidation and report the result to the Executive Committee.

The executive committee adopted a constitution, and was further instructed to adopt by-laws. The initiation fees are to be $5 and annual dues the same, no reduction for charter members. There was a meeting of the Executive Committee, Thursday, July 3rd., at Mr. Ohl's office, 48 Broadway, New York City, to receive report of Consolidation Committee, when further action will be taken. It now lies with the Massachusetts division of the English setter community to decide whether they will join hands. As we hear there is a feeling among several of the influential members of the older club favoring amalgamation, there is little doubt that such will be the peaceful solution of what promised to be at first a battle royal.

The coursing community will hear with great regret that the famous trainer Archie Coke died recently at his residence, the famous Arms Hotel, Birkdale, Hampshire, Eng. He had been in declining health during the past six months, so that his death was not altogether unexpected. The Birkdale kennels, over which he presided for the past quarter of a century, year after year turned out some of the foremost greyhounds in the country. His most famous success was the division of the Waterloo Cup with the kennel mates, Herschel and Greater Scot. Greentick and MacPherson also did him good service in the field and at the stud. His principal employers were the late Mr. T. D. Hornby, Mr. R. F. Gladstone, Mr. Jas. Russel, Mr. G. Robison, Mr. G. Hallgoth, Mr. R. V. Mather, and several other prominent sportsmen. The kennel will no doubt be kept on under the care of his son, Mr. John Coke, whose abilities both as trainer and judge are well known.

ROD.

The Fish Commission.

The July meeting of the Board was held at the rooms of the Labor Bureau, 220 Sutter street, City at 2 P. M. on Tuesday last, both President Routier and Hon. J. Downey Harvey being present. The minutes of the preceding meeting were approved. The report of Chief of Patrol Callundan for June was then read as follows:

THE HONORABLE THE BOARD OF FISH COMMISSIONERS—GENTLEMEN:—If the report of the Chief of Patrol for the month of June seems meagre, it may be said in explanation that with the slight force of Deputies now in commission, it is quite impossible to properly watch outlying districts where violations of the law are most likely to occur. The markets of San Francisco, Sacramento, Stockton, San Jose and Los Angeles can be kept under constant supervision, and it is believed that in all of the cities mentioned dealers in game and fish have rigidly observed the law. In the smaller cities and in the country towns and villages it is altogether probable that unseasonable game and fish have been sold. It is generally known that salaries are paid to but two Deputy Fish Commissioners, all of the rest serving without pay or reward from the State, their only emolument being a portion of such fines as may be levied after prosecutions instituted by them. It is creditable alike to the energy and public spirit of many of your Deputies that despite the inadequacy of their recompense, they yet continue actively engaged in the work to which this Honorable Board has invited them, and that they have accomplished a very great deal is known to all whose interest has led them to consider the reports made to this Board from time to time, and the statements which have appeared in the press throughout the State. The great diminution of the saw dust evil is due solely to the efforts of unpaid Deputies; the practical cessation of dealing in doe skins is due almost entirely to the activity of unpaid Deputies; the freedom of the markets from trout during the close season may also be credited to the unrewarded Deputies. If the funds of your Honorable Commission permitted the maintenance of a body of inspectors or game wardens at reasonable salaries, it is probable that more might be done than is at present being accomplished, but without such a force it is not easy to see how the present condition of things can be improved. During June our efforts have been put forth to stop the marketing of deer before July 1st. Ten or twelve complaints have reached the Chief of Patrol during the month about persons said to be slaughtering deer; each of the complaints has been investigated and in several instances it has been established as a moral certainty that deer have been improperly killed but no eye witness to the killing could be found in any case, nor could men be procured to go into court and convict those who were suspected. It is believed that many complaints that have reached the deputies are made in a spiteful spirit, with a hope that some grievance, real or fancied, may be avenged by making trouble for the offender. Of the brown quail distributed some months ago, many have become acclimated and have produced. There seems good reason to believe that the attempt to introduce them will be successful. The Supervisors have changed the game law in Lake County so that the open season for quail is from August 20 to March 1, and for deer from June 1st to October 15th. The change was unknown to the deputies until they began to investigate complaints from Lake County that deer were being killed in June. On June 6th, 7th and 8th Marin County was traversed more with the idea of warning the hotel keepers who have been in the habit of entertaining poachers who killed deer out of season than in the hope of taking anybody in the act of deer killing. On June 10th the Harbor View Fishery and the two or three little fishing camps toward the Presidio were visited, complaint having been made that small fish were being taken there. Well equipped plants for catching sardines and anchovies were found, and it was learned that some few small fish were killed during the capture of those most desirable; not enough, however, to justify any alarm. On June 14th the Contra Costa line as far as Martinez was inspected without detecting any illegitimate fishing. The 17th was spent at Napa from which city complaints have come that shad and trout and other fish were being netted with small mesh nets. Examination on the ground proved that the complaints were made in error. Sheriff McKenzie of Napa County professed sympathy with the work of your honorable commission and pledged himself to enforce the game and fish laws vigorously. Mr. Holden of the Sawyer Tanning Company of Napa stated that Mr. Lohree of Covelo was willing to pay a fine of $50 for violating the law about the possession of hides now under seizure at the San Francisco and North Pacific Railroad yard. The matter is one for your consideration and advice. On June 23d Deputy Tunstead seized a package of deer skins consigned to B. F. Sawyer by Meyer & Co. of Healdsburg, evidences of sex having been removed from many of the hides. The hides are held subject to the direction of your Honorable Board. Deputy W. H. Talbot of Santa Cruz reports that he and Deputies Goggin and Barlow are devoting as much time to the work of the commission as their private interests permit. Notices embodying the substance of the game and fish laws are being distributed throughout Santa Cruz Co. by the Deputies at the instance of the Santa Cruz Rod and Gun Club, an active and useful organization. Repeated complaints come that Chinese fishermen along the San Joaquin river and its various sloughs and channels are daily violating the fish laws and it is respectfully suggested that Deputies be sent to that neighborhood and the abuse be stopped.

Respectfully submitted,

F. P. CALLUNDAN,
Chief of Patrol.

The suggestion of Mr. Callundan that more salaried Deputies be appointed was commented upon by Commissioner Harvey who stated that with the funds at hand the Board was doing all that could be done. If a proper appreciation of the importance of the work of the Fish Commission could be generally disseminated and a sufficiently strong public sentiment could be brought to bear upon the Legislature to increase the Fish Commission appropriation, the Board would undoubtedly be able and glad to do more than could be done at present. Several communications of no special interest were then read. Mr. Thos. Tunstead presented a bill for $547 for services rendered as a Deputy Fish Commissioner. Inquiry revealed the fact that neither President Routier nor Commissioner Harvey had employed Mr. Tunstead nor had either authorized his employment as Deputy Fish Commissioner at a salary. Mr. Tunstead in his own behalf stated that he had been employed by the Chief of Patrol and had devoted himself faithfully to the performance of his duties with the clear understanding between himself and the Chief of Patrol that he was to be paid $75 per month. He had patrolled the city front daily for months and felt that he had done his duty. Commissioner Harvey in response said that if the Chief of Patrol had employed Mr. Tunstead without authority from the Board, the latter should look to his employer for payment. Mr. Tunstead then entered upon a heated statement in which he charged that the Chief of Patrol and Deputies had been guilty of malfeasance in office sufficient to stamp those mentioned as unfit to hold office under the Fish Commission or anywhere else. Mr. Tunstead claimed to have in his possession conclusive proofs of all he said and threatened to defeat what he claimed to be the political aspiration of the Chief of Patrol by the use of the documents and proofs mentioned. Commissioner Harvey stated that he knew no reason why any member of the Commission or any one of its Deputies or employees should not be investigated if charged with irregularity, and he invited Mr. Tunstead to set a time at which formal charges against the Deputies mentioned could be presented to the Board and investigated. After some consideration Mr. Tunstead selected Tuesday July 8th as the day upon which he would present charges, at 2 o'clock P. M. in Room 13 at 220 Sutter Street. With reference to the charge made by one of the daily papers that nets with meshes too small were being used on the Sacramento River, Deputy J. D. Ennis stated that he and Deputy Curley had recently inspected and measured the meshes of all the fishing nets in use from the mouth of the Feather River to Rio Vista on the Sacramento and had found none too small. The Board then adjourned until Tuesday next at 2 P. M.

The Tiburon fishing grounds appear to be played out.

Smelt are running very freely at Sausalito and at the old Oakland wharf.

"Pop" Chapin spent the day on the Oakland wharf and managed to land about thirty pounds of fine smelt.

Donner Lake is covered with boats containing fishermen these days. There is no way of telling the number of trout that are caught daily. Two railroad men caught 250 recently, and many other big catches were made.

Sunday last, although during the forenoon the bay was rough and the wind strong, some of the best catches of rock cod made this year so far were had by the fishermen who visited Sausalito, Lime Point and Tiburon.

Two brothers who reside in this city took a boat at Sausalito and rowed over to Lime Point, where, in a couple of hours, they succeeded in hooking over one hundred pounds of rock cod, nearly all of which were very small, the largest not weighing more than one pound.

A packing case reached this office on Wednesday last, marked "Petronella", from Captain Thos. H. Chubb the rod and tackle factor at Post Mills, Vt.

The package was duly transmitted and will doubtless do excellent service and be highly appreciated.

Rock-cod are alarmingly scarce this season, chiefly, we suppose, on account of the very wet winter. Owing to the heavy flow of fresh water into the bay from the surrounding country, the rock cod have abandoned their old grounds, and it is but very recently that the bay anglers have been at all successful in making fair catches.

An acceptable application of aluminum to the needs of the fly fisher has recently been presented to the attention of anglers by Dr. Redfield, of Providence, R. I. He uses aluminum foil for the tinsel bodies of such flies as the "Silver Doctor," "Alexandria," etc., and has very kindly sent me some to experiment with. This I have done, and find it in every way satisfactory. Silver tinsel tarnishes very soon whether the fly be used or retsined in the fly book. The contact of the fingers or the most infinitesimal particle of sulphur in the air (from the coal stove) whilst using silver tinsel is sure to begin a discoloration which ends in the bright tinsel becoming hideously black. Not so with aluminum. The Pittsburg Reduction Co., to whom I am indebted for valuable information and samples of this metal, assert that it is not acted on by air or by water, nor by concentrated sulphuric or nitric acids, nor by sulphuretted hydrogen, carbonic oxide, sulphurous acid or other sulphur vapor. It is also practically unaffected by common salt, either wet or dry, or by sea water or weak solutions of salt in acetic acid. Apparently this metal ranks pretty near to gold in its invulnerability.

Now I purpose experimenting with a view to using this light, elastic and untarnishing metal for reels, ferules, guides, fly hooks and artificial fish baits—especially those intended to come in contact with salt water. The chief difficulty in sea angling with a rod and reel is the highly oxidizing character of the water. No steel fittings will resist it, and brass and German silver are equally soon rusted. Apparently, aluminum is the desideratum we have been looking for.—Week'e Sport.

[If our contemporary could have the pleasure of inspecting the stock of tackle at Messrs. Clabrough, Golcher & Co's., he would find aluminum reels in plenty, of various patterns and sizes. Some five years ago the firm, at instance of the Angling Editor of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN, and after specifications made by him, had constructed an aluminum reel, with flush handle, raised pillars and click. The reel to hold one hundred yards of silk line weighed two ounces and a quarter. That reel has become the standard among Californians, and many scores of them have been made and sold. The original reel is still in use and perfect condition, although it has seen hard service each season. It is perfection itself for the fly fisherman.—ANG. ED.]

REMARKS AND CONDITIONS.

Nominations and entries to all stakes and purses must be made to the Secretary on or before the 15th day of August, 1890. Entries for the purses must be made two days preceding the race at the regular time for closing entries as designated by the rules. Those who have nominated in stakes must name to the Secretary in writing which they will start the day before the races at 6 P. M. Horses entered in purses can only be drawn by consent of the Judges.

Entries to all trotting races will close August 1st, with the Secretary.

Five or more to enter and three or more to start in all trotting races.

National Trotting Association Rules to govern trotting races. Pacific Coast Blood Horse Association Rules to govern running races.

All trotting and pacing races are the best three in five, unless otherwise specified; five to enter and three to start. But the Board reserves the right to hold a less number than five to fill, by the withdrawal of a proportionate amount of the purse. Purse to be divided pro rata. Entrance fee, 10 per cent. on purse, to accompany nomination.

National Association Rules to govern trotting, but the Board reserves the right to trot heats of any two classes alternately, if necessary to finish any day's racing, or to trot a special race between heats. A horse making a walk over shall be entitled only to the entrance money paid in. When less than the required number of starters appear, they may contest for the entrance money, to be divided as follows: 66⅔ to the first and 33⅓ to the second.

In divided purses no horse shall receive more than one money.

In all the foregoing stakes the declarations are void unless accompanied by the money.

Please observe that, in the above stakes, declarations are permitted for a small forfeit.

In all running races entries not declared out by 6 P. M. of the day preceding the race shall be required to start.

Where there is more than one entry by one person, or in one interest, the particular horse they are to start must be named by 8 P. M. of the day preceding the race. No added money paid for a walk-over.

Racing colors to be named in entries.

In trotting races drivers will be required to wear caps of distinct colors which must be named in their entries.

Each day's races will commence promptly at one o clock P. M.

All entries must be directed to C. H. Stoddard, Reno, Nevada.

W. H. GOULD, President,
C. H. STODDARD, Secretary.

  - Beautiful Bells is the dam of Hinda Rose, 2:15¼ as a 3-year-old, Palo Alto Belle, 2:22½, Chimes, St. Bell, 2:21½, Bell Boy (3 years) 2:19¾.
  - Sultan, 2:24 (sire of Stamboul 2:12¼) has 19 in 2:30 list.
- Vashti..... — Mambrino Patchen 58, Sire of 14 in 2:30 list, Sire of the dam of Guy Wilkes, 2:15¼; also sire of 20 stallions and 18 mares with get in 2:30 list.
  - Dam of Don Tomas, who got a record of 2:20 in 1889. — Kate Taber, By Mambrino Messenger, he by Mambrino Paymaster.

Foaled 1876. Black. Sixteen hands high. Bred by L. J. Rose

A horse of highest form and quality; of great excellence in every point; a type of his celebrated family; of marked individuality, spirit and endurance; never properly trained or raced, but shows the possession of great speed; perfectly manageable in the stable and on the road and track.

As he is sired by The Moor 870, a son of CLAY PILOT, out of Vashti by MAMBRINO PATCHEN, he is a most valuable cross for mares of other families. THE MOOR sired Beautiful Bells and the dams of Sable Wilkes and Margaret 2:28 (dam of Regal Wilkes, 2-year-old record 2:20¼).

MAMBRINO PATCHEN is regarded as the unsurpassed sire of broodmares, having, among many others, sired the dam of Guy Wilkes and of Wm. L (the sire of Axtell), and a son of his sired the dam of Axtell. The public sales this year have demonstrated with renewed emphasis the value of The Moor and Mambrino Patchen strains of blood. For combining particularly with the Hambletonians it may be called "the ready money cross."

GRAND MOOR will make the season of 1890 for a time at the Oakland Race Track and afterwards at my Ranch, fifteen miles from Oakland. Mares can be delivered at the race track to the groom in charge. Pasture at $5 per month. For other food, if requested, an additional charge will be made.

TERMS, $150 for the season, with privileges of return if the horse does not change hands.

Every care exercised, but no liability for escapes or accidents.

TROTTING AND PACING.

All trotting and pacing races are the best three in five, except the two year old, unless otherwise specified; five to enter, and three to start, but the Board reserves the right to hold a less number than five to fill, by the deduction of the entrance money from the purse for each horse less than five. Entrance fee, 10 per cent. on purse, to accompany nomination. Trotting and pacing purses div ded at the rate of 50 per cent. to first horse, 25 per cent. to second, 15 per cent. to third, and 10 per cent. to fourth.

In the two, three and four-year-old sweepstakes, unless otherwise provided, moneys are divided as follows: To winning colt, all the stakes and 50 per cent. of the added money; second colt, 33⅓ per cent; third colt, 16⅔ per cent. of added money. In all stakes payments not made as they become due forfeits all money paid in, and declares entry out.

The National Association Rules to govern trotting; but the Board reserves the right to trot heats of any two classes alternately, if necesary to finish any day's racing, or to trot a special race between heats. A horse making a walk over shall be entitled only to the entrance money paid in. When less than the required number of starters appear, they may contest for the entrance money, to be divided as follows: 66⅔ to the first, and 33⅓ to the second.

In trotting and pacing races, entries not declared out by 6 P. M. day before must start.

In trotting races drivers will be required to wear caps and jackets of distinct colors, WHICH MUST BE NAMED IN THEIR ENTRIES.

RUNNING.

The State Agricultural Society's rules of 1889 to govern running races, except when conditions named are otherwise.

Please observe that in the foregoing stakee declarations are permitted for a small forfeit.

In all the foregoing stakes the declarations are void, unless accompanied by the money.

Starters in stake races must be named on or before 6 P. M. of day before race. All entries in purse races not declared out by 6 P. M. day before must start.

Racing colors to be named in entries.

Final settlement of all purses and stakes won will be made on Saturday morning, September 20th, at the office of the Secretary.

Entry blanks and racing rules will be furnished upon application to the Secretary. Entries in all races, except otherwise stated, to close with the Secretary on Friday, August 1, 1890.

The Trotting Horse

BY CHARLES MARVIN.

This great practical horse book le a handeome, three hundred page octavo, hound in cloth, elegantly printed, euperbly illustrated, and explaine in every detail the remarkable succese of CHARLES MARVIN and the whole plans and methode pureued at Palo Alto as to breaking, training, shoeing, gaiting, driving, keeping, racing and breeding trotters.

Read what J. C. Sibley, the owner of St. Bel, says of this hook: "In this work Marvin has let out all the mysteries of the craft, and it is eo simple and plain that any breeder, owner, trainer or rubber who has any relish for his business can take a colt as a yearling and develop to the highest and fullest extent that colt's capacity as a trotter. The work impreseed me so strongly that I have ordered twenty copies, and shall place one in the hands of every rubber on our farm." Mailed postpaid for $3.50,

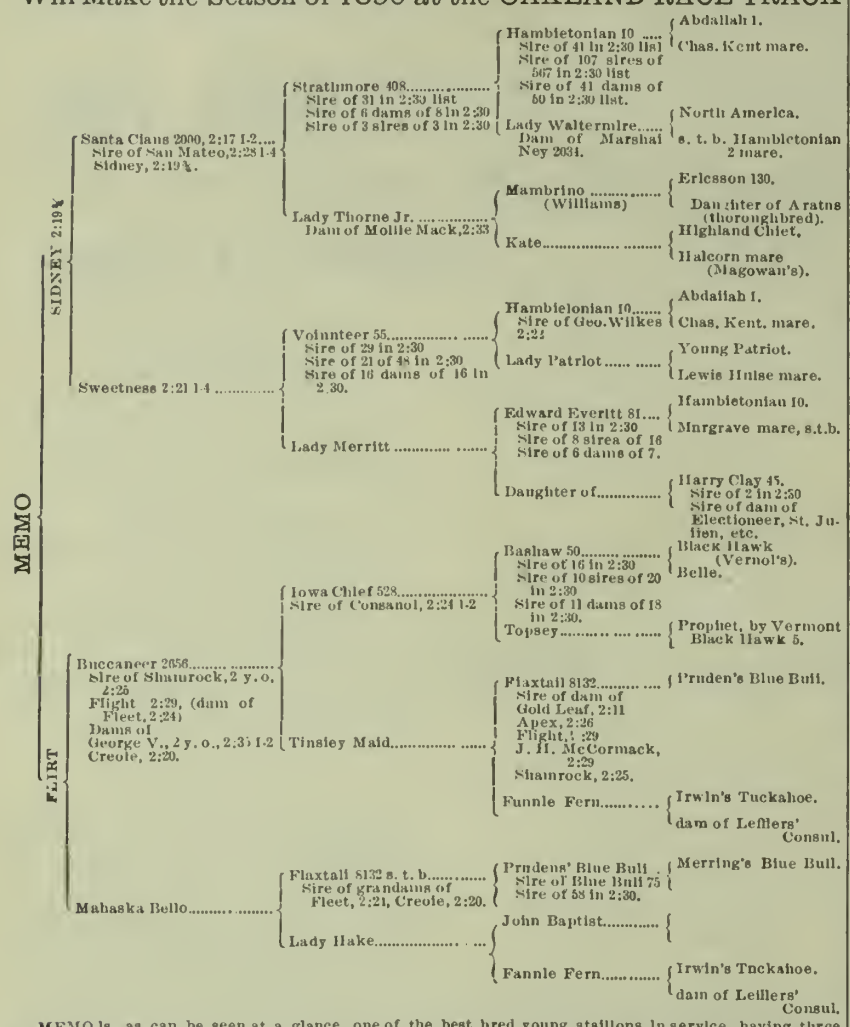
Memo.

