NEWHALL, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, JUNE 6, 1924

NUMBER 23

"For Each Other—Not Against Each Other."

Wildwood Canyon

Campsite subdivisions on the environs of Los Angeles had to come. The mountains in the vicinity of any large city are dotted with the cottages of country loving folk, who have to live in the city to gain their livelihood but leave for the open for their holidays.

And Newhall is the most logical place for such a community. Its proximity to Los Angeles, combined with its great natural beauty, and the even greater beauty of its draws and canyons, choked with trees, are such a magnet that even a county ordinance to the contrary couldn't hold such colonization back indefinitely.

Four years ago, Newhall people may recall that, at the time of the Newhall Improvement Association, the writer tried to impress upon the association the extreme desirability of attracting attention to Newhall by advertising and other necessary means to try to get our quota of the Los Angeles people that are establishing camps in various localities around the city.

No concerted attempt has yet been made to call attention to the rare beauty of our Newhall hills. The Chamber of Commerce has certainly done little in that respect. It has been left to private enterprise to start the campaign. It is slow work. So many of the motoring world recall Newhall as a way station on the highway with nothing to distinguish it from the ruck of the small California towns, that it is sometimes hard to convince them that such a slight detour will open up the beautiful hill country adjacent to the Happy Valley and the Pico road. They seem to think that if there were such beauty, they would have heard of it.

Pioneering in any new enterprise is costly. This first attempt to place Wildwood Canyon before the public is no exception. Before anything could be done in that regard, roads had to be constructed through rough canyons and expensive development, such as surveys, and the installation of utilities undertaken. Newhall has as yet no recreational facilities that would be attractive to the week-end pleasure seekers, and Wildwood Community facilities had to be provided by developers overcoming that weakness.

This current year is being widely wild-catted by irresponsible prices and terms. In fact, if the buying public were to figure their propositions out carefully, they would realize that the gross returns from such campaigns would not allow of the expensive attractions promised for some future date. Yet Wildwood Canyon has to compete with those

School Bonds Carry

There was little interest manifested in the school bond election Tuesday, but the vote showed practically a unanimous sentiment in favor of the bonds. The figures were 33 for and 2 against. Mrs. Frances Phillips was inspector and Mesdames Louise Gormley and Agnes Taylor judges of the election. Reports showed the same result in all parts of the city and county.

SAUGUS ITEMS

The school bonds carried 24 out of 26 votes cast in this precinct.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Phillips spent Wednesday at Los Angeles and the beaches.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Penhorwood were guests Thursday evening of friends in Lankershim.

Mrs. Nina B. [unclear], Mrs. J. A. Suraco and Mrs. J. C. Haskell are visiting the Biennial in Los Angeles this week.

Tramps and peddlers will not trouble the Kellogg premises now for Mrs. Kellogg brot up from Los Angeles, a fine bull dog that will act as guard around the place.

F. S. Wood returned Tuesday from a weeks trip to Oakland and San Francisco. Mr. Wood is not a speed fiend at all, but he made the trip going up in less than twelve hours and says he could have done even better.

The many friends of Charlie Quinn, one of our popular Saugus boys, are planning to give him a warm home coming when he returns with his bride, who was Mrs. Laura Green of North Wilburton, Massachusetts. The newlyweds are now spending their honeymoon at Catalina.

In Judge Miller's Court

Yucca flowers cannot be picked in Los Angeles county. There are numbers of persons who seem to have to have the lesson forcibly impressed on their minds, and in Judge Miller's court this is done at a rate of $10 for the ones who live here and ought to know better, and $5 for the tourist who may not know the law. J. R. Williams, H. Koopman, R. Hampton, D. E. Underhill, O. L. Anderson, each paid $5, and C. Caruth, S. Perrino, V. Strevia and Harold Hill got into the $10 class.

F. Laceta didn't heed a "no hunting" notice. This little oversight cost him a $15 fine.

F. E. Dosten and A. G. Gross were alleged to have been fishing without a license. Judge Miller, who is something of a fisherman himself concluded they must have had $20 worth of fun, and fined them that amount.

R. B. Burness paid a fine of $25 in remembrance thereof will be inclined to drive recklessly.

D. A. Troy had no license to carry the old revolver found in his possession, and a 30-day jail sentence was marked against him, and suspended.

Mint Canyon Suicide

Word was brot to town this Friday morning of the suicide of H. W. Balestier, at his home in the upper part of Mint Canyon. The suicide took place at 6 o'clock this morning. Mr. Balestier was the builder and owner of one of the finest campgrounds and pleasure resorts on the boulevard, and was well known to many in this vicinity, who often drove out to picnic in the beautiful grove, or to camp for a day or two. The weapon used was a revolver. He leaves a widow and son. No reason is known for his rash act. The question of an inquest had not been decided at last accounts.

Mrs. E. E. Estes, of Saugus and Mrs. C. H. Kingsbury were visitors in Los Angeles, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wertz, Jesse Graves and Miss Lucille Smith are spending their vacation in San Francisco. Mrs. Florence Thomas is substituting for Miss Smith in the telephone office.

