All We're Really LOOKING FOR Is

A hole in the stone wall of confusion and pain
A break in the line
of criticism and shame

A crack of sunlight
in the darkness of fear
A splinter of love
in the bark of life here

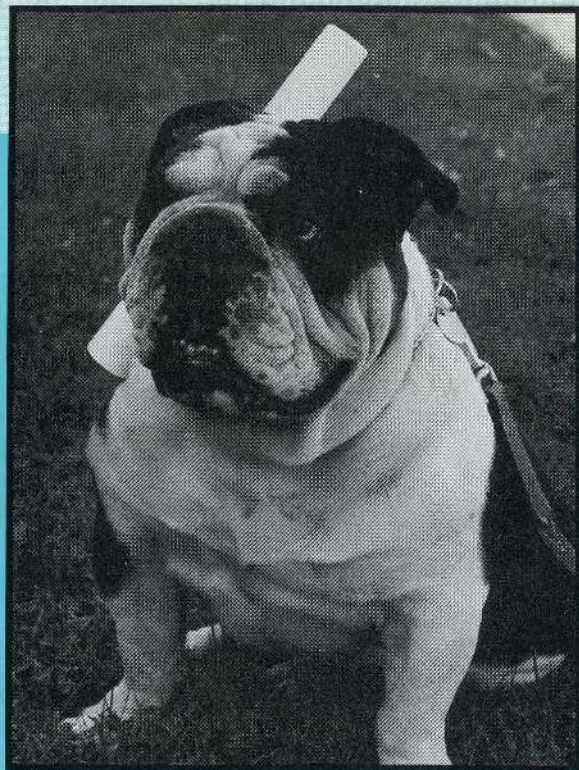

A bit of bright blue
in the dark grey sky
A bit of understanding when we break down and cry

The beating heart
of a true and caring friend
Someone to tell us that love has no end

For people to see us
in another light
And let us out of this darkest night

Can you help us
open the door
with the answers
we're LOOKING FOR?

Robyn Hayward

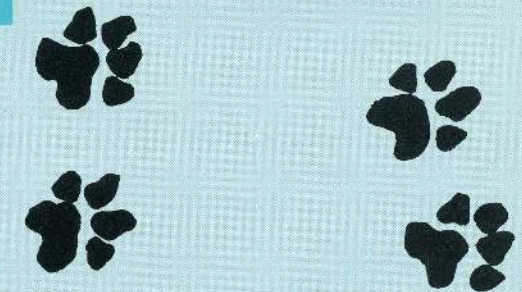

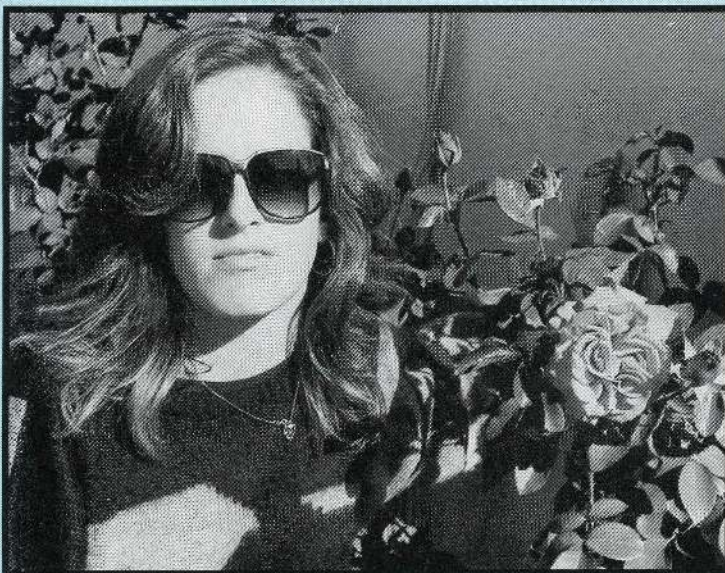

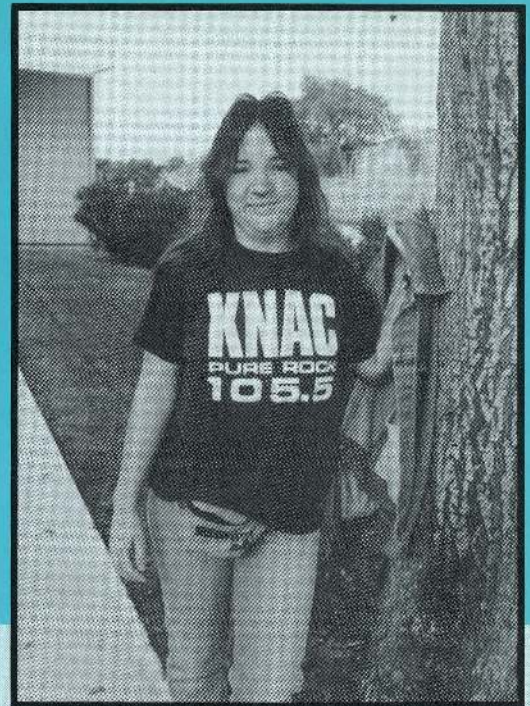

Murphy - One of the best parts of growing up is being able to achieve the goals you have set. My proudest moment was receiving my high school diploma from Bowman High School or was it when I finally cornered the mailman? I have become the school mascot and a symbol of tenacity. That is, I stuck with the hard work and never gave up. If there's one thing I'd like to say to the students here, it's, "Leave the mailman alone! And remember you can let things happen . . . or you can make them happen."

... THE ANSWERS

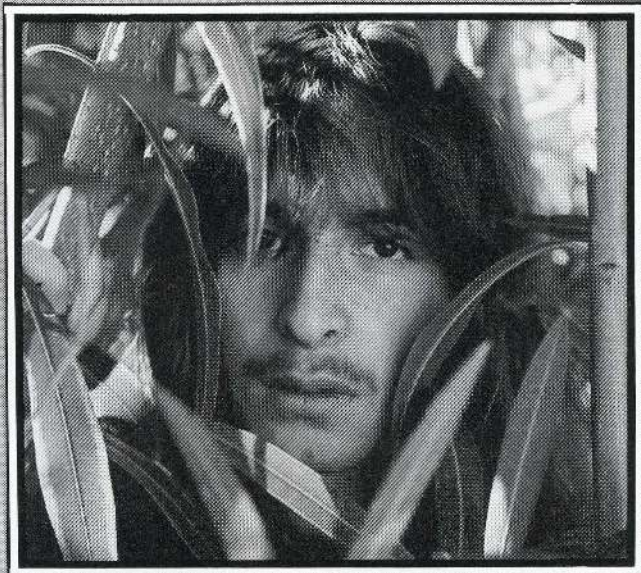

Dena Evans - I think I'm a very awkward person, maybe that's why I like the color turquoise - it's kind of awkward too. If it were possible to come back in another life, I'd like to return as a guitar that can play what it feels anytime. I like wearing levis, concert tee-shirts and vans. I have an outgoing personality and a pretty good sense of humor. I look for the same qualities in a guy, but I think they should also have nice pants. I think I could find Mr. Right in Italy. I'd like to be able to read Rudy Clautier's mind. The thing I fear most is growing up.

Christine Ferrari Black is the color I'd like to be because I'd go with anything and I'd be invisible at night, and I'd have a little bit of every color in me. If I could come back in another life, I'd like to be a bird so that I could fly and be absolutely free from societies problems. I have an uncanny ability to not be influenced by peer pressure and to do what I feel is right for me. My idol is Pee Wee Herman because I feel he teaches children to use their imaginations in positive and creative ways Where would I find Mr Right? I think I've found him in his own home! If I were granted a magical power, I'd hope it would be something that would free the innocent, confine the guilty and give the homeless what they need Ed Contreras - You couldn't find me on the weekend. No one ever knows where I am. My coolest adventure so far was up north at Camp Nelson. I went 5 miles along the creek past waterfalls, large rocks, and more than you can imagine. The next day I went down the same path and everything was different. It couldn't be explained. What happened would have to be investigated by a parapsychologist. If I could be any animal in the world, I would probably be a criosphinx, a mythological animal because of the silence. My own special quality is extreme originality and imagination. A mind of various modes of operation. The exquisite trace of mystique. If I had a million dollars I would use enough to live on and for mass travel around the world. And the rest I would give to my friends (you know who you are!). Ten years from now I see myself as sovereign. Jim Morrison, John Arch, and Steve Harris are all my idols. I look for compatibility and a certain degree of intellect in girls. I feel that there is no sanity or insanity. Some people have different perspectives.

Kari Jimenez - I was given a dead grasshopper when I was in elementary school. This is probably the weirdest gift I ever received. The hardest part of growing up is learning to be okay with who you really are. I have true compassion for my fellow human beings and I also get along well with animals. I have a unique way of talking. Everything is a nightmare of a total dream, the best or worst thing ever. I always say "whatever". Putting my hand into the back of the refrigerator when the kitchen light is out frightens me even though I know there's no reason to be afraid. Getting a bad haircut is my biggest nightmare. Right now I like to run amuck, but two years from now I probably won't enjoy it.

Traci Poperszky-Gubelli - My own special quality that makes me unique is my stubbornness and the fact that I'm always right! I think I'd like to be a cat because they're so sneaky and quick and can see in the dark. If I were granted one wish, it would be to clean my house with a snap of my fingers. The hardest thing about growing up is that you start to get adult responsibilities while you're still being treated like a child. I'm at an in-between stage in life. Looking forward, ten years from now, I see myself as a child psychologist and a mother.