The Best Son of SIDNEY

Will Make the Season of 1890 at the OAKLAND RACE TRACK



MEMO is, as can be seen at a glance, one of the best bred young stallions in service, having three crosses of Rysdyk's Hambletonian and one of Harry Clay, the sire of Green Mountain Maid (dam of Electioneer, etc.), while Long Island Black Hawk and Flaxtail also contribute to his blood. Sidney (Memo's sire) is universally known as the best young sire in the world, a producer of extreme speed at an early age.

PERFORMANCES.

MEMO trotted in public in his two year-old form, obtaining a record of 2:49, though he was close to Grandee in a race on the Bay District Track, the second heat of which was made in 2:31 1-2, the first in 2:32. He exhibited phenomenal speed when three years old, and had it not been for a slight strain of his fore fetlock, there is little quest on tha he would have shown in public very close to the best record. On the Oakland track he was timed a mile in 2:29 1-2, and frequently trotted quarters in from 32 1-2 to 34 seconds.

As a four-year-old Memo only s arted once -at Sacramento -when, although out of condition, he showed great speed, and improving as he went on, gre t hopes were entertained of his going well down to the teens at the P. C. T. H. B. A. meeting, but after showing severa' very fast miles his leg filled and he was laid up for the season. He is sixteen hands high, and of powerful build throughout. His color is a glossy black, with both fore-feet white. His disposition is all that could be desired, and his action superb. He is a sure foal getter, only one mare being report-d not in foal during his last season.

TERMS, $100, with usual return privileges, for a limited number of mares. Season to close JUNE 15th, when he will be prepared for track purposes. Last trage $5 per month. Have leased the cricket ground adjoining the track for pasturage, where there is fine feed. Reasonable charges if fed hay and grain. Best of care taken of mares in any manner owners may desire, but positively no responsibility assumed for accidents or escapes. For further particulars address

VISITORS WELCOME ANY DAY EXCEPT SUNDAY.

How to Get Stock to the Souther Farm.

The Souther Farm is one and a half miles northeast of San Leandro and eight miles southeast of Oakland. The stables are about one mile east of the county road, which runs between Oakland and San Leandro. The place to turn off is at Stanley Road, where a large signboard of the farm is placed. Guide boards will be found at every cross road. In any ordinary weather the roads are very good, and they are fairly good after the unusually heavy rainfall of the past winter.

All stock sent from San Francisco may be brought over by Garcia's Express, No. 3 Market street, San Francisco. They also have an order box outside of Hawley Bros.' Hardware house on the corner of Market and Beale streets. The express leaves San Francisco on the Creek route boat, which starts at 1:30, but all orders should be in the order box at Market and Beale streets by 10 o'clock, or at the office, No. 3 Market street, by 11 o'clock at the latest. In the case of very young or very valuable horses, the Souther Farm will send reliable men to lead or drive over any stock that will not lead behind a wagon. A small charge will be made in such cases, to cover the extra expense incurred.

Horses are very easily taken from Oakland to the farm, and where it is inconvenient for owners to bring them or send them, the farm will send after anything that is to come. On horses that stay three months or over there is no charge for getting or delivering. Where a horse stays a short time the actual time and expense only is charged to him.

Horses can be shipped by rail from almost all parts of the State to San Leandro. Always notify the Farm several days before shipping anything, and then men will be on hand to receive stock on arrival. The railroad station is but two miles from the Souther Farm, and the agent invariably gives immediate notice of the arrival of any stock consigned to the above farm, but when word is sent to the farm in good season by letter or telegram, the animals sent are saved waiting a couple of hours in the car.

Passenger trains leave San Francisco (from the broad gauge ferry) and First and Broadway, Oakland, at frequent intervals during the day. There are several trains from San Jose to San Leandro on both the broad and narrow gauge railroads; the broad gauge, by way of Niles, is much more convenient for getting to the farm. There are trains each day from Sacramento, Stockton and Livermore to San Leandro. In ordinary weather it is a short and pleasant drive from Oakland to the Souther Farm or from San Francisco to the Farm by way of the Creek route ferry boat. Always notify the Souther Farm just when you will arrive at San Leandro, and some one will meet you at the station. If you do not recognize the farm conveyance ask the stage driver, who will point it out.

Write to the above address for references, circulars and price list. Terms reasonable.

A HALF BROTHER TO

ALMONT PATCHEN,

(2:15, trial 2:13 3-4).

JUANITO JR. is a beautiful bright bay, black points, with no white, foaled 1886. As a colt he has given much more promise than did Almont Patchen at the same age. Instead of being a pacer, he is a good square trotter, with every indication of great speed, and is so gentle and kind, that a lady can drive him. The owner's only reason for selling him is that business calls him away from this section of the State. He will be sold at a reasonable figure. This is a splendid opportunity for a gentleman to secure a first-class trotter at a very low figure.

The pedigree of Juanito Jr. is by Juanito (sire of Almont Patchen), dam Nettie Moore by Old Tom Moore. For further particulars, address

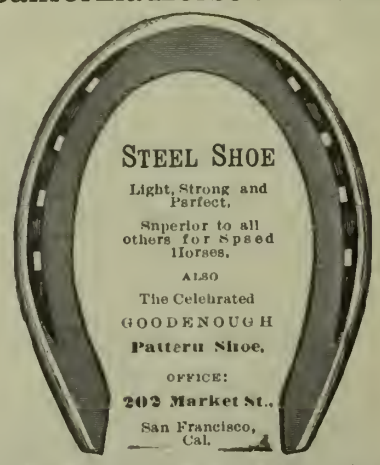
California Horse Shoe Co's



I have used in my business the Steel and Iron Shoes made by the above Company, and take great pleasure in saying they are the best I have ever used in twenty-two years' practice. I have never seen anything like the STEEL SHOE made by this Company. I can fully recommend them to every practical Horseshoer in the country. Yours respectfully,

Peruvian Bitters are made of the purest ingredients and compounded as carefully as any prescription.

Peruvian Bark, one of its principal ingredients, was introduced into Spain by the Countess, wife of Count CINCHON, Spanish Viceroy to Peru in 1630, who was cured of a fever by its use, since which time, no better remedy for Malaria and for Restoring the Natural Tone of the Stomach has been discovered.

On the Atlantic Coast they are used in the principal Hotels, Clubs and Restaurants, and sold by all Grocers and Druggists. We have sold them for the past three years WITHOUT ANY ADVERTISING and sales have constantly increased UPON MERIT ALONE, and we unqualifiedly recommend them to our friends and customers.

The most Popular Hunting Boot for Ladies and Gents in the Market

Prices Reduced. Quality Maintained.

These are the original Canadian Boots introduced by us nearly four years ago. They are made of waterproofed, oiled tanned material which is manufactured especially for our Boots. The leg is made of selected slunk tanned calfskin, laced up with bellows tongue. The bottom and uppers are one piece like an Indian Moccasin. The sole is sewed on by hand, to the sewed sole is added a tap sole and heel, studded with hunting hob nails. The Canadian Boot is very light. Ladies' and Boys' sizes being extra light and neat, and owing to its moccasin style is the most comfortable boot made. Men's boots weigh 2½ pounds per pair; Ladies' boots, 1½ pounds per pair. Men's high cut boots, 2 pounds per pair. They are recommended by the hundreds of sportsmen and campers who use them. The Canadian Boot is very popular.

A Leaf From Life.

[Written for the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN by Harvey Ward Peck.]

One nigbt, several years ago, four of us held down dress circle chairs in the Baldwin theatre. It was a first night, and tbe opera was Wagner's "Siegfried." The house was comfortably filled, and as the reporters of the daily press are wont to express it, "tbe flower and beauty of the Four Hundred were present," apparelled in that pretentious garb that is a distinguishing feature between upper tendom and the "great unwashed." Siegfried," as everyone knows, contains some of the most delightful melodies that its great composer bas thus far evolved. In the midst of this opera occurs "the Waldweben"—those sylvan murmurings of young leaves and little shivering breezes; rustling of reeds about a pool; gurling of hidden brooks round smooth stones and mossed roots, where the long-leaved cresses sway and rock in the browu current. Surely tbe musical coloring of "the Waldweben" is above reproach. At least so said Hoffman, and no one ever disagrees with Hoffman; he is a recognized authority.

At tbe close of this melody, wbile the audience were recovering from the rapt and strained positions they had assumed, a man came slowly down tbe aisle and took the seat next my own. He was about sixty years of age, smootbly shaven and neatly dressed. When his eyes encountered mine—which occurred immediately upon his taking his seat—I uoticed they were dark and piercing, but they failed to see me!

This would seem anomalous if unexplained. His eyes had that vacant, shifting expression, seen only in tbose whose minds are blank, or at best partially so. He sat very quietly, arose with tbe rest, and filed slowly ont at the conclusion As the crowd spread out upon Market street, he seemed to momentarily hesitate. Finally he started up Market, and as far as I could see, be plodded along with that machine-like methodical step which is characteristic of the mentally weak.

"Well," said Hoffman, addressing our party, "let's go to the Louvre and eat some of those diabolically sour sausages?"

After we bad surrounded one of the tables, and while a waiter is procuriug "sour sausages for four," I will introduce the party.

Hoffman was a man of perhaps thirty, a Kentuckian by birth, a Bohemian by occnpation, and an all-rounnd literary and musical critic of recognized ability. He was very quiet, talked little, and was devoid of eccentricities.

Brownley was about thirty-five, a handsome fellow, a man of fine education, and had the reputation of always being equal to an emergency. He was connected with two dailies, was a brilliant and versatile writer, and was equally at home at tbe swellest gatbering or amid the festive gambols of "de gang" way down south of Market, where Tim Milligau (pugilist and all-round tough) one night placed bis arm affectionately round Brownley's neck, as he inquired: "Young feller, are ye wid me or agin me?" Brownley's reply was so absolutely diplomatic, that Tim continued in husky toues (made so by whisky that would take the point off a wagou): "Young feller, yer white goods; come long—Miss Gould, Mr. Dusenberry—now Dusenberry (speaking confidentially to Brownley) this is Jay's daughter and my gal; she's awful fine goods, warrauted ter wash and not shrink. She's a bang-up dancer and handy in a scrap, don't yer never forgit it—Miss Gould, Mr. Dusenberry," and Tim swaggered off. Brownley proved so agreeable to "Jay's daughter," that she assured Milligan, after the dance was over, "that I a heap rather have him nor you, only he can't fight none, I don't snppose."

Tbe third member of our crowd was Sam McLaughlin. Everybody knew Sam. If tbey did not, they were looked upon as freaks. Sam was a borseman and turf-writer. Sam was very witty, very droll, and the best story teller upon earth. In his younger days he had been educated for the priesthood, and in pursuit of that knowledge, which would fit him for so exalted a position in tbis temporal life, Sam was sent to Europe. He traveled from St. Petersburg to Madrid, from Holland to Turkey. He used to tell of his pilgrimage with the Archbishop to Cairo, where they viewed the pyramids and stared at the sphinx; while at Joppa tbey went to see the supposed site of the house of Simon, where St. Peter had his visions. In Jerusalem tbey trod tbe soil of that storied place, saying mass in turn at the sepulcher of Christ; on the Monnt of Olives; on Calvary and at Bethlehem. Sam evinced great delight in telling of the devotional attitude the mules assumed while the Archbishop said mass. At Paris he deserted tbe Reverend Father, and with a party of Bohemian artists from the Latin Quarter, returned to Egypt. They floated down the historic Nile for 150 miles, accompanied by a return of Arab servants, wben they landed. Sam gave the boat a kick down stream, and it drifted away toward the Soudan. The party returned to Alexandria in palanquins borne by the Arabian carriers. By the time Sam reached the United States, his religious inclinations were not very strong, while his preconceived convictions that he was not destined for the priesthood were unyielding. Be that as it may, had Sam become a priest, a great horseman would have been lost to us, and had he not become a horseman, a great priest would have passed his life in cloistered prayer at St. Michael's! I, myself, would hesitate between the two—especially the second! Wbat then could be expected of Sam?

As tbe waiter brought the sour saussges (wbich I heartily despise), and had inquired in that conciliary tone for which waiters are notorious, whether we would have ale or porter. McLaughlin said, addressing me:

"You noticed that man in the theatre to-night? Sat next to you?"

"I did."

"He's gone wrong. If you care to hear, I'll tell you abont him. His name is Morris, and when I first knew him, he was a bright man. He had a nice family and a good home. He came here from Ohio in 1850; made some money in the mines, and finally gravitated into the real estate business way up Montgomery—which was then the center of business, you know—and he made quite a stake and bnilt a house on Folsom street, the then swell residence quarter. Morris always had a liking for a trotter, and always had a pretty good horse. As he flonrished financially, he kept pace by getting better horses, until in 1873 he had a young mare that he had bred himself, that could make the circuit in 22 or 23, and come with her blankets. You bet that was a whole lot faster then than 'tis now. We were over in the woods near San Rafael when Morris first told me abont his plans and the speed of the mare. He calculated she could trot three or four heats better tbsn 2:20, and I guess she could—she was a bird—and she was a good actor besides. The old man said he intended taking the mare East, and trotting right through tbe Grand Circuit. He fignred that tbe mare could not lose, in the slow classes, right through. He confided to me that he intended to borrow a lot of money on his property and play his mare for plenty whenever she started. I thought he had a bonanza, for I tell you that the horses for the free-for-all east of the Rockies that could beat the mare were mighty scarce, so it looked like he had the purses already won. Well, boys, we sat there and talked and bnilt air castles till the sunset faded, the woods grew dim and cold, and in the their dark depths a night bird began his tremulous song, that grew clearer and pnrer as he sang.

There wasn't any half hour boats in tbose days, and we came home in a sail boat. Our conversation occurred in March, and in April we were going across the mountains—for I was going to drive the mare. To simplify matters, we got there all rigbt, with the mare in good condition. We didn't have Arm's patent cars either—nor any other patent but our own—but, as I say, we got there right side up nevertheless. We stopped at Detroit, and for a month and a balf I simply jogged the mare, with an occasional brush. Sbe was in fine shape, and one moonlight night we tried her out in 2:18¼, and bless your life, she went easy. Nobody ever saw the mare move a mile better than 2;33 or 2:34, and I don't think tbey thougbt sbe could go much faster, if any. She was tbe first trotter that went across from the state to take part in Eastern races. Goldsmith Maid made her mark the next year and Dexter still held the trotting record. California horses were unknown, and therefore not respected. On the 16th day of June 1874, we entered the mare in a race with Chicago, a horse known afterwards by two or three different names—came out here several years after; Clara G., a bay mare bred in Canada, that had made a record of 2:26 in 1871, and Suburb, a sorrell gelding that could go a mile in 2:25 or thereabouts, I think, in 2:25, if I remember correctly. Cbicago, the old devil, bad a record of 2;24¾, that be captured in 1868, and was a pretty good horse, and a great stayer: I have been thus particular that you all might see that the mare had a walk-over. Not a sncker among 'em seemed to think that my mare had any chance. They made Clara G. favorite, Suburb second choice, Chicago third, and my mare—by the by, her name was Josephine—brought up the rear. Pools sold like wile-fire at $200 for choice, and when they got eager they went to $300, with Suburb at $150, Chicago $75, and Jo, as we always called her, at about $50 to $60. The old man bought most every pool sold on tbe mare, and before tbe first heat got in a thousand at average, odds of seven to one. When the bell rang Morris walked up the stretch with me. We were going to lose the first heat so Morris could get in his other thousand at better odds than tbe first. He left here with something over $2,000, about $2,500 probably. Suburb won the first heat, Clara second, Chicago third and the mare last. The time was 2:25 and they all tried for the heat but me. The betting was not much changed and Morris put in tbe other thousand. He then stood to win about $14,500 it the mare won. As we scored for the second heat I was thinking what part I would get. After we got away I sent the mare along, and the way she moved by that party I will never forget. Wben we were well into the backstretch I had a clear lead of five lengths, and I won tbe heat in a jog in 21¼, shutting out Cbicago.

You never heard snch a howl. They waited on tbe Judges—swore the mare must be a ringer; wanted me distanced for not driving for the first heat, and how many other things I cannot now recall. The Jndges were honest, and were in for giving me a square deal, and I got it. Tbe way they hedged would make a strong man weep. I won easily in 2:23½, with nary a horse within six lengths. You can judge how we felt! Fourteen thousand sure, and no chance to get away. Morris and I shook hands every time we met, while he hugged the mare in the excess of his delight. The Judges called me into the stand and asked me if I wouldn't show the crowd a fast mile the next heat, for they knew she could go faster than she had shown. Having been protected by them I could not refuse. When we left the wire the last heat I cnt the mare loose and went up to the half in :09 and calculated to finish as well. As I was rounding the upper turn I could see the others fifty yards back. I was well into the stretch, with Josephine at about her best clip, when like lightning out of a clear sky, the mare stopped, small clods flew through the air like hail, and I was thrown partially ou to the mare and partly out of the sulky. I was dazed for an instant, but through my mind kept running the thonght, I must not get distanced, I must not get distanced. As I scrambled back into the sulky Clara G went by, and a second later Snperb. I grabbed tbe lines and bit the mare a crack with the whip. She simply threw her bead up and down, up and down, and refused to move. I hit her harder and she hobbled forward a step and then stopped. I leaned forward and saw what I took for one fore foot held in the air. Just at this juncture I heard the bell ring and groaned aloud as I knew I was shut out. I saw Morris running down tbe track toward me, and as I got out he arrived, breathless, and white as a wall. We both simultaneously saw the trouble! The mare had fractured her front cannon bone and the end stuck through the skin and there she stood in mute agony. The same thought evidently possessed us both, and we turned without a word to look for the cause. A couple of steps behind the sulky was a hole where the crust of the track had broken through and the dirt was soft beneath. That did the business for us. The crowd had now reached us and those who had cursed us the loudest were the most profuse in their sympathy.

Some one brought a spade, and I found that a gopher had undermined the track, and done us irreparable injury. I never will forget the look on Morris face, as he stood apathetically by Josephine's side. His hands hung by his sides and the light seemed to fade out of his eyes. I didn't feel very chipper myself, but I roused up, got a vet, and had the mare's leg put in plaster, though I think there is better treatment now. In two months she was well, and I sold her to a breeder of trotters for $2500, about one-tenth what she was worth if sound. I brought the money back and gave it to Morris' wife.

The next morning after the race, I met Morris at the breakfast table. He smiled pathetically and inquired, in a low tone.

"Do you think Josephine can win to-day?',

I looked at him sharply and encountered the same look in his eye that has been there ever since, and a cold feeling ran down my back. The man was daft! The sudden change from the summit of equine fame to the possession of a crippled mare; from plenty of money to a $2000 indebtedness, had turned his head.

Since those days his property has made him rich. He recognizes but few people, is always quiet, and of those he addresses at all, he invariably asks, cautiously,

"Do you think Josephine can win to-day?"

The Tacoma Meeting.

Two or three weeks ago we announced that the Morgan Memorial Speeding Park would be opened on July 1st for a racing meeting consisting of five days, and as the purses were large and the entries likely to be productive of much sport, a special correspondent of the Breeder and Sportsman was sent to Tacoma for the purpose of letting our readers know how the sport of the Kings is conducted on the Sound. He writes as follows: Between 2,000 and 2,500 people gathered together at the race track on Tuesday, July 1st, for the purpose of inaugurating the first meeting of 1890. One o,clock was the hour appointed for the opening of the sport, and at that time a large attendance was on hand to witness the first event on the programme, consisting of a free for-all novelty running race. However, for some reason it was long after two o'clock before the runners appeared on the track, the entries being Little Maud, Tim Murphy, Tom Daly, Regal, Ben L., Red Bird and Quitoine. There was a large number of pools sold, an average of which would be about as follows: Cy Mulky's Daly and Murphy coupled $35, field $10. The race was very uninteresting, as Tim Murphy was first at the quarter and first at the half, while Tom Daly led at the three-quarters and also at the finish. The time as given out was, first quarter twenty-five seconds, half mile fifty-two seconds, three-quarters 1:17½, mile 145½. The purse was therefore divided as follows: first quarter $60, half mile $80, three-quarters of mile $95, mile $165; total $400.

