Niki Brisselli

Attitude''

"I love getting out at 11 30 a.m. My favorite subject is English, but I like all my classes for different reasons"

Sarah Geier

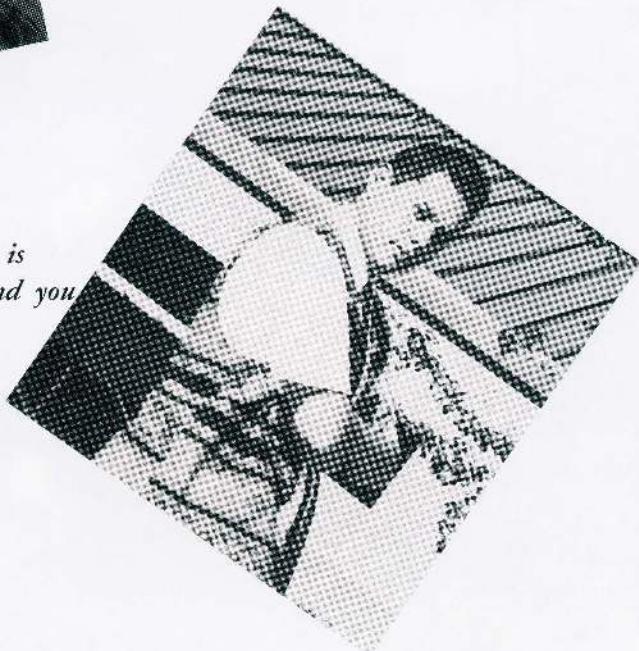

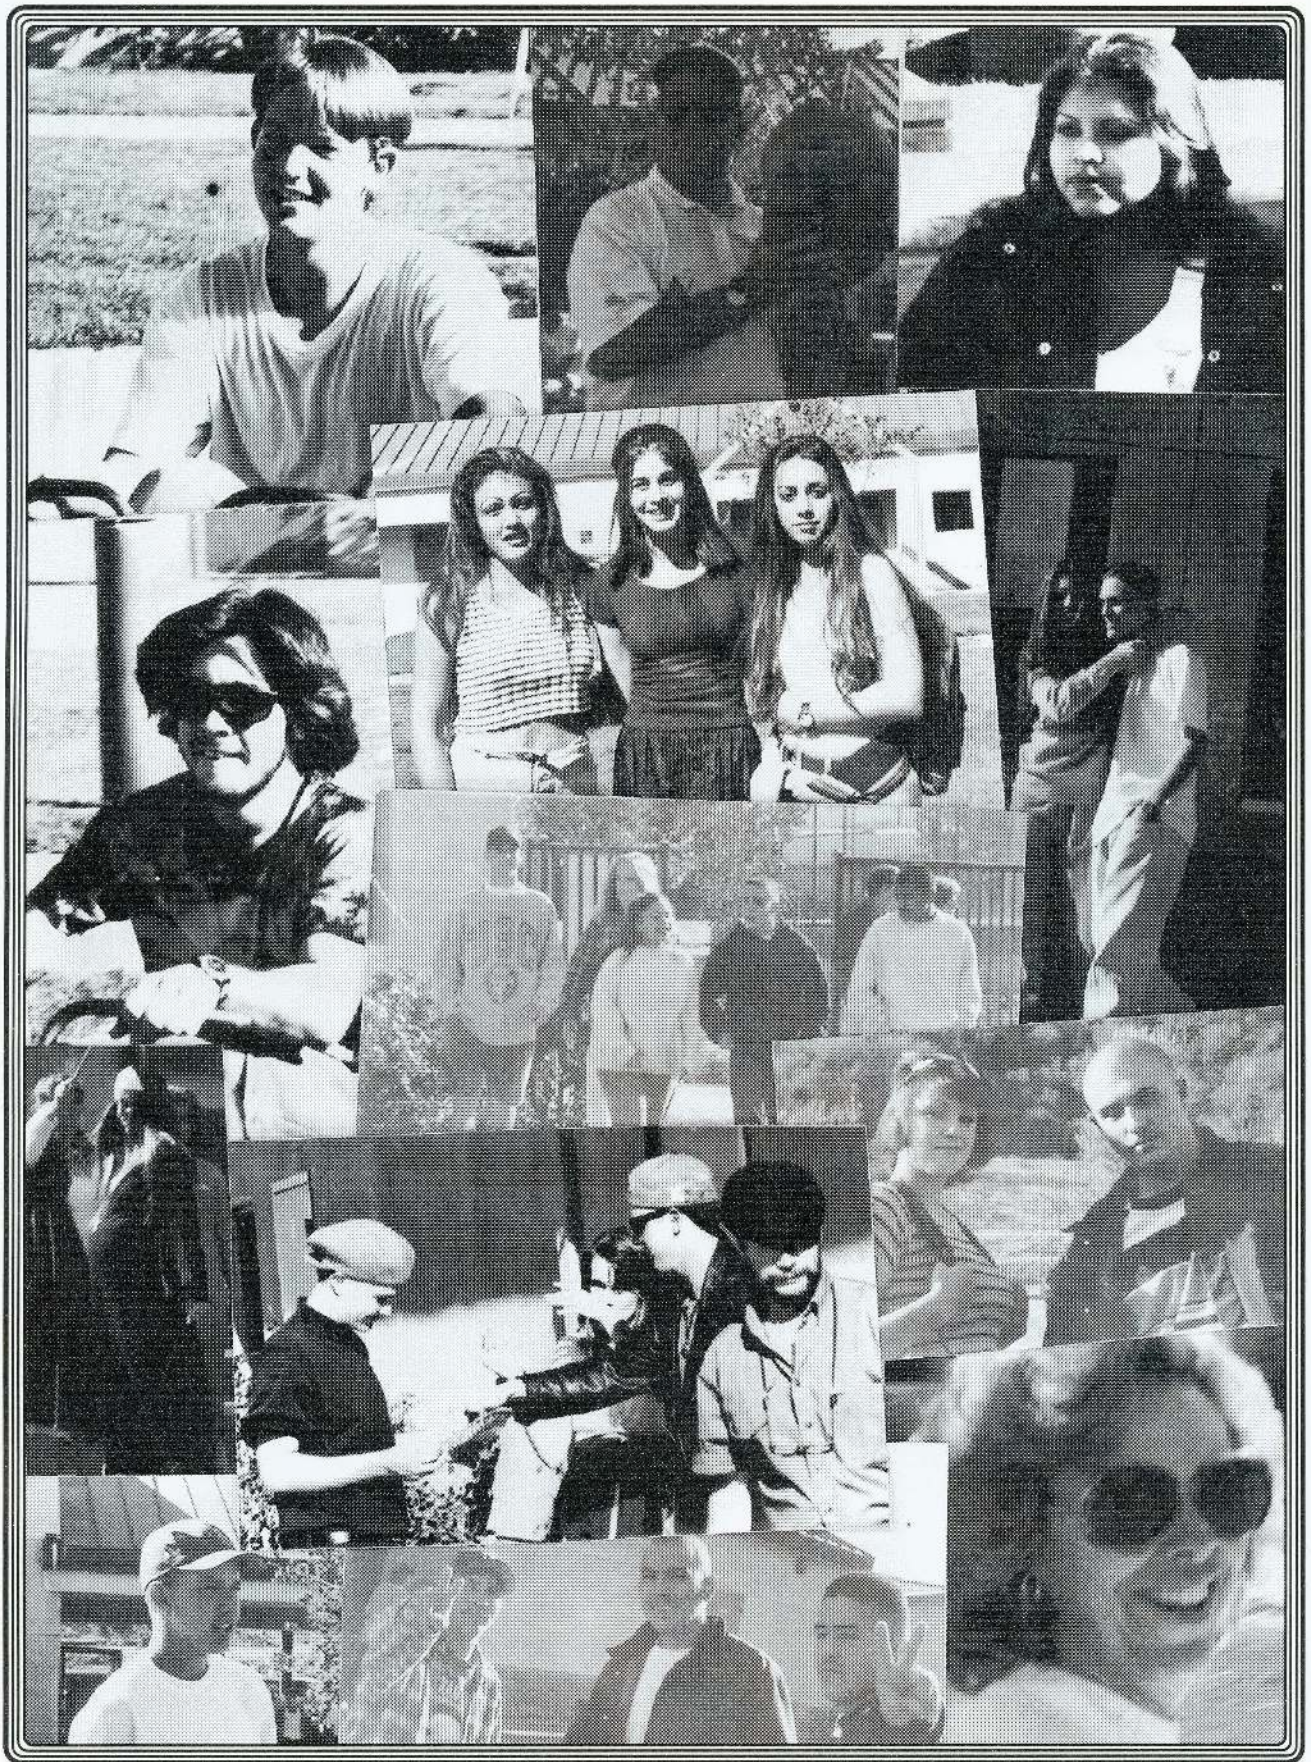

"People are great here! The teachers are probably the best teachers we ever had - they take their time and don't push us around"

Alicia Olerich

"Bowman will be better than ever Technology will be state of the art, and will open up new worlds and opportunities for our students"
Steve Mahan

"Although technology is changing rapidly in our society, public education doesn't change as rapidly Most educators will find it difficult to incorporate new technology into their classroom."
Greg Mucha

"Bowman will have 500+ students, all wearing 'new' Bowman shirts and sweats! We will have computers in each room. CD Roms will be available to students"
Mike Nugent

"Students will have access to computers and every class will include robotics There will be NO PAPERWORK, because it will all be on the computer"

"Students will all be connected by modems (at home) to their computerized teachers No one will come to classes, they'll just turn on their computers to do their work "

Suzy Mansfield

"We'll always have kids that need a different setting In ten years, there may be two continuation schools Students will store their assignments on disks and use lap-top computers for all classes "

Marie Lyle

"Most of our favorite students will NO LONGER be enrolled "

Peggy Effertz

"One of the striking things about this year's yearbook theme - "Top of the World" - is its appropriateness for a book called "Visions" Being on top of the world, gives one a new perspective, not so much of what is down below but rather a better view of that which is far away For many, graduation is a goal that seems all too far away Bowman helps put that goal in better perspective because of a special staff which seeks to lift students up, raise them to a higher plane by giving them a new opportunity to succeed and a clearer vision of what is required Our smaller school gives everyone a chance to separate the forest from the trees and that, in itself, can make the difference To each of you, take advantage of your place at the top and make what may have seemed nebulous a clear and reachable goal"

A SLIP FROM THE SOUL
 Falling back,
 Rushing all through my depths,
 With a second world perception and a second mind conception.
 Glancing at experience,
 With a touch of fear,
 A reflected handbake,
 Brought me here
 Chewing on curiosity,
 Spitting unset thoughts,
 As I hover through the fields of my mind
 I open life,
 With a limit to time
 staring into my eyes,
 Increase trust
 while paving my faith