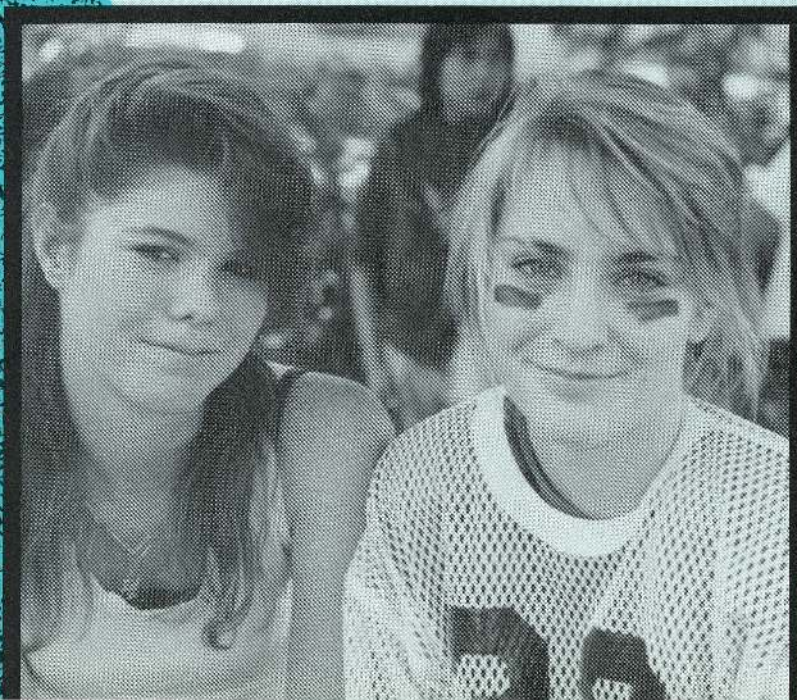

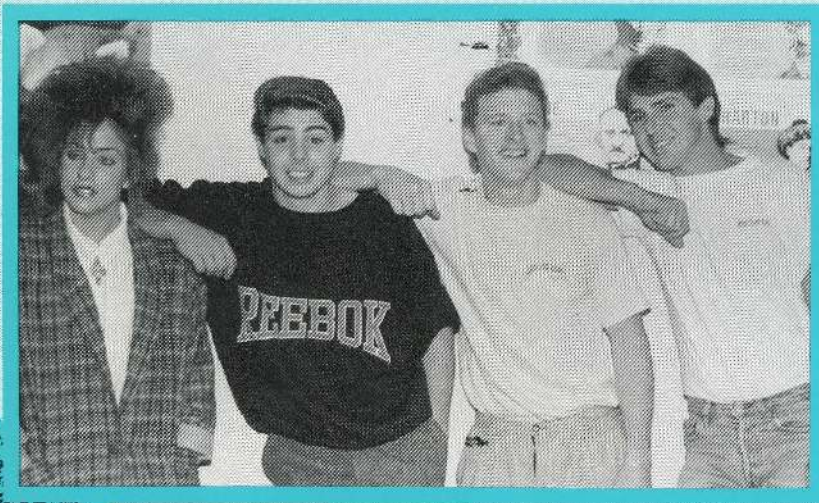

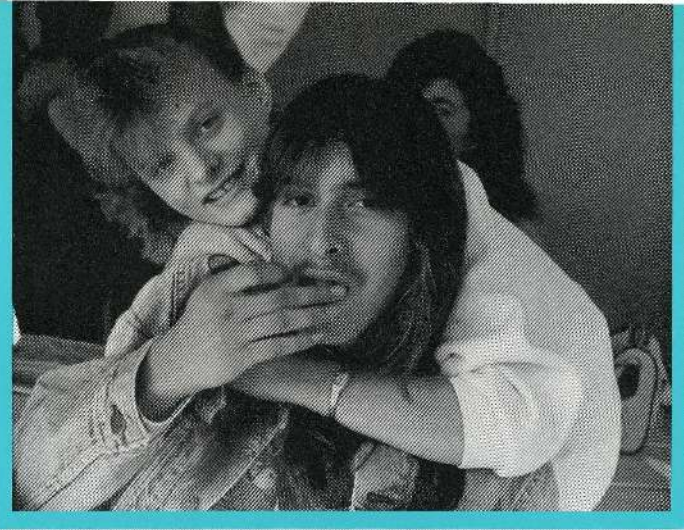

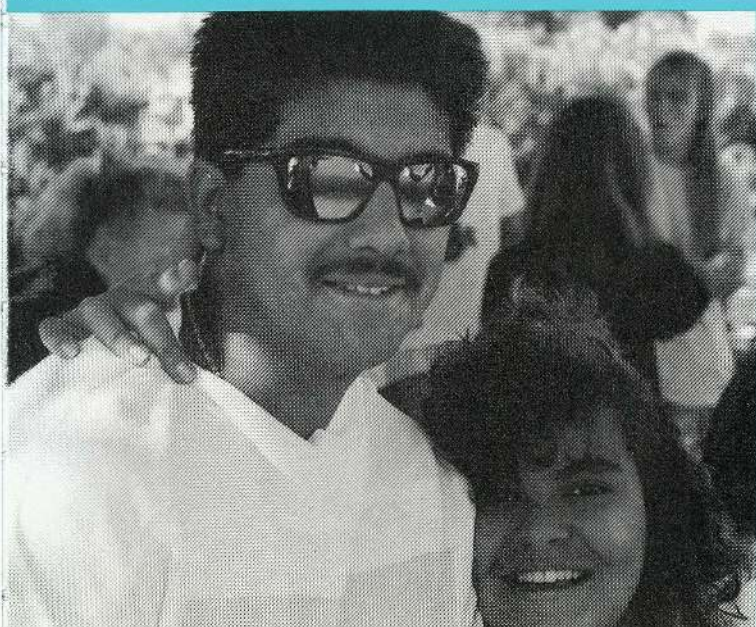

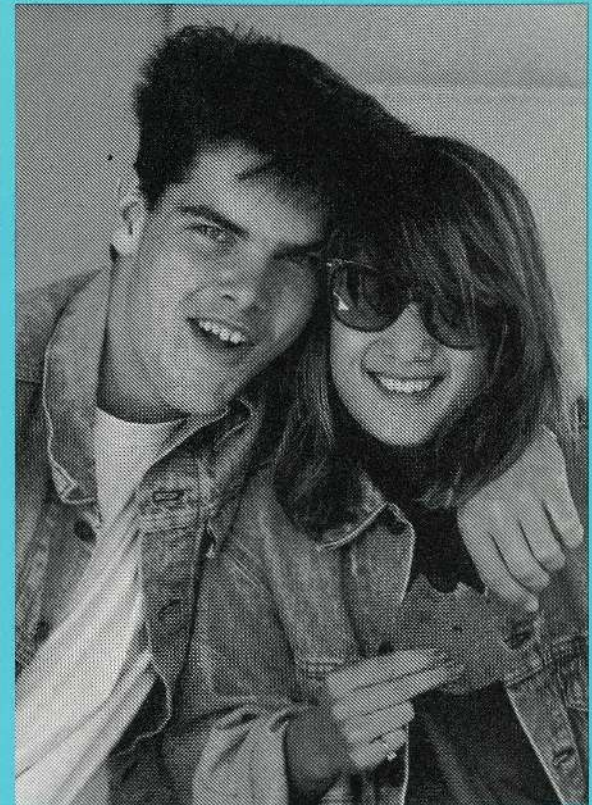

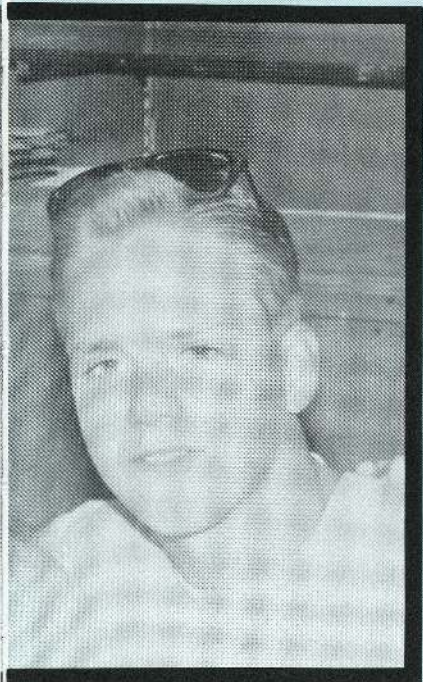

Gerald Windham - The hardest part about growing up is moving out of your house and surviving on you own in a strange new place. If I could be a color, it would be white because it stands for good. I like to think that I stand for things that are right. Ten years from now I see myself as a navy officer making good money. If by magic I could read one persons mind, it would be Stacy Alexander, but I'm not telling why. If a rich kid offered to buy my parents, I'd tell him they're not for sale. What do I look for in a girl? One who is friendly, compassionate, intelligent and good looking.

Looking for friends . . .

and finding them

here

Have you ever wondered why in the world our teachers decided to teach here? Well, we put the question to them and asked them what they found. Here's what they said . . .

Al Scrase - Reading Lab, English, Social Studies

I was merely LOOKING FOR a teaching position when I was hired to teach at Bowman. With additional education and four years of teaching reading, I feel this has been one of the highlights of my life. In reflection, I was LOOKING FOR a challenging situation where I could help and share my knowledge and experiences in a positive manner.

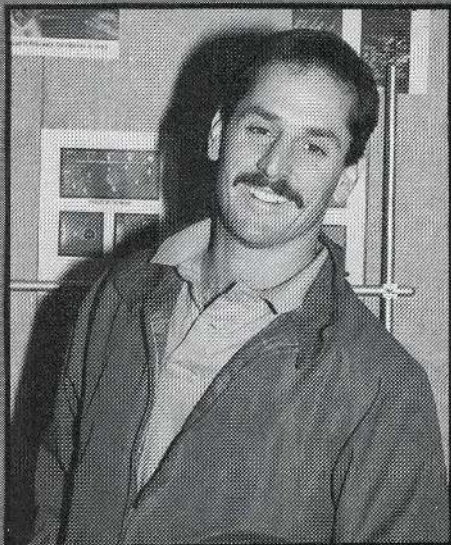

JoAnn Ward - Social Studies

When I came to Bowman High School I was LOOKING FOR a school with an alternative learning environment. I wanted to work in a school where students are treated as individuals—not numbers. I think that because of the personal attention that's available, students are finally able to succeed in school.