A running race for a purse of $250, three quarter mile heats, was next in order. The entries being Raindrop, Hotspur and Sorrel Dan. Oceanica and Oregonian were also entered, but their owners scratched them out of the race. Pools prior to the first heat sold Raindrop $20, Hotspur $10, Sorrel Dan $3. When the flag fell, Sorrel Dan with Carlton on his back immediately took the lead, but the pace was too much for him evidently, as he was soon headed by Raindrop, who with Holman up had no difficulty in winning in 1:17¾, Hotspur making a spurt coming down the stretch and was only beaten a nose, Sorrel Dan being at least seven or eight lengths behind. For the 2nd heat the flag fell to a very good start, the three getting away in splendid order. At the quarter Sorrel Dan fell behind, leaving the finish to Hotspur and Raindrop; young Dennison on the Californian horse made a grand finish and beat Raindrop by half a length. Time 1:16½. The pool selling which had been rather slow at the beginning of the 2nd heat now assumed greater proportion as those who had wagered heavily on Raindrop were anxious to hedge, and Hotspur was an immense favorite, selling for $35 to $5 only for the field. In the 3d heat the hard work already gone through with told perceptibly on Raindrop, and Hotspur had no difficulty in winning by a dozen lengths in 1:18½.

The pacing race for the 2:40 class for which a purse of $600 was offered, brought to the post Rosie B., Mink, Harry T. (formerly Hugh Patrick) and Sleepy Tom. The heat was an uneventful one as Rosie C. won quite handily, Harry T. 2d, Sleepy Tom 3rd with Mink a bad 4th. Time 2:22½. In the 2d heat Mink got the best of the send off and was soon leading with plenty of space between her and Sleepy Tom, who was second in the procession. At the turn Rosie C. crawled slowly up to Sleepy Tom, and at this moment Mink and Rosie C. broke badly, Tom keeping his feet and putting a long distance between him and his opponents before they settled down. Harry T. paced well and finally passed Sleepy Tom, Harry winning the heat with Mink second, Sleepy Tom 3d and Rosie C. last. For the third heat Roses C: was an immense favorite, although Mink still had many followers. At the word Mink took the lead with Rosie C: close up. They paced along to the quarter where Harry T. got into a pocket and again broke badly, and when his driver finally settled him the others were two distances to the good. Rosie C. led at the turn and also into the home stretch, winning the heat easily by four lengths with Mink second, Sleepy Tom third and Harry T. fourth. Time, 2:28.

Quite a little breeze was created at the end of this heat by Mr. Burton, driver of Mink, who outspokenly declared that the man who held the distance flag had been driven out of California on account of crookedness. This arose from the fact that he declared that Harry T. was distanced in the third heat, the distant judges said that the horse was not, and consequently he was allowed to start in the fourth heat. Notwithstanding the fact that Harry T. had shown up so poorly in the last heat, he won this one easily, Rosie C. being 2nd, Sleepy Tom 3rd, Mink being set back for running. Time 2:26¾. The 5th heat was paced amid considerable excitement. Sawyer who was substituted for Burton drove Mink under the wire winner, Sleepy Tom 2nd, Rosie C. 3rd and Harry T. 4th. Time 2:27. For the 6th heat Sawyer was enabled by skillful driving to bring Mink in first, Harry T. being 2nd, and Rosie C. 3rd. At the termination of this heat great excitement prevailed and it was now so dark that the judges deemed it expedient to postpone the race until the following day; they announcing from the stand that the 7th heat would be paced at 1 P. M. sharp.

Second Day, Wednesday, July 2nd.

Owing to a great change in the atmosphere the attendance on Wednesday was not so good as that on the day preceding, there not being to exceed 1500 persons present. The first event of the day being the finish of the pacing race for the 2:40 class which had been postponed from the day previous. The three horses left in the race, Harry T., Rosie C. and Mink each had their supporters, and after a hardly contested heat Rosie C. proved the winner. Time 2:26½.

The regular programme of the day was a fairly good one and commenced with a purse of $400 for the 2:27 class of trotters. The entries were Siphon, Maud Knox and Katie Ham. It took six heats to decide this race notwithstanding the fact that Siphon was distanced in the first heat, Maud Knox winning the first and second in 2:33½ and 2:31½. Katie Ham took the 3rd and 4th in 2:37 and 2:30. In the 5th heat Maud Knox was under the wire first but the judges declared it no heat, owing to a technical objection having been made but Katie Ham won the 6th heat and the race in 2:33½.

The 2:35 trotting class was productive of only three starters, Joe M., Delcho and Coquette. Joe M. won the first and third heats in 2:29½ and 2:31½. but Delcho proved to have the most endurance by winning the 2d, 4th and 5th heats in 2:29½, 2:30 and 2:30½.

The three-minute trotters were the next to make an appearance for a purse of $400, there being six starters as follows: Carrie A., Lucy Golddust, Wonder, Della A., Hannibal, Jr. and Harry Howe. The first and second heats were taken by Harry Howe in 2:28½ and 2:31, and owing to the darkness the judges postponed the balance of the race until the following day.

Third Day—Thursday, July 3rd.

The final heat of the three-minute purse was trotted today, which resulted in Harry Howe winning the third heat and race in 2:34½, Hannibal Jr. taking the second money and Wonder third.

The first event on the regular programme of the day was a running race of a mile and a quarter for a purse of $350, $50 to second horse. The entries were Hotspur, Coloma, Tom Daly and Broadchurch but as the event was considered a foregone conclusion in favor of Broadchurch, the Directors of the Association gave Mr. Jones, his owner, $150 to withdraw his horse and still gave the original amount of the purse to the starters. Hotspur got off a little in the lead but was quickly overtaken by Tom Daly who won as he pleased in 2:11½, Hotspur second and Coloma third.

The next event on the card was a running race, five-eighths of a mile for two-year-olds, the purse being $250. The starters were Sinfax, Misty Morn, Mabel M. and Ben Martin. The race was a good one although the time was rather slow, Sinfax proving victor with Misty Morn second. Time, 1:05.

The last race of the day was a trotting contest for the 2:25 class for a purse of $400, the starters being Katie Ham, Maud Knox, Alta and Stemwinder. Owing to the predeliction of two of the entries to run, Maud Knox was given the first heat notwithstanding she came in third; on account of the running indulged in, the judges announced that no time would be given. Katie Ham had no difficulty in defeating her opponents in the next three heats, time being 2:30¾, 2:28½ and 2:30.

Fourth Day, Friday, July 4th.

Being a holiday and perfect weather coupled with a first-class programme, induced over 2,500 people to visit the Park on the fourth day of the meeting.

An Indian pony race for a purse of $100 was the preliminary attraction, there being five starters, the victor turning up in Black Feet, Sleepy Dan being second and Yakima third. Time, 2:06.

The three-quarters of a mile dash was the next event, it being a special race between Raindrop, Broadchurch and Mohawk, the owners of which put up $100 each and the management $400, making $700 for the winner. It was originally intended that Cy Mulkey's Tim Murphy would start, but owing to a bad attack of "John Barley Corn," Mulky's rider was unable to sit in the saddle, and consequently Cy had to declare his entry out. Raindrop proved the winner with Mohawk second. Time, 1:18½.

The third race of the day was the 2:30 pacers, the starters being Rosie C, Sleepy Tom and Mollie Cooper. Rosie C won in straight heats in 2:25, 2:27¼ and 2:24.

The concluding race of the day was for the 2:50 trotting class, purse $400, the starters being Joe Kenney, Harry Howe, Wonder, Carrie A, and Della A. Nux was also a starter, but after coming in fifth in the first heat, his owner was allowed to withdraw. Harry Howe won the first and second heats in 2:32¼ and 2:32½, Joe Kenney winning the third, fourth and fifth heats in 2:25½, 2:30½ and 2:30½.

Fifth Day, Saturday, July 5th.

The closing day of the meeting witnessed a very fair attendance although as would necessarily follow, not nearly as large as on the holiday preceeding. Taken all in all the Directors and management may be congratulated on the success of their initial meeting, and it is fair to presume that in future the attendance will be large, as the efforts put forward at this meeting have been duly appreciated by the public.

The opening race of the day was for a purse of $350, mile and repeat. The entries being Hotspur with Dennison up, Colomo ridden by Bustillos and Broadchurch, who was piloted by Holman. The two former carried 115 lbs., while the latter carried 113. The race could hardly be called a contest, as Hotspur won both heats with ridiculous ease, the time hung up for each heat being exactly alike, 1:43¾.

The second event on the card was a free-for-all pacing race for a purse of $350. The entries being Mink, Mollie Cooper and Harry T. Mink won the race in the 1st, 2nd and 5th heats. Time 2:24½, 2:23½ and 2:29; Mollie Cooper taking the 3rd and 4th heats in 2:30, and 2:33, while Harry T. was distanced in the 2nd heat.

The free-for-all trotting race for a purse of $450 brought out Alta, Stemwinder and Maud Knox; Alta winning the 1st, 3rd and 4th heats in 2:31½, 2:27½ and 2:29½; Stemwinder taking the 2nd heat in 2:29½.

The concluding race of the day was for the 2:40 class, trotting. The entries being Delcho, Hannibal Jr. and Carrie A. The race was a veritable walkover for Delcho in three straight heats; the time being 2:31½, 2:33, and 2:37.

The Oakland Driving Association.

On the afternoon of July 1st, a large concourse of spectators assembled at the Oakland Trotting Park to witness a series of trotting races, which had been arranged by the Gentleman's Driving Association of Oakland, and to say that the affair was a success is putting it mildly. The track was in fairly good condition, while the day was all that could be desired. It is only necessary to state that there were a great quantity of vehicles of all descriptions at the track; ladies and gentlemen turning out in great numbers in their private conveyances to witness the sport of the afternoon. At a quarter after two o'clock the first race of the day was called, the judges being Messrs. Bellingall, Smith and Simpson; the timers being Messrs. Hines and Wilson. Owing to the rather lengthy programme, which consisted of four events, the heats of the races were sandwiched so as to enable the programme to be trotted off in the one afternoon.

For the 2:45 class there were six entries: P. R. Potter's Billy, D. C. Brown's Sunrise, T. Rutherford's Sunset, R. B. Chisholm's Blue Bull, S. Martin's Stanhope, and W. W. White's Beauty. The first heat was won by Sunset in 2:43, the bay gelding beat Blue Bull by half a length for that honor. The second heat was taken by Mr. Chisholm's entry in 2:41, although not without a hard fight with Sunrise. The third heat was a very easy one for Sunset, his only opponent being Sunrise. Time being same as in second heat.

SUMMARY.

T. Rutherford's b g Sunset	1	4	1
R. B. Chisholm's b s Blue Bull	2	1	3
D. C. Brown's b g Sunrise	4	2	2
Shelby Martin's b g Stanhope	5	5	4
W. W. White's ch m Beauty	3	3	dr
P. R. Potter's b g Billy	6	dr

Time, 2:43, 2:41, 2:41.

For the 2:30 pacing purse there were three starters, Mr. Emlay's Dan, Mr. Birmingham's Oregon Boy and Mr. Walker's Washington. This was a hardly contested race, it taking six heats to settle the mastery. The first heat was taken by Oregon Boy in 2:37; the 2nd heat by Dan in 2:37; the 3rd heat by Washington in 2:35; Oregon Boy taking the 4th heat in 2:36¼, while Dan was enabled to capture the 5th and 6th heats in 2:36¼ and 2:33. This race was a very exciting one and thoroughly appreciated by the audience, each of the drivers using every endeavor to win.

Summary.

Pacing Race, 2:30 class, best three in five, owners to drive:

O. Emlay's gg. Dan	3	1	2	3	1	1
W. R Birmingham,s bs. g. Oregon Boy	1	3	3	1	2	2
C. H. Walker's b. g. Washington	2	2	1	2	3	3

Time—2:37, 2:37, 2:35, 2:36¼, 2:36¼, 2:33.

The third race of the day called out four starters, they being T. Mackenzie's Dolly, J. T. Jordan's Brooklyn, W. H. Ashby's Mabel and C. Babb's Pet. This race was again for the 2:45 class, best two in three and was easily won by the grey mare, Pet, she taking two straight heats in 2:45 and 2:48.

Summary.

Charles Babb's g m Pet	1	1
J. T. Jordan's Brooklyn Boy	2	2
Thomas McKenzie's g m Dolly	4	3
W H Ashby's blk m Mabel	3	4

Time—2:45, 2:48.

The fourth and last event of the day was a pacing contest for the 2:25 class, the entries being D. Stoddard's Gerster, W. Coleman's Haverly, and C. W. Knox's Minnie K. Haverly is not unknown to fame, he already having a record of 2:25, and as he had the foot of the competitors, found no difficulty in winning the 1st, 2nd and 4th heats in 2:29½, 2:33 and 2:33½; Gerster taking the third heat in 2:33.

Summary.

W. Coleman's s. g. Haverly	1	1	3	1
D. Stoddard's blk m Gerster	2	3	1	3
C. W. Knox's g m Minnie K	3	2	2	2

Time—2:29½, 2:31, 2:33, 2:33½.

Taken all in all this was one of the most enjoyable day's sports that has ever been given under the auspices of the new association, and it is to be hoped that now they have aroused the proper spirit in the minds of the people of Oakland that these matters may be continued indefinitely.

THE FARM.

Pleuro-Pneumonia in America.

The Last Vestiges Almost Destroyed.

An act was passed by Congress May 29, 1884, establishing a Bureau of Animal Industry of the Department of Agriculture "to prevent the exportation of diseased cattle, and to provide means for the euppression and extirpation of pleuro-pneumonia and other contagions diseases among domestic animals." We will confine ourselves in this article to the work performed by the Bureau in the lung plague of cattle or pleuro-pneumonis, merely stating that the bureau has also investigated with great care hog cholera and other infections diseases of swine, glanders, etc., in horses, and has done much to prevent the spread of these disesses.

Pleuro-pneumonia was introduced into this country abont fifty years ago hy the importation of a cow having the disease into the city of Brooklyn trom England. The disease spread through the counties of Kings and Queens, and gradually forced its way west, notwithstanding many determined efforts to suppress it, until a systematic effort was made hy the Bureau of Animal Industry in 1886 and '87 at Chicago to stop its advance.

At that time the entire West, with its countlees herds, was threatened with the dread disease; should it ever get a footing among the immense droves of Colorado, Kansas and New Mexico, our cattle industry wonld prohably be ruined. Appreciating the vital importance of the situation, the Bureau of Animal Industry opened an office at Chicago with an efficient corps of veterinary surgeons, and an adequate force of assistants, and by a strict system of quarantine, by destroying all affected and exposed animals, and by carefully disinfecting all places where such animals had been, succeeded in eradicating the plague from Illinois, so that although it was considered necessary for safety that the quarantine restrictions should be maintained until April 1, 1888, the State was practically free from the disease before November 1, 1887.

The attention of the burean was now called to the counties of Westchester, New York, Richmond and Kings and Queens; offices were also established at Baltimore, Philadelphia and Jersey City, and the herculean task simultaneously started to stamp out the plague in its very home and stronghold. The same system that prevailed at Chicago—though on an extended scale—was instituted in New York; affected and exposed animals were appraised by the government appraisers, and purchased and destroyed by the officers of the bureau; all suspected buildings, yards, etc., were disinfected and a rigid quarantine drawn around the infected districts. The good effect of these stringent measures were soon apparent; the disease was extirpated from Westchester and Richmond counties during the summer and autumn of 1888, and its spread checked in Kings and Queens counties.

During the latter part of 1888 the disease appeared in Orange county and caused much alarm, this county being noted for its large herds of cattle, but fortunately being taken in hand on its first outbreak, the spread of the plague stopped, and in a few months entirely disappeared from the county.

It might be well, for a better understanding of the subject, to mention here that the plague can be much more easily handled in a grazing country where farmers and milkmen appreciate the efforts of the bureau, than it can be among the cow dealers and impecunious milkmen in the suburbs of Brooklyn and the adjoining towns in Queens County. Many of the small milk dealers also in Kings and Queens Counties are opposed to the bureau, as it prevents their changing cattle at pleasure, and compels them to keep their stock off the highways and commons; these people give great trouble and annoyance to the officers of the bureau in the necessary inspection of cattle.

Notwithstanding the many obstacles the bureau has had to contend with, it is gradually driving its enemy from the field. Maryland is free from lung plague, so is Philadelphia and New Jersey, with perhaps one or two isolated cases in Hudson county; the counties of Orange, New York, Westchester and Richmond, New York, are also delivered from the terrible disease. Contagious pleuro-pneumonia is now confined to a small district in Kings and Queens counties, and here it makes its last fight, but it cannot long withstand the determined efforts of the bureau.

By the following order of Secretary Rusk of the Department of Agriculture, all cattle found running at large in the counties of Kings and Queens, are to be seized and destroyed, the bureau paying the owner the appraised value:

"To all Owners of Cattle and Others: You will please take notice that in accordance with the Rules and Regulations made for the suppression of contagious diseases by authority of an act of Congress approved May 29, 1884, and of the laws of the State of New York, all cattle found without permit on the streets, highways or commons in the counties of Kings and Queens, State of New York, will be condemned as exposed cattle, and after appraisement, slaughtered. All persons violating, or assisting in the violation of any of the above-mentioned regulations, or any of the provisions of the proclamation of quarantine of the counties of Kings and Queens, made by the Governor of the State of New York, will be refused permits for the movement of cattle within said quarantined district, and will be prosecuted under the laws of the State of New York, for the violation of said quarantine.

J. M. Rusk, Secretary of Agriculture.

This order will have a most beneficial effect; already 125 head have been seized and slaughtered, and the owners now see that they must obey the laws—the promiscuous intermingling of cattle on the unfenced lots in the suburbs of Brooklyn having heretofore been one of the chief factors in the spread of the plague. One hundred and sixty thousand tags have been used by the employes of the bureau in New York in tagging cattle, and probably $150,000 has been spent by the bureau throughout the country in extirpating contagious pleuro-pneumonia—a large sum of money, it is true, but a very small sum when we consider the hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of cattle that were threatened by the spread of contagious pleuro pneumonia.

During the last four months 1,046 cattle have been slaughtered, of which 263 were diseased and 783 had been exposed. The government paid out $37,546.50, and received $16,432.52 as salvage on meat of non-diseased cattle.

Before bringing this article to a close, the subject of exporting live cattle to Europe should be considered. The quarantine laws of England against American cattle at present are almost prohibitory, all stock being killed at port of entry on arrival, thus putting a stop to one of our great industries. The extermination of contagious pleuro-pneumonia in America will compel the English government to repeal these laws, and an immense benefit he conferred on the cattle industry of this country.—The Cultivator and Country Gentleman.

On the Separation of Sexes in Chicken for the Table.

The determination of the age at which chicken should be shut up in order to be fattened for the table is a point of very great importance, if first-rate results are required. The general rule is to shut up the cockerels "as soon as their tails begin to turn," that is, as soon as the two long central tail feathers over-lap the straight feathers of the tail; and the pullets before they have laid.

The object of these directions is evident; as soon as the young birds begin to exercise their reproductive functions, they cease to be first-class table poultry. It is quite true they are edible, but they are not birds that one would wish to place before a gourmet; and what is still more to the point, not only is the quality lessened, but the quantity is seriously interfered with, for the birds cease to grow or fatten at the rate they did previously.

It is not generally known that hy keeping each sex not only apart, but absolutely ont of sight of the other, both the cockerels and pullets may be grown to a much greater size than usual, without the quality of the flesh being deteriorated. If the young cocks are separated before their tails begin to turn, and removed out of the sight of the hens, they do not become hard and coarse, and grow to a larger size than they otherwise would. I am not recommending that they should be shut up in small runs or pens, but that they should be kept quite apart, and out of the sight of the other sex.

If this is done, the severe and painful operation of caponising is quite unnecessary; in fact, it is not generally performed, even on the finest birds at the fat poultry show held in Paris during February.

The keeping the sexual proclivities in abeyance by separation is sometimes practised with regard to Gold or Amherst pheasants. These birds, as every rearer of them is aware, are most pugnacious, the males killing not only one another, but also the females. Nevertheless, a score of gold cocks in full plumage may be kept in one inclosure, affording one of the most gorgeous sights in the animal kingdom, providing only that the whole of the males were put together whilst chicken, and had never been allowed to associate with the hens. Under these circumstances they live peaceably, but the introduction of a single hen would have been the signal for the commencement of a battle royal, from which it is probable not a single bird would emerge alive.