Establishes Gold Camp.

There is an old tradition that in Placerita Canyon was found the first gold in California, and that $200,000 worth was taken out long before the days of '49.

This story, and the fact that at all times since the canyons have been settled small quantities of gold have been found in different localities, has kept alive the interest of prospectors.

The first of this week a Los Angeles prospector moved a mining outfit to some claims in Texas Canyon, about ten miles north of Newhall, and will employ twelve to fifteen men in developing a new placer mine. The prospect is said to be one of the best yet located, and the project is being backed by considerable capital.

Rodeo, July 4-5-6.

Plans are already matured for the annual Newhall Rodeo to be held on July 5-5-6. The location will be across the railroad track in the lower part of Mint Canyon, taking it about one mile from Newhall. All the usual rodeo stunts will be put on each day and a full program of attractions given in Bob Anderson's best style. Full announcements later.

Concerning the bond proposition which is to be decided on June 27, there is only one thing to think of; but that one thing comprises a number of points very vital to the welfare of the community.

The needs of the school, and the demand for more room should settle the question with anyone realizing the importance of a good school in enhancing the desirability of a village such as ours as a place in which families can locate with assurance of good school facilities. The opposition will come from those who perhaps think the cost is too great, or that the present building can be enlarged to meet the need for room. The question one man, we believe, can be safely left to the business judgment of the members of the board, and there is no doubt that their best efforts will be used to make every dollar go as far as possible. As to adding rooms, this has never proven a satisfactory way, unless the original building was designed with an addition in view, which certainly was not the case here.

Of course, some are sure to vote against the bonds, regardless of everything. One of these must be matched by two who vote in the affirmative. For this reason every voter favoring a bigger and better school and building should not fail to turn out and VOTE "YES"
It's on June 27th.

It is too bad that helpless children had to give their lives to waken the people of Southern California to the fact that unsafe school buildings are being used. It will bring back none of the helpless young lives, however, to find fault with those who conducted the "School of Hope. The thing to do is to make sure by agitation, regulation, or enactment, if there are not laws governing such things, that it shall not happen again.

Now the quarantine on the hoof and mouth has been modified to include very little area, the veterinarians and authorities should see to it that such a knowledge of the disease is acquired at once that will enable them to control it by more scientific way than by using a rifle. The fact that it is a contagious and infectious disease points the way for medical research. Let there be no delay in making a beginning, and enough progress in the work, so the next outbreak can be controlled by good veterinarians instead of poor butchers.

The republican national convention at Cleveland next week will have only the question of the vice-presidency to settle. President Coolidge has a clear field for first place.

SOMETIME.

"Sometime, when all life's lessons have been learned,
And sun and stars forever more have set,
The things which our weak judgment here has spurned—
The things o'er which we grieved with lashes wet—
Will flash before us out of life's dark night,
As stars shine most in deeper tints of blue,
And we shall see how all God's plans were right,
And how what seemed unkind was love most true."

A WEARYIN'

By MAY McCORD

I am tired of man-made wonders—
Shafts of stone and bars of steel;
Ships that throb with mighty engines;
Wires that see, and hear, and feel—
I am tired—and sick with longing—
Just to hear the night-bird's call,
Just to scent the open desert,
With the moonlight over all.

Let me hear the roar of pine trees,
Let me feast my world-worn eyes
On the wealth of wanton beauty
In the glorious western sky;
On some great and lonely mountain
Which no wood-man ever mars,
With its feet in dark blue water,
And its head among the stars!

Let me share your rose-grown cottage,
On a green and shady knoll,
And let someone sit beside me,
With a sweet and shiny soul.
I am tired of man-made wonders,
Domes so vast and towers so high;
Let me pitch my tent forever
'Neath the blue of God's own sky.

Teach me to view Thy creations with reverence and give me fuller underfinite wilderness from the ravages of fire and the greed and selfishness of humankind. Teach me to better spread

Treatment of Poison Oak

THE commonest form of plant poisoning comes from the poison ivy, commonly known as poison oak.

The poison is due to a powerful non-volatile oil that is most apt to enter through the open skin pores when the victim is perspiring. Many persons believe they are immune from oak poisoning but in reality immunity is very rare.

No stock should be taken in any of the so-called remedies for poison oak,

since the sad truth is that no remedy exists. The disease is obliged to run its course regardless.

The first thing to be done in case one is aware of having been in contact with poison oak is to attempt to wash off the dangerous oil before it has an opportunity to penetrate under the surface of the skin. This can best be done by repeated washings with cheap laundry soap. If the washing has been thorough the chances are that poisoning will not set in.

After the skin eruptions are well developed, the main effort should be directed toward preventing the spread of the poison by means of the finger-nails.

Many secure almost immediate relief by the simple method of bathing the poisoned area in plenty of hot water.

Do not use sugar-of-lead upon the open poison oak wounds, since there is always danger of lead poisoning. Even zinc oxide, another favorite "remedy," should not be used until the spread of the disease has been checked and the open sores have commenced to heal.