Shirley Wheeler - English

I was LOOKING FOR a small school where I could relate to the whole student, where I could have a conversation with a student that revolved around their lives as well as their ideas. Bowman is that place!

Brian Stiman - Science

LOOKING FOR a job! Have I found it? No, I found an experience instead!

Fume Tonkinson - Home Ec.,
Business

LOOKING FOR . . . a new opportunity in California. I found a family, a home, love and a happy future. After 15 years, my "marriage" to Bowman seems to be thriving and improving daily.

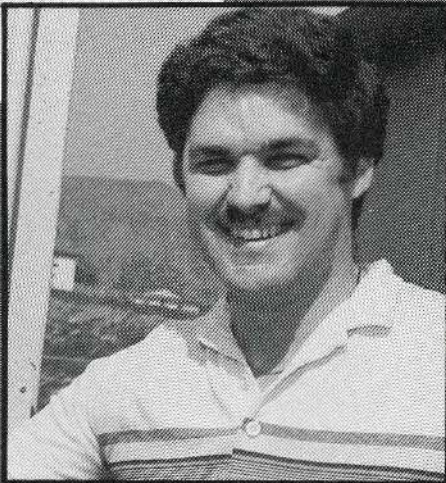

Debbie Hild - Yearbook, Art

I was LOOKING FOR a place to work where there would be a lot of flexibility and some unique individuals to share my knowledge of art with. I was also looking to work with special people who enjoy giving and have chosen education as their career because they love to teach. I feel I have found both of these things.

Dan Doggett - Math

I was LOOKING FOR an opportunity to move from the elementary schools to teach math at the high school level. Here at Bowman, I have that opportunity and I enjoy helping students meet the challenges that math presents.

Jackie Wexler - Dr. Ed., Work Experience

I was LOOKING FOR a teaching job that offered new experiences and challenges. Bowman has offered these experiences and more! It is really nice to know the whole student body.

Suzy Mansfield - English, Opportunity
Room

I came LOOKING FOR a challenging job in an exciting place to work. At this time, Bowman has more than lived up to my expectations.

Looking for a place to be me

What do you LOOK FORWARD to in your future? Well, here's what Bowman's Support Staff told us they LOOK FORWARD to . . .

Lisa Masters - Campus Supervisor

I'm currently studying drum technique with my private coach and bud, Tiffanie Smith. If all goes as planned, you'll see me on MTV, buried behind the cymbals, tom-toms and bright lights.

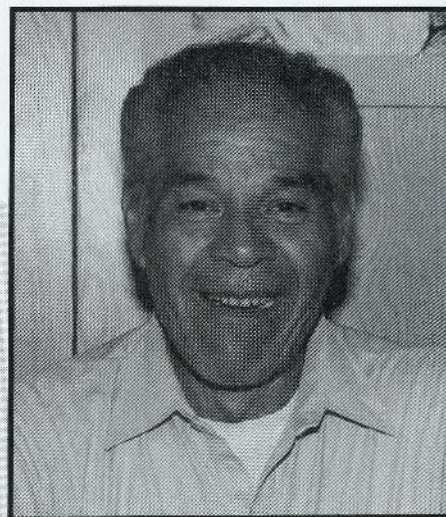

Marsha Brigleb - Principal's Secretary

I'm LOOKING FOR new challenges in leisure time. Mastering the classics on the piano will bring pleasure as well as accomplishment to my life.

Johnny Inzunza - Custodian and Maintenance

I am very excited about the location move of the school (Bowman). The new school should be bigger and better (especially the parking lot). I plan to retire after working there awhile. I am also very much LOOKING FORWARD to my son's graduation in about a year.

Peggy Effertz - Attendance Secretary

What I am LOOKING FORWARD to: New experiences and no dull moments, (which include more Bowman students in my collection).

Maria DeLong - Instructional Assistant

I am LOOKING FORWARD to a new beginning - peace, happiness and spending more time with my daughter, Ashley.

Joy Williamson - Instructional Assistant

I'm LOOKING FORWARD to doing all those "Some day I'm going to ... s" that I've always said.

Juanita Haase - Instructional Assistant

I'm LOOKING FORWARD to moving into our new school. It will be exciting and a nice change.

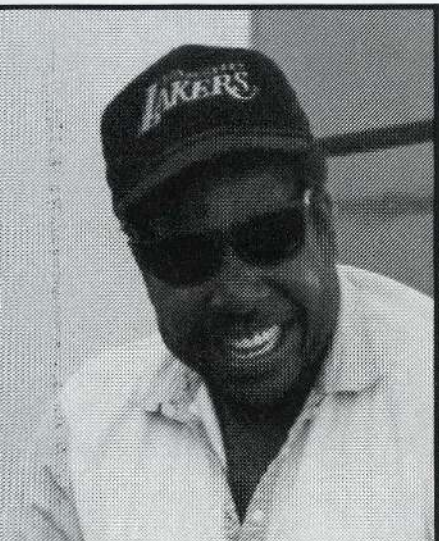

Toni Miltenberger - Counselor

Professionally, my immediate plans are to complete requirements for a second master's degree before June 1989. After retirement I'd like to earn a doctorate degree or perform volunteer work in a third world country

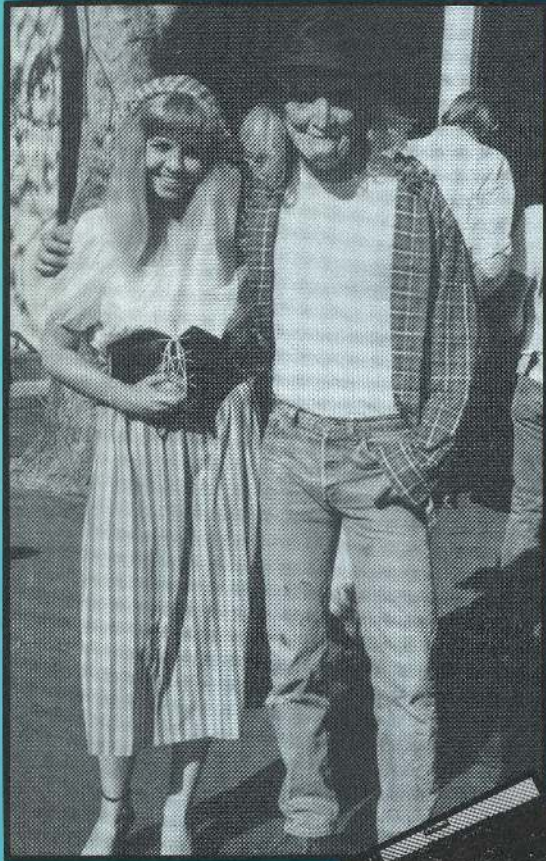

Michael Calhoun - Campus Supervisor

I have traveled most of my life and lived in many countries, but my biggest dream is to maybe travel through Red China for two years or so.

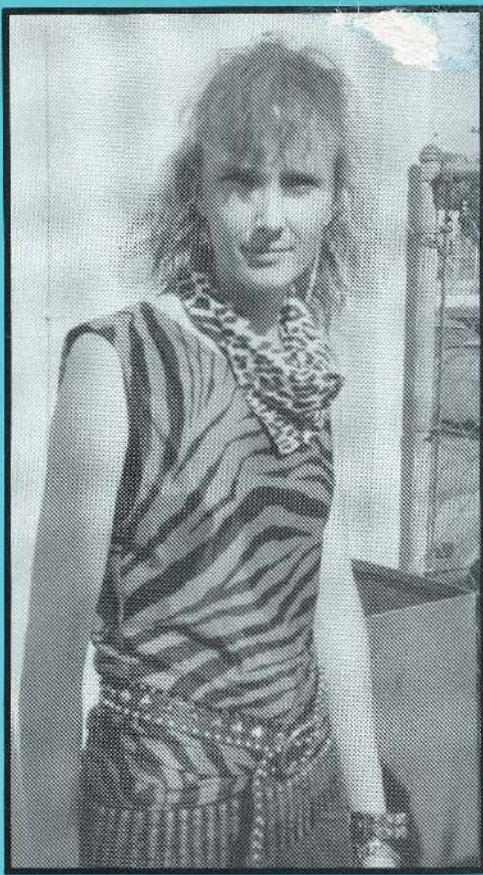

On October 31st, A.S.B. held its annual Halloween Activities Day. We had a pumpkin carving contest which was won by Colleen Phelan, best overall, Traci Poperszky, scariest, Corie Campbell, funniest, and Linda Clark, for most original pumpkin. There was also a water balloon throwing contest which was won by the team of Chris K. Jones and Gina DeAmicis. Last but not least, Zoe Coleman won for best costume, a man-eating shark.