If a corresponding plan is adopted with poultry, the young cocks can be kept until late in the season, or even into the new year, without deterioration, but, on the other hand, with with great improvement as regards size.

The same remarks are true, mutatis mutandis, with regard to the hens. A fowl that has laid an egg is herself edible, but cannot for a moment be compared to a pullet that has not laid; the quality, tenderness, and sapidity of the flesh of the latter are greatly superior. Hence those pullets that are intended to be fattened for the table should not be allowed to run promiscuously with the other birds in the poultry yard; if first-class fattened poulards are required, they should be separated.

It may be said that this separation of the sexes in poultry is too much trouble to be generally followed. This may be true, but in many places where large numbers of poultry are reared for home consumption or the market, it could be done without any great increase of trouble, and the improvement in the birds would amply repay that which was necessary.

To those who rear for their own tables, and have facilities for carrying these suggestions into effect, I can strongly recommend them; but they must take the strictest precautions that the birds are separated before they have manifested any sexual proclivities.—W. B. Tegetmeier, in the Field.

Canned Meats.

"Will you please explain the modus operandi of canning meat in the great canning establisments at the Union Stock Yards?" asks a correspondent.

Cattle killed for canning are usually well fattened native cows, and Texas and other range cattle, such as are usually ranked in the market as good butchering cattle. Corned beef, after being first salted and cured in the chill-room, at a temperature of thirty-eight degrees Farenheit, is taken over to the cannery and cooked by steam in hot water. It is then put upon the chopping table and cut up. Hand labor is employed for this purpose, because it is necessary to select the parts of the beef that go into the cans, and to throw out the gristle and other unsuitable portions. The best cuts of table beef are selected for canning purposes. This process over, all the rest of the manipulation is done by machinery. The cans are placed in a receiver and are charged from the bottom. A steel plug or plunger presses the beef compactly into the cans. They are then weighed and any shortage or overplus is rectified. A circular orifice is left in the bottom of the can. Upon this a disc of tin plate, with a small hole in the center, is laid overlapping the orifice, and firmly soldered around the rim leaving the little aperture in the middle still open. The cans are next placed in a steam bath for about thirty minutes, which creates a vacuum. As soon as the air is thus expelled from them, the remaining opening is quickly soldered, and the can is then air-tight, or should be so. Each can is tested by an expert, who ascertains by sounding if there is any defect. If so, it is thrown out, but if found perfect the cans are run through steam and washed in hot water to remove all grease from the outside, and are then plunged into a bath of cold water to collapse them. The only remaining process is the lacquering and labelling. This is done by girls and women.—Western Rural.

Blood Will Tell.

Texas Live-Stock Journal:—"For a number of years Mr. Sam A. Wolcott has gained quite a reputation for first-class beeves, but this year he has taken the blue ribbon a yard wide for the best grass beeves ever marketed from Texas. Mr. Wolcott has improved on native stock with Short-horn bulls, and altogether on grass; the only difference between his method and many others who fail to attain satisfactory results being that he sees to it that his pastures are not overstocked and his cattle starving or suffering for grass or water. His ranch is in Encinal County, where many contend that nothing but scrub long-horns can thrive. Last week Mr. Wolcott marketed in Chicago on a bad market, there being a decline of fully twenty cents per. 100 lbs. from the week previous, selling thirty-eight steers averaging 1,346 lbs. and selling at $4.25 per 100 lbs., and twenty eight cows averaging 980 lbs. for $3 25, which was $57.20 for the steers and for the cows $31.85. Mr. Wolcott was offered $36 a head on the ranch for the steers, but he netted $49.48 per head. This stock never had a grain of food other than the native grass nor any of shelter. What Sam A. Wolcott can do in Encinal County, can be done by thousands of others in hundreds of counties in Texas.

Management of Young Pigs

How They Should be Weaned—The Care of the Sow.

If only two litters of pigs are bred a year they must be allowed to suck until eight or ten weeks old, the last two weeks being given to those rather under-sized, so as to bring them up to the average and make an even lot. We have known titman by an extra three or four weeks' pull at the teat to grow so that it could hardly be distinguished from the best. But long before the weaning is accomplished, the pigs should be taught to eat, and given three or four times a day all they will eat up clean. Some milk should, if possible, form a part of the ration. To this may be added fine wheat middlings, ground oats or peas, and a very little cornmeal. If there is no milk to give, withhold the corn altogether. With a good run at pasture or in a bearing orchard the pigs will make a large growth before fall, and be ready if well fed for killing at any time. The sow will take the boar three or four days after the pigs are weaned. It is important that her milk flow should stop as soon as she is with pig, hence such milk-producing foods as bran and fine middlings should be withheld at least for a week or two. The trouble will be to stop the sow that has been suckling a lot of ravenous pigs from growing too fat when they are taken from her.

Why Butter Will Not Come.

Among the reasons why butter will not come, an exchange gives the following: 1. Because of some disorganised or unhealthy condition of the cow. 2. On account of the unwholesome food and water supplied. 3. Want of proper cleanliness in milking and setting the milk. 4. Lack of right conditions in the raising of cream—pure air and proper temperature. 5. The cream is not raised and skimmed in due time. 6. Cream not churned at the proper time—kept too long. 7. Cream too warm when churned. 8. Cream too cool. 9. Churn not a good one. 10. Lazy hand at the churn. Some persons have the churn around nearly all the summer or winter; take a few churns and then stop, fool around and begin again.

Bither says that no one who has not driven a horse in 2:10 can fully understand how important each traction of a second is when you try to get below that mark.

John L., 2:24, is being worked on the Willows race track, and shows all his last year's speed. The big horse is said to be by Juanito, sire of Almont Patchen.

It is reported that Goldsmith has succeeded in reducing the weight on Gene Smith so that he now has one pound shoes in front without any toe weight.

W. H. Wilson, Cynthiana, Ky., has bought off B. Scannel his half interest in Wabash Maid by Steven's Bald Chief dam Belle of Wabash, dam of The Moor.

Two California horses won at Washington Park last Monday. E. J. Baldwin's Clio won a three-year-old race, and W. H. Smith's Longshot won a mile and a sixteenth.

A filly was recently foaled at Terre Hauts that combines the blood of four great mares, Maud S, 2:08¾, Goldsmith Maid, 2:14, Lady Thorn, 2:18, and Lucy, 2:18¼

George Baldwin did not stay long in charge of the Santa Anita stable for I hear that last week he left to visit his relatives in the East and will return to California.

Dohle has quite a combination in the $105,000 stallion Axtell, Johnston, the king of pacers, Jack, the free-for-aller, and the great road team, Reina and Betsy Brown.

Miller & Sibley recently declined $10,000 for a yearling colt by St. Bel, and they have a filly by the same sire that is not yet two years old that can trot a quarter in 37 seconds.

The principal meeting in the East last week was at Poughkeepsie. There were also meetings at New Haven, Minneapolis, Auburn, N. Y., Port Huron Mich., and other points.

Among the horses handled by Capt. Boyce at Highland Stud Farm is the grand looking stallion Dark Night by Alcyone, dam by St. Elmo out of Midnight, the dam of Jay Eye See.

Mr. Schulta bought Gold Leaf 2:11¼, and her black brother Thistle at the late Pleasanton Stock Farm sale. The black pacer is said to have shown a quarter in thirty seconds last week.

E. J. Baldwin's Santiago turned the tables on Uncle Bob in the Sheridan Stakes on the Fourth, and now Mr. Baldwin thinks the Realization would have been his, had Santiago been there.

Ed Stokes has refused an offer of $2,500 for a half interest in a colt by Red Wilkes, out of Sweetheart, a sister to Eva, whose two-year-old son, Voodoo, sold last spring for more than $24,000.

At the Coney Island Jockey Club meeting Taylor and Bergen had each 17 winning mounts, Hamilton 7, Murphy 6, and so on down to the veteran William Hayward 1 (The Realization.

Thirty-three thoroughbred yearlings, the product of August Belmont's Nursery Stock Farm in Kentucky were shipped to New York last week; part of them will be sold at auction and the rest put into training.

Charlie Foster moved to San Jose early this week with a stable of trotters and pacers belonging to Mr. Martin Carter. One of them before leaving showed a mile better than 2:30 and is on the improve.

One of the curious sights of Coney Island is the spectacle of fifty or sixty thoroughbreds standing in the ocean every morning. The salt water appears to be the best thing in the world for bad legs.

There are on the Napa track among other good horses Nona Y 2:25, Josie S by Ha Ha 2:22¼, and Gold Medal trained by C. L. Davids, Oakville Maid and several promising animals trained by George Starr.

John McConnell has given up Mr. Franck's horses, and four of them (two by Richard's Elector) have been sent to James A. Dustin. McConnell will take Percy Williams' trotters round the circuit.

August Belmont has lost, beside Kingfisher whose death I mentioned last week, the bay horse Minus by King Ernest dam Nina by Kentucky, and a suckling filly, sister to St. Carlo by St. Blaise from Carina.

It is the policy of the owner of Lucille Golddust, the only mare with a record better than 2:17, that has produced two foals that averaged better than 2:20 in speed, to mate her only with stallions that have fast records.

Mr. W. C. France has amended his answer in the Red Wilkes case and asks for a dissolution of the partnership and for a sale of the horse. It is therefore extremely probable Red Wilkes will be sold this summer.

La Siesta Rancho's stallion Eros 2:29½, was brought up to the Bay District Track last Tuesday. Vogt expects to knock several seconds off the record of the half brother to Sallie Benton and Sport before next season's stud entries.

Herrick & Ellsworth of Worchester, Mass., have sold the bay mare Daunt by Dauntless (sire of Gene Smith 2:18½, Ed Annan 2:16¼), dam by Honest Allen 2:28, in foal to Electuary, son of Electioneer, to Otis & Gramish of New York.

Mr. E. S. Culver, the popular Blood Horse Secretary, had the misfortune to lose a good looking foal by Three Cheers out of Charity by Red Boy. The youngster, who was a very neat, powerful colt, broke his leg and had to be destroyed.

It is announced that J. H. Shults, the Brooklyn millionaire baker, has got tired of the breeding business and will sell out his trotting stock next fall. Mr. Shults has been one of the most liberal buyers ever connected with the trotting turf.

When Jack 2:15 was a two-year-old his dam Carrie Russell was sold for $50. After Jack's fame began to be noised abroad a hunt was made for his dam, and she was found in a Michigan livery stable and was afterward sold for $3,000.

John Porter, the celebrated Kingsclere trainer who has trained five winners of the English Derby, says if we had later foals, less two year old racing, and longer races, we should have better horses, better trainers and better jockeys.

C. J. Hamlin's offer to put up a purse of $5,000 for Snow and Belle Hamlin to trot for at the Buffalo circuit meeting, has been declined. Marvin says he is willing to start Palo Alto against Belle Hamlin, but he wants a race best three in five.

Palo Alto 2:12¼ and Jack 2:15 were matched last Sunday at Chicago. $1000 each forfeit being put in J. E. Brewster's hands for a match of $2500 a side, mile heats 3 in 5 to take place on Saturday July 26th at Detroit, Washington Park or Cleveland.

While Howard Conklin was exercising J. D. Y. over the Village Farm track, the horse stumbled and turned a complete somersault, taking with him driver and sulky, without injury. The horse was started up again and trotted faster than ever before.

Fairlawn is celebrated as the place where General Withers raised so many successful performers, and as the place where the mighty Almont and Happy Medium died, and now we hear with sorrow and regret that it is to be cut up into town lots and sold.

McManus is working on the Chico track a whole host of trotters, the property of D. M Reavis. One of them, a black Director filly, is said to be exceptionally good. The chestnut Brigadier pacer Wapple 2:27, is moving rapidly, and is expected to go low down.

A two-thirds interest in the famous trotting stallion Robert McGregor has been sold to W. E Speirs of Glens Falls, N. Y., by J. E. Madden of Lexington, Ky. The horse was bought by Madden for $35,000, last spring, but this last transaction is at a private price.

A tremendous and yet a fashionable, crowd turned out at Longchamps to see the Grand Prix. The gate money receipts amounted to rather over $80,000, while the Pari Mutual did almost twice as much business as on previous occasions, nearly $300,000 to $200,000 last year.

The Drexel Stakes at Washington Park, Chicago, last Wednesday proved an easy race for E. J. Baldwin's Santiago Theodore Winters Noretto was close up in the stretch and unfortunately attempted to squeeze between the leaders when the filly fell and her rider Abbas was killed.

Orrin Hickok declares that he is always afraid of a trotter to which a fast record has been given by a green hand at the business, as it has been his experience that in such cases the animal is usually pretty well knocked out by the system pursued and the inevitable weak spot made worse.

Last Saturday at Washington Park Mr. Winters won his first race with Noretto a three year old sister to Alta, the filly readily accounting for a $600 purse, doing the mile in 1:43¾. On the same day Senator Hearst's Almont ran a good mile being beaten only a head in 1:41¼ with 122 lbs.

Mr. Reed was particularly unfortunate in taking his yearlings from Tennessee to New York. The express company provided an unsafe car, and the partitions giving way the colts injured themselves, one being dead on their arrival in New York; another out of that grand race mare Thora has since died.

Visitors to Fleetwood Sunday before last had a grand treat. Mr. Gordon's black wonder Guy was driven by Millard Sanders in 2:16 without an effort. Mr. Walker drove his handsome mare Miss Alice a mile in 2:20¼. Sanders then drove Mr. Gordon's team, Ernest Maltravers and Captain in 2:23.

The yearling filly by St. Simon out of Quiver was sold at auction in England last week for 5,500 guineas. She is a full sister to the Duke of Portland's Memoir, the winner of this year's Oaks. The twenty yearlings the property of the Queen, bred at the Hampton Court Stud Farm, were sold at an average of 705 guineas.

Senator Hearst's Almont ran a grand race in the Great Western handicap, carrying 106 lbs. He ran the mile and a half in 2:36 with Santa Anita's Los Angeles carrying 121 lbs. running a good second. On the same day Al Farrow won a mile and a furlong in good style, but Longshot after winning the first heat in a mile and repeat died away and was readily beaten by Brandolette.

Mr. Kemmiss the Englishman who carried all before him at Buenos Ayres, having won every two-year-old race in which he started anything, intends sending some youngsters to England. Phoenix seems to be the crack sire, his sons and daughters being almost unbeatable, while Whipper In (Hermit—Scarlet Runner) is getting some handsome colts.

Col. Bruce sold fourteen horses, the property of Messrs. Cotton and Boyle at Sheepshead. Among them were Masterlode, a three-year-old chestnut colt by Sir Modred or Kyrle Daly out of Bessie Peyton $4,050; Grey Dawn, a four-year-old horse by Billet from Mary Clark, $2,800, Eminence, a three year-old filly by Kyrle Daly, dam Elizabeth, $1,300.

It looks rather as though the Sporting World intended to be sarcastic when it said: "Matt Allen stood midway between the half mile and five furlong posts during the race for the Realization, and shouted to Hayward that he had his pursuers all dead. He instructed Hayward to ride Tournament as if he was giving him work. He did so, as any good little boy would."

The English Jockey Club met on June 5th and amended the racing programme so that it now stands as follows: "There shall be in each day's programme the following races, to fill with five entries for each of them: (1) Two races of a mile or upward. (2) One being neither a handicap, a race in which there are any selling conditions, nor confined to two-year-olds; this race may be one of the two races specified in the last clause."

The National Horseman is now being published at Cleveland under the title of The American Sportsman, the first issue of which appeared on July 3rd and it is up to the standard of excellence previously displayed in Indianapolis. Turf and Trotting interests are ably looked after by W. H. Gocher late of the Horseman, while Frank H Brunell after his retirement from the Secretaryship of the Players National League, will keep an eye on the baseball and athletic department.

Mike Kelly took a trip to Monmouth before racing started there last week, to see how the straight tracks would suit Geraldine. "I don't like it," said Mike, after he had taken a considerable tramp over it. "It's too big, and it will take us all day to go and come from the stables. I will start Geraldine there a couple of times, and then go to Saratoga. It's not a very good track for an excitable horse." Geraldine used to be the reverse if excitable but probably with age she has altered.

Noah Armstrong, the well known Montanan who owns Spokane, has among other valuable mares on his Doncaster Farm, near Helena, the dam of last year's hero. Last week while at grass with her foal by Tom Bowling, she in some way broke her leg, but it is said by the veterinary in charge that she will recover in due course—(She is at present in slings) Mr. Armstrong has on his valuable horse ranch besides thoroughbreds, about 150 trotting bred youngsters including a useful Dictator colt.

To show what value a popular thoroughbred stallion has after his turf career is ended, the mighty Isonomy who has been in the stud for several seasons and is the sire of, among many others, the flying Sabreeze, has his book filled for the next three years bringing his owner an income of $45,000 irrespective of his own mares, and yet if memory serves me well $42,500 was his price after Mr. Gretton's death though Senator Stanford was said to have offered $100,000 some time previous.

The opening day at Tacoma, Washington Territory, was very successful. Cy Mulkey took the whole pot in the novelty race, Tim Murphy being in front at the quarter and half and Tim Daly at the three-quarters and mile. The six furlong and repeat had three starters, R. Bybee's Raindrop, winning the first heat in 1:17¾, Hotspur only beaten a head. Hotspur won the second heat by half a length in 1:16¼ and the final was easily won by Dan Dennison's horse, who finished five lengths in advance of Raindrop.

L. A. Ragsdale of Clarksville, Tenn., has bought of A. J. Alexander, of Spring Station, Ky, the following young trotters: Re-election, gray colt, 2, by Electioneer, dam Lady Russell by Harold; Eligo, bay filly, yearling by Pistachio (brother to Nutwood) dam Elect by Electioneer, second dam Mineola by Rysdyk's Hambletonian; Russlite, chestnut filly, 3, by Lord Russell, (brother to Maud S.,) dam Elite by Messenger Duroc, second dam Green Mountain Maid by Sayres' Harry Clay; Tuberose, bay, 7, by Nutwood, dam Mossrose by Woodford Mambrino, second dam Primrose by Alexander's Abdallah. While Mr. Ragsdale wishes the price kept private, it is known he paid about $50,000 for the four.

The Royal Hunt Cup which is run over the new mile at Ascot was this year won by that thorough statesman the Marquis of Hartington with Morion by Barcaldine out of Chaplet who won cleverly by three lengths beating 23 competitors, including the Prince of Wales'. The Imp, Prince Soltykoff's Lord George and the Nitrate King's Philomel. The Royal Hunt Cup was modelled by Mr. Clark and made by Hancocks. The "Cup" consists of a Cellini shaped ewer and rose water dish, illustrating different episodes in the life of Diana. The dish has five richly-chased medallions in high relief, and the centre bears the Imperial and Royal arms. On the front of the ewer is shown Actæon on horseback with his hounds, surprising Diana while bathing. On the reverse is Actæon transformed into a stag, being hunted by his own hounds. The handle is formed by a figure of Victory.

George Woodward, the well known owner of Alexander Button, 2:26¼, sire of Yolo Maid, 2:12¼, Tom Ryder, 2:20½, Belle Buttou, 2:29 and Rosa Mack, 2:20¾, had a bad accident last week, as he was exercising one of hia trottera on his track st home, he collided with another sulky driven by one of his men. Mr. Woodward was thrown from the sulky and was badly bruised on tbe aboulders and hip. His injuries are not tbought to be of a serions nature, but it will be some time before he will be able to reaume his business duties.

The new rule passed by tbe English Jockey Club at tbeir last meeting is that "At every meeting advertised in tbe Racing Calendar tbe added money shall be not less than 300 aovs per day, but whatever money is advertised to be added at the meeting, one-half of it at lsast sball be given to races of a mile and npwards." The resnlt of the new rule will probably be that two year old races will decrease in value and thus ownera will not be tempted to run their colts at an early age and therehy endanger their future prospects.

The Dixon Driving Park Association held a race meeting on the half mile track at Dixon on the Fourth. The running race purse $150, for all ages, one mile and repeat, bad three entries: Matt Storn's ch g Largbetta (3), Jils Johnson—Leveret 100; C. Holloway's cb g Forester (5', Joe Hooker—Mattie C, 115; A. Cook'a ch m Fabiola (4), Warwick—Maggie S. 108. Forester won in straight heats with Larghetta aecond in each heat, time 1:52 and 1:50. Tbe meeting wss highly successful all through and it is the intention of the management, Messrs. Tietjens and Watson, to hold racea later on in the fall.