Someone has suggested that only those who have fought a forest fire for 48 hours straight be permitted to smoke in the mountains. Selah!

Such Stuff as Justice is Made Of

A MAN with a wife and two little children--driven to it by want--forged the name of his employer to a check for $190 and was sentenced to prison for four years.

A man carelessly tossed a cigarette into a forest, causing a fire which did damage to the extent of thousands of dollars, and was fined $5.

In the former case, the husband was imprisoned for four years--the wife was obliged to give up her home and turn her children over to the Juvenile Court, while she struggled for a mere existence. For four years, these two children--when they needed it most-- were deprived of the care of a mother and a father. Then the man was given his "liberty" and branded for the rest of his life as an "ex-convict" with all its attendant obstacles in securing employment.

In the latter case, the smoker paid his $5 fine and said he was sorry. He went his way with no blemish on his character and with no consciousness of the ultimate damages wrought by his criminal negligence: destruction of timber--denuded hillsides, dried-up watersheds; destroyed refuge of game, floods--thereby robbing many of employment and the nation of wealth which will take generations to restore.

Did the punishments fit the crime?

We'll say THEY DID NOT!

Little Margaret watched one of the passenger busses pull out for Los Angeles, and seemed much interested in some of the passengers. "Mamma," she remarked, "I'm going to grow up and be a beautiful young lady, so I can ride in the front seat with the stage driver."

Very appropriately, a man named Woodhead runs a lumber yard in a near-by city.

The late lamented quarantine had some advantages. Agents and promoters couldn't get at the farmers.

Seems as if the oil men in Kern county and Los Angeles ought to form a sort of clearing house for pipe, so they wouldn't have to haul so much back and forth.

Wouldn't it be about the right thing for the charitable Americans to take a lay-off the next time any foreign nation has a great calamity. None of them seem to appreciate the gifts.

Wildwood Canyon

wildcats as well as with the legitimate campsites, of which there are many, and many of which are in mountains, or localities where there is concerted community and association effort to keep their advantages before the public.

For more accurate comparison, there are widely advertised campsite propositions within an hour's ride of here, where, for instance, the lots are 40x62, or smaller. The smallest lot in the Wildwood tract has 7500 squart feet in it. The largest lot has three-fourths of an acre. The average lots are a fourth of an acre. By far the majority of advertised campsite subdivisions sell under grant deeds, or even leases, the first being no title protection, the second not even being a title. Such conditions are to be found on subdivisions based upon tax titles, clouded titles, and other devious ways of circumventing the real estate laws.

In comparison with such conditions, every lot in Wildwood Canyon carries individual Certificate of Title Insurance.

Many of the campsite subdivisions have no proper road facilities. You "pack" in to your lot over another's property. Every Wildwood Canyon lot faces on a forty-foot road and you can drive your car direct to any Wildwood lot.

Our city brother is an aesthetic plant, so Wildwood Canyon installs pumping plant and puts the water mains in front of each lot—and to avoid future argument over water, the water plant is included in the community improvements deeded to the lot owners. The Edison lines will be extended to Wildwood Canyon at the developers' expense, thus furnishing electricity for cooking and lighting.

For recreation, the Wildwood Canyon lot owner will have his Community House, situated in Community Park, and within a stone's throw of the swimming pool. These enterprises are not public, as they are owned by the lot owners in Wildwood and could be leased, loaned or otherwise utilized by the public at large only with the consent of all the lot owners.

The Community House is being equipped for dancing as well as rustic entertainment.

From the foregoing, some of difficulties in promoting a Newhall campsite subdivision may be seen. Development is not a path of roses. Already a mile and a half of roads have been built by local men to open this tract and wherever possible all the development money has been, and is being expended in Newhall. On the other side, it has been most surprising and gratifying to see the individual responses from Newhall citizens to the enterprise. Newhall people were among the first to purchase property in Wildwood and at all times a wonderful spirit of co-operation has been shown. With Wildwood Canyon a success, within three years, the Newhall Assessment Roll will have doubled and reached the figure necessary before we can vote out of the Los Angeles High School District and build our own High School. Our assessment district will be so productive that the expense of municipal improvements, such as the curbing of the streets, may be undertaken and the town itself will be well on the road to incorporation—an act now most impractical because of our small size. Think of the difference to the assessment roll when acreage of $8 to $12 assessment becomes developed into improved lots at eight to twelve hundred valuation. Other developers (legitimate builders of the country it is devoutly to be hoped) will come in and take over and develop our present waste land.

It's a hard, long, rough and expensive road, trying to attract attention to a district that had laid dormant for so many years as has this one. Co-operation and plugging will overcome the handicap. The developers of Wildwood Canyon appreciate the courtesies already offered them (as, for instance, the opening of the "Signal's" columns to this article), and do assure Newhall residents that their city friends, in the market for a cabin site, cannot do better than investigate Wildwood Canyon. Your friends will be pleased and our Newhall community will have made another stride towards their ultimate civic independence.

Be sure your camp fire is dead; then bury it.