GROOVY GHOULIES

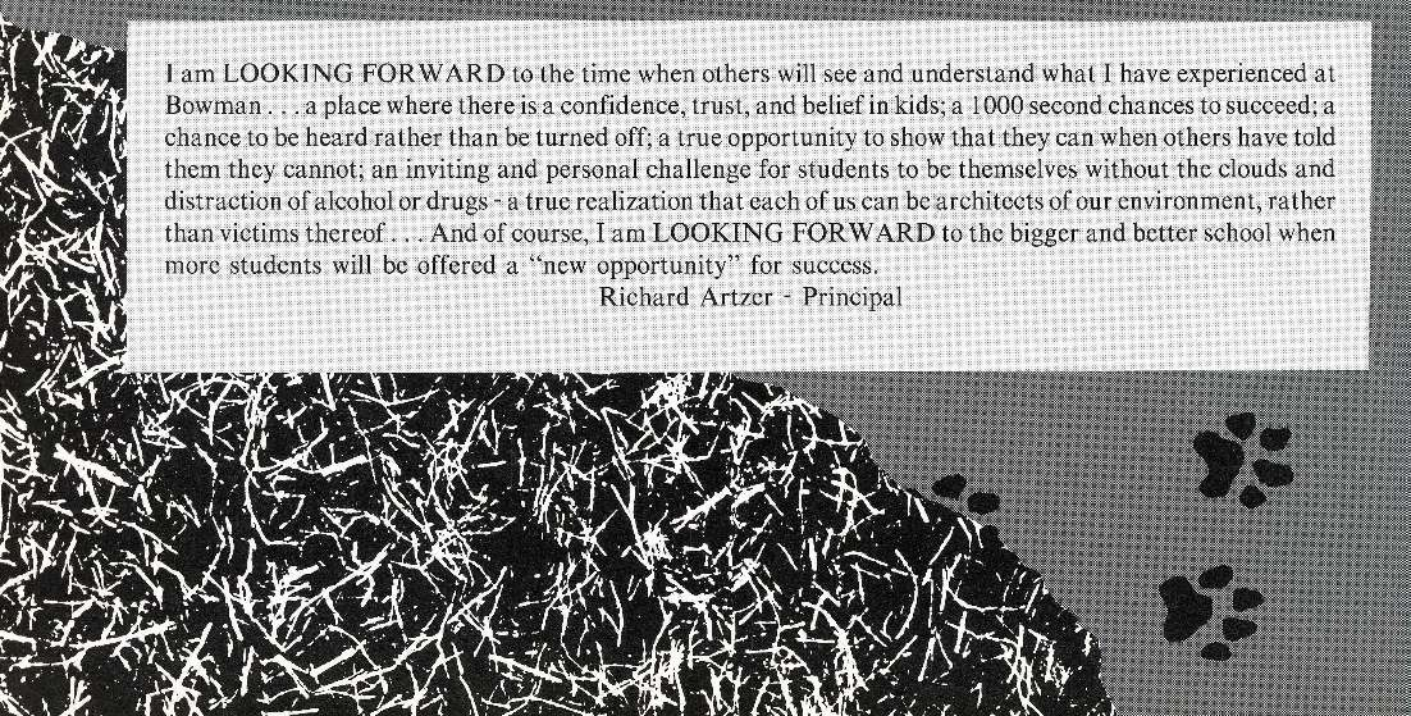

Looking for the best in students

I am LOOKING FORWARD to the time when others will see and understand what I have experienced at Bowman . . . a place where there is a confidence, trust, and belief in kids; a 1000 second chances to succeed; a chance to be heard rather than be turned off; a true opportunity to show that they can when others have told them they cannot; an inviting and personal challenge for students to be themselves without the clouds and distraction of alcohol or drugs - a true realization that each of us can be architects of our environment, rather than victims thereof . . . And of course, I am LOOKING FORWARD to the bigger and better school when more students will be offered a "new opportunity" for success.

Richard Artzer - Principal

This years edition of Visions is lovingly dedicated to an extraordinary man whom we've all grown to know and care for. He is a competent, polite and efficient individual. Whenever you see him around the campus, he is always working hard and making people laugh. Not often do you find such a man - a man like Johnny Inzunza. When we questioned the students and staff about how they felt about Johnny, their responses reflected the heartfelt feelings of all those attending Bowman. "He always cheers me up and makes me laugh," commented one student. While another remarked, "He's the nicest man a student could ever meet." As the students know the joking, playful part of him, the teachers and staff recognize his efficiency and care. "He knows what needs to be done even before I do." "Patiently puts up with the messiest classroom," and "He always remembers what you tell him." We were bombarded with fantastic answers. Johnny takes care in everything he does. It is because of him that our campus is the best of the schools in the Santa Clarita Valley. And he is also resourceful. "He has great ideas about how to utilize every square inch of storage space," one teacher told us. We asked people what they would most like to give him. One student said she would most like to give him a lot of money so he could retire. While one of our teachers wittily offered a Barcalougner! (Get the hint Johnny? Like maybe that you work too hard?) The most warming, though, were those of students. "I would return all the smiles he's given me." "I would practically do anything for him." Johnny has been cleaning up after us for so many years, making us smile and brightening our days. His years of dedication to us here at Bowman must in turn deserve our dedication to him.

VISIONS STAFF '89

Well, we made it through yet another year of school. The Visions staff wishes you a fantastic summer and hopes you will enjoy our 1988-89 edition of the Visions Yearbook. We have MOST DEFINITELY worked hard on it. But now that it is finally here and we see the fantastic results, we'd gladly do it all over again. (That is, of course, AFTER summer vacation is over.) We would happily go back to running around campus trying to get that ONE perfect picture. We would be happy to go back into that dark room and slave over smelly chemicals. We might even enjoy going back to frantically trying to complete our layouts before deadline and desperately attempting to fit a million and one things on a single page. (Never seeming to have enough room.) We would gladly do it all over again so we could present you with the best yearbook in the Santa Clarita Valley. Of course, we never could have done it alone. So we would like to take the time to thank all those who helped us along the way. That list consists of our great teachers and support staff who put up with the classroom interruptions, questions and picture taking; all of those businesses who bought advertisements in our books, and all of the parents who were supportive and helpful throughout the year. And, of course, last, but not least . . . thanks to all of you for purchasing our book.

Yours truly,
Visions Staff '89

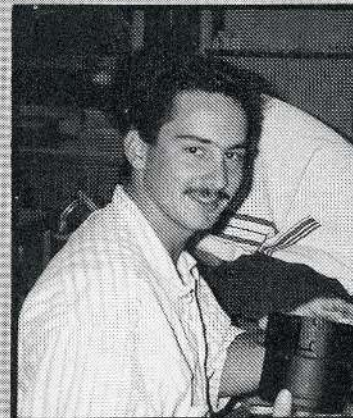

CONNIE CAMPBELL - work experience, A.S.B. layout, photography

TRISHA MCCABE - darkroom technician, theme section

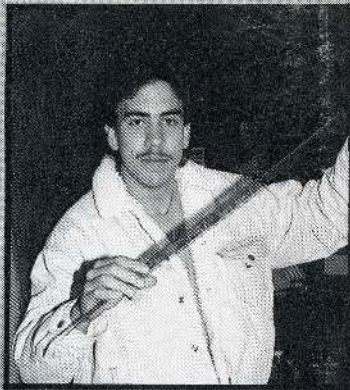

ROBYN HAYWARD - layout, theme development, senior section, darkroom technician, ad section

SCOTT SAKAJIAN - darkroom technician, ad sales, I.D. section, principal's page

MARIA DELONG - teaching assistant, typist

CHRIS ALEXANDER - class-room assistant, darkroom technician

DEBBIE HILD - yearbook advisor

LORI MARTH - friends section, best section

COLLEEN PHELAN - ad sales, classroom assistant

CHRISTINE FERRARI - fads & favorites, dedication

LINDA CLARK - ad sales, classroom assistant

And, of course we would not want to forget the additional helpers who joined our staff just a little too late to be photographed . . .

Cami Chavez - classroom assistant; Nicole Campbell - darkroom assistant; Gary Fisher - darkroom technician, photographer; Linda Stredwick Horn - teaching assistant, typist.

KATIE KOHUT - best section, report card day, layout, typing, Halloween, theme development

KATHY GROTH - darkroom technician

Outstanding Achievers

The Bowman Visions staff salutes the following students for their outstanding achievements this year. They worked hard to accumulate an abundance of credits and to attend school regularly.

Best Attendance: Justin Fuqua

Best Attendance: Gerald
Windham

Our special congrats to Trisha McCabe who earned 41.5 credits first quarter, and Joe Smock (not pictured) who earned 43 credits second quarter.

High Credit Achievers: Shanti Hess, Dena Evans, Tina Moe, Sharon Osborne, Kristi Hajek, and Anita Dagam (not pictured).

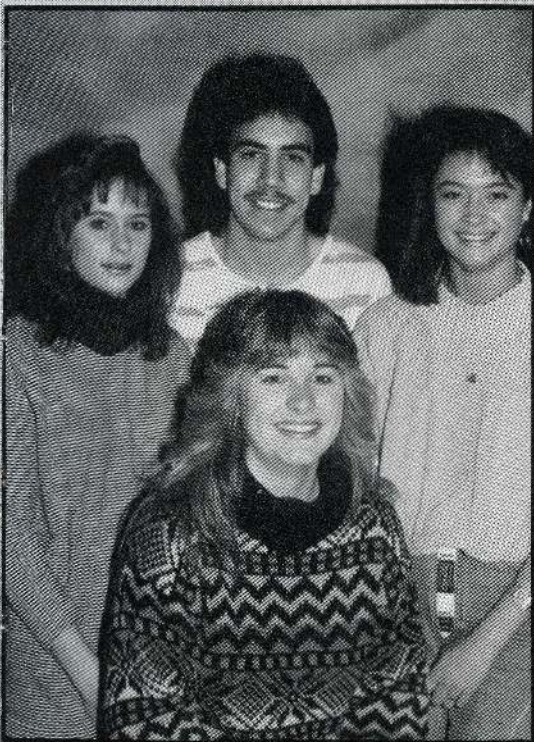

1988-89 A.S.B.

Throughout the 1988-89 school year, Bowman High School's A.S.B. officers and student body, along with advisor Jo Ann Ward, have brainstormed, planned, completed and enjoyed a large variety of extra-curricular activities to benefit the school and surrounding community. A brief list of this year's efforts and activities include: a Canned Food Drive during November and December which was very successful; a Valentine's Day flower sale, volleyball tournament, music, a movie, and the coronation of John Douglas and Nicole Campbell as the reigning Mr. and Mrs. Valentine; and a Spring Activity Day (Easter egg hunt, watermelon eating contest, tricycle/skateboard relay race, sack/3-legged race, volleyball tournament, egg toss) held March 17. Other spring events included the Moonlit Paradise Prom held Friday, May 12 at the Ranch House Inn and a Bowman High Blood Drive, held May 17.