An unfortunate accident occurred last week on the race track at San Luis Obispo. Two thoroughbreds were being worked wbile a yonng Altoona filly was jogging tbe reverse way; and wben they met the driver pullsd ont, but one of the boys also pulled out and the result was a smash up. tbe trotting filly and the tboroughbred stallion were both killed, the former's back and the latter's neck being broken. Tbe trotter was a three year old filly by Altoona, and was tbe property of E W. Steele, the President of the Agricultural Park Aasociation. The stallion was a royally bred six year old by imported Young Prince from Helpmate by Planet, grsnddam Full Cry (dam of Checkmate) by Vandal, great granddam Springbok by Lsxington. He was owned by Mr. Price, Arroyo Grande, who purchased him through Messrs. Saxe and Son two yesrs ago.

The Gentlemens Driving Aasociation of Oakland had a series of racea on the fonrtb. The 2:35 class mile heats 2 in 3 bad aix atartera. Thos. Rutberford's Sunset won the first and third beats in 2:43 and 2:41, R. B. Chisbolms' Blue Belle taking tbe second in 2:41. The 2:30 pacing had three entries, Oregon Boy took tbe firat and fourth heats in 2:37 and 2:36½, Dsn took the second and fifth heats in 2:35 and 2:33, Washington won the tbird heat in 2:35. O. Emlays Dan was awarded first prize, W. R. Birmingham's Oregon Boy second, H. C. Wslkers Washington tbird. Tbe 2:45 class was won in straight heats, time 2:45 2:48 by C. Babb's Pet with J. T. Jordan's Brooklyn Boy aecond in each heat. The 2:25 pace had four entries and wss readily accounted for by W. Coleman's Havsrly who won the first, second and fonrth heats in 2:29½, 2:31 and 2:32½, David Stoddards Gerster won the third heat in 2:33

Peter Johnston passed tbrough Chicago tbe other day on hia way to Springfield, Ill, wbere some of the trotters in tbe stable of S. A. Browne & Co. took part in the trotting meeting being held there this week. There are ten head from tbe Kalamszoo iarm that Johnston is looking after, and among the lot are several extra good ones, as Johnston expects to prove at the breedera meeting here in August. He also has in his atring the four year-old stallion Electwood by Electioneer, dam by Nutwood that is matched to trot in Cbicago, August 18th, against Scotsman, by Milo 2:21, and out of Alfretta 2:26½ by Mambrino Gift. Both colts are four years old, and the match between them was made last winter at a time when everyhody's colt was trotting fast around the stove. Johnston drove Elsctwood a quarter in thirty-six seconds last summer and looks for him to trot in 2:25 thia year.

Budd Boble told a good story on tbe only Splan. Splan had a friend given to plunging in the pool-box, and, as is often tbe case, the gentleman struck a track one day rather weak financially. He wanted to get sqnsre, and anxiously asked Splan to tell him how he could invsst what he had lsft on a safe ticket for his last dollar. "See here," said John, you back this horse I'm driving, and then go up in the stand and keep atill. It's a aure thing." Tbe backer did as he waa told, turned hia pockets inside ont at the box, and then went up and pretty nearly died of nsrvous exhauation before the seven-heat race was trotted ont, Splan just pulling it out of the fire in the last hsat hy a nose. The strain over, he relieved hia feelings to Splan; "See here, John, timea ain't like they nsed to be; wben I was a boy we wouldn't call that a snre thing for a fellow's last dollar."

The Farmers' Alliance is after Axtell says the Globe Democrat. It delegated one of its number to sppear befcre the County Board of Equalization and demand tbat the great stallion be assessed at $75,000. Mr. Ijams, part owner of Axtell, listed him at $100, as he did Jersey Wilkes, and thirty-eight fine brood mares. The township assessor reported Axtell at $75,000. Before the board the renresentative of the alliance declared that Axtell cost $105,000; that he could not now be bought from hia present owners for a lesa aum, and that he earned $40,000 this aeason, and is, therefore, a good inveatment. He insists that the law requires propsrty to be assessed acoording to the caah value, and says that $75,000 would be no higher assessment on Axtell, according to his vslue, than is paid by all the farmers of Vigo county on what they own. After several ballots tbe board assessed Axtell at $8,000 and Jersey Wilkea at $3,000.

Tbe four gold medala awarded by the Russian Government to Jay La Due of thia place, the breeder of the famoua Polly, who was the victor in the four racea for which the medals were offered, were received by Mr. La Due last Friday, and have aince been on exhibition in the Rock County bank window, tho object of much eager interest. Tbe medals are all of equal aize, about two and one balf inches in diameter, by about one fourth of an inch thick, and are worth in gold abont $400. Oue of them bears on one aide the figure of a horse, and the other tbree the Russian coat of arma. On the reverse aide are inscriptiona in Russian. The medals are very handaome, aud in view of what they represent it is not snrprising that Mr. La Due is proud of them. No such honor waa ever won before by a horse breeder in this country, and it would be interesting to kuow what snm of money aome ambitious horse breedera would give to be the posaessor of these medals.—Rock County, Minn. Heraid.

The rich Lorillard Staksa on Tuesday was conceded almost a certainty for Tournament, as Burlington did not sbow up in his usual atyle, going a little tenderly in the preliminary, Mr. W. L. Scott'a Torso by Algsrine out of imp Santa Lucia, however, upset the good tbing, for after running second into the stretch be closed up and beat Tonrnament by half a length after a hard finish.

Just before the aecond race tbe other day at Sbeepshead a quiet looking man approached a well known bookmaker and handed him a ten-dollar bill to place on Turmoil. Tbe penciller took the money and handed hia client tbe ticket, but immediately cut tbe odds down a couple of points.

"Ten dollara will aurely never make you wipe out?" he was asked.

"It dependa altogether who owns the $10," replied the bookmaker, thougbtfully. "Now that man, although ricb, is a small and csutious tettor, and whenever be puts down bis money it is a pretty good indication that the stable think tbey have a sure thing. You just wait a minnte and see if they don't pretty nearly back this thing off the boards." And, truly enough, in a few minntes a perfect avalanche of bills came pouring in, causing nearly every bookmaker in the ring to out down the odds several points.

"I always take into consideration," continned the penciller, "the people who bet the money. Some people might bet me the limit and I would not cut a point, wbere a few dollars from a man wbom I tbonght knew a good deal about what he was doing would cause me to drop a little. There are a good many things tbat have to be taken into consideration."

It is not to be wondered at that jockeys occasionally get what is technically known as a "big bead" and grow pompous and important, saya an exchange. Few jockeys can stand the tremendous temptations to which they are subjected. Most of them are more or less ignorant stable boys, who suddenly find that tbey are in command of earnings ranging between $10,000 and $20,000 a year, and wbo are courted, flattered and patronized in tbe most ahsurd manner by men of wealth and position. All sorts of racing and sporting men treat jockeys with flattering consideration, for the boys "sleep in tbe stalls with tbe horses," and know more ahont their running qualities than any outaider, no matter bow well informed he may be. Tbe jndgment of jockeys is not, as a rule, valuable in deciding upon tbe finish of a race, but their knowledge of the form of a race horse and tbe exact condition in wbich he may happen to be on tbe eve of tbe struggle is of great importance. Hence the champsgne, tipa and promises wbich are brougbt to bear on tbe boya. Most of tbem have to keep in rigid training, denying tbemselves all but tbe necessaries of life, so as to keep down to riding weight, and this haa a tendency to make tbem short tempered. It is not to be wondsred that jockeya occasionally fall by the wayside.

A singulsr case oame up for trial lsst week at Towsen, Ind. Bookmakers Lynn and Wall were indicted for violating tbe poolselling law, and after being ont all night the jury announced on the morning of June 28 that they were unable to agree, and were tberefore discbarged. Lynn and Wall came from Washington, and to evade tbe law passed by the last Legislature, wbich prohibita poolselling except on a race track and at a time racea are being run, obtained control of Arlington, a track near Pimlico, Md., and started a race businesa. They advertised pnrses regularly, and four daya in the week gave exhibitiona at the track. The racing was presumably for purses, but thia is denied by the State, which claims that the bookmakers simply established the track to evade the law, and wbile the horses were making the circuit, sold pools on races in Chicago, New York and elsewhere.

Many witnesses were examined, the trial lasting three days, and before the jury retired the State's Attorney asked Jndge Fowler to instruct tbe jury as to the law. To this the defence objected on the gronnd that a jury in a criminal case is a jndge of the law aa well as tbe facts. This objection was sustained, and to day the jury announced ita inability to agree. The case has attracted conaiderable attention, the court room at Towsen being well filled with the fraternity throngbout the trial.

An English exchange says: Probably there are few horsea running now about whom such a romantic halo aa that which invests our quondam favorite (The Baron) is woven, and thia on acconnt of tbe vicisaitudes of his dam, Tantrnm. The mare in question was a well bred one, being by Lord Lyon out of Vex (who, bye the bye, waa a sister to Galopin), but had she boasted no blood at all her career could not have bsen a more curious one. Her original owner, Mr. Sullivan, a wealthy Dublin brewer, having sold the mare, afterwards repented the fact, and made every effort to find her, but some time without aucceas, until his atud-groom Andrewa, saw her in tbe back yard of a small public houae, and managed to obtain her again for £25. After keeping her for some time and obtaiuing no foals of any great quality her owner thought he had made a mistake in giving even a "pony" for hia former cast off, and sent her in 1884 to the Curragh, where sbe waa sold with a foal at foot by Xenophen for £400. Tbe buyer resold the foal for £140, and tbe youngster in qneation waa The Baron, who was never beaten as a two year old, and started first favorite for tbe Derby, in wbich he finisbed second, and prior to which race the snm of £12,000 waa refused for him. Owing to aome difficulty arising as to the mare, Mr. Vigors, in whoae posseasion The Baron was, sent the dam to be put up for sale again, when she fell to the bid of Mr. Wariug, of Beenham Stud fame, but Mr. Vigors retained the foal.

Royal Ascot was as extensively and aristocratically patronized as in days of yore. The amount in stakea given away at tbe meeting was in round nnmbers £28,000, or nearly £2,000 above last year'a total, and for tbis sum, in all 212 horses did battle. The junior steward of the Jockey Club, Mr. J. H. Houldsworth, won tbe largest amount, the two successes of Alloway and Orvieto bringing him in £4029, whilst Lord Calthrope, wbo could not win a race twelve montbs ago, netted £3,725 by the victories of Battle-axe and Heresy, the defeat of Semolina by tbe last named being a naaty facer to backers. It is intereating to note tbe doinga of the favorites, for it is a pretty safe gnage as to bow backers generally have fared. In the 28 races run, 15 favoritea bave been snccessful, and of tbese seven were odds on chances; whilst of tbe 13 tbat were unsuccessful, odds were laid on two, and a tbird was an even money chance. Four outsiders and four second favoritea caugbt the judge's eye first, thus leaving tbe balance of five to tbose who started third in demand, so that on tbe wbole, bookmakers had as usual decidedly the best of the game.

The day Corrigan arrived here to capture our St. Lonis Derby, I bad the pleasure says tbe turf editor of tbe St. Louis Sporting News, of meeting Isaac Murpby, tbe great colored jockey or as tbey call him in the East the Black Archer.

The Black Archer whilst not a spendthrift, livss well. Hia chief deligbt ia Pommery Sec of which he consumes severs1 cases weekly, but he never geta beyond the limit. In the warm evenings be sits smoking cigarettes, sippin wine and chatting about the many races he has won and lost. At such time Murphy is a most enjoyable companion.

"Do yon find it hard work keeping down to riding weight?" Murphy was asked.

"Yea" he responded and that is the very hardest part of my life. "Why every morning I am out before breakfast time with three sweat jackets on me and doing my beat to keep down to weight. Tbe thing bas killed many a better rider tban me. What do I do to keep down to the rigbt figure. Why go hungry to bed, as often in the week as you bave fingera on your hand, nibble a little breakfsst, swallow nothing and go thirsty for houra at a time. When I am pulling off flesh I have to let water alone altogether. Tbere ia notbing that puts on flesh as fast as that. Stoval can ride at 103 pounds, wbile my lowest weight is 110. Tbe weight for age was increased two pounds last spring. Before tbat how I did snffer."

Murpby has jumped into prominence within the past six years. He ia now only twenty-eigbt yeara of age. Dnring the great Mollie McCarthy-Ten Broeck race at old Pimlico, Baltimore, in 1878, tbe writer well remembers Murphy as a small boy pseping over tbe fence and watching tbe great race.

Mr. B. C Kingsbury of Butte, who waa present at Washington Park to see hia colt Ben Kingsbury run in the Derby, said afterwards in an interview in the Inter Mountain:—"I have every reason to feel satisfied with the performance of my horse, and in fact I tbonght more of him after tbe race tban I did before. He was ontclassed in size by every horae in the race, and especially Uncle Boh and Santiago, who are hotb large horses. I never saw a horse more thoroughly fit than Ben was and he made a game race from start to finish, running all the way. His trainers were aurprised at the freshness with which he finisbed and said that he did not appear to be more distreased tban most borses would have been after making the rnn over a fast track. He clearly showed tbat be possssssd the pluck, endurance and speed of a great borse, and was only lacking in size. He may not he a first-class horse, but it takes a first-clasa horse to beat bim. The horse raisers of Montana must take to breeding larger horses if they would win first money. Spokane is an exception to the general rule in that regard, and provea the point I would make that other things being eqnal the larger borse will win, and tbat they have a lesson to learn in tbis particular. The same horsea will meet again in the contest for the Sheridan atake July 4th. Shonld the track prove to be fast on that day the conditiona will be entirely chauged and a different resnlt may be expected. (Santiago won the Sheridan easily, Uncle Bob second, Ben Kingsbury third.—Ed. T. T.) In my opinion Uncle Bob would not have won the Derby had the track been fast, and he will not win tbe Sheridan nnder the same condition. The teat of a beavy track was not a good one for Ben, but I will bave a better cbance to jndge bim after tbe next meeting.

After finishing in Chicago he will go east, where he is entered for five of tbe most important three-year-old events of the aeason. At Morris Park he is entered for the Hickory, the Protectory and tbe Pelham Bay handicap, and at Monmouth Park be ia entered for the Choice stakes and tbe Jersey handicap"

The Fourth of July at San Diego was the selected day for onsning tbe Coronado Beach race track. The attendance was very large; F. B. Baldwin and H. C. Airhart supsrintended the race programme, which was gone through without any hitch. The judgea were J. D. Spreokels, C. W. Smith and D. Woodmansee. The first raoe was for three-minnte trotters, three turned out: Myrtle, b m, by Stranger, dam by Wapsie; entered by Col. A. E Cochran. Hattie Welling, ch m by Ravenwood, dam Hattie Welling; entered by M. A. Dontbett. Ben Harrison, br g, breeding unknown; entered by Wyatt Earp. Wyatt Earp's gelding Ben Harrison won in straigbt heats, time 2:49¼, 2:48, 2:45. Eigbt horsea faced the starter in tbe half-mile and repeat: Emilita, g m, 4, by Shiloh, dam by Herculss; entered by Ed Burns. Grey Pete, g g, 4, by Shiloh, dam by Hercules; entered by Frank Treanor. Comet, ch h, aged, by Hock-Hocking, dam Tomasita; entered by Frank Alvarado. Mike Julian, g g, 5, by Shiloh, dam by ——; entered by Thomaa J Daley. Fred W., b g, 3, by Bohock, dam by ——; entered by Steve Stroud. Danger, b g, 4, by Comet, dam by ——; entered by Thomas Alvarado. John Treat, g g, aged, hy Shiloh, dam by Norfolk; entered by Mrs. Clongb. Triumph, g g, aged, by Reveille, dam by Brownie; entered by Mrs. Ben P. Hill. Steve Stroud's entry, Fred W., ran away at the first false start, and jumpiug the fence ataked bimself, and did not interfere in the race afterwards, being withdrawn; when the flag fell, Mike Julian and Triumph were left at the post; Gray Pete was in front all the way, beating Comet by half a leugth; time 0:50½. In the aecond heat, Comet, John Treat and Gray Pete were the only three in the hunt, Comet winning the heat a little cleverly by half a length from Gray Pete; time 0:50¼. The final was easily won by F. Alvarado's ch h Comet, Gray Pete gettiug secoud money; time 0:50½. The 2.40 trot waa a gift for C. J. Cout'a hay geldiug Scott, Malcom—Mary Morgan, who won in straigbt heata witb Jas. Brophy'a br m Taps, Duke of Brunswick—Nicoli, second in each heat, and Dr. Burke'a ch m Zadie McGregor third; time 2:41¾, 2:40½, 2:39¼. The condition of the track proper and the general anrrouudinga were favorably commented on by all tbe speotators, and it ia the general opiniou tbat in a very short time it will be the favored track on the coast for winter work.

THE GUN.

Peter's Medal Tournament.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—The fifth Shooting Tournament for the Peter's Medal emblematic of the Championship of the State of California came off in San Diego on July 4th at the club grounds. As will be seen by the appended scores, Martinez Chick was the winner of the medal shoot, and this being the fourth time he has won it, the medal becomes his personal property. Mr. F. P. Morgan, jeweler of this place, also donated an elegant gold medal, his own manufacture, to the shooter making the best average score for the day. This was also won by Mr Chick, together with first money in all the races but the 7th, Dr. Taber of Colton winning that, he making the fine run of 12 straight. The day was exceptionally fine, albeit a little warm, and the boys commenced work about 8:30 A. M., quitting about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The shooting all around was very poor at Blue Rocks, but on live birds the boys got in and knocked them all around. It was unfortunate that we could not procure more pigeons as the boys expected to have about 500 on hand, but were disappointed at the last moment. Quite a number of sportsmen and visitors came down from Colton, Riverside and Los Angeles, Pasadena being represented very ably by Mr. Woodbury, who, although the oldest man on the grounds, made some of the younger shooters hunt their holes in great shape. It was a very enjoyable meet, and all the "boys" enjoyed themselves very much. Mr. Chick may well feel proud of his records and may probably be challenged to shoot a race for $200 aside—shot gun against rifle at $100 birds—as one of our crack rifle shots is skirmishing around this morning quite lively, he having bantered Chick to shoot the race, with a quick acceptance on the part of the latter. We are looking for the forfeit to be put up this afternoon. I am glad to say that the quail are being protected more this year, in this vicinity, than ever before, although we have had numerous fires back of town which must have destroyed great numbers of small birds, and the boys are correspondently jubilent over the prospect of good shooting after September 1st. Our bags of doves have not been as large this season as formerly as for some reason the doves are very scarce. Mr. Chick celebrated the opening of the deer season by bringing in two fine bucks on July 2d, killed within five miles of town. Some seven or eight have been brought in during the past week. TRIX.

Tne Cleveland Target Co.

CLEVELAND, O., June 14, 1890.

GENTLEMEN: The Peoria Target Co. began two suits against this Company; one claiming a patent on the Material out of which Targets are made, the other the use on Traps of a Pivoted Carrier.

The first suit was decided in our favor, and we control the only valid patent covering the use of such material.

In the other case it was decided that their patent on a Pivoted Carrier was valid. This we deem an erroneous decision, as we own the Marqua Patent, the first which in terms refers to a Pivoted Carrier as a new invention, and we shall at once seek a re-hearing, and avail ourselves of all further remedies.

In this case the Court decreed that a Master be appointed to assess damages on traps heretofore made by us that infringe, covering those now in use made since Jan'y 1, 1888. The assessment and settlement of those damages, we are advised, leaves the owners of Traps free to use them. Whatever damages are ultimately decreed, we shall pay.

Meanwhile we have under construction a new style of trap entirely effective which we are advised, does not conflict with the above decision, and shall very shortly be able to furnish them.

We ask that you inform the consumers of Targets whom you supply of the purport of this letter. We shall be glad to receive your further orders for Blue-Rock Pigeons, assuring you that our business policy of reasonable prices, and the protection to dealers in a fair profit on our goods, will be rigidly adhered to. Yours truly,

THE CLEVELAND TARGET CO.

To Clabrough, Golcher & Co., Agents, 630-632 Montgomery St., San Francisco, Cal.

Mr. E. T. Allen, at 416 Market street, city, sole agent for the Pacific Coast, advertises elsewhere the Peoria Blackbird, an excellent target which is fast attaining popularity.

As usual the smartness and enterprise of the Bakersfield men is meeting its reward. A Gun Club was recently organized in that charming little City and now the adjacent towns have each its organization of good shots and keen sportsmen and now inter-town matches are all the talk. The latest candidate for a beating at the hands of the Bakersfield Club being the Tehachipa organization.