Bowman A.S.B. met each Tuesday during second period. We asked the officers their reasons for giving so generously of their time, efforts, and enthusiasm. Chris Alexander, Pres.: "As president of A.S.B. at Bowman I hope to accomplish my own graduation and help to encourage the graduation of others. I would like to see all the hard-working people make it through the year." Michelle Witz, Vice Pres.: "I ran (for office) because I can't show others that it's fun to be involved if I'm not involved myself. And it's definitely been fun." Dena Evans, Sec.: (To help Bowman get) "a better reputation for our school." DeDe Witz, Treas.: "I ran for office because I think Bowman is a great school and I wanted to be more involved with it. The thing I like most about Bowman is the close, family atmosphere."

Bowman students collected 717 cans of food before the holiday season which were distributed by the Santa Clarita Valley Community Center to the needy families of this area.

In addition to the elected officials in the A.S.B., there were many more students involved in planning and helping out with the activities. A few of the helpers are listed from left to right.

Standing: Susie Elliott, Chris Jones, Gerald Windham, Don Christensen, Jo Ann Ward (A.S.B. advisor), Zayne Roemer, Ed Contreras, and Lori Marth.

Seated: Alex Schwartz, Paula Densford, Dena Evans (Secretary), and Chris Alexander (President).

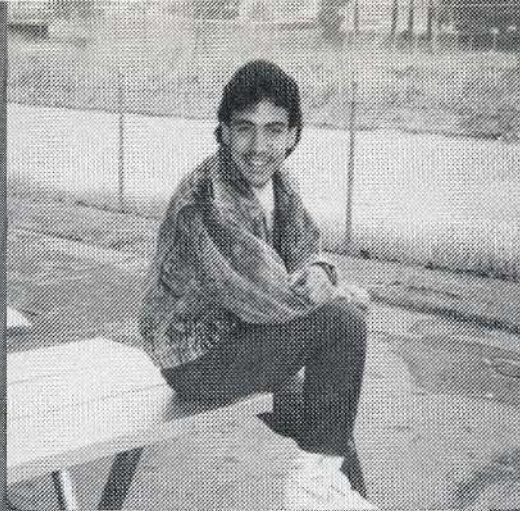

In the first A.S.B. election in '88 Corie Campbell was elected Secretary of the school. On January 6, 1989, Corie graduated. Another election was held and Dena Evans was announced the new Secretary of Bowman High School.

Work Experience

Employability is the goal of the Work Experience Education program. Students achieve the goal of employability by combining their paid-on-the-job experiences with classroom instruction that is related to their current job and future educational and occupational plans. The curriculum includes, how to get and keep a job, how to leave a job, manage money and make decisions about future career plans.

Students must attend one class meeting per week and furnish pay stub verification for credit.

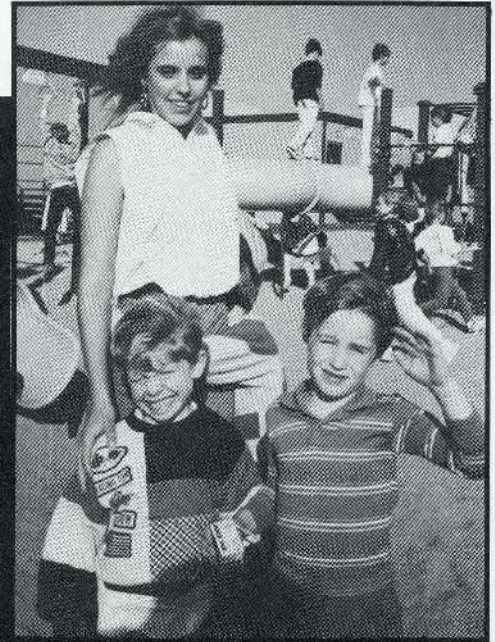

Interested students can join by seeing Mrs. Jackie Wexler, Work Experience Coordinator in the front office at Bowman High School.

MONSTERS OF ROCK

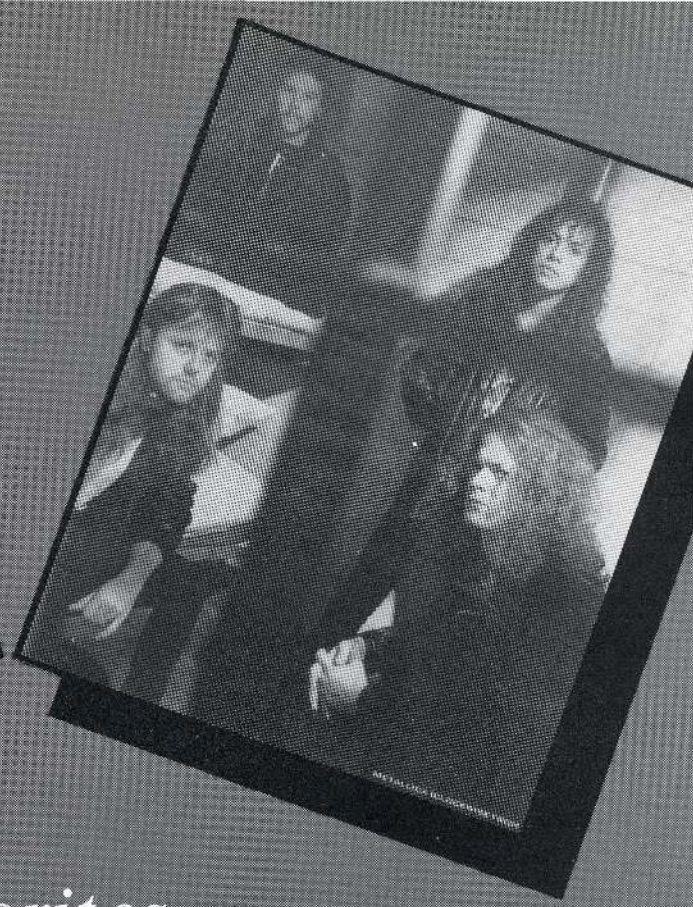

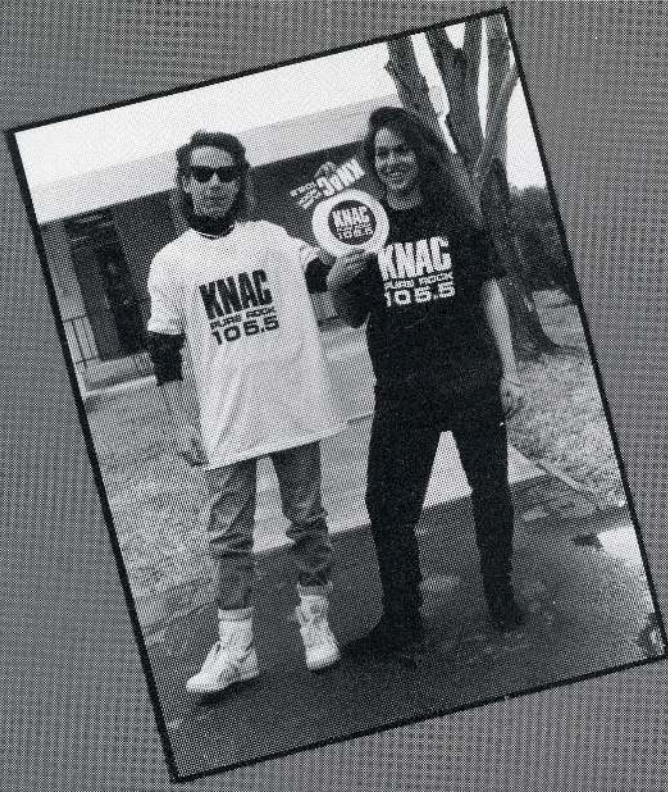

PURE
105.5
L.A. COLISEUM JULY 23, 1988

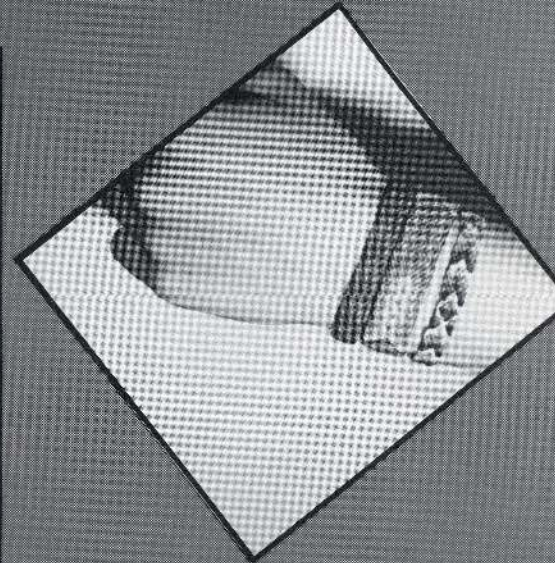

Each year the Bowman Visions staff sends out a ballot to determine the students' all time "favorites". The following were this year's results.
The ultimate raging event of '88: Monsters of Rock
Coolest shades: Oakley & Suncloud
Daytime Drama: Days of our Lives
Purest Rock Radio Station: 105.5 KNAC
Head Banging Outlaws: Metallica
Most gruesome flick & character: Nightmare on Elm Street & Freddy Krueger
Grooviest Figures: Jerry Bears

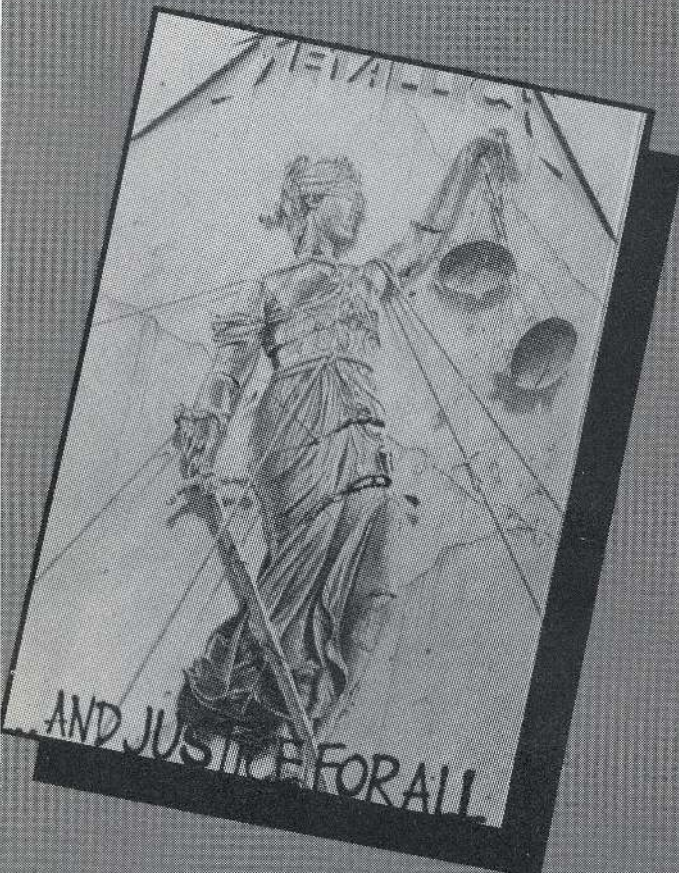

Friendship bracelets and high tops were fashion statements this year. So were slashed jeans, but Matt Dobbs took it to an extreme.

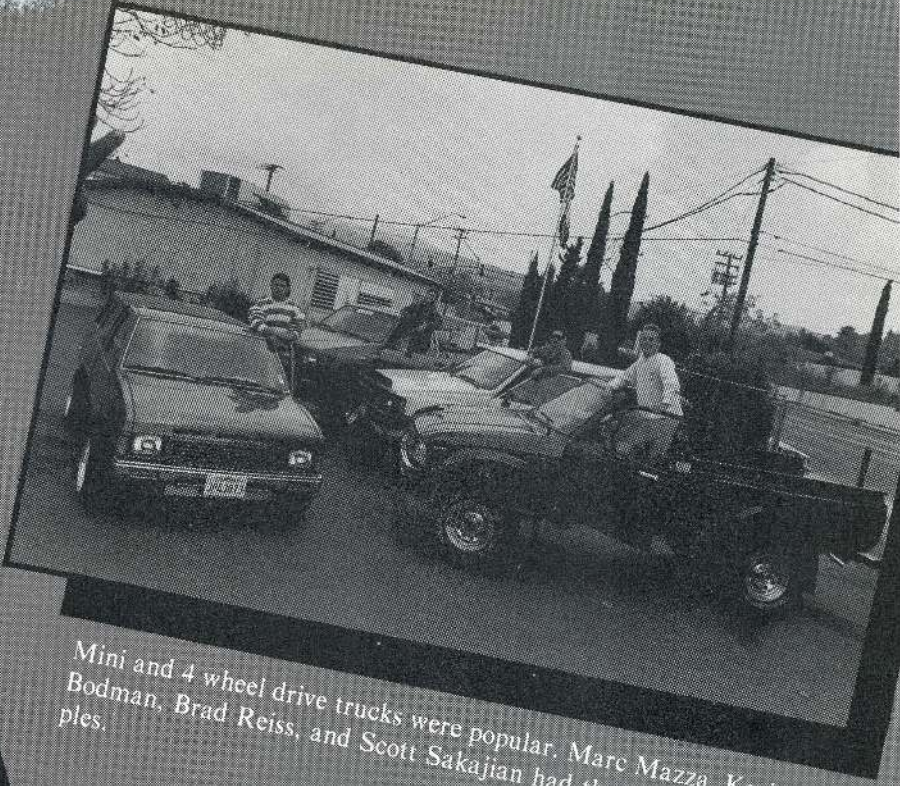

Fads 'n Favorites

Coollest Album: . . . And Justice For All
Sexiest Man Alive: Pee Wee Herman
Foul-mouthed funny man: Sam Kinison
Hottest actress: Cher
Hottest actor: Mel Gibson
Wildest talk show: Morton Downey Jr.

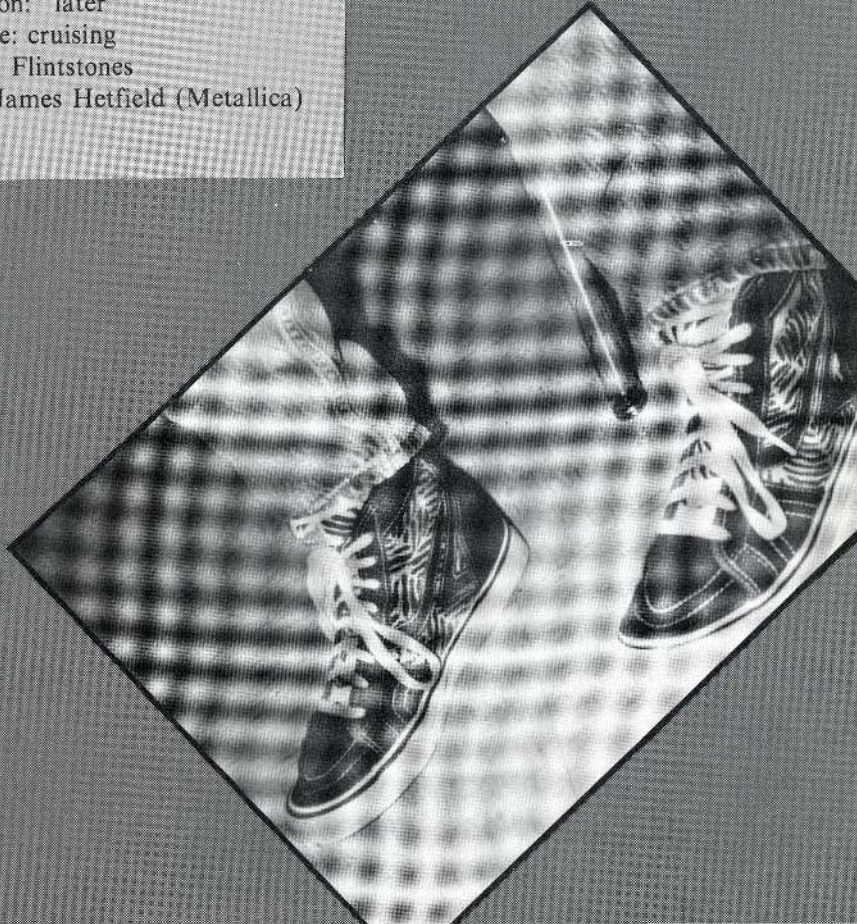

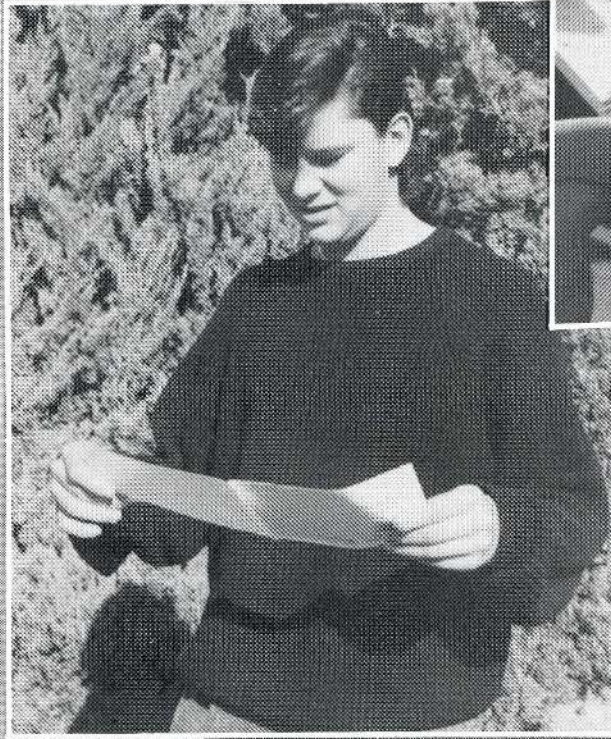

Mini and 4 wheel drive trucks were popular. Marc Mazza, Kevin Bodman, Brad Reiss, and Scott Sakajian had the raddest examples.