Mr. Will. S. Kittle, Payne J. Shafter, and Juan Garcia hunted over the Howard ranch, at Point Reyes on July 6th, with the best of luck, procuring three fine bucks, much to the gratification of Mr. Kittle, who is a connoisseur par excellence in venison. Mr. Kittle removed the livers from the deer and while yet warm had them larded, pricked with truffles, dashed with a little lime juice and Tabasco sauce and baked in a hot oven. There is nothing more to guess.

Messrs. Ed Leebner, Frank Adams, John Degan and Ben. Leet returned on Friday last to Bakersfield after a week in Kern canyon. They were all gaunt, sunburned and savagely hungry although claiming to have had deer in camp all the time. The "jerky" which they brought back was recognized by Henry Borgwardt as being a part of the remains of one of his favorite graded Galloway yearling calves which had been turned out on the range to grow. If Mr. W. E. Houghton and Richard Seymour had been with the party abundance would have been assured.

Los Guilicos is without Jim Shaw for the present, that doughty warrior, having tightened the hailing rope which has served him for a girdle for so long, invested in a pair of brogans, taken his rifle and a few crackers and gone into Washington in pursuit of elk, mountain sheep and the other large game of that virgin land. Jim Shaw is a second Joe Bassford, only more so, if possible. He is always willing to let a thousand acre field of grain that is about ready to be cut get a little riper if anybody comes along with a hunting proposition. As a matter of fact, he ought now to be chopping wood at Los Guilicos, fitting his thirteen or fourteen children out for the coming winter instead of wandering around through the canyons of the Cascades like a Piute. He has promised his friends meat enough to keep him hunting for the next twelve years, so that nobody need write him for a long time to come.

The Placerville Republican indignantly denies that the Supervisors of El Dorado county have passed an ordinance to protect the deer of that county. If so, then the Supervisors have been given undue credit for an act that would have stamped them as men wide awake and of progressive ideas.

If El Dorado does not do something to protect her wild game from extermination by bide hunters and hoodlum shooters the day will come when her people will be wishing they had done so. Last year many summer tourists who left considerable money in that county returned disgusted with their luck, saying that the hide hunting vandals—aided by a class of campers from the valleys who kill everything in sight—had about exterminated the deer. If these are the kind of reports that the El Dorado press and people like to have spread abroad they should not be disappointed if the better class of sportsmen are driven to other mountain localities in search of sport.

The Supreme court of Illinois in a recent decision affirms the constitutionality of the game laws of Illinois, and affirms the judgment of the lower court. The law was passed by the last session of the legislature, and the new feature was the absolute prohibition of the selling of game, as well as its transportation for sale. Last fall the American express company received and delivered quail to a Chicago commission house. The company was fined $200 in the county court for the violation, and to test the law the case was taken to the Supreme court, which has just handed down a paternal decision affirming the judgment of the county court. Counsel for the company raised two principal points—the unconstitutionality of the law and its violation of the rights of property, holding that the game when killed became private property, and the game law violated that right by destroying the property without due process of law.

A gentleman who spends several weeks every summer in the Sierra Nevada range, writes that late in the season large bands of Pinte Indians leave their reservation and cross the boundary line into California, where they slaughter deer by the wholesale for their hides.

He says the mountaineers assure him that they have seen a band of these sagebrush pirates surround a thicket of timber and brush and then set fire to it, causing the deer to come out in droves, when they are shot down and skinned, their carcasses generally being left to rot on the ground.

It is a well known fact that a few white men employ these redskins to hunt the deer for their hides, paying them generally in rifles and ammunition. It would be well, in view of this fact, if our Congressmen would request the Interior Department to see that the Indian Agents in Nevada keep their wards on the reservations, or at least not permit them to cross the State line to slay game on the California side. As many as four hundred Indians have been known to cross the summit at one time, after the snow had fallen, and fairly slaughter the helpless deer in the snow drifts.

In shooting circles San Francisco is quite a deserted village, so many have gone abroad for their vacations among the deer, doves and trout of the mountain ranges along the coast or to those fastnesses in the high Sierras. On Wednesday last a party left town which combined about all the element necessary for an enjoyable stay in the mountains, Col. Sam E. Beaver headed the procession, armed with a 50--110 Express Winchester and loaded down with revolvers of all sorts, sizes and patterns. His first Lieutenant was Mr. William Schreiber, far famed among riflemen, but as harmless among deer as a blind man. The Corporal was Sergeant Charles Nash, another brilliant performer at the target. Mr. P. D. Linville, perhaps the best all round shot in the State, was with the party as cook, his reduced circumstances compelling him, like Pooh Bah, to dine with second-class families for a consideration. The general dish washer and utility man was Wm Dormer, a brilliant performer with the dish rag and a man who can sit around the camp fire in the evening and kill deer enough to supply a foundling asylum in a few minutes if nobody interrupts him. The party is fitted out to remain some ten days, having two loaves of bread and twelve gallons of other things. Under the direction of their leader, Col. Beaver, they had been tanning their faces for days past so that mosquitos and gnats will get left. They go to Cloverdale and then by wagon some ten miles toward the coast through a wild, romantic and dangerous section, where Portugese dairy ranchers can be found by dozens, and fresh eggs, butter, milk, pie and the other usual concommitants of the genuine sportsman are to be had in abundance. It might as well be said now as to wait until they say it on their return that each member of the party killed whole bags full of deer every day; that is always the way with these parties of real deer hunters.

The Country Club of which mention has been made from time to time in these columns has at last completed its scheme for securing a suitable shooting and fishing preserve for its members. The Club is an outcropping of the Pacific Union Club of this city, its membership being confined to the members of the latter entirely. The Shafter Ranch in Marin Co. has been leased by the club for five years with the privilege of renewal. There are nearly sixty thousand acres in the tract which includes the whole of Point Reyes. The surface of the tract is most diversified, timber, chapparal, chemisal and other covering is plenty affording concealment and browsing for deer and excellent cover and breeding ground for quail, pheasant and grouse. Other portions are beautiful mesas or warm little sheltered valleys where birds delight to feed and use and where the grandest of shooting can be had. The sea forms the line on one side of the preserve for many miles affording the best of fishing and at places fine bathing. There are two brooks upon the ranch which with a little clearing and attention in the way of stocking can be made to afford excellent trout fishing. Seven or eight lagoons or lakes exist in all of which the water is pure and sweet, coming from springs. Just the places for trout and bass. It is the intention to stock the property heavily with deer and game birds and game fish. A suitable club house will be erected and at intervals along the line of the preserve keepers' lodges will be built so that an efficient patrol system may be maintained. There is but one drawback to the place as a preserve which is that fishing streams of adequate volume do not exist upon it; however taken all in all, there are few tracts so well suited to the use of the Country Club as that selected and it is probable that within a few years a resort will have been established rivalling in every respect Tuxedo Park, and other like magnificent sportsmen's resorts. The members of the club are John M. Adams, John De Witt Allen, Harry Babcock, William B. Bourn, James W. Bryne, George Crocker, Thomas Ewing, Daniel B. Gillette Jr., Joseph D. Grant, Robert R. Grayson, Louis T. Haggin, Henry E Hall, Alexander Hamilton, J. Downey Harvey, Horace L. Hill, William E Holloway, William H Howard, Charles Josselyn, Daniel T. Murphy, Walter S. Newhall, Edgar F. ROD.

A Sacramento gentleman, whose statements can be relied upon, writes as follows from Donner Lake. The matter to which he refers should receive the immediate attention of the State Fish Commissioners. He says:

Please call the attention of the Fish Commissioners to the fact that a Reno water company has placed a dam in Donner Creek, at the foot of Donner Lake, which entirely prevents trout from going up or down the stream. A fish ladder has been constructed which is a disgrace to any country. The gate is constantly closed. The amount of water going down the ladder suffices to let the fish get up to riffles, or pools, or whatever they are called, and there they remain by the thousands, and boys and men go in and scoop them out with their hats and hands, as I saw them do to-day.

Wherever there is a little water escaping, there are found millions of trout, of all sizes, jumping up and trying to get over into the lake, only to fall back again.

Donner Lake which afforded excellent fishing two weeks ago, seems to be void of fish of any size, the larger having all gone down stream or up to the dam.

I made a vigorous kick over this state of things, and the man in charge raised the gate, when the water came out with such force under the gate (having several feet of head) that no trout could possibly get up into the lake. I watched for fully an hour to-day, and in not one instance did I see a trout, large or small, meet with success in the ascent.

After getting through the rifles they would meet a force of water nearly as if it came out of a monitor, and would be kept backward.

I send you these facts, hoping they will reach Commissioner Routier. I have no desire to figure as a complainant, but my name is at your disposal, as you wish. It is an outrage pure and simple.

At the Fish Commission meeting on Tuesday last Mr. Tunstead presented only informal charges against fellow deputies. He was required to make them under oath and they will be considered at a meeting to be announced.

THE KENNEL.

Dog owners are requested to send for publication the earliest possible notices of whelps, sales, names claimed, presentations and deaths, in their kennels, in all instances writing plainly names of sire and dam and of grandparents, colors, dates and breed.

The club met on Wednesday last at 436 Montgomery street. The Bench Show Committee reported that it was not advisable to hold a dog show in the coming fall; and the club resolved to give a show in April, 1891. Mr. Max Wenzel of Hoboken. N. J., accepted the position of delegate to the A. K. C.

Henry L. Borgwardt.

That grand sportsman and most esteemed friend Mr. Henry L. Borgwardt, came up from Bakersfield on Wednesday last looking the picture of health and leonine courage. He had a world of pleasant words about his fellow.men in Bakersfield and throughout Kern County or Paradise, the terms being synonymous. Borgwardts are too few in this world for its own best welfare.

Twenty-Five Years of Field Trials.

Twenty-five years ago in April last Field Trials for pointers and setters were inaugurated at Southill in Bedfordshire, England, and have flourished ever since, growing in strength and popularity and extending not only over America but also through France and Germany and other portions of the continent. For some six or seven years England monopolized the sport, then it was taken up by Americans, and it may fairly be said that it has been refined upon and developed in this country to a degree much higher than that attained in the land where it originated. In the earlier years conditions in England were much more favorable to the maintenance of game birds in plenty than at present. Farming was not so vigorously pushed then as now, stubbles were not cut so close nor was such care taken to utilize all possible angles, hedge corners, fence strips and other places where grass might grow and weeds form covers for partridges. Notwithstanding however the lessened advantages for the maintenance of game and the growing legal complications relative to the use of suitable grounds upon which to run Field Trials they have lived and multiplied as is pleasantly proved by a writer whose evident familiarity with the sport and knowledge of the men who have sustained it in England entitles his words to general circulation when he says:

"They do not recommend themselves to the public generally, finding their support solely in those who thoroughly understand the working of dogs in front of a gun; and so no extraneous or outside influences, introduced for base motives by irresponsible parties, are possible. There is nothing to be considered by the owners running dogs excepting their success, the honor to be gained, and the comparatively small emolument to be pocketed. The latter cannot be increased by betting either the one way or the other; the dog always runs to win, and if it is not successful in so doing, no one can ever ask the question as to whether "the kennel money" was on. Each animal runs by its own merits; the judges have no favoritism—or, at any rate, ought not to have; and if at times exception may be taken to a decision, in nine cases out of ten this is more a matter of opinion between one man and another than anything else. As though to show the thorough goodness of this sport, and the hold it bears on those who have followed it, there are still putting in an appearance, by proxy or otherwise, at the annual meetings many of those who were present at some of the earlier. We venture to say that no other branch of sport, taking the comparative paucity of its followers, can show so many persons who have remained steadfast thereto for over twenty years. Racing, angling, cricket; chasing, rowing, billiards all may be running concurrently, but the supporter of Field Trials sticks to his early love, and finds enjoyment in walking the seeds or fallows behind a brace of highly trained pointers and setters.

Even the stern and bigoted humanitarian who objects to all sport could find no harm in these meetings. He sees the country at its best, in its springing greenness; the hedgerows, the trees fresh in their bloom; the banks studded with primroses, the coppices with hyacinths, the water meadows with golden marsh marigolds. The earliest cuckoo is heard, and may be a nightingale from some thick underwood sings in harmony with the thrush and the lark overhead. The fatal gun is not used to send destruction upon the pairing birds—the latter found by the dogs are put upon the wing to fly away unharmed by the intruders on their domains. Of healthy sports, gatherings like these are the most healthy, and the few spectators on foot who follow the dogs do no harm to the land and crops, and are even looked upon with pleasure by the farmers whose land they roam over.

Apart from such advantages as these, the dogs themselves are improved thereby. The show bench promotes a handsome dog that may be a fool; the field trial supports brain and intelligence, very often beauty too. It has been said that a good horse can never be a bad colour, and the proverb is equally applicable to the dog. Still, there appears to be an endeavour upon all sides to have our Field Trial dogs as good in looks (in color) as in work, this being found most notable in the pointers. Some of the bench dogs are well fitted to take their part in any day's shooting, and it is gratifying to note that the Pointer Club—which, so far as the general public understood, was formed for show purposes alone—has done much good by the Field Trials they established. As a fact, their three meetings have proved wonderfully successful in every way, and must form a lesson and a reproof to other clubs less successful, the results of which are found in a clique that refuses to give prizes to any but their own members. Such clubs are formed not for the improvement of dogs generally, but for the improvement of the dogs belonging to their members. English setters do not appear to have been so well taken in hand, and less seldom do we see a good looking dog of this variety winning in the field. This is because those who exhibit do not, as a rule, work their dogs, and the fault lies not with the animals themselves, but is owing to their lack of opportunity. Still, the best English setter puppies of this year were, on at least one side of their pedigree, of our best so called, show blood; and the latter only requires properly taking in hand to equal, if not outclass, the field trial blood proper. Irish setters are more favored than their English cousins, having a club which looks after both sport and show, and the variety has made headway accordingly. All regretted the poor display this handsome animal made at our recent trials, especially following the fine work we saw at Omagh in the autumn of last year. There is good in them, and the most stylish dog on point seen this spring was undoubtedly the Milesian red dog Dartrey, and in other respects he can well hold his own in any class. The black and tan or Gordon setters are vanishing—disappearing fast—at any rate in England, and only one of this strain has run at any trials for some half dozen years. They are useful dogs in their way, but there scarcely appears to be room for them.

These latter remarks arise in a measure from an intention there appears to be in some quarters to promote an English setter club. From much we have seen we were never in favor of ordinary dog clubs. Still, could one be founded on similar lines to that of pointers, in which the beauty of the animal is considered of secondary importance to his sense and capacity for work, advantage to the setter would accrue. Its founders would have to sink the show and their own emolument for the good of the dog in other respects; and the hint thrown out at the meeting of the Pointer Club—that the English setter might be left in their hands—was by no means so foolish a suggestion as some people thought. There are members of the Pointer Club who own and run setters, and they, with a little assistance, would find themselves quite able to bring the thing forward, to the improvement and advantage of our best two varieties of the sporting dog.

That the spring trials of 1890 have been thoroughly successful goes without saying. For the first time on record all were held under the same system of judging—that of selection, the judges, after the first round being run, choosing those dogs they believed had performed creditably in the stake. Given perfect judges, this mode of procedure cannot make a mistake, for the four best dogs must ultimately take the four prizes. In the ordinary these four best animals might be drawn together in two heats in the first round, with the result that two of them are beaten, and so possibly inferior dogs may run third and fourth in the stake. Under this "spotting" system great care must be used, and every point, good or bad taken into account by the judges, whose knowledge of their duties must be without flaw. It is not sufficient that they be "shooting men," they must have an intimate knowledge of the dog, know his face, his style, his eye, his character. A man may be a good shot and not know a dog in his work, in the same way that we so often find gamekeepers, and even dog trainers, whose knowledge of the habits of birds is of the most infinitesimal description. From the results this year, and from our own opinion, we believe three judges to be best for the purpose. They can observe the dogs better than two (one is out of question, for he cannot pretend to see two dogs working maybe at different sides of the field), and in laying their heads together in decision, the advantage of a third or referee is apparent.

Mr. F. Deleau at 1211 Powell street, City advertises a thoroughbred greyhound pup out of prize-winning parents for sale. The dog is eighteen months old and said to be a good looker. The opportunity is a favorable one to secure a dog for the great Merced meeting in November.

"V. S." who recently advertised pointer puppies for sale in this paper informs us that because of changes in business relations he is compelled to give up his dogs and that he will part with his bitch and the litter for a very small sum. A good chance to get some good pointers at nominal cost.

Judge C. N. Post of Sacramento spent Monday and Tuesday last in this City, the guest of Mr. P. D. Linville. The Judge claims to be wasting away and his appearance bears him out a little in the belief. He only weighs 215½ at present instead of three-quarters as he did six or eight months ago. His appetite is fair however.

Mr. Thomas Higgs offers through the advertising columns some English Setter puppies by his Rover H. out of Countess Jeannette. Rover H. won first at the last Pacific Kennel Club Show under Mr. Wm. Graham, who thought him an unusually good dog. The puppies may be seen at No. 1 Codman Place in this City.

In another column Mr. E. Cawston of Norwalk, Los Angeles Co. advertises for sale two Gordon Setter dog puppies by Santa Anna out of Lady Lufton. Santa Anna took third at the Los Angeles show in May last, while Lady Lufton has taken first and specials at both of the Southern California Kennel Club shows. No better Gordon breeding can be had in the State, the dam particularly being a fine creature.

The Setter men who attended the last show given by the Kennel Club and who remember the exquisitely beautiful English Setter bitch Florine which won first in her class and a lot of specials will be pleased to learn that after having been given up for lost for several months, the bitch has been found. The place of her concealment and the manner of her detection in the hands of her present owner cannot be presented at thistime but it can be stated that she has been well cared for and is in every respect as hearty and handsome as when stolen from Mr. Linville.

Still another litter demonstrates the excellence of Mr. W. S. Kittle's Luke (Carl R—Bessie) as a sire. Bred to Mr. C. W. Wilson's Jennie W. (Nealon's Dick—Belle) he has produced some of the best general average puppies we have ever seen. Mr. Wilson kindly showed us a dog puppy of the litter on Monday last and it is really not an overstatement to write that a more promising head, better middle, flatter coat and more compact feet are rarely seen. The puppy was not nicely marked, one half of the head being splotched with black and the other half white, however, a good dog is always of good color. Of the litter Mr. E. L. Bosqui has one, Mr. James Sanderson another, Mr. Bine another and Mr. Wilson reserves the remainder for his own use except one for which he desires to find a good owner and home.

Mr. J. S. Dunham of Stockton, owner of several fine English setters and Director of the Pacific Coast Field Trials Club, spent Tuesday and Wednesday in San Francisco. He reports the Stockton contingent Cross, Haas, Merrill, Frank E. Lane and all the other princes of the blood as being well and sanguine. Their latest fad is a naphtha launch, which they are trying to train to run over the salt grass and tules. When those mariners turn out on Stockton slough in the dark of the moon with that naphtha launch, even the cat fish go ashore in terror. Every owner in the launch is a captain, although Mr. Lane, by reason of an extraordinary facility in the use of the language in vogue among the deep sea sailors, generally reduces his fellow captains to a passive state early in the voyage, and then runs things to suit himself. The thing will blow up some day soon, and we will have a nice time fishing around the scene of the explosion which will be so thoroughly ground—baited by piece of the adventurous seamen.

There was a large attendance at Tattersall's Bazaar in Melbourne, recently, when one of the most famous greyhound litters in Australia, consisting of Flageolet, Faugh-a-Ballagh, Friar's Balsam and Folly, were offered for sale. The seperate performances of these dogs are so well known that it is scarcely necessary to specify them. They belong to Mr. John O'Halloran, of Goulburn (N. S. W.) Mr. O'Halloran does not want to part with his pets, however, except at a high figure, and though some plucky bids were made by would-be owners, no deal was made. The first submitted was the fawn and white bitch Flagolet, by Tom O'Shanter—dam, Kathleen II. The first offer was 100 guineas, and the price mounted slowly to 275 guineas, at which the bitch was passed in, the reserve being given as 300 guineas. There was a mild sensation as the fawn and white dog Faugh-a-Ballagh, winner of the big Moonee Valley Cup, was led into the ring. The first bid was 300 guineas, and when 400 guineas was reached there was a pause. This was generally considered by those present an excellent offer, but the owner would not part at this price, and Faugh-a-Ballagh was passed in. Friar's balsam was next submitted. The highest bid was 150 guineas, but it was not accepted, the reserve being announced as 200 guineas. The fourth of the famous litter, the white and fawn bitch Folly, was next offered. No better success attended the submitting of this bitch, 125 guineas being offered and refused. The same figure was refused for Fontenoy, a full brother to the four first offered. Flaneur, by Tam o'Shanter—Iolanthe, was passed in at 45 guineas, and no offers were made for Favorite and Fanoy, sisters of Flandur. Two puppies by Rent Charge from Mayflower, were also submitted on behalf of Mr. O'Halloran, but no sale was affected. Less renowned greyhounds on behalf of other owners were offered, Rufford by Rent Charge—Red Hind, was knocked down to Mr. W. Maher for 190 guineas, but it was understood that the dog was bought in for the owner, Mr. Kelly. Rhodanthe II., fawn and white bitch, by Bridegroom from White Flag, was sold to Mr. Sam Allen for 19 guineas. Zampa, white and fawn dog by Harsington—Treasure Trove, was knocked down to Mr. G. Langley for 12 guineas. Lava, red and white bitch by Livingstone out of Parade, was purchased by Mr. S. Allen for 19 guineas.

SAN FRANCISCO vs. OAKLAND.

THURSDAY, JULY 3RD, AT HAIGHT STREET.

Cobb was batted out of the box in the third inning, and although Meegan who succeeded him kept the seven hits made of him in the following six innings well scattered, the Friscos had gained too great an advantage to be overtaken, and won easily. The score:

SANFRANCISCO vs OAKLAND.

FRIDAY, JULY 4TH, AT HAIGHT STREET.

The Oaklands took this game, which was a great batting one, with much more ease than the morning one. Both Lookabaugh and Cobb were hit very freely, but Frisco's errors were disastrous, generally occurring at critical moments. Stickney's home run was the principal feature. The score:

STOCKTON vs. SACRAMENTO.

FRIDAY, JULY 4TH, AT STOCKTON.

The Gas City aggregation won this game from the Senators by superior hitting, all four of their runs being earned. Perrott pitched a wonderful game and was well supported. The Senators had Reitz in the box and with the exception of the fifth inning he did well. His support was almost perfect. The score:

SACRAMENTO vs. STOCKTON.

FRIDAY, JULY 4TH, AT SACRAMENTO.

The Senators evened up matters with the Stocktons in the afternoon game, winning the game by timely hitting. The Stocktons narrowly escaped a shut out. Both teams fielded elegantly, Reitz, Bowman, Daly, Fudger and Fogarty doing perfect work on difficult chances. Hoffman's work in the box was superb. The score:

SACRAMENTO vs. OAKLAND.

SATURDAY JULY 5TH AT HAIGHT ST.

The Senators bit Young Carsey at will for the first four innings, making ten hits off him and piling up twelve runs. Meegan was then subatituted and held the visitors down to four acattered hits. For Sacramento Harper was effective and well supported. The fielding and hitting of the Oaklands with few exceptions, was weak. The score:

STOCKTON vs. SAN FRANCISCO.

SATURDAY JULY 5TH, AT STOCKTON.

Frisco's victory which occurred in the eleventh inning, was principally due to Hapeman's wildness. It was a most exciting contest and abounded in many brilliant plays. The bitting was generally light. Duane made bis first appearance with Stockton and showed himself a good backstop thrower and hitter. The score:

SACRAMENTO vs. OAKLAND.

SUNDAY, JULY 6TH AT HAIGHT STREET.

A large crowd witnessed this contest, and although the Colonels scored the greater number of hits, the Senators were fortunate in getting theirs when men were on bases. Hoffman was hit very hard but the Sacramentos put up a great fielding game behind him and often prevented their opponents from scoring, after they got two and three men on bases by safe hitting. The fielding of the Oaklands was very ragged. The score:

STOCKTONS vs. SAN FRANCISCO.

SUNDAY, JULY 6TH, AT STOCKTON.

Umpire Conghlan virtually robbed the Stocktons of this game and barely escaped being mobbed. His decisions were the yellowest ever given on a California diamond and in most instances were against the Stockton team. The Gas City boys had a great lead but Coughlan's decision in the eighth inning allowed Levy to score and this run gave the Friscos the game. The score:

SAN FRANCISCOS vs. OAKLANDS.

THURSDAY, JULY 10TH, AT HAIGHT ST.

The Goblins made a wretched showing against the Colonels in this game; and for a long time it looked as thongh they would be shut out. Their fielding was clever enough, in fact it was greatly superior to that of the Colonels, hut for seven long innings they conld scarcely touch Cobb at all. When they did get men on bases, the succeeding batsmen left them there, for little infield hits which were easy chances for the Colonels seemed to be their best efforts. The Colonels had the "Benedict" in the box, and his work was artistic. To show how effective he was, not a hit was secured off him for the first five innings. In the sixth and seventh, hut one each was secured, and then when he had the game well in hand he let up somewhat, and the Friscos banged out two in each the eighth and ninth, but they availed little, for the Oaklands had obtained such a lead that it was impossible to overtake them. The fielding was streaked. N. O'Neill's exhibition in the eighth inning would have disgraced a school boy. Dungan's very heavy hitting, McDonald's and Shea's base work, and Cobb's pitching were the only redeeming features of this very tiresome contest. Shortly after the game, manager Finn released both Sweeney and Buchan. The score:

THE STANDING OF THE CLUBS.

Stapleton's Senators have been playing ball and have increased their lead, while Finn's Friscos are taking a toboggan slide. The Colonels also are pulling up a hit, and Shelly's Stocktons although slightly below the four hundred mark, have been doing such excellent work that another month may place them close to the leaders.

Professional Pick-Ups.

Still winners—the Senators.

Fogarty's men are creeping up.

Dave Levy has caught in sixteen consecutive games for the Portlands.

Borchers is himself again and is doing great work in the box for Portland.

"Silver" King is doing wonderful work in the box for the Chicago Brotherhood.

Glasscock now leads the New York League team in batting. Tiernan is second.

When Norris O'Neill makes errors they are of the yellowest possible description.

The "Reitz touch" is now considered the most approved style of tagging a base runner.

Ebright's body is said to be a mass of black and blue bruises from being hit by the ball so often.

The Stocktons have been doing a lot of winning lately and must be considered as very much in the pennant race.

Crosby and Morgan, the old Pioneer battery are side partners again, travelling for an Eastern manufacturing firm.

Of sixteen second basemen in the Atlantic Association, Hughey Smith ranked fifteenth. No wonder Hartford let him go.

Connie Doyle, formerly third baseman of the San Franciscos, now ranks second in that position in the Atlantic Association.

Zeiglar is now with the Wheeling team of the Tri-State League. It looks like a case of "from post to pillar" with the ex-manager.

Oh my, how Tom Powers has been lacing the ball out for Baltimore in the last few games. Three and four hits a game seem to be "just his size".

Reports from Portland say that Billy Cooney has been hitting well, but has fallen off very much in throwing. Dave Levy is still a big favorite up there.

Lookabangh is not a phenomenal pitcher in this climate. It is said that where it is intensely warm, Look can pitch great ball but as yet he has not shown much ability as a twirler on the home grounds.

Mike Kelly has his weather eye on that $10,000 present his Boston friends are going to give him. He seems to be very much afraid that the last three ciphers will slip off before he gets the prize.—Critic.

It was a pleasure to see the "old horse" Perrier in harness on the Fourth. Hyp played in his old Pioneer style, and proved himself a great favorite with the audiences. Why don't some of the managers give him a chance again?

Billy Sunday is making great progress in the right direction. When the baseball business ceases to be remunerative, it is his intention to become a minister, so he is keeping in trim by delivering lectures to the baseball players.—Ex

Pete Sweeney was not released many hours before the wires were hot from different managers asking his terms. After considering them all, Pete decided to sign with the St. Paul team, of which he will undoubtedly be made captain.

Reports from Melbourne say that since the Spalding party visited the Colonies baseball has taken a firm hold, and is now in a flourishing condition. In Melbourne they have thirteen clubs, all playing good ball and attracting large audiences.

The Colonel intends releasing a few more of his players and several new men are promised. The Colonel had better be sure that his new men will be an improvement on the old before making any changes, as he has had experience in this line before.

The Friscos need a bracing up or they wont be "in it" at all when the season closes. They are particularly weak in the pitching department, and unless a couple of good twirlers are immediately secured, their chances for winning the pennant will be very slim.

The Boston League team has lately been making a utility man of Lou Hardie. In the absence of their regular players Hardie has played on first and third bases and has filled both positions very creditably. He is also doing some excellent work behind and with the bat.

Robinson, of the Athletics, grinned like a hyena when Manager Sharsig wheeled a baby-carriage over to him as he stepped up to the home-plate in the first Athletic—Syracuse game. He was the happy father of a ten-pound baby, and he didn't seem to care a fig who knew it.—Exchange.

Jack Hayes writes that he is playing great ball for the Port Townsends and has made a big hit in base running. He says the crowd feels disappointed if he dont steal second and third on the two first pitched balls after he gets to the initial bag. He also states that in the games played against the Spokane and Seattle teams he played in excellent form, getting two hits in each game.

President Mone has returned from his northern trip, and expressed himself as well pleased with his vacation. He says that the Seattle grounds are very fine, and that baseball is a perfect craze in all the league cities. Notwithstanding that Harris has played in the hardest kind of luck, the people of Portland give the team great support, and Hen thinks that with his new players in good form, he will soon pull out of the hole.

It looks ridiculous to see Dungan leaving the grounds accompanied by a messenger boy carrying his grip and hat bag. Is the big center fielder so wearied after playing for two hours that he cant carry his own grip? From all appearances such must be the case but possibly the messenger boy is brought into service to attract attention. This is putting it on pretty thick, but it would not be surprising to see Colonel Dungan with a valet de chambre at the club house to rub him down, and a Gurney in waiting to convey him to the ferry.

Column upon column of praise has been bestowed by the local press on the work of Nick Smith, Bill Smalley and Milt Whitehead as third basemen, but for a player who fills the position up to the letter give us Johnny Godar of the Sacramentos. Godar is no record player but goes after everything in sight and generally gets what he is after, too; but like Roberts he works in that easy unostentatious style that the people don't seem to realize how wonderful some of his plays really are. Nothing is ever hit too speedy for this nimble little third baseman, and he throws with a lightning precision across the diamond. He is also one of the Senators' safest and hardest hitters, and when the averages are compiled at the close of the season we will be much mistaken if the name Godar does not head the list of third basemen.

Sweeney and Buchans release from the San Franciscos occasioned no little surprise in the base ball world although Buchan was considered from the start a little slow for the company he was travelling in. However, he rapidly improved in fielding and his hitting was often so timely that it was thought he would be a fixture with the team until at least some Eastern man came to take his place. But Manager Finn was not at all pleased with his work in any department and has replaced him by Reilly, who made such a favorable impression in the few games he played with the Friscos. Why Sweeney was released was not on account of poor playing but rather for insubordination. Finn says that Charley failed to show up in practice for the past week and had also been indulging too freely in "seltzer and lemon." His place will temporally be filled by "old man" Perrier. We regret to see Sweeney taken out of the Frisco nine as his playing has always been of a most finished character and a treat to witness. Besides he was exceptional strong at the bat, being a veritable terror to pitchers when men were on bases. The Oakland management also contemplates making several changes but who will be released and who signed is yet a matter of conjecture.

Thomas P. Robinson as Mr. Umpire.

Many amusing incidents have occurred at the Haight St. grounds since its opening with a brass band one bright day in April 1887, but none have equalled the exhibition given by the irresistable and irrepressible Colonel Thomas P. Robinson last Sunday morning. To the Duke of Baratarra and his numerous qualifications we have likened his Colonelship, but when we said he was celebrated, cultivated and underrated; very knowing, easy going and overflowing, we did not commence to convey the slightest idea of his remarkable versatility. Every one knows that the Colonel is the Vonder Ahe of the Pacific Coast and many reasons have been adduced as the cause of his celebrity. He has long been recognized throughout the length and breadth of this glorious country as a "champion releaser" of ball players and in this respect is only equalled by the great Chris himself. It is a well known fact that one by one he has released his best players, and then had the supreme satisfaction of seeing them assist very materially in defeating his team but this dont "phase" the unaffected Thomas, "a little bit," He just goes right along and releases the ground keeper and then endeavors to dispense with the services of Lungenderfers peanut boys. The Colonel is also renowned for his pennant winning smile. This smile, although not enriching the coffers of the league treasury to any great extent is largely responsible for the feminine attendance which throngs the grand stand on the days when the Colonels team plays. And then what a dresser is Thomas P.—— the Beau Brummel of the City of Oaks. Would any of the jeunesse doree of that classic little burg across the bay dare to presume to attire themselves in habiliments not sanctioned and set by the Colonel? An echo from the hills of Contra Costa answers "Not much." But his indisputable qualifications as an ideal manager, his exquisite taste as a dresser, and his debonair style as a fascinator of the fair sex pale into utter insignificance when compared with his wonderful abilities as an umpire. (Right here you stick the pin.) It is reported that on a previous occassion the Colonel was requested to umpire a game in which his team took part but he modestly declined that honor. It must here be said that the Colonel is very modest. For a professional man he is exceedingly so. But last Sunday morning Fate decreed that the Colonel should umpire. In fact he was really compelled to officiate in that capacity. Not one of the staff of umpires who are paid princely salaries with the express understanding that they are to be on the grounds when the gong sounds, were present. So the Colonel who in the absence of the Hon. John J. Mone constitutes himself President, Treasurer and all the other lesser positions the league affords, held a consultation with himself and as President politely invited the Treasurer to officiate in that responsible position and as Treasurer gracefully accepted the Presidents (his own) invitation. This he would not have done had there been any one else on the grounds capable of officiating, because as we said before the Colonel is modest, and religiously refrains from making himself conspicuous on any occassion. But this was a case of actual necessity. The two teams leading amateur teams were ready for the fray, and only waited for the word. So the Colonel carefully rolled up the bottom of his pants, just permitting a glimpse of his black silk socks, (the Colonel is fashionable and all his little adornments are now black even to his eye glass) and majestically strode to the plate. The teams were in position and Gimmel was at the bat. With an imperious wave of his right hand and in stentorian tones uttered the command "Play Ball." There was a look of consternation on the faces of the players which rapidly suffused the countenances of the eight hundred spectators and then it broadened into a yard wide grin. The Colonel had forgotten the little white sphere which is so essential that without it the game cannot proceed.

But this was a very trifling error for an umpire and although a long column in the papers is crammed with figures enumerating the misplays made by players no column is set aside for the umpire's errors—we suppose for lack of space. The perceptive scorer, however, quickly took in the situation and tossed out the requisite horse-hide globe; the Colonel made an attempt to catch it but missed and the crowd laughed again. Then the game commenced in earnest. Gimmel tired by the protracted delay, lost no time in bringing his bat in contact with the ball and sent a swift grounder to Sharp. The third baseman believing that "delays are dangerous" heroically blistered his hands by stopping the ball and furiously sent it speeding to first. It arrived at the intended destination some time before the runner but the Colonel evidently thinking it was a fine time to create a sensation and also to inspire the players with his importance, sonorously shouted "safe." Many thought he meant that the ball was safe in the grasp of the first baseman, but we believe he meant the runner had arrived safely at the bag without meeting with any accident on the way. The next man up was the tawny Cook. The catcher put on his mask and the Colonel did likewise, but the back stop planted himself firmly in the ground so as not to be carried off the earth by the force of the ball while the Colonels position was a perfect elucidation of the "poetry of motion." Posed on one toe, his manly form swaying gently to and fro, one could easily imagine he was witnessing an equilibrist going through some excruciating gyration on a trapeze. All that was needed to complete the act was a calcium light. But we are diverging from the game. The dark skinned batsman met another of Monet's architectural curves and it went sizzling down to where Thompson was stationed. The short stop scooped it in his capacious paws and drove it over to first. Gormley was affectionately caressing the ball before the runner did his ninety feet of sprinting, but the Colonel again thought that "safe" was a good word to use in a case of this kind and so emphatically expressed that opionion of the play. There were stern faces in the Report team and Thompson hotly said "Oh! come off, Colonel!" to which the well connected warrior replied, "Don't call me Colonel here; address me as Mr. Umpire." And so the game progressed without blood shed although some one thoughtfully telephoned Chief Crowley for an extra squad of police.

In justice to Mr. Robinson we must say that he is of a very generous disposition and is very lenient with pitchers. The record that neither Monet or Callen sent a single man to base on balls is highly creditable to them and for this they are very much indebted to the Colonel's excellent judgment on balls and strikes. But there is an end to all things and so the game and the Colonel's umpiring came to a close but we find him later on in the shade of Hagerty's Symposium of Liquid Refreshments surrounded by a score of players, peanut venders and interested spectators to whom he was rendering a choice dissertation on "Umpiring as an Art."

Games Played by the California Amateur League.

By losing last Sundsy's game the Santa Rosas have lost their lead and the Reports are now in advance. The Fincks still remain firm in third place, and the Vallejos, Burlingtons and Allens follow in the order named. The score (to date).

SANTA ROSAS vs. WILL & FINCKS.

Friday, July 4th, at Santa Rosa.

The fact that the Rev. Mr. Millington was booked to pitch for the home team drew forth an unusual number of spectators many of whom were members of his congregation. The reverend divine was not, however, a phenomenal curver for the Young Giants had no difficulty in hitting him out so hard that after the second inning he retired in favor of "Blondie" Callen who finished the game in good style. Howell, although well supported was not in good form, the Sonoma boys hunching the hits cleverly, and running the bases as they pleased. The features of the game were the home run hit of Tillson, F. Delmas' three bagger and the general hitting of Dawson, Arlett and Pace. Cusick, Leveque, Tillson, Pace, Stultz and Arlett put up a good fielding exhibition. The score:

DAILY REPORTS vs SANTA ROSAS.

Sunday July 6th, at Haight St.

The game did not commence till almost twelve o'clock the Santa Rosaa being late in arriving. Umpire Donahue was not on the grounds and Colonel Robinson umpired the game or rather, made a big bluff at it. The Report team was somewhat patched up, Williams, Hearty and Dunphy being away and their places were filled by inferior players in their positions. The Santa Rosas brought down their regular hard hitting team but their fielding was miserable and to this must be attributed their defeat. Callen did not pitch wonderful ball for the Reports hit him lively and when not safely generally got their bases on errors. The Santa Rosas hitting was straggling till the latter part of the game when they commenced to find Monet more regularly. The hard hitting of Sharp, Thompson, Dawson and Gimmel and the clever fielding of Stulz, Sharp and Thompson were but secondary features when compared with the nuique umpiring of the Colonel. The game was called at the end of the seventh inning. The score:

WILL & FINCKS vs VALLEJOS.

Sunday, June 6th., at Vallejo.

The Marines, by making numerous errors at critical times virtually awarded the game to the "Young Giants". Howell and Billings were the battery for the Giants, but the "two-year-old" was hit safely eight times in the first two innings and so retired to center field, Leveque taking his place. Joe pitched out a magnificent game, allowing but one hit in the succeeding seven innings and not sending a man to base on balls. Strand caught him in fine style. The Fincks also had Broderick, lately released from the Vallejos, at short, and Deeney at second, Conway playing in right field. Baltz was not hit hard, but his support was very rocky. The game was devoid of any special features excepting Leveque's pitching, Maguire's base running and the first base playing of Ryan and Delmas. Cate's umpiring was satisfactory. The score:

Amateur Short Hits.

The "Newsies" are now in the lead.

The Santa Rosas have taken a tumble.

The Burlingtons did not have a game last Sunday.

Kissel of Merced is said to be a wonderful pitcher.

Sharp's hitting lately has been nothing short of terrific.

Alec Bradley is playing second base in "the Reitz style."

"Frenchy" Collett played right field for the Reports Sunday.

Maguire, Captain of the Vallejos, is becoming a fast base runner.

The Santa Rosa out field didn't have but one chance last Sunday.

Sharp is never satisfied unless he gets at least three hits in a game.

It is quite probable that Manager Warren will secure Gene Broderick.

Hearty of the Reports has gone to Seattle and will not return for two weeks.

Grace found it difficult to fill the position left vacant in the team by Billy Hulen.

Baltz, Kavanagh and Hughes of the Vallejos were formerly members of the Altas.

Frank Warren is an awful hard loser but he aint a mark on Manager Grace in this respect.

Old Pete Dallas is playing a great game at second for the Merced team, and is also their heaviest hitter.

Jack Ryan is rapidly getting into shape and is playing first base in his old Greenhood form for the Marines.

Tillson has lately been hitting finely. His home run at Santa Rosa on the fourth is said to have been a "daisy."