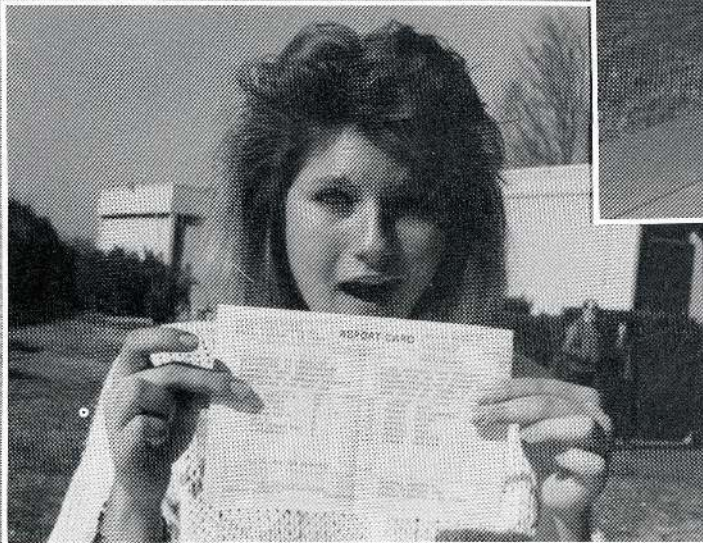

OTHER SELECTED FAVORITES

- D.J.: Mark & Brian
- Munchies: Pizza
- Fast food restaurant: Carl's Jr.
- Expression: "later"
- Past time: cruising
- Cartoon: Flintstones
- Singer: James Hetfield (Metallica)

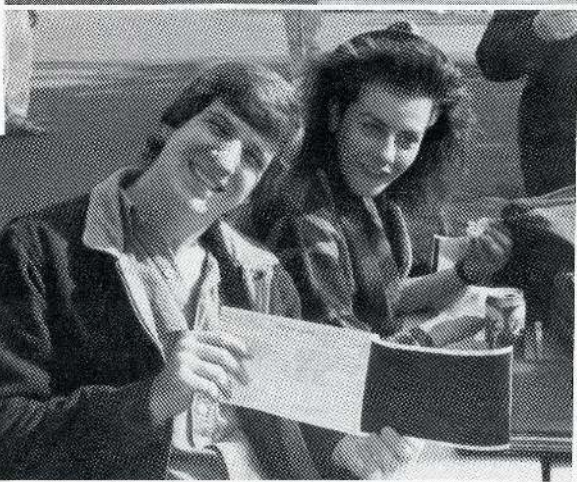

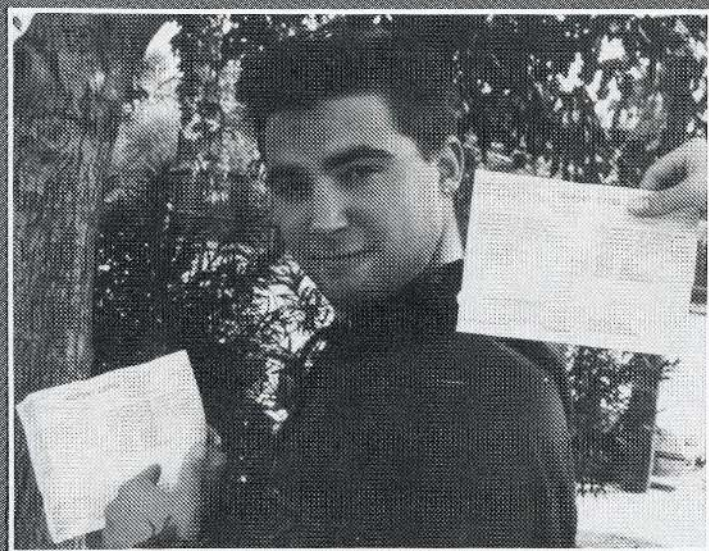

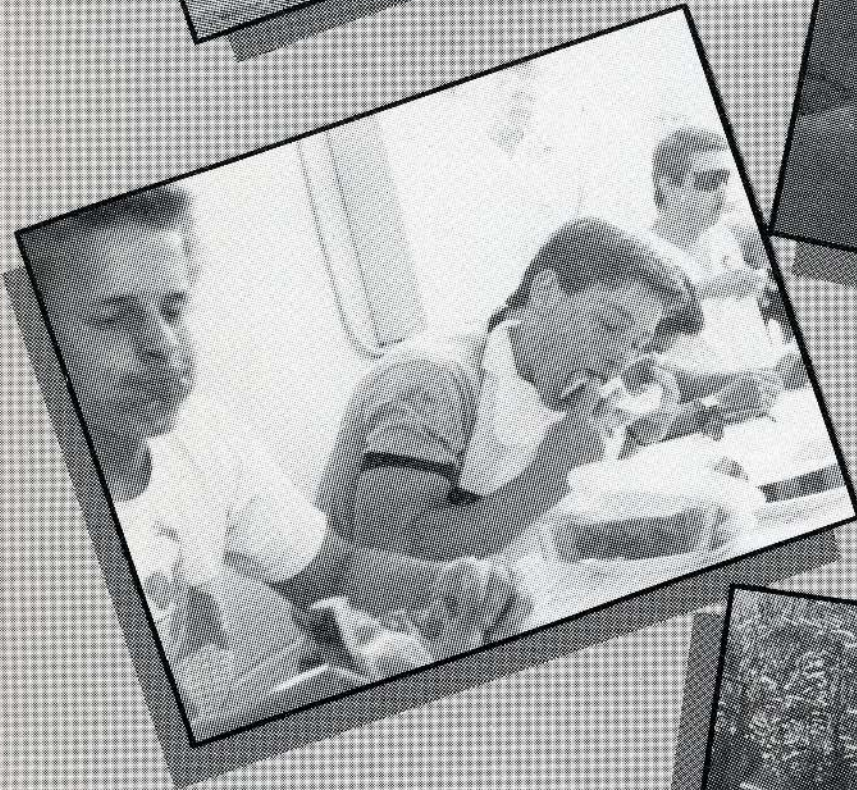

Four times a year students are both excited and nervous to get their report card. Everywhere you see looks of happiness, surprise, and disappointment. This record of 10 weeks of work helps move each student closer to graduation.

We Look into Our Future & MURPHY'S PREDICTIONS

Ten years from now I will hopefully be living at a beach house in Malibu. It will be seven years since I will have graduated from college. I will most likely be an architect or interior designer making lots of money and playing hard. — Kristi Hajek — THE GREAT MURPHY PREDICTS THAT KRISTI WILL BECOME THE FAT LADY IN THE RINGLING BROTHERS BARNUM AND BAILEY CIRCUS.

Ten years from now I plan to be married with four kids, and with any luck I'll be a successful artist. I plan to visit Bowman and to see all the same people who never go to school (such as Scott Leslie, Darren Russo, and Chris Sinclair) still trying to graduate. — Cami Chavez — THE GREAT MURPHY PREDICTS THAT CAMI WILL ACCOMPANY KRISTI AS THE RING MASTER.

In ten years I see myself married to a millionaire with two kids. We will live in a mansion in the Hollywood hills, or maybe I'll become Jon Bon Jovi's personal masseuse. — Katie Kohut — THE GREAT MURPHY PREDICTS THAT KATIE'S FATE WILL BE TO MARRY A BALD-HEADED, BEER BELLIED JON BON JOVI.

Ten years from now I plan to be doing people's make-up and hair for the movies. — Joy Cunningham — THE GREAT MURPHY PREDICTS THAT JOY GETS HER BIG BREAK DOING THE SEQUEL TO "THE CREATURE FROM THE BLACK LAGOON".

Ten years from now I really do not even know what I will be doing. Hopefully, I'll be doing something really boring like making things no one cares about. I hope to be racing a GSX R 750 or racing for Mickey Thompson (Toyota off-road racing). — Tony Cantu — THE GREAT MURPHY PREDICTS THAT TONY WILL BECOME A MAD SCIENTIST WHO INVENTS A TIME MACHINE AND GETS LOST IN TIME, NEVER TO RETURN TO 1999.

Ten years from now I think I will have already achieved all of my goals. I will then start a family. I will still have my career as a fashion designer going and will keep up a family. — Tina Moe — THE GREAT MURPHY PREDICTS THAT TINA WILL BECOME A HOUSEWIFE MARRIED TO THE PRESIDENT OF AN OXYGEN SUPPLY COMPANY.

In ten years I plan to be married to a somewhat successful woman and to have one kid. I also plan to join the fire department and to invest my money wisely. I hope to own an apartment complex and many houses. — John Douglas — THE GREAT MURPHY PREDICTS THAT JOHN WILL BE SENT TO FIGHT FIRES IN PYGMY LAND. HE WILL MARRY A TALL PYGMY WOMAN AND INVEST IN AN ADOBE HOME COMPLEX.

In ten years I see myself as a head sound engineer, running the house mixing console for the Grateful Dead. — Ian Smith — THE GREAT MURPHY PREDICTS THAT IAN WILL BECOME DEAF WHILE LISTENING TO THE DEAD ON A WALKMAN IN JO ANN'S CLASS.

In ten years I will be in the Navy and will work on computers in a submarine. Hopefully, I will make money and protect the freedom of this great country. — Chris Conley — THE GREAT MURPHY PREDICTS THAT CHRIS WILL BECOME A SPY FOR A FOREIGN COUNTRY AND USE U.S. NAVAL COMPUTERS.

Ten years from now I should be at the height of my career. I will travel all over the world and enjoy the "High Life". — Staci Redfern — THE GREAT MURPHY SEES THAT STACI WILL WORK FOR MOLLY MAIDS AND HAVE 13 CHILDREN.

Ten years from now I will be a stewardess for United Airlines. I will also be happily married to Wayne Riser. — Suzy Elliott — THE GREAT MURPHY PREDICTS THAT SUZY WILL JUMP FROM HER PLANE AFTER A FIGHT WITH THE PILOT AND WILL LAND ON A TROPICAL ISLAND POPULATED WITH NOTHING BUT BEAUTIFUL MEN, WITH ONLY COCONUTS TO EAT AND WEAR.

Ten years from I can almost guarantee that I will be happily married to Richard Alan Fowler. We will have a couple of children and with any luck . . . will live somewhere in the Hollywood Hills. — DeAnne MacDonald — THE GREAT MURPHY SAYS THAT DOCTOR DEANNE FOWLER WILL REPLACE DR. RUTH.

LAST WILLS AND TESTAMENTS

I, Chris Alexander, will all my blue slips to Kevin Bodman because they're all his fault!
I, Colleen Phelan, will all my advice and care to my school buddies because I'll miss them so much.

I, Scott Sakajian, will Chris Alexander my car because he needs one.

I, Thomas Davis, will all my empty corn nut packages to Peg because she's the best!

I, Ed Contreras, bequeath my intelligence to future generations so that they can create intelligent music and put an end to rap music.