The Vallejos are the poorest fielders in the league and scarcely ever play a game without making at least ten errors.

Joe Leveque demonstrated the fact last Sunday that as a pitcher he can stand with any of them in the amateur procession.

McCarthy is one of the surest fly catchers in the amateur ranks. His work in left field for the Allens has been of magnificent.

We would like to see the Allens, Burlingtons and Vallejos win steadily for a month which would make the race closer and more interesting.

The Allens think that umpire Mack of Merced is qualified to stand alongside Colonel Robinson and Mr. Coughlin. For raw decisions its a toss up as to which can give the "rawest".

Van Haltran did not sign with the Santa Rosas. He was not thoroughly satisfied with the inducements offered and has joined the Allens, whom he greatly strengthens.

In the series of the three games played between the Allens and Merceds, the "Sports" had McDonald, Evatt, Reilly and Van Haltran in the box. Stanley, Lewis and Evatt did the catching.

The "Young Giants" have two fine batteries in Howell and Billings, and Leveque and Strand. The latter two should oftener be seen in the points, as they are capable of doing excellent work.

Dawson, of the Santa Rosas, is a fine hitter, but there is plenty of room for improvement in his fielding. Last Sunday he and Artlett were way off in their fielding and the seven errors made between them are largely responsible for the Reports' victory.

Pete McGlade has been secured by Manager Keller and now if his arm is all right there can be some fine battery work expected from the Allens. If Stanleys hand is better he will catch Pete Sunday and the game which will be against the Reports ought to be a great one. Ashman will have his team in their regular positions again and Keller will have McGlade and Stanley in the points, Eratt, Lewis and Van Haltran on the bases, Reilly at short and McCarthy, Buckley and Parker in the field. The morning game will be worth seeing and will be for blood, as the "New Circulators" want to increase their lead and the "Sports" cant afford to lose any more games.

The Santa Rosas seem to think that they lost last Sunday's game through the fact that Mulvey played left field with the Reports. How Mulveys playing affected the home team's victory we are at a loss to understand. Mulvey is a good catcher, but as a fielder is a dismal failure. He had three chances in the field last Sunday. erred on two of them, and the other, a fly ball which any kind of a fielder could have got he let fall before reaching it, and it figured as a hit for Santa Ross. So it certainly cannot be claimed that he was of any use to the Reports in the field. At the bat he did better, getting two hits. One was of a very scratchy character which he secured in the second inning and which advanced a runner—Gormley—from second to third. However, before Gormley scored four errors were made by the Santa Rosas, while he was making the circuit, and Mulvey's little hit cannot be said to be responsible for the run. His second hit occurred in the sixth inning, in which no runs were scored, so we can not see where the Burlington catcher's work was of any advantage to the Report team. Surely had the Reports their regular nine, with Gray stationed at first, Dunphy at third, Sharp left and Gormley in right field, the Santa Rosas might have found opportunity to have added a few more to their thirteen errors. Grace's men lost this game through nothing else but their wretched fielding, and not through the wonderful services (?) lent the Reports by catcher Mulvey.

We were the recipient of a visit from Paul Keller, the affable manager of the Allens on his return from Merced last Monday. Keller spoke highly of the manner in which he and his players were treated by the Merced people, and although he did not make money, he was well satisfied with the success of the trip. The heat was something terrible he said, and completely prostrated his players, and consequently they did not make as good a showing as they would under more favorable conditions. Stanley was also badly injured in the first game and Lewis had to do most of the catching. The manager thought that the three successive days of team practice would be of considerable benefit to his players, and says from this on he thinks the team will be sure winners. He is well pleased with Van Haltran and Parker, his new men, and is negotiating for the services of Pete McGlade, the Pioneer pitcher. With this new material, which will give him another first-class battery and also greatly increase the hitting strength of the team, we have no doubt but that the "Sports" will have a new lease of life and should not be surprised to see them finish in about third position at the close of the season.

Referring to the Merced team, Keller said it was a better one than he expected to find. Kissell and Jimmy English are both excellent twirlers and Nagle is catching "out of sight." "Old man" Pete Dallas, Dan Driscoll and Saunders are also strong hitters and fine fielders, and altogether the team is strong enough to give any of the amateur teams a hard battle.

ATHLETICS.

Athletic Sports and Other Pastimes.

EDITED BY ARPHIPPUS,

SUMMARY.

Reports of the different sporting and aquatic events that took place on the Fourth, will be found in our columns this week. The amusements for the future have yet to be announced, and probably not before Admission Day will any exhibition of importance take place. Meanwhile cross-country runs, cricket and football matches will help to keep up the interest in out-door sports.

RUNNERS, WALKERS, JUMPERS, ETC.

R. H. Holroyd, a promising young athlete of this city, is now residing in Sacramento. He will take part in the games which will be held during the State Fair.

Walter A. Scott, of the firm of Scott & Lee, type-writer agents, will not be able to take an active part in athletic sports for some time to come, owing to increased business. Mr. Scott is now on the road, and judging from the large number of orders which he forwards to the city every day, his success as a drummer is assured.

It is a great pity that some of the amateur clubs do not lease the Fair Athletic and Baseball grounds at Alameda. The grand stands, dressing rooms, etc., are complete, and by expending a couple of hundred dollars in the interest of the track, which is not in the best of condition, the park could be transformed into one of the finest athletic resorts on the Pacific Coast.

Casady of the Olympics and Casidy of the Alpines have been doing some good work lately. The former should capture all the sprint events at next year's championship meeting, while the Alpine man stands more than an average chance of winning the one and five-mile races.

Young Foster, of the O. A. C., is the coming hurdle champion, and with more practice, should show his heels to Moffet and Purcell from scratch.

The mile walk at the Olympic games on the Fourth, was a dismal failure. As we anticipated a few weeks ago, Jarvis and Coffin did not compete, and the race was confined to two novices. Landman has been figuring as a walker for some years, and it is high time that he discovered that pedestrianism is not his forte. Had E. F. Kelly entered, he would have easily captured the first prize.

Considering the fact that he was almost entirely out of condition, the New Yorker, P. D Skillman, made a splendid showing in the two-mile run. His style is faultless and his pace well regulated. He runs with the ease of a bird soaring through the air.

Captain George W. Jordan showed his usual good judgement in handicapping the Olympic games. The majority of the finishes were as close as one could expect to see.

A large contingent of local amateurs were present at Shell Mound Park on the Fourth, and it is quite perceptible that the Scottish Thistle Club games are growing in the favor of the sport-loving public. It is too bad that the track at Shell Mound is not larger and better laid out.

In a recent issue of the Police Gazette of New York City its San Francisco Correspondent informed its readers that Little and Kendall had fled from San Francisco after having swindled several of its citizens. The article also asserted that Little was no less a personage than the Boston sharper of the same name and that Kendall was his trainer. The writer was evidently off in his insinuations, for both men in question are still in the city and evidently have no intention of leaving here for the present. Perhaps the Police Gazette correspondent was foolish enough to back Little for a dollar or two when it was not that gentleman's day to win. A newspaper man should never flavor his brain work with the spice of prejudice.

The annual championship meeting of the Amateur Athletic Association of Canada will be held an a Montreal Amateur Athletic Association grounds, Montreal, on Saturday, September 27th, commencing at 2:30 P. M. sharp. The following is a list of the events to be contested:

100 yards run; 220 yards run; 440 yards run; 880 yards run; 1 mile run; 2 mile run; 120 yards hurdle run; 3 mile walk; Pole vault; Running high jump; Running long jump: Throwing 56 lb. weight; Putting the shot; Throwing the 16 lb. hammer. Entries close Wednesday, September 24th. The games are open to all amateurs. The track is one-third of a mile. All the crack amateurs of Canada and the United States will compete.

On Saturday last George R. Gray of the New York Athletic Club succeeded in breaking the world's record for putting the 16 lb. shot. The great performance was done at the games of the National Athletic Club of Brooklyn. The previous record was 45 feet, and to this Gray added one inch, making his put 45 feet 1 inch, a truly wonderful performance for an amateur. In our last issue we published an article about Gray, which treated in brief his success as a shot putter.

The State Board of Agriculture has decided to give an athletic tournament during the State Fair at Sacramento. The games will take place on September 17th, and will be given under the auspices of the Pacific Coast Amateur Athletic Association. The following programme which was made out by the P C A A A, will be decided: 440 yard run, scratch; 1 mile walk, handicap; half mile run, scratch; 2 mile run, handicap; 220 yard run, handicap; running high jump, handicap; putting 16 lb. shot, handicap; 50 yard run, scratch. Entries will be received at the Olympic Club. As most of the local athletes will be in condition for the Admission Day games of the O A C, it is probable that the Sacramento meeting will be well patronized. Several elegant prizes will be distributed to the winners of the different events.

Harry M. Johnson the champion all round athlete is credited with having broken the 125-yard running record at Carson City, Nevada, last week, by 3-10 of a second. The previous record was 121-5 seconds.

The fourth series of the one hundred and thirty-five yards handicap given at Central Park by the California Footracing Association took place on Saturday afternoon last, and but a handful of spectators were in attendance. Peter Jackson acted as starter. The track was in a very soft condition but the majority of the starters were in fine form and the sport deserved a much larger audience. The Association would be more successful in its efforts if it gave a varied programme of sports. The same distance race becomes monotonous to the public and if other events are not added to the future programmes the Sheffield handicaps will speedily fall through. The following is a summary:

First heat—S. Bartels, 29½ yards; O. Connors, 30 yards; E. R. Dobbins, 19 yards. Bartels got a good start and won by three yards from Connors, Dobbins being unable to catch them. Time, 12 1-5 s.

Second heat—A. Le Grande, 28½ yds; C. Morrow, 25½ yds; W. J. Farmer, 26 yds. Le Grande won very easily from Morrow. Time, 12 2-5s.

Third heat—D. E Fletcher, 24 yds; F. Kendall, 25½ yds; A. Leighton, 31 yds. Fletcher got a flying start and won by two yards from Kendall. Time, 12 4-5s.

Fifth heat—J. Heenan, 30 yds; H. M. Johnson, 16 yds. Johnson labored in the soft track for the first fifty yards and then closed the gap rapidly on the limit man, but was beaten out a few inches at the tape, after a fine race. Time, 22 2-5s.

The sixth heat was a walk-over for Ed Tiers, Brennan and Geogan withdrawing and Thomas, the Australian, being disabled by a strained side.

Seventh heat—B. Campbell, 24½ yds; H. Martin, 26 yds; W. A. Murphy, 27 yds; Max Lande, 21 yds. This was a close finish, Campbell just beating Martin out by a yard in 12 4-5s.

Eighth heat—W. A. Kendricks, 34 yds; C. A. Eldridge, 28 yds. Old Bill ran in great shape and had no trouble in disposing of the youngster Eldridge, who makes a grave error in thinking himself to be a foot racer. Time, 13s.

In the second trial heats Tiers, Riley, Bartels and Fletcher started. Tiers and Fletcher were each penalized a yard for overstepping the mark before the pistol was fired. Riley won from Bartels by six inches, Fletcher and Tiers at the second man's shoulder. Time, 12s. The judges decided the match a dead heat, but this did not affect the result, as the first and second men in the second trial heats got places in the final heat.

In the next of the second trial heats Le Grande, Kendricks and Heenan came together, and Le Grande won so easily from Heenan, in the fast time of 11 4 5 sec., that he was freely backed at 3 to 5 to win the handicap. Campbell was the favorite, however, at even money.

In the deciding heat Riley, Bartels, Le Grande and Campbell started. Peter Jackson, who was pistol firer, sent the men off to a splendid start, and Campbell, who had evidently been holding back in the trial heats, let himself out and won in fine style, winning from Le Grande by four yards, Riley third and Bartels fourth. Time, 12 sec. The winner who hails from Oakland, received $150, the second man $50, the third $40 and the fourth $10.

CLUB JOTTINGS.

The Lurline Swimming, Boating and Athletic Club recently installed the following officers: E. McDevitt, President; F. H. Taufenbatch, Vice-President; W. E. Swift, Recording Secretary; A. W. Cills, Financial Secretary: L. Heringhi, Treasurer; W. Schwartz, Leader; D. Barkley, Captain; J. Stein, Sergeant-at-Arms; J. Lothers, J. Ringen, George Dykeman, A. Ronord, G. Beanget, T. Mullin and C. Montana, Directors.

At a meeting of the P C A A A held July 2nd, the Lurline Club was admitted to membership.

The cinder path at Berkeley is entirely deserted as the students are away in the country enjoying their summer vacation. The Field Captain of the U. S. is determined to re-organize his team before next years' championship meeting, and the chances are the students will take more trouble with their training before meeting the Olympians again.

What's the matter with the Garden City Athletic Club? When the club was first organized its friends spoke very well in its favor, but somehow or other their anticipations in regard to the ability of the G. C. A. C. team appear to be premature. At all events the club is useful in one respect; its proxy comes in handy once in a while at the meetings of the P. C. A. A. A.

President Harry O. Farrell of the Alpine Club denies the rumor that his club is about to go under. He claims that the article which recently appeared in the sporting columns of the Daily Evening Report in regard to the standing of the Alpine Club was erroneous. He says the medal won at the last field day of the club will shortly be given out to the winners.

The Sacramento Athletic Club is rapidly coming to the front, and it is expected that some of its members will be heard from during the State Fair. It will soon apply for admission to the P. C. A. A. A.

Several athletes who were at one time members of the O. A. C. of this city are now connected with the Sacramento Athletic Club.

The first anniversary ball of the Alameda Boating and Swimming clubs will be held at the Park Opera House, Park Street, Alameda, on Saturday evening, July 19th. Tickets admitting lady and gentleman $1.

The instructors at the Olympic Club are drilling their pupils for the coming great exhibition which will be given in the Grand Opera House in September, and the entertainment promises to be one of the best of the kind ever given in San Francisco.

AT THE OARS.

Below will be found an account of the recent regatta. Judging from the lack of interest taken in the races, aquatic sports in this city badly need a boom.

On Saturday last Vancouver beat Seattle in the international four-oared Amateur boat race rowed at Vancouver (B. C.). The Vancouver crew won easily by twelve lengths. Distance, a mile and a half. Time, 9 min. 40 sec. Water rough.

The Regatta.

It was close to noon when the first race of the regatta was started. The crowd of people who assembled on Long Bridge at 10 o'clock to witness the regatta began to grow painfully small as the minutes sped on and no committee appeared to take charge of the events. The first race was announced to come off at 10 o'clock A. M., but it was nearly 2 hours later when the signal was given for the start.

Two reasons were assigned for the delay in the race; one that the tide had receded so far at the lowest ebb as to leave a mud bank right in the course; the second, that the officials expecting to control matters had been celebrating the glorious Fourth by anticipation on the preceding evening to an extent incompatible with early rising and possibly with one exhibition of the majesty of Fourth of July officials on the occasion of a public display.

There was a strong wind blowing and the sea was exceedingly choppy when the following appeared for the amateur single scull race: M. Stokes, Charles Artigues and T. Gohel. Stokes was the favorite and he won a hard race. Artigues was second by 100 yards. Distance 2 miles. Time 17 minutes. Gobel a poor third. The prize was a medal valued at $15.

The professional single scull race was not started till 12:20 P. M., and brought out the following competitors for the two prizes of $40 and $20 to the first and second boat: C. Peterson, W. H. Growney, H. Peterson, champion of the Pacific coast. The last named allowed his competitors thirty seconds start. C. Peterson capsized off the head of the wharf and the champion won by half a length.

In the third event, the amateur four-oared barge race, only two of the intended competitors started, the prize being for the first boat a silver champion cup and four gold medals, with a silver medal for the coxswain; for the second a set of bronze medals of the value of $30. The competitors were the Ariels and the South Ends, the former winning easily.

The fourth event was a professional four-oared barge race for a prize of $75, for which the Pioneers and South Ends started.

A foul was claimed by the Pioneers, and the South Ends went over the course alone and claimed the stakes. Judgment was reserved.

Charles Dong was referee with D. Bassett, E. Rathkopf and J. Brennan as referees.

Following is the list of starters and prize winners in the whitehall boat contest:

PRIZE WINNERS.

Boat.	Captain,	No.	Prize.
F. P. Callnndan	Clark	13	$60
J. D. Spreckles	D. Crowley	17	40
City Front Belle	J. Martin	15	30
C. W. Lillikendey	Callaghan	4	25
Yorkshire Lass	J. Sinnett	5	15

Other starters were the F. W. Rossbach, Freddy, John D. Siebe (capsized), Mahel Jane, Original D. C. and San Francisco.

The judges were W. F. Fitzgerald for the Meiggs-wharf boatman and W. H. Gately for the Vallejo street boatmen. M. Goodwin was timekeeper and F.W. Rossbach referee and starter. The first boat finished at 3:42 P. M.

SPLASHES.

The Regatta Committee of the Fourth met on Monday evening last to hear the protests of the defeated Pioneers. After hearing the testimony on both sides the committee upheld the referee's decision which was to the effect that the South End crew were entitled to the race.

The following officers have been selected by the Triton Boat Club for the ensuing term: Val Kehrlein, President; R G Zahns, Recording Secretary; John Conghlan Financial Secretary: A F Schuppert, Treasurer; J L Kehrlein, Captain; Charles Artigues, Lieutenant; George Blum, Sergeant-at-Arms and Messrs. Solomon, Seibel and Auregny, trustees.

The Pioneers are challenging the South Ends to a return match.

The amateur crew of the Ariel Rowing Club are anxious to try conclusions with the Stockton crew for a $200 trophy.

Several good matches may be made in the near future as the outcome of the late regatta.

A LONG AND WEARY TRAMP.

About a dozen members of the Alpine Club departed from this city by the 8:30 train for San Mateo on Sunday morning last. After taking the town in for an hour or two and after enjoying a very substantial lunch the men started on foot for their native city. The start from San Mateo was made at 12:30 P. M. Captain Garrison made the pace which was about four miles an hour and not until the Eight Mile House was reached did any of the participants cry halt. After resting half an hour the journey was again begun and continued until Valencia St. depot was arrived at. Here the tired athletes sat down for fifteen minutes, making a total resting time of 45 minutes. The Alpiners reached Market street at 5:25, which with the resting time deducted made the net time for the entire distance, 21 miles, 4 hours and 20 minutes. At some stages of the journey the men averaged six miles an hour and then again there were parts of the road where it was impossible to travel over two miles an hour. The contestants were all pleased with the tramp and although tired and weary at its end many strongly urged Captain Garrison to call another walk from the same place or even farther up the road. The following started and finished: Charles Vultee, R J Lattringer, Captain J D Garrison, A Cooke, A M King, Mark Lang, C Wilson, Meyer, C Larsen, A Choynski, H Coleman, A Davis, F P McQuinn and E Geory.

Notes By Our Rambler.

I dropped into Central Park on Sunday afternoon to witness the wrestling match between Oscar Connors and B. Sidow, the former known as the champion of Birmingham, England,; the latter as the "Butchertown pet." Not more than fifty people were in the park and the show was tame and uninteresting. The match was catch-as-catch-can style for $150, best two out of three falls. The fun did not begin until nearly four o'clock. Gus Ungermann acted as referee. The Englishman won in two straight falls. If the proprietors of the park desire to make money they should provide some other kind of amusements for the public.

Leader Hammersmith of the Olympic will take a trip to the mountains in a week from now. During his absence Eddie Kolh will act as leader.

W. E. Lee, a young man well known around the Cyclery at the Golden Gate Park recently started from Oakland and rode to San Jose by a circuitous route covering 212 miles in 22½ hours beating the 24 hour record of 207 miles made by Fred Cook.

I understand that the directors of the State Fair will pay all the expenses of the Athletes who enter for the athletic tournament which will be held at Sacramento on the 17th of September. Tant Mieux. There will be no lack of entries.

I heard some of the amateurs who were entered for the Scottish Thistle games growl about the short time allowed for rest between the two amateur races. The committee in charge should have arranged things differently, the least they might have done would be to leave an hours space between the runs.

I understand the Y. M. C. A. of this City is about to build a fine place of its own on the corner of Mason and Ellis Streets. The building will cost about $300,000. One of the chief features of the establishment will be a splendid gymnasium, which will be fitted up in elegant shape. This addition should certainly largely increase the membership, for good gymnasiums at the present time are scarce in San Francisco i. e. outside of the Olympic Club.

One afternoon last week I visited the Oakland Race Track and found a couple of San Francisco runners jogging a mile. They informed me that several boys from this side take exercise out there daily.