I, Petra Panster, leave Rudy Clautier my driver's license so that he can finally drive his Jaguar.

I, Bill Kimbro, will my skin to Kristi Hajek so she can tan more easily and also my "I don't know's", my sense of humor to Cami Chavez because she always calls me a clown, and also my Zippo lighter that she still has!! I would also like to leave my extra work that's in my English folder to Al. All my excuses I leave to my favorite lady Peg. To Mr. A. I leave the thing that means the most - my friendship. Thanks for being there.

I, Justin Fuqua, will Brad Riess all my Mickey Thompson ticket stubs. I also leave all my fake off campus passes to Mike.

I, Cami Chavez, will all my shorts in the winter and sleepless nights to Kristi Hajek, all my worldly green goods and the nightmare at Nike Base to Christine Garrison, my constantly bare feet to Anita Dagam, my skin tone to Tina Moe, and most importantly, my heart, to Scott Adam Neece.

I, Shanti Hess, leave all my science work to Sharon Osborne so she can graduate someday.

I, Sharon Osborne, leave all my work to John Douglas so someday he MIGHT graduate.

I, Staci Redfern, will all of my government homework to Kari Jiminez, all of my deepest, darkest secrets to Brian Stiman and the rest of me to J.C.

I, Kevin Masullo, leave all the hair on my body to Gino Delmastro and Rick Loyza.

I, David Ortega, leave all my hair to Mr. Artzer.

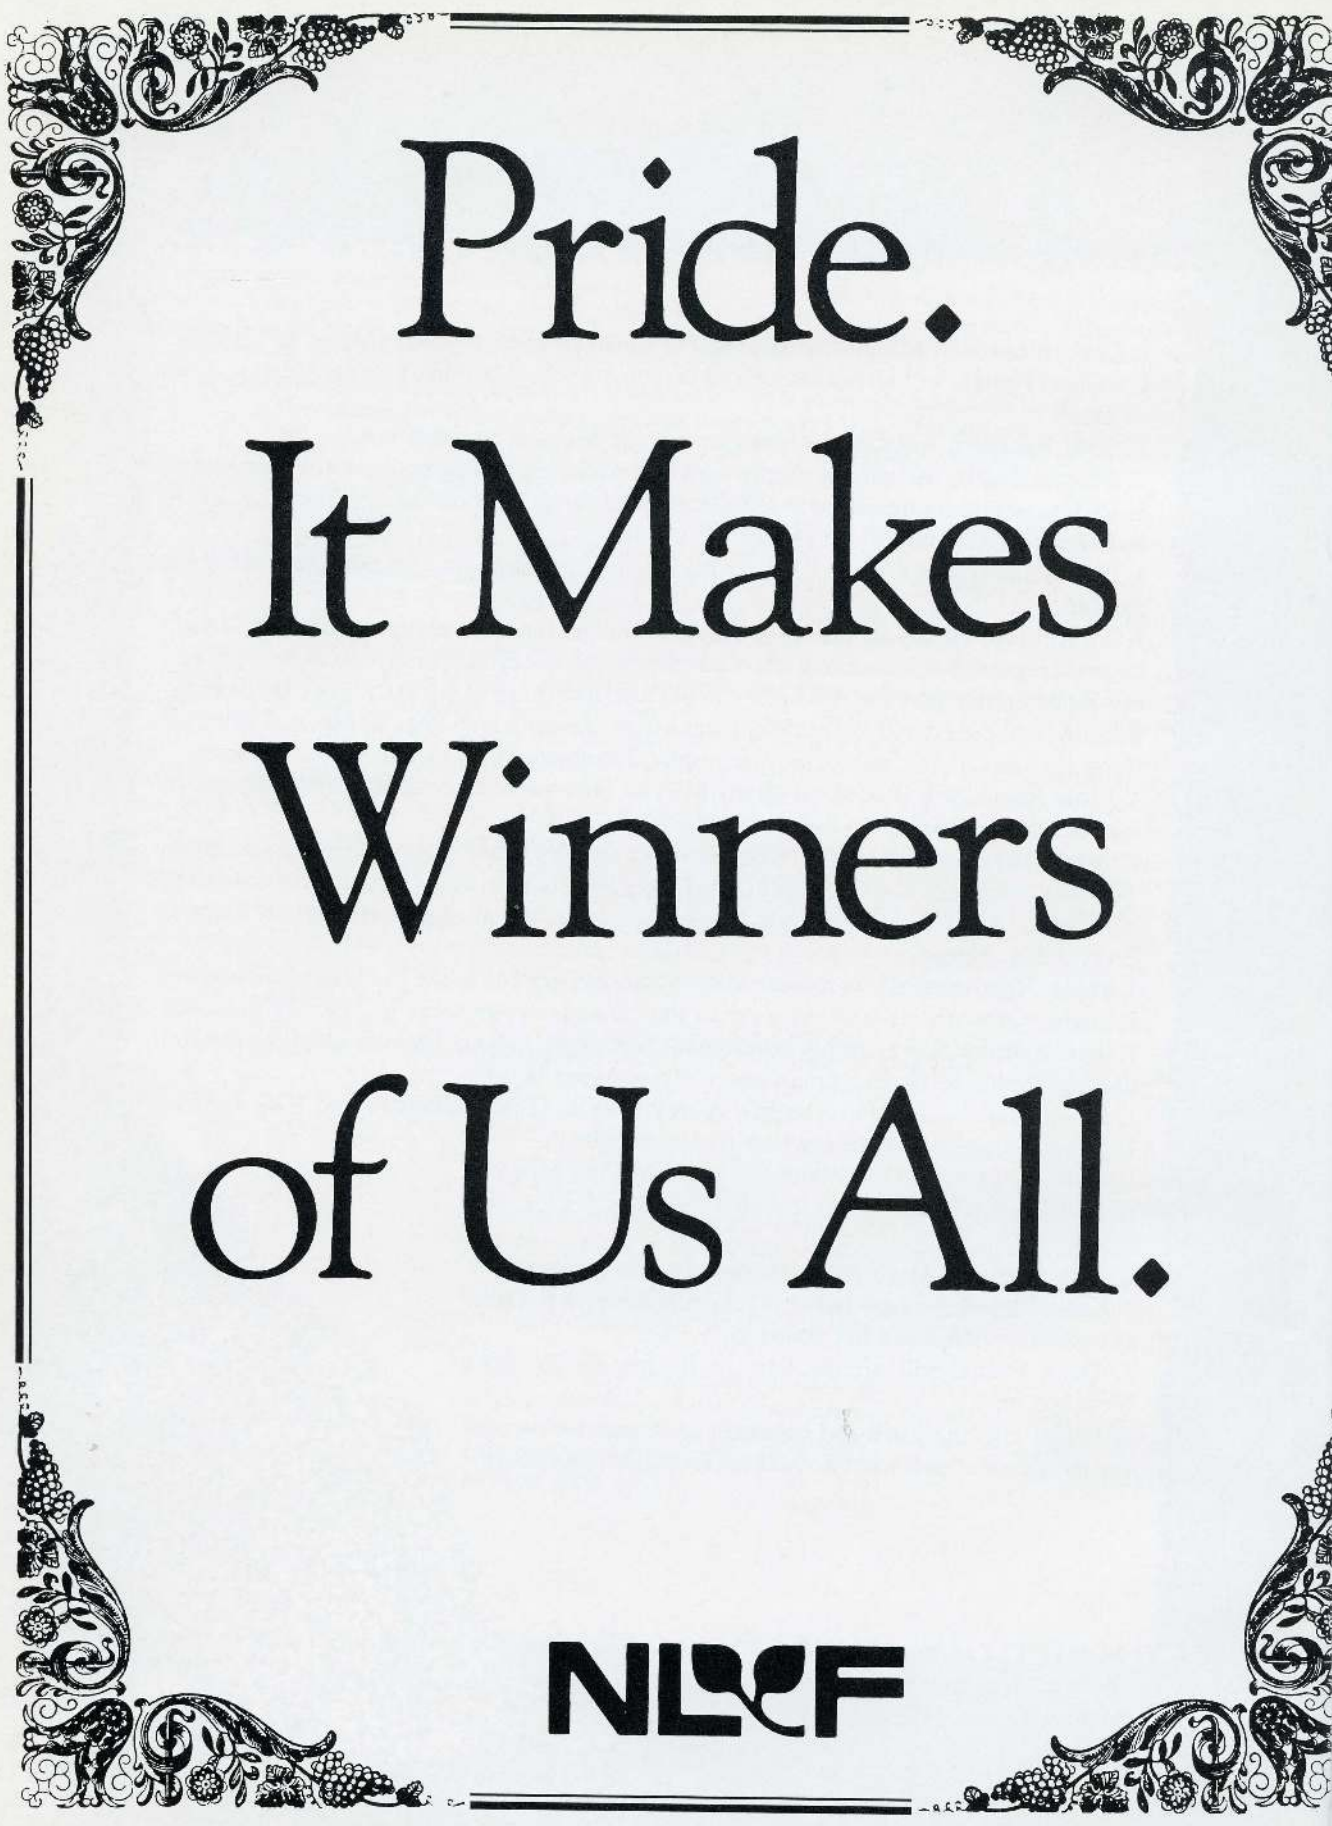

I, Anita Dagam, will my wonderful brain to Tina Moe because she needs it, also all my love to Karen, Jen, Jessica, and Doug.

I, Tom Susnjara, leave Anita Dagam my air compressor.

I, Kevin Blalock, will my beautiful crystal blue eyes to Cami Chavez so I can make her brown eyes blue.

I, Dena Evans, will all my hair to Bonnie Evans' dead bleached mop.

I, Jessica Hastings, will and bequeath an orange to Joe, and my powdered donuts to Toni. And to Gerald, his sheep farm.

Pride.
It Makes
Winners of Us All.
